

RYAN ASKED TO DROP THE RACE

Lincoln-Roosevelt League, His Main Support, Goes Back on Him.

SAYS HE HAS NO SHOW

Asks Him to Throw Support to Taylor—Ryan Left With No Support From Any Faction—He Refuses to Talk.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Lincoln-Roosevelt League, composed of the anti-machine Republicans of California, addressed a letter to Daniel Ryan, Republican candidate for Mayor of San Francisco, today, requesting that he withdraw from the race in favor of Dr. Taylor, the candidate of the Democrats and Good Government League.

The letter takes special significance from the fact that Ryan is vice-president of the league. It is unlike any other political document in that it is not couched in honeyed words of diplomacy but in unadorned language tells Ryan that he has no chance of election and adds that his candidacy is bound to injure Taylor's chances to a dangerous degree. In conclusion, the letter calls upon Ryan to "show his patriotism" by stepping down and out. Ryan refused tonight to discuss the letter, but his friends asserted that it was too late to talk withdrawal.

League Ryan's Mainstay.

The Lincoln-Roosevelt League was organized a few months ago in California to combat the corrupt influence of the Southern Pacific in the politics of the state. At that time Ryan was working to defeat Herrin at the San Francisco primaries, and became one of the main props of the new league. He counted on its support, and in fact this has been his mainstay so far in his candidacy. The league has remained silent up to this time. Its officers had hoped that Ryan would of his own accord draw out of the race. When they became convinced, however, that Ryan was not inclined to step aside, they decided on vigorous measures, and the letter was the result.

Leaves Him No Support.

This action leaves Ryan without a following. He entered the campaign as the opponent of machine politics. He has denounced the crowd, and of course has forfeited their support. Now he is deprived of all that was left to him. To add to the woes of the young Republican, a Taylor Republican club was formed today in Ryan's own district. It is composed of the Republicans who supported Ryan at the primaries, but who are displeased at his failure to withdraw in favor of Dr. Taylor. This club is in the Fortieth District, Ryan's stronghold.

TAYLOR DISLIKES THE BANNER

Orders Campaign Advertising Removed—Favor Him, 10 to 8.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Mayor Taylor has taken offense at the stringing of a banner across Market street at Third which bears the legend: "Vote for Mayor Taylor." He ordered the president of the Board of Public Works to see that it was removed. The Mayor gave as reason for his order that the placing of the banner across the street was contrary to an ordinance, and in addition he objected to the wording of the legend as being a personal appeal for him rather than for the cause of good government.

PROSECUTE A PLUMBER

Non-union Man Annoyed Supposedly by Members of the Union.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—After receiving threatening letters for some time, A. Arthur Riggs, a non-union master plumber, yesterday had his tools thrown into a sewer and his horse hitched to a wagon, was painted with a can of red paint.

Riggs' men were doing a job on Rose street and left the horse tied around the corner. When they were ready to return to the shop they discovered what had been done to the horse and tools. Riggs asserts the work is the outcome of his leaving the union three months ago. He says he knows the perpetrator and will have a complaint in Superior Court.

AID CATHOLIC SAVANTS

Cardinals Establish Bureau to Raise Funds for Them.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Some interesting particulars of the character and objects of the new international institution founded in Rome by Cardinals Rampolla, Mercier and Mailli for "improving the position of numerous Catholic savants who are desirous of undertaking the defense of religion but who lack the indispensable pecuniary resources" are published here. Rome is to be the center of this great enterprise. In addition to the actual members it will include benefactors paying annual subscriptions or making a single donation, as well as honorary members drawn from the leading representatives of science.

In addition to the central or international bureau, it will have national offices in the different countries. The former has been installed at the Vatican Observatory under the management of Father Halgen, who is intrusted with the execution of the scheme. The object of the institution is to promote the progress of science in all its branches. These are divided into groups—namely, theological science and the auxiliaries of theology; juridical social and economic sciences, historical science with its subsidiary branches and philology. The institution will organize competitions and grant subsidies to students and savants.

The mention of the natural sciences as the fourth category in the scientific labors of the new institution, which, it says, intends to hold both national and international congresses annually. In encouraging such an institute the pontiff remains faithful to the spirit of his encyclical, which has the tendency to prevent exaggeration, from forcing the doctrines opposed to revelation under the pretext of adapting them to modern ideas.

ARMLESS MAN A SUICIDE

Ingenious French Cripple Shoots Himself With Revolver.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—One of the most remarkable suicides ever recorded has taken place in Paris. A man without arms succeeded in shooting himself with a revolver. For some time the police refused to believe that such a suicide was possible, but medical examination proved conclusively that such was the fact.

The armless man was named Oullion. He was 51 years old and a widower. He lived alone. One of his arms was amputated some years ago as the result of an accident; the other was cut off close to the elbow a few months ago, owing to medical reasons. He made a precarious living by the sale of objects in the street. He had a son who for some time past has been in prison at Chalon-sur-Saone.

This son was released the other day with about $1.75 in his pocket, which he had earned as good-conduct money while in prison. His first object was to see his father, and he spent all his money in paying his fare to Paris. Without losing any time, he went from the station to his father's residence, eager to meet him once again. Arrived there, he knocked repeatedly at the door, but could obtain no response. Becoming alarmed he broke open the door and entered. He struck a light, and to his horror, saw his father lying inanimate at the side of his bed. He rushed across to him and found that he was dead. Running into the street he called for help, and several gendarmes came to his assistance. A doctor was hurriedly summoned, and a thorough examination of the body was made.

The armless man was lifted to his bed. As this was being done, a revolver fell from his clothes. Careful examination disclosed the fact that there was no confusion on his body, nor was there any evidence in the room of a struggle having taken place.

When the revolver was examined it was found that two chambers had been discharged. Curiously enough, these were not consecutive chambers. Between the discharged chambers there was an interval of two that were undischarged. The dead man's watch and other small possessions were found on the mantelpiece, and $1.75 was still in his trouser pockets.

The mystery that puzzled the police was: "How did the armless man discharge the revolver?" It is stated that he was an extraordinarily resourceful man. For instance, he was in the habit of unlocking his door every night with his own latchkey. He did this with his teeth. The autopsy proved that it was by means of his teeth and his feet that he committed suicide. With his teeth he succeeded in fastening a bootlace to a piece of wire then attaching the wire to the trigger of a revolver. He then took the barrel of the revolver in his mouth, and pulled the wire with his feet.

WATER SACRAMENTO LAND

Irrigation Project Approved for 12,000 Acres Near Orland.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 19.—The Secretary of the Interior has definitely approved the allotment of $50,000 for the construction of the Orland irrigation project in Sacramento Valley, Cal., and the final plans for the necessary work will promptly be prepared by the Reclamation Service, after which construction can commence.

On December 18, 1906, the allotment was made, subject to the usual conditions with the proviso that 12,000 acres of land be pledged. The people in the valley not only have complied with these conditions but the land subscriptions aggregate in excess of the limit placed by the Secretary of the Interior.

The Orland project contemplates the storage of water in the foothills on the headwaters of Stony Creek, and its diversion and use in the vicinity of the town of Orland. It is considered an integral part of a scheme for the general development of the Sacramento Valley.

Divorces Number 28 Out of Every 100 Certificates of Marriage.

WALLACE, Idaho, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—With 28 applications for divorce out of every 100 marriage certificates filed, Shoshone County stands head and shoulders above other counties so far examined in this state. During the past 79 years not less than 372 applications for divorce have been filed in this county. There are no records of marriages in this county prior to 1828, when the marriage license act came into force, but from 1835 to January, 1907, 125 marriage licenses were recorded and 310 applications for divorce made, a percentage of 25. The only county which beats Shoshone's record is Flathead County, Montana, where the record of the past 20 years shows that the percentage of divorces to marriages reaches the stupendous figure of 33.

ONE KILLED, TEN INJURED

Chicago Suburban Passenger Trains Collide Head-On.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—One trainman was killed and ten other persons were injured in a head-on collision between two suburban passenger trains on the Chicago & Northwestern road near Grand avenue in this city tonight. Walter Cushing, engineer of the northbound train, was arrested and is being held pending an investigation of the accident. Harry Larson, killed, was fireman of the northbound train. The train crews tell conflicting stories of the cause of the wreck, each engineer asserting that he had the right of way. Comparatively few of the passengers were hurt and most of the injuries consisted of cuts and bruises.

Marrying Brother George.

Harper's Weekly.

A well-known Virginia clergyman, one-time president of William and Mary College, was married three times, and on each occasion the ceremony was performed by his brother, an even more renowned bishop. When the first marriage took place, the bishop had to refuse a tempting invitation from an old friend because—so the letter ran—"I am going up to Williamsburg on that date to marry my brother George."

The same friend happened to be on the train with him, years afterward, when he was traveling to the second ceremony. "I am going to marry my brother George," the bishop explained, benignly, after the business of greetings was over. Again many years passed, and the same journey was taken once more for the same purpose. By a strange coincidence, the identical friends ran into the bishop as they hurried through the depot to their respective trains. "Where going, Bishop?" the former sang out, as they grasped hands and dashed by each other.

"I am going where I am always going," the answer came back, ponderously, "to marry my brother George!"

John D.'s Mild Golf Temper.

Independence News. "I have often interviewed John D. Rockefeller during a game of golf," said a New York reporter, "and a milder-tempered golfer I have seldom seen. No matter what hard luck he plays in, Mr. Rockefeller never loses his equanimity. "He told me one day that he despised a golfer who got angry and profane on the links. He said he knew a broker of that abominable type. "The broker, on a sunny afternoon, set out to play nine holes. Looking back after he had driven off, he saw a great crowd following. There were young men and old, good players and bad, all trailing close behind with looks of interest and expectation. "The broker paused and turned. He smiled politely and nervously. "Really, gentlemen," he said, "this is very flattering. I hope I am in good form this afternoon. I trust I shall play well enough to reward all this kindly interest." "An elderly lawyer laughed. "Oh, it isn't that," he said. "We came out to listen."
