Whole Population of Monroe Awaits Apostle of Soul Freedom.

APPEAL MADE TO CLERGY

Town President's Lest Resort to Keep Peace Is Pulpit Exhortation-Earle's Affinity Speaks

First Word on the Affair. NEW YORK, Sept. 7 .- (Special.)-

Esekiel Paddleford, president of the fownship of Monroe, N. Y., today called on the clergymen of all the churches in Monroe to make an earnest Sunday appeal from their pulpits to the towns cople to abandon their preparations to and feather Ferdinand Finney Earle, should the artist apostle of "soul freedom" return to his home

Mr. Paddleford said he had beer forced to make this request because he himself had been unable to pacify the unruly citizens, who have two barrels of tar and some 29 pounds of feathers awaiting the man who sent his wife to France to be divorced, so be could marry his "affinity," Miss

Julia Kuttner,
"We have only one constable in our town," said Mr. Paddleford, in diseussing the situation, "and my at-tempts to swear in 20 special police-men so that order could be restored in the town, have proved fruitless. I tried, but could not find 29 men who were not among those determined to inflict violence upon Earle, should he return here."
All the clergymen promised to accede to Mr. Paddleford's request.

The tar and feathers are kept in eadiness, half at the railroad station and the rest in a barn near the artist's and the rest in a barn near the artist's home. The watchers meet every train and closely scrutinize the passengers. Meanwhile the "affinity" is in a forest retreat near Newburg, N. Y., ten miles from trolley or railroad lines, in practical hiding and, according to a friend, completely downcast over the hostile criticism aroused by the publication of the affairs of Earle and his separation from his wife.

ALONE CAN FILL EARLE'S NEED

Mrs. Kuttner Says Mrs. Earle Insisted on Being Supplanted.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 .- Miss Julia Kuttner, the young woman whom Ferdinand Penney Earle, the artist Socialist, is to marry after a divorce shall have been granted to his wife, who is now on her way to France, with her little son, is quoted in a published interview as saying: come between this man and his wife, Mrs. Earle is not a martyr. This day I would stally give him up for duty's take, although he is the only man I have ever loved, if the wife would consent, but she will not. It was she who urged me to try to fill the need in his

Miss Kuttner said further that she trouble is the French system of arranging engagements, under which the encouple are mutually ignorant of other's real habits and temperaments.

RIVAL SULTANS ON MARCH

Fate of Morocco Depends on Impending Battle Near Rabat.

TANGIER, Sept. 7 .- Events in Morocco are marching on with great rapidity. Yesterday both the Sultans, Abdul Aziz and Mulai Hafig, were reported to be leaving the rival capitals, Fez and Morocco City. at the head of armies which had been levied in hot haste and which may de-cide within a fortnight the destiny of Morocco's monarchy.

The immediate objective of these forces is the ancient City of Rubat, on the Atlantic scaboard, the prior possession of which great center of Western Islam's in the building about 4:45 o'clock and an national life probably would have an important, if not a decisive bearing, upon the struggle for supremacy. Half way between Fez and Morocco City, Rabat is the natural frontier port dividing North-ern and Southern Morocco, and there the dramatic interest of the situation for the moment culminates.

Both Sultans are sons of the same father and they are daily issuing passionate appeals to the patriotism and religious enthusiasm of the nation—each denouncing his rival as being worse than an infide, a traitor to Islam.

In the meanwhile the powers have not yet decided whether to recognize Mulai Rang as Sultan, seemingly awaiting the result of the appeal to the arbitrament of civil war.
The general impression here that France and Spain have resolved upon the immediate occupation of all the Moroccan scaports has caused universal consternation, for it is feared that any extension of intervention of France and Spain will infallibly provoke further massacres of Christians and Jows in the coast towns of Christians and Jews in the coast towns.

A situation never contemplated at the time of the Algebras convention has developed and it appears that serious events

It is fully understood here that the present situation at Casa Blanca and Maragan was not foreseen at the time of the Afgeoiras convention and re-quires to be specially dealt with, but Germany will consent for the moment to rely on French loyalty to the engagements entered into. No limitation, therefore, is likely to be placed on the French military movements, so long as they are considered to be neces-

They May Negotiate Peace.

PARIS, Sept. 7.-A special dispatch from Casa Blanca received here this afternoon states that the various Moor-ish tribes around that place had asked General Drude, the French commander, to suspend hostlittles for the purpose of negotiating peace. General Drude, the dispatch says, agreed to remain inactive until tomorrow, when he will march on Taddert.

The correspondent who sent the dispatch says it is suspected that the tribesmen in negotiating with the French commander are only seeking to gain time. AVENGES DEATH OF CUB

Before Fatal Bullet Takes Effect, Mother Splinters Arm With One Blow-End of Hunting Trip in Rocky Mountains.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 7. -(Special.)-Dr. C. D. Penrose, a prominent Phila-delphia physician, and a brother of Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, has been seriously injured in an encounter with a silvertip hear in Flathead County, and passed through Helena today on his way to Rochester, Minn., for treatment. The doctor was accompanied by the Senator. The Pennsylvanians had outfitted at Belton for a hunting trip in the Lake McDonald country, and enjoyed rare sport for the past two months, having bagged a number of bear and other game. With the opening of the game season on September 1 they started on a deer hunt. While thus engaged, Dr. Penrose ran onto a yearling silvertip. He had only three cartridges with him and used two of them in killing the cub.

Felled by Dying Bear.

Aware of the danger that the mother of the cub might be lurking in the vicinity. Dr. Penrose kept a watchful eye while engaged in skinning the animal. In the distance he soon perceived the mother approaching and, waiting until he got a good aim, he fired at a distance of about 200 feet. The bullet took effect, but did not prove fatal.

Dr. Penrose then realized that he was to discard to defend

The enraged animal, however, felled him with one sweep of her paw, crushing the bones in the forearm and wrist until they were splintered. Luckily, the bullet fired by the Doctor took effect at this time, th bear dropping dead at his feet while destroying the slayer of her cub.

Faints on Creek Bank.

Dr. Penrose crawled to the edge of a creek, where he fainted. Before be-coming unconscious he saw another cub bear coming toward him, but this one did no damage. He was found an hour later by an official of the Geological Survey. Camp was broken and a start made for Helena. His injuries, it is said, will not prove serious, although he has a very ugly scratch on his neck, and the bones are protruding from his

The only solution is for the Secretary for Scotand to suppress the whaling stations. Fishing is being prosecuted now four times as far from land as formerly, and almost wholly by steam-drifters, while the native sailing-boats have seldom reached the shoals."
