MISS GENE MORRISON DAUGHTER OF DR. & MRS. A. A. MORRISON. DRAWN BY GENEVIEVE HAILEY

As far as entertaining is concerned, the dearth of social doings reminds one of the Lenten season. The announcement that cards will be out in the very near future for an assembly to be given at the Portland Hotel, on St. Valentine's day, is attracting much interest, as these events which have not been given for some years, are invariably chronicled with a capital E.

One of the most prominent girls who returned recently from abroad is to make her debut at a smart dancing party, the cards for which have not as yet been mailed.

Mrs. C. J. Reed will give a reception on Wednesday in compliment to two distinguished visitors, Mrs. W. H. Hunt and Mrs. Francis J. Henny.

The presence of Judge and Mrs. W. H. Hunt, of Helena, Mont., and Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Henny has occasioned a number of informal dinners and luncheons. On Friday, at the Hobart Curtis, Judge and Mrs. C. E. Wolverson were dinner guests entertained by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cotton, Judge and Mrs. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Henny and Judge and Mrs. T. G. Hatley.

Homer Davenport, America's foremost cartoonist, has been a sought-after dinner guest this past week. Mr. Davenport's lecture on Wednesday brought out one of the most representative and interested audiences seen in Portland for some time. A number of matrons were unable to obtain seats and proved their enthusiasm by standing through the entire lecture on the romance and mystery of Mr. Davenport's visit to the great Arabian desert, which he graphically told in his charming and inimitable manner.

For the coming week the weddings of paramount interest will be those of Miss Rachael Joseph to Captain Helms, U. S. A., and that of Miss Katherine Woolsey, of Tacoma, to Lieutenant Parker, both occurring on Tuesday. For the latter event, which is also to be a military wedding, three of the bride's girl friends are to make the trip to Tacoma—Mrs. David C. Lewis, Miss Hazel Croker and Miss Fannie Brown—who are to be guests while there of Mrs. Alexander, formerly Ruth Caldwell. Many cards have been sent for the church, but the reception is to be rather a small one.

A number of telegrams of congratulation were sent this past week to New York by Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Lorrillard Barby (Miss Florence Flower), over the arrival of a son, whom they have called Pierre Lorrillard Barby, Jr. and Mr. Barby are at present guests of Mrs. Barby's mother, Mrs. James Deval Flower.

Miss Genevieve Thompson is convalescing from an illness that has confined her to her residence for some weeks. Miss Becky Biddle has also been seriously ill at the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. William Biddle, at Alexandria Court, but is now recovering.

Miss Hazel Welder, who is to act as maid of honor at the Helms-Joseph nuptials, entertained with a theater party and supper last night in their honor. The guests included Miss Amy Heltsu, Mr. and Mrs. George Durham, Miss Inez Barrett, Miss Josephine Brown, Jordan Zan, Lieutenant Harris, of Vancouver Barracks, and Captain Helms, U. S. A.

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Pantan have returned from a five months' trip abroad. Their itinerary included England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Austria.

Mrs. Hunt Lewis and her small son, Hunt Lewis, Jr., have gone East, where they will remain for some weeks. They will first be guests of Mrs. Lewis' sister, Mrs. Barlow, in Omaha, going later to visit her mother, Mrs. McIntock, in Canton, O. Later they will visit Mrs. H. B. Brooke in Washington, D. C.

Cards have been sent for a reception on Friday by Mrs. Lee Hoffman.

Mrs. Wells Gilbert is entertaining her attractive sister, Miss Mary Morris, of Duluth, Minn. During the past week a number of small affairs have been given in her honor. On Thursday Mrs. Everett Ames asked in a few friends informally to meet Miss Morris and play bridge.

On Friday Mrs. Wells asked in several girls and a few matrons also for bridge. Among them being Miss Inez Koehler, Miss Miriam Strong, Miss Isabella Bryan, Miss Amy Heltsu, Miss Rhoda, Falling, Miss Olive Falling, Miss Inez Barret, Mrs. Frederick Sykes, Misses Frances and Grace Warren, Mrs. Frank Freeman, Miss Margaret Catlin, Miss Alice Strong and Misses Hazel and Barbara Croker.

Mrs. C. S. Jackson left recently for Honolulu and was accompanied on the trip by Pendleton friends.

The Delta Pi sorority, composed of the younger set of girls from the Portland Academy, were hostesses at an extremely pretty dancing party Friday evening at Muriark Hall. The patronesses were Mrs. S. R. Johnston, Mrs. George Fuller and Mrs. Charles Smith. To the following girls the success of the affair is due: Miss Margaret Bates, Miss Lillian Buchner, Miss Ruth Small, Miss Margaret Bosche, Miss Lucile Smith, Miss Eleu Smith, Miss Elsie Gill, Miss Frances Selser, Miss Emma and Gretchen Kiosterman and Miss Ruth Siegel.

The annual freshman glee of the University of Oregon, which is the event par excellence at that institution, was given last evening in Eugene. A number of girls went up for the event, Miss Dorothy Morrison, who was chaperoned by Mrs. L. von Zolt, Clarke; Miss Lucile Smith, Miss Margaret Boot, Miss Ruth Honeyman, Miss Eva Jones, Miss Dorothy Holbrook, Miss Josephine Smith and several others.

Mrs. Ben Neustadter entertained with three tables of bridge on Tuesday.

In the near future Mr. and Mrs. David C. Lewis are planning an Eastern trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Tarpley are visiting in New York City.

Last night the third of the subscription dances was given at the Irvington Club, and it was one of the most successful of this popular club's affairs. There was a large attendance and the ballroom was prettily decorated with greens. The patronesses were Mrs. Jay S. Hamilton, Mrs. William F. Woodward and Mrs. Walter A. Goss.

An Oregon wedding which came as a complete surprise was that of Miss Helen Brents, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Thomas Brents, of Walla Walla, and Mr. Robert Ankeny, youngest son of Senator and Mrs. Levi Ankeny, which was quietly celebrated on Wednesday evening at the Brent residence. The bride was formerly a St. Helen's Hall girl, is attractive and accomplished. Her sister, Miss Mabel Brent, a bride of the year, is the present Mrs. John Robb, of Albany, who has visited here on a number of occasions and has invariably been extended many courtesies. Mr. and Mrs. Ankeny are at present guests of Mrs. Harriet K. McArthur, though they will visit at Clatsop Beach before returning to Walla Walla.

Mrs. I. N. Fleischer and family left last night for San Francisco to attend the wedding of Mrs. Fleischer's brother.

Mrs. Charles E. Runyon gave a large tea Thursday afternoon in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Lyman C. Hill, of California, who is her guest. A large number of friends called. The rooms were very pretty with ferns and cut flowers and potted plants in the receiving rooms and with carnations and phlox and small palms in the dining-room. Assisting in the drawing room were Mrs. P. H. Edwards, Mrs. E. M. Dennison and Mrs. M. M. Moffat. In the dining room Mrs. P. J. Mann, Mrs. Robert Lutke and Mrs. McKinley Mitchell presided at the table. They were assisted in serving by Miss Eloise Cranger, Miss Celeste Dygert, Miss Grace Lottman and Miss Eleanor Cannon. Mrs. Byron E. Miller and Miss Katherine Frank served punch. Little Marjorie Cannon admitted the guests at the door. Webber's orchestra played throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Hill will remain till the first of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Clarke and Miss Louise Man entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening at the Oregon Grill in honor of Miss and Mrs. Goodman and Miss Ethel Goodman, who are to leave shortly for San Francisco, where they will bid bon voyage to Major Goodman, who is to be on duty in the Philippines.
