

Gadsbys' Clearance Sale of Furniture

Furniture of every description at less than factory prices. See our windows for bargains. We guarantee to UNDERSELL any house in Portland

$50 PARLOR SUITS $27

Parlor Suit, five pieces, beautifully finished in rich, dark mahogany, upholstered in verona; regular price $50; sale price.....$27.00
Mail Orders for the above must include $2.00 packing charges.

See Our Windows

$35.00 Steel Range for $29.00

LEADER Range
All guaranteed for 10 years. Leader Range, with high cabinet and duplex grate, spring-balanced oven doors. This is a heavy, substantial and durable range, made of the best quality cold-rolled steel, adapted for coal or wood, oven thoroughly braced and bolted; asbestos lined throughout; elaborately nickel trimmed; section plate top; Gadsbys' sp' price $29.00

Look at This Couch, $10

Each piece is upholstered in No. 1 velour, with frames, springs and every detail of upholstery, as well as by the covering itself, strictly high grade in every particular. Gadsbys' price.....$10.00

One of the Largest Displays of CARPETS and RUGS on the Coast—Special Prices

- CARPETS
- Bromley's Velvets, with borders.....$1.25
  - Burlington Brussels, with borders.....$1.10
  - Tapestry Brussels, with borders.....$1.20
  - Dunlap's Tapestry Brussels.....90c
  - Reversible Pro-Brussels.....$1.00
  - Brusselette Carpet, 3/4 yard wide.....55c
  - Granite Ingrain Carpets.....50c

- RUG SPECIALS
- $35.00 Royal Axminster Parlor Rugs, 9x12 feet, now.....$25.00
  - $35.00 Wilton Velvet Rugs, 9x12.....$25.00
  - $25.00 Brussels Seamless Rugs, 9x12.....$20.00
  - $20.00 Brussels Rugs, 9x12.....$15.00
  - $15.00 Pro-Brussels Rugs, 9x12.....$12.00
- Smaller or Larger Rugs Proportionately Reduced.
- Ingrain Sample Rugs, all wool, 1 yard square.....35c
  - Brussels Sample Rugs, fringed.....$1.00

Solid Mahogany Chamber Suits, Colonial Design, $150.00 up.
Early English Dining-Room Suits, 8 pieces, $125.
Weathered Oak Library Suits, 5 pieces, $100.
Empire or Napoleon Beds, Mahogany, Birdseye and Golden Quarter-Sawn Oak. Gadsbys' price, $25.00.
Brass Bedsteads, 100 patterns, from $22.50 up.
Hall Furniture in Early English, Weathered and Golden Oak.

$35 Suit for $17.50

Fine full-sized Bedroom Suit, usually sold at $35.00; our price just one-half.....$17.50
Maple or ash, golden finish. No soft wood here.

How's This Buffet for $15.00?

This beautiful Buffet, worth $20 half price.....$15.00

SIDEBOARDS REDUCED

$22.00 Sideboard red. to.....$15.00
$23.00 Sideboard red. to.....$17.50
$24.00 Sideboard red. to.....$19.00
$25.00 Sideboard red. to.....$20.00
$26.00 Sideboard red. to.....$21.00
$27.00 Sideboard red. to.....$22.00
$28.00 Sideboard red. to.....$23.00
$29.00 Sideboard red. to.....$24.00
$30.00 Sideboard red. to.....$25.00

Extension Tables Reduced

$25.00 Table reduced to.....$15.00
$30.00 Table reduced to.....$22.50
$35.00 Table reduced to.....$25.00
$40.00 Table reduced to.....$30.00
$45.00 Table reduced to.....$35.00
$50.00 Table reduced to.....$40.00

We Guarantee to Save You Money on All Purchases by Giving Better Values Than You Get Elsewhere.

NO RENT TO PAY. THAT'S WHY WE SELL FOR LESS!

Wm. Gadsby & Sons

CORNER WASHINGTON AND FIRST STS.

Combination Bookcases

- $25 Bookcase red. to.....$16.50
- $30 Bookcase red. to.....$21.00
- $35 Bookcase red. to.....$25.00
- $40 Bookcase red. to.....$30.00
- $45 Bookcase red. to.....$38.50

Ask to See Our China Closets

- $90 China Closet now $68.00
- $85.50 China Closet now.....$60.00
- $82 China Closet now $59.00
- $60 China Closet now $40.00
- $45 China Closet now $36.00
- $37 China Closet now $28.50
- $30 China Closet now $25.00
- $25 China Closet now $20.00
- $20 China Closet now $15.00

Morris Chairs Reduced

- $14 Morris Chair reduced to.....$ 7.50
- $12 Morris Chair reduced to.....$10.00
- $13 Morris Chair reduced to.....$12.00
- $18 Morris Chair reduced to.....$14.50
- $23 Morris Chair reduced to.....$16.00
- $25 Morris Chair reduced to.....$20.00
- $35 Morris Chair reduced to.....$24.00

INDIA BOYCOTTS BRITISH GOODS

All Who Handle English Wares Are Ignored Throughout the Province.

WRITER DEPICTS CONDITION

Swadeshi Movement Has Gained Strong Foothold and "India for Indians" Is the Cry on Every Side.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—(Special).—Writing from Eastern Bengal, the stronghold of the Swadeshi movement and the home of the boycott against British goods, which has been its necessary instrument, a special correspondent describes "exclusive dealing," as he finds it, with a vividness which must be painful to some of his readers. The boycott chiefly affects Manchester cottons and Liverpool salt. The origin of the boycott the writer does not discuss, except to say it was directly due to the partition of Bengal, and that the movement was designed to draw the attention of the English people to a feeling which the government of India under Lord Curzon ignored.

We have the writer's word for it that in every detail the boycott was thorough. Merchants and shopkeepers and buyers alike were called upon to have no dealings with British goods. The young men of the towns and villages formed themselves into associations to preach the boycott. Shops that continued the sale were surrounded by groups that implored customers, for the sake of their country, to go away. Boys threw themselves prostrate in supplication, as is the regular Indian way. This was the only form of persuasion used. But in some cases the British goods were destroyed, though usually they were first paid for.

The extension of the boycott from the goods to the vendors of them, marks the completion of the movement. There is no need now to preach boycott or Swadeshi; everyone knows the principle, even in the furthestmost village of India. The political boycott on British goods is becoming merged in the much larger economic movement of home rule, for the revival of all purely Indian industries, and the methods no longer consist of appeals to shopkeepers and customers, but of a social boycott on the merchants who still insist on dealing in any foreign goods rather than those of India.

The writer of the article recently met a number of merchants, who had large dealings in Manchester cottons, and in consequence were generally shunned. "Barbers would not shave them, milkmen would not sell them milk, friends would not come to their doors, and the soldiers, in passing and inconvenient. Would I please set everything right as it was before? They were martyrs to the cause of British commerce."

The correspondent doubts if the Swadeshi movement can now be ended by any political reform, since it has certain obvious economic advantages. The watchword, "India for the Indians," is indeed becoming a very powerful force in the Eastern Empire. A high authority on Indian affairs said the other day that within five years will be the gravest possible situation in India.

UNITE TO HONOR MILTON

America Will Join England in Tercentenary Celebration.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(Special to New York Times).—Proposals of a definite nature for commemorating the tercentenary of Milton will be laid before the British Academy officials at the forthcoming meeting, with special reference to American participation in the celebration. As Milton was born in Broad street, Cheap-side, on December 18, 1608, the tercentenary will take place a little less than a year hence, and such early discussion of the plans seems to indicate that the event will be celebrated on a grand scale.

One suggestion for the celebration is the production of "Comus," written when the poet was only 21. Another suggestion is that a Milton oration be endowed, something after the manner of Harvey's oration at the College of Physicians, commemorating Harvey's discovery of the circulation of the blood. St. Paul's School, where Milton received his early education, and Christ College, Cambridge, where he afterward went, will, of course, be invited to take a prominent part in the commemorative ceremonies.

The suggestions for American participation have not yet taken definite form, but the supporters of the movement here believe they can count on not only active but enthusiastic support from the American followers of the blind poet.

By an interesting coincidence another name famous in English history, but in another sphere, is also the subject of discussion for great celebration. The question of observing the 50th anniversary of the announcement of the Darwinian theory has already been raised by the council of the Linnean Society. It is especially appropriate that this society should have the initiation of any steps thought desirable, as to it Darwin first communicated his historic thesis.

CAINE TAKEN TO TASK

House of Keys Is Shocked by Novelist's Attire.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(Special to the New York Times).—A formal protest has been made by the House of Keys, of the Isle of Man, against the practice of Hall Caine, the novelist, appearing before that body attired in knickerbockers and other accessories of the tourist.

POPE'S CHARGES CALLED RECKLESS

English Ex-Jesuit Answers Encyclical Against Modernism.

LETTER TO THE PRESS

Father G. Tyrrell, Excommunicated by Pope, Says Modernism Is the Method of the Spirit, Rather Than System.

ROME, Jan. 25.—The Rev. George Tyrrell, the English ex-Jesuit, who has been forbidden by the Pope to exercise the functions of his office as a priest of the Roman Catholic Church on account of his "modernism," has at length replied to the recent Papal encyclical which condemned him and other Catholic advocates of a modern interpretation of the Bible, the ancient dogmas of the church, and the commentaries, real or apocryphal, of the Fathers. The ex-Jesuit's reply is in the form of a letter sent to the press of England and Italy. Its most striking passages are as follows:

QUEEN OF SHEBA'S MINES

ARCHAEOLOGISTS DISPUTING AS TO THEIR LOCATION.

One Maintains They Are on the Zambesi River, Another Holds They Are in Abyssinia.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—A bitter archaeological controversy is raging in Germany over the exact location of the famous gold mines of the Queen of Sheba. Dr. Carl Peters, the well-known explorer and former governor of German East Africa, has been lecturing throughout Germany to the effect that the Biblical Ophir gold region in Africa, according to his discoveries, lies in the Zambesi river. Baron von Falkenberg, also an explorer of note, says that the theory of Dr. Peters has been set up "in the interests of England."

Baron Falkenberg writes: "From the Bible it is incontrovertibly clear that the Queen of Sheba, I. e., Habesch, took the land route over the Red Sea to the Harar region, in the neighborhood of Djibuti, she sailed to Yemen to some southern Arabian point, and there organized the great caravan. In all probability, as ruler of Habesch, she was also ruler of southern Arabia."

Baron Falkenberg then discusses the "colonial policy" which King Solomon had in common with King Hiram of Phoenicia, carried out.

"With his friend Hiram, the Phoenician king, King Solomon established colonies in Africa. The Phoenicians furnished the ships and the experienced sailors, and the Jewish King supplied the money and the soldiers.

"From what is today Tripoli, along all the coasts of Africa, the Phoenicians had their colonies, in northwest and south-east Africa, all the way to the Indian Ocean. The remains of Phoenician structures of all sorts abound throughout Africa.

"On that basis Dr. Peters rests his arguments that the region of the 'Sinnab'le' is the old legendary Ophir. The gold ships came from the land 'Ophir'—that is, 'Africa.' The richest deposits, however, were revealed in the Habesch district, or what is today Abyssinia."

One result of the campaign will be certain benefit to the Sudan, where it is well known there exist great mineral wealth and untold agricultural possibilities, the pioneer in exploring which was probably the Austrian, Joseph Ruppelger, who, seventy years ago, compiled and illustrated fifteen gigantic volumes on the subject.

Even now German capitalists and colonizers are turning their attention in that direction. It was a German citizen long resident in London, Charles Tuchmann, who built the hotel at Hartmann and commenced to interest British investors.

The efforts of the Hamburg-American company in Nile navigation are also appealing to German pride; and it is known the prospector and the land developer are beginning, on behalf of German interests, to appear in increasing numbers in the Sudan.

HOPE IN PRIMARY SYSTEM

Book of Great Importance Written by American in Germany.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—(By telegraph to Clifton, Ireland, thence by wireless).—With a frontispiece portrait of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and with a dedication "to that eminent statesman and leader of Constitutional reform and faithful champion of the principles of a true republic" a book is published in Leipzig entitled "The Elective Office and Primary Election in the United States."

The author of the book is Ernst C. Meyer, United States Consul Agent at Sonneberg, Saxo-Meiningen, who recently won the degree of Ph. D. at the University of Leipzig. Mr. Meyer's thesis at the university attracted the attention of Professor Karl Lamprecht, one of Germany's most sound and resourceful historians who invited the young American official to elaborate his subject, and make it into a volume in the special library of the world's political systems, which the professor is engaged in editing.

POPE'S CHARGES CALLED RECKLESS

English Ex-Jesuit Answers Encyclical Against Modernism.

LETTER TO THE PRESS

Father G. Tyrrell, Excommunicated by Pope, Says Modernism Is the Method of the Spirit, Rather Than System.

ROME, Jan. 25.—The Rev. George Tyrrell, the English ex-Jesuit, who has been forbidden by the Pope to exercise the functions of his office as a priest of the Roman Catholic Church on account of his "modernism," has at length replied to the recent Papal encyclical which condemned him and other Catholic advocates of a modern interpretation of the Bible, the ancient dogmas of the church, and the commentaries, real or apocryphal, of the Fathers. The ex-Jesuit's reply is in the form of a letter sent to the press of England and Italy. Its most striking passages are as follows:

QUEEN OF SHEBA'S MINES

ARCHAEOLOGISTS DISPUTING AS TO THEIR LOCATION.

One Maintains They Are on the Zambesi River, Another Holds They Are in Abyssinia.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—A bitter archaeological controversy is raging in Germany over the exact location of the famous gold mines of the Queen of Sheba. Dr. Carl Peters, the well-known explorer and former governor of German East Africa, has been lecturing throughout Germany to the effect that the Biblical Ophir gold region in Africa, according to his discoveries, lies in the Zambesi river. Baron von Falkenberg, also an explorer of note, says that the theory of Dr. Peters has been set up "in the interests of England."

Baron Falkenberg writes: "From the Bible it is incontrovertibly clear that the Queen of Sheba, I. e., Habesch, took the land route over the Red Sea to the Harar region, in the neighborhood of Djibuti, she sailed to Yemen to some southern Arabian point, and there organized the great caravan. In all probability, as ruler of Habesch, she was also ruler of southern Arabia."

Baron Falkenberg then discusses the "colonial policy" which King Solomon had in common with King Hiram of Phoenicia, carried out.

"With his friend Hiram, the Phoenician king, King Solomon established colonies in Africa. The Phoenicians furnished the ships and the experienced sailors, and the Jewish King supplied the money and the soldiers.

"From what is today Tripoli, along all the coasts of Africa, the Phoenicians had their colonies, in northwest and south-east Africa, all the way to the Indian Ocean. The remains of Phoenician structures of all sorts abound throughout Africa.

"On that basis Dr. Peters rests his arguments that the region of the 'Sinnab'le' is the old legendary Ophir. The gold ships came from the land 'Ophir'—that is, 'Africa.' The richest deposits, however, were revealed in the Habesch district, or what is today Abyssinia."

One result of the campaign will be certain benefit to the Sudan, where it is well known there exist great mineral wealth and untold agricultural possibilities, the pioneer in exploring which was probably the Austrian, Joseph Ruppelger, who, seventy years ago, compiled and illustrated fifteen gigantic volumes on the subject.

Even now German capitalists and colonizers are turning their attention in that direction. It was a German citizen long resident in London, Charles Tuchmann, who built the hotel at Hartmann and commenced to interest British investors.

The efforts of the Hamburg-American company in Nile navigation are also appealing to German pride; and it is known the prospector and the land developer are beginning, on behalf of German interests, to appear in increasing numbers in the Sudan.

HOPE IN PRIMARY SYSTEM

Book of Great Importance Written by American in Germany.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—(By telegraph to Clifton, Ireland, thence by wireless).—With a frontispiece portrait of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and with a dedication "to that eminent statesman and leader of Constitutional reform and faithful champion of the principles of a true republic" a book is published in Leipzig entitled "The Elective Office and Primary Election in the United States."

The author of the book is Ernst C. Meyer, United States Consul Agent at Sonneberg, Saxo-Meiningen, who recently won the degree of Ph. D. at the University of Leipzig. Mr. Meyer's thesis at the university attracted the attention of Professor Karl Lamprecht, one of Germany's most sound and resourceful historians who invited the young American official to elaborate his subject, and make it into a volume in the special library of the world's political systems, which the professor is engaged in editing.

POPE'S CHARGES CALLED RECKLESS

English Ex-Jesuit Answers Encyclical Against Modernism.

LETTER TO THE PRESS

Father G. Tyrrell, Excommunicated by Pope, Says Modernism Is the Method of the Spirit, Rather Than System.

ROME, Jan. 25.—The Rev. George Tyrrell, the English ex-Jesuit, who has been forbidden by the Pope to exercise the functions of his office as a priest of the Roman Catholic Church on account of his "modernism," has at length replied to the recent Papal encyclical which condemned him and other Catholic advocates of a modern interpretation of the Bible, the ancient dogmas of the church, and the commentaries, real or apocryphal, of the Fathers. The ex-Jesuit's reply is in the form of a letter sent to the press of England and Italy. Its most striking passages are as follows:

QUEEN OF SHEBA'S MINES

ARCHAEOLOGISTS DISPUTING AS TO THEIR LOCATION.

One Maintains They Are on the Zambesi River, Another Holds They Are in Abyssinia.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—A bitter archaeological controversy is raging in Germany over the exact location of the famous gold mines of the Queen of Sheba. Dr. Carl Peters, the well-known explorer and former governor of German East Africa, has been lecturing throughout Germany to the effect that the Biblical Ophir gold region in Africa, according to his discoveries, lies in the Zambesi river. Baron von Falkenberg, also an explorer of note, says that the theory of Dr. Peters has been set up "in the interests of England."

Baron Falkenberg writes: "From the Bible it is incontrovertibly clear that the Queen of Sheba, I. e., Habesch, took the land route over the Red Sea to the Harar region, in the neighborhood of Djibuti, she sailed to Yemen to some southern Arabian point, and there organized the great caravan. In all probability, as ruler of Habesch, she was also ruler of southern Arabia."

Baron Falkenberg then discusses the "colonial policy" which King Solomon had in common with King Hiram of Phoenicia, carried out.

"With his friend Hiram, the Phoenician king, King Solomon established colonies in Africa. The Phoenicians furnished the ships and the experienced sailors, and the Jewish King supplied the money and the soldiers.

"From what is today Tripoli, along all the coasts of Africa, the Phoenicians had their colonies, in northwest and south-east Africa, all the way to the Indian Ocean. The remains of Phoenician structures of all sorts abound throughout Africa.

"On that basis Dr. Peters rests his arguments that the region of the 'Sinnab'le' is the old legendary Ophir. The gold ships came from the land 'Ophir'—that is, 'Africa.' The richest deposits, however, were revealed in the Habesch district, or what is today Abyssinia."

One result of the campaign will be certain benefit to the Sudan, where it is well known there exist great mineral wealth and untold agricultural possibilities, the pioneer in exploring which was probably the Austrian, Joseph Ruppelger, who, seventy years ago, compiled and illustrated fifteen gigantic volumes on the subject.

Even now German capitalists and colonizers are turning their attention in that direction. It was a German citizen long resident in London, Charles Tuchmann, who built the hotel at Hartmann and commenced to interest British investors.

The efforts of the Hamburg-American company in Nile navigation are also appealing to German pride; and it is known the prospector and the land developer are beginning, on behalf of German interests, to appear in increasing numbers in the Sudan.

HOPE IN PRIMARY SYSTEM

Book of Great Importance Written by American in Germany.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—(By telegraph to Clifton, Ireland, thence by wireless).—With a frontispiece portrait of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and with a dedication "to that eminent statesman and leader of Constitutional reform and faithful champion of the principles of a true republic" a book is published in Leipzig entitled "The Elective Office and Primary Election in the United States."

The author of the book is Ernst C. Meyer, United States Consul Agent at Sonneberg, Saxo-Meiningen, who recently won the degree of Ph. D. at the University of Leipzig. Mr. Meyer's thesis at the university attracted the attention of Professor Karl Lamprecht, one of Germany's most sound and resourceful historians who invited the young American official to elaborate his subject, and make it into a volume in the special library of the world's political systems, which the professor is engaged in editing.