

SOME GOATS FEEL TAFT'S WAKE

Seattle's Leading Spirits, Political and Social, All Wrought Up.

EACH SLIGHTED THE OTHER

While Big Man Smiled, Passed Compliments and Made Many Friends, His Hosts Put Salt in Old Wounds.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—The coming and going of Secretary of War William H. Taft has left more heart burnings and more political friction than any other social or political event that has occurred here in years.

The impression seems to be out that Secretary Taft will be nominated for President. What may or may not be done in the East or by any of the other states has nothing to do with this impression, for it is all based upon the enthusiasm with which Taft was greeted here.

Politically there is disappointment among the leaders in the Taft movement that they were not given greater prominence in his reception and entertainment. Senatorment, however, is a society complication that can arise because one set was overlooked or another failed to arrive in time have during the four days the War Secretary's party was in Seattle.

Taft, However, Gains Friends.

If one wanted to look upon the numerous features there is enough in the Taft visit to make it a vaudeville performance, and yet the fact sticks out all through it that Taft personally went away vastly stronger than when he came. No one has thought of blaming Taft for the social or political complications and the big War Secretary made an impression by his speeches and receptions in quarters that had been hostile to him before. Unquestionably Taft impressed himself upon the town as a big man and a pleasing personality.

And the War Secretary distributed lots of compliments. For instance, he was at the Rainier Club reception making a reply to an introductory speech that might have been accepted humorously by George H. Walker, Taft's Presidential ambitions, and he wanted to know about it. Before he concluded his speech, Walker had pledged the Rainier Club's support. Now, Walker never joked in his life, and the crowd took it all seriously.

Taft's Keen Sense of Humor.

Taft passed off the demand to know of his ambition, but he "jollied" the crowd by an enthusiastic endorsement of the city, the possibilities of the future, and the "qualities" of the people, concluding with a declaration that if he were a younger man he would come here. Lots of others have said the same thing, but they went back East to stay, and the same thing, the crowd took it seriously, and so did William Jones, president of the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce, who was a guest of the War Secretary with a quizzical smile.

Grorse Plaintful About Hoquiam.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Today has been a great one in the woods for the hunters and some very large kills of grouse were brought in by sportmen. The recent heavy rain of two days has kept the birds under cover, but in today's sunshine they sought the open and fell before the true aim of the hunter. Pheasant hunting will be good within a few days.

Corps Hugs Whisky Jug.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Plowmen proved fatal in the case of Francis Tocklet, a Chelan Indian, who came here to pick hops recently. He was found dead in the Bonnie Brae country, hugging a nearly empty bottle of whisky.

Taft Found It Chilly.

None the less amusing was an experience that befell Mrs. Taft. She was the guest the other day of a women's club that decided to toast the War Secretary with one of its loudest club women proposed a toast in French, another quickly followed with a toast in German, and a third offered a sentiment in English. The woman in charge was in a whirl trying to follow the linguistic congress, when another woman saved the day by proposing a sentiment in English. The women present could understand.

Hartman's Flying Leap.

John P. Hartman had something to do with one of the Taft meetings, just what has never been explained save that he had been given a seat of honor at one of the tables but did not arrive in time to enjoy it. Hartman is one of the Fairbanks leaders, but was set down to accompany Taft on his trip to the Grand Opera-house, where he was to deliver an address. On top of mistaking him at the table, the automobile started off without him, and Hartman rushed pell-mell through the crowd and leaped upon the running-board of the auto to ride to the theater.

Senator Piles' Friends do not conceal the fact that they are sore because Piles was not given greater recognition in all the arrangements. He presided at one of the Taft meetings and accompanied the War Secretary at most of his trips about the city and to Aberdeen. But Piles, the recognized local political leader, was forgotten when arrangements were made for Taft's stay in town. For that matter, the Taft Club was overlooked and it trailed along as an after consideration, only figuring in one reception.

Broken Hearts in Social Whirl.

There are tales told of slights in a social way, but that is society gossip. Most of it is well founded, and there are a lot of sensitive natures that are uneasy over the visit of the War Secretary. It may never be possible to explain just why invitation lists for meetings of a semi-political nature were made up as they were, and even the Taft party knows that leaders in his local circles are disheartened because his friends were not consulted more in the arrangements for his stay. But it won't hurt Taft Presidential possibilities. It merely serves to create more factional trouble at Seattle.

KELSO WANTS A SHIP CANAL

Movement Begun to Deepen Channel of Cowitz River.

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—This city is again making an effort to bring before the eyes of Washington's senators and Congress the need of an appropriation for the improvement of the Cowitz River, and following an invitation from the people of Kelso, Representative Cashman and Senator Piles have signified their intention of coming here to view the river and to hear the opinions of the people on the situation. A reception will be tendered them in the Business Men's Club rooms and an effort will be made to secure their assistance in the matter. Colonel S. W. Rossier, of Portland, and Representative W. J. Jones will be here next week on a trip of inspection and it is more than probable that after years of patient work on the part of the citizens of this place, improvement of the Cowitz will soon begin. Senators Foster, Ankeny and Piles and Representative Jones have already seen the river and all have expressed a belief that a ship canal could, at comparatively small expense, be constructed. A survey has already been made by order of Congress and the next thing, after a recommendation from Colonel Rossier, is the securing of an appropriation from that body.

The plan is to wing-dam the Cowitz river four miles below this place, straighten the channel and thus connect the river to deepen itself. This has been declared a feasible idea and a number of local engineers have stated that it could be carried out very cheaply. If the idea is carried out it will make of this place a city of several thousand people. Every foot of land for four miles on either side of the Cowitz will be cleared, and manufacturing sites, instead of the few acres which are now procurable for these purposes. The citizens of Kelso are excited enough to see the possibilities. They are, therefore, doing their utmost toward securing aid, and that they will succeed there now seems small doubt.

LOGS COME DOWN IN PRICE

Puget Sound Dealers Meet Competition From Grays Harbor.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Puget Sound loggers agreed today to cut log prices $2 a thousand, making them about $18 a thousand. The price at Grays Harbor has fallen to $16. The prices are reduced because British Columbia and Grays Harbor loggers have cut their prices and there was danger that logs from both sections would be dumped into Puget Sound waters in competition with the Washington Logging & Brokerage Company's output.

Another Appeal to Commission.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Montag & Smith and T. Hayden, who are now located at the State Fair grounds, is compelled to make an appeal to the Railroad Commission this morning to assist in the facilitation of the movement of their shipments of goods which were billed from Seattle, freight prepaid, arrived in Portland last Monday, and nothing has been heard of them since. Hayden, complainant, represent that they have taken the matter up with the officials of the Southern Pacific, but they have failed to receive any satisfaction.

Compelled to Educate Chinese.

The Dominion Government today gave a ruling that the Victoria School Board is compelled to provide education for Chinese, even when everyone knows that the Chinese are using this attendance at school to evade the law. Canada charges a $500 head tax against Chinese, but provision is made that in case the immigrant is a student and for 18 months attends school after arrival he is entitled to receive rebate of the total amount of the tax. The Victoria School Board found that fully-grown Chinese men were entering the country, becoming scholars in public schools, being educated free of charge, and then having presented to them by the government the $500 tax at the end of 18 months. Immediately they received this money they became carriers' workmen or domestic servants. Protest was made to the Dominion Government, but the Comptroller of Chinese for the Dominion has wired instructions that officials must agree with what looks like a bunco game.

Sends to Bellingham for Names.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Millowners of this city have received a letter from B. Pelly, British Consul at Seattle, requesting the names of the Hindus who were driven from this city by the mob last week. Although the letter does not say so, it is believed the Consul has received orders from his home govern-

PAY FOR GLASS, NOT FOR DIGNITY

Japan's Feelings Will Be Soothed if Broken Windows Are Replaced.

HINDUS OUT IN THE COLD

King's Indian Subjects Are Treated Worse Than Cattle—Crowded Like Sheep in Tumble-Down Shacks.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Little Japan is formulating her bill of damages today for the plate-glass fronts smashed by rioters last Saturday night. The Dominion government will pay the bill, which is not expected to be more than $5000. The bill will consist of a long list of panes of glass smashed in 56 stores and dwellings. So great is Japan's respect and friendship for Great Britain that nothing will be asked for damaged feelings or wounded dignity. The federal government may decide to give a contract to a glazier in Vancouver to renew all the broken glass, and the Japs will call it square at that. Estimates of damage claims have been discounted during the last few days. The reduction followed receipt of cabled instructions from Tokio that the feelings of the wounded glass is the only ground for reparation.

After having paid the bill, it is expected that the Dominion government will call on the city to in turn settle the account. Then will the question be swung from one of immigration to one of purely politics. Mayor Botome, a staunch political enemy of the government, declares that Vancouver will never pay a cent for damage or reparation of anything else. He maintains that with a foreign population of 10,000, the Dominion government should maintain its own police force here, to insure order and prevent riots.

Treated Worse Than Cattle.

Hindu leaders complained to the Mayor today that though they are British subjects, Vancouver was treating them worse than cattle. Landlords refuse to rent them houses heretofore occupied by Chinese and Japanese. They draw the line at Hindus.

Tonight a cold rain is falling and there are hundreds of Hindus who have no shelter under which to lie. Many have severe colds. Last night 150 stayed in one small house. So closely were they packed that only a fraction could lie even on the floor. Another small boarding-house carried 250 during the night and here there was not room for any to place their blankets on the floor and sleep.

Ranchers would not use their cattle in the way the government and the people treat the Hindus," said Interpreter Dues this afternoon. "The treatment is inhuman. Many are sick now and may die. We are trying to arrange with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the use of a wharf warehouse for tonight, which is fearfully cold for my countrymen. Yes, it is true that thousands more Hindus are on the way to Vancouver."

Rendered Unconscious by Collision.

DAVIS, VANDEAVANTER AND WILSON Are Picked Up for Dead.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—James Wilson, a Youngstown hotelkeeper, is suffering from concussion of the brain and internal injuries that may lead to his death. A Vandevanter, president of the King County Fair Association, is severely cut about the head and bruised. State Senator Link Davis, of Tacoma, and State Senator Fred Eldemiller, of the same place, are cut up and bruised as the result of a collision between an automobile and a streetcar today between Georgetown and the Meadows. Chauffeur L. Bigelow escaped with inconsequential bruises.

For a time it was believed others in the party beside Wilson might be fatally or severely injured, but tonight the attending physicians say they will recover. Wilson is at the Seattle general hospital in a critical condition, and physicians are skeptical as to his chances.

Senator Davis has a bruised eye, a gash cut in his head behind his ear and a fractured rib. Senator Eldemiller has a gash in his forehead that will probably leave a disfiguring scar. Vandevanter is a former King County Sheriff and has twice been elected to the State Senate. All the members of the automobile party were personal friends of his and were his guests on a trip to the Meadows to see the closing day's racing.

The chauffeur attempted south of Georgetown to cross the streetcar track and ran into a car. The front wheels of the automobile were torn off, the tonneau partially wrecked and the passengers hurled into the street. The wrecked automobile caught fire, but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

When the passengers were picked up Davis, Vandevanter and Wilson appeared to be severely injured and it was not until eight that attending physicians gave out the statement that Vandevanter had no internal injuries. Vandevanter was taken to his home near the Meadows and the others sent to local hospitals.

Promise Pardon if He's Good.

PENDELTON, Or., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—W. B. Atkinson, the printer who forged a check on his employer, D. C. Sanderson, editor of the Freewater Times, was yesterday sentenced by Circuit Judge Bear to serve two years in the penitentiary. In pronouncing sentence the Judge stated that if his conduct while in the penitentiary justified it, he would sign a petition for a pardon at the end of one year.

BARON ISHII IS AT OTTAWA

Will Confer With Premier Regarding Japanese Immigration.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Baron Ishii, of Japan, will be here Monday, when the whole subject of Japanese immigration will be thoroughly discussed between the Premier and himself. Whatever damages have been caused by the rioters will be paid for by the Dominion government. Vancouver will afterward be charged with the amount. The policy of the Dominion is to reduce Oriental immigration to the minimum.

Deal With Matter on the Spot.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 14.—W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, left today for Vancouver, to look into the whole question of Oriental immigration. He will deal with the matter on the spot, and report any that are or are likely to be public charges. This step has been taken in accordance with Premier Laurier's telegram to the Mayor of Vancouver.

GROWS BOLD AND IS TRAPPED

Linn County Man Who Jumps $500 Bail Is Again Arrested.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—After successfully hiding for almost six months in the foothills of Northwestern Linn County, Ed Perdue, wanted for the larceny of a steer, was arrested here tonight. Perdue left the country in March while on bail, escaped the officers and made his way back to his home at Mill City, near where he has been hiding. His bail of $500 was forfeited. Emboldened by liberty, Perdue took the train at Mill City today for Albany, on his way to a court where he is expected to appear by Deputy Sheriff Stillmeyer.

CROWDED AUTO HITS CAR

PARTY OF SEATTLE MEN ARE SEVERELY INJURED.

Why I Do Cure Men

"Weakness" Permanently Cured

No other ailment yields more rapidly under my treatment than functional "weakness." No other disorder peculiar to men so completely baffles ordinary medical effort. When a treatment cures there is a reason why it cures, and when a remedy fails there is also a reason why. My treatment cures because all effort is directed toward the restoration of normal conditions throughout the organic system, removing all inflammation or over-sensitiveness of the prostate gland, which is the sole cause of the functional derangement. Other forms of treatment fail because they are based upon misunderstanding as to the nature of the trouble and are calculated to excite activity by stimulating the nerve centers to treat more cases of "weakness" than any other physician, and I obtain perfect results in all instances.

DR. TAYLOR The Leading Specialist

Contracted Disorders Quickly Cured

Any one of the ordinary forms of treatment may cure, or it may only appear to cure, or it may show no results whatever. These diseases are treacherous and demand the most careful and thorough treatment. Many a case that appears practically cured is all the while developing chronic complications that may cause a lifetime of suffering. The only safety lies in the quickest and most reliable prepared remedies, such as my own system of treatment. In half the usual time required, I effect a radical cure, cleansing the membranes of every vestige of disease and removing every possibility of chronic developments.

Varicocele Cured Without Cutting

Varicocele can be cured without surgery. I am curing cases every day by mild and painless treatment, thus demonstrating the folly of resorting to harsh and dangerous methods. But one week at most is required, and seldom is it necessary to even detain the patient a single day from his business or occupation. My cures are permanent. There are no relapses or unpleasant after effects. The treatment I employ is original with myself. There is no other doctor who treats varicocele as I treat it, or who duplicates my cures.

Painless Cure for Stricture

Without cutting or dilating, and by mild and absolutely painless treatment, I cure stricture completely. All obstructing tissue is dissolved, all inflammation or irritation removed, and every membrane of the system involved is thoroughly cleansed, and restoratory to a healthy state. No failures—a perfect cure in every instance.

Specific Blood Poison Positively Eradicated

Without the use of dangerous drugs, I drive the very last taint of virus from the system, and every symptom of the disease vanishes, to appear no more. I employ harmless blood-cleansing remedies only.

An Important Feature of My Practice

I wish to make special mention of one feature of my practice of which I have seldom spoken. It is an important feature—so important that it marks the difference between scientific and unscientific treatment.

There is a deplorable tendency among physicians to rely upon stock or ready-made compounds for the treatment of all cases presenting similar symptoms. Success in one instance prompts the use of the same remedy in another, and little or no regard is given the minor details and characteristic features of individual cases. The result is inadequate and inaccurate treatment that fails a dozen times where it cures once, and that is practically upon a par with the use of patent nostrums.

That I may avoid stock mixtures and be able to treat accurately and scientifically, according to the most minute details in each case, I have in connection with my offices a private laboratory completely equipped with chemists' apparatus and stocked with the finest assayed and standardized drugs. Every patient, therefore, receives the best of remedies, such as my frequent examinations of his case may indicate.

My adherence to this policy of accurate prescribing has had much to do with the success that I have attained. It has cost me time, labor, and money, but it has also prompted me to carefully study each case, to make exhaustive researches in order that I might thoroughly understand every case, and has enabled me to apply my knowledge to the utmost good of my patients. It has brought me where others fail, has enabled me to fulfill every promise, and has rewarded me with pre-eminence in the medical field and with the largest practice of its kind in the West.

You do not want ordinary and inaccurate treatment. You want a cure. Knowledge and skill and the facilities for applying them are essential to a quick and thorough cure. These I offer you.

McMinnville College Reaches Fiftieth Milestone.

YEAR'S PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Friends of Baptist Institution Have Donated $20,000 Within Past Few Months and School Opens Under Favorable Auspices.

McMINNVILLE, Or., Sept. 14.—All preparations have been made for the opening of the fifth school year of McMinnville College, which event will take place under the most favorable conditions. The convocation exercises will be held on Wednesday, September 18.

McMinnville College enters upon its semi-centennial with the best prospects. Formerly a large debt menaced the institution. But last year the trustees and faculty contributed the sum of $20,000 to a college betterment fund. Later on the business men and citizens of McMinnville and vicinity took the matter up and pledged some $125,000 to the college fund. A $2000 annually has since been made. Together, the citizens, the faculty and the trustees who reside in McMinnville have donated fully $20,000 to the college fund within the past few months.

The Baptists of Oregon, Washington and Idaho have agreed upon McMinnville College as their educational institution for the territory named, and its financial betterment, now practically assured, will no doubt be of sufficient moment at the close of the present school year to warrant the celebration of the semi-centennial jubilee.

Although under the supervision of the Baptist denomination, the college is not simply a theological institution, nor in any wise a sectarian school. Its curriculum begins with the eighth grade, and embraces six-year classical and scientific courses and a four-year teachers' course, besides a separate business department and a conservatory admitted to be unsurpassed in the Northwest.

The old college numbers among its alumni such prominent men as ex-Congressman Brents, of Washington; Hon. W. Lair Hill, Hon. Corwin Shank, of Seaside; and Hon. John W. Smith, of Astoria; besides many young men and women holding positions of trust throughout this and adjoining states. McMinnville College also enjoys the honor of a larger number of winings in the inter-collegiate oratorical contests than any other one of the competitors.

Discharged Crew Recalled.

SILVERTON, Or., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Several days ago the Silverton Lumber Company discharged their railroad crew and crew intending to buy lumber on the road this season.
