"The officers continually call us 'cattle' and 'twine,' and treat us as such." The letter concluded: "I am going to kill myself before this letter can be printed, as I can stand it no longer." The letter and the notice of the man's suicide appeared at the same time.

POLICE MUST BRACE UP

Chief Gritzmacher Says Officers Ignore Personal Appearance.

There will be a rush of business at the bootblack stands and an unprecedented demand for shoe polish and brushes at the shoe stores if an order issued by Chief of Police Gritzmacher yesterday is to be strictly observed by the members of the department. There will also be a brightening-up of brass buttons, a more liberal application of grease spot eradicators and a more general use of the razor in many instances.

That the department has "run down at the heels" has been discovered at last by Chief Gritzmacher, who gave vent to his feelings yesterday in an arid order to the captains of the various patrols. In addition to demanding polished shoes, the chief speaks of the manner of wearing uniforms. The rules require officers on patrol duty to wear their coats fully buttoned, no exception being allowed for hot weather, and any violation subjects the offender to a session "on the carpet."

The manual also demands that full uniform be worn on duty, which includes helmet, coat, vest and trousers, of the pattern adopted by the department.

Chief Gritzmacher's order is as follows: "Inspect the officers of your respective patrols to be more careful in the way of their personal attire. From reports obtained, also from personal observations, I am convinced that some of the officers are getting very careless in regard to their dress and personal appearance. They do not keep their coats buttoned properly nor their shoes shined and in good shape and thereby become slovenly looking, all of which is contrary to the good order and conduct of the police force. You will therefore caution the officers to be more careful of their personal appearance and demand a strict compliance with this order and report all delinquents as insubordinate."
