MARION COUNTY IN CONVENTION

Republicans Issue Call to Select Candidates for the Legislature.

HEAD OFF STATEMENT NO. 1

Adopt Resolutions Declaring Fear of Democrat Being Elected, After Heated Debate With but Two Dissensions—Meet in March.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—The Marion County Republican Central Committee today called a county convention to meet in this city March 14, for the purpose of selecting candidates for the Legislature who are "unalterably opposed to Statement No. 1." The convention is also to select delegates to a state convention where National delegates are to be chosen and candidates for Presidential elector nominated. The vote by which this action was taken was almost unanimous. The primaries for selecting delegates to the county convention are to be held March 7.

There was but one member of the committee who entered a protest against this action. Alonzo Gesner, one of the old war horses of the party, presented a resolution declaring that nomination of candidates by delegates would re-establish corrupt practices which the primary law obviates; that such an attempt is indefensible from a moral or legal standpoint, and that it would endanger the Republican principles of majority rule and government by the people, but his resolution was smothered by a sub-committee and one of opposite purport adopted. The resolution adopted recites:

Resolution Against Statement No. 1.

Whereas, under the existing laws governing primaries, conventions and elections, there is no provision under which Presidential electors may be nominated otherwise than at party assemblies or conventions, and

Whereas, It is the sense and desire of the Republicans of Marion County that the vote of our Representatives in the Legislature should be cast for a Republican for United States Senator and not for a Democrat, and under the direct primary law there is grave danger of a Democrat being selected from this great Republican state as United States Senator at Washington; therefore, be it

Resolved, First, that at the conference of the Republicans of this county this day called to meet in Salem on the 14th day of March, 1908, at 10 o'clock, there be selected at said conference delegates to the state convention that will hereafter be called for the purpose of nominating Presidential electors to be voted for at the Presidential election in November, 1908; and be it further

Resolved, That at said conference there be selected or recommended as candidates of the Republican party of Marion County, Oregon, for the Legislature, members of said party, who are unalterably opposed to Statement No. 1, and who will not take or subscribe thereto in seeking nomination under the provisions of the direct primary law.

Two Dissenting Votes.

Another resolution was adopted, much to the same effect, and also declaring that one purpose of the convention is to revive party spirit and enthusiasm and to promote effective organization. This resolution fixes representation in the convention at one delegate for each 15 votes or majority fraction thereof cast for Withycombe in 1906.

Precinct primaries are to be open mass meetings called by precinct committeemen at 2 o'clock March 7. The county convention is not to take action on any candidate other than those for the Legislature. The adoption of the resolutions was the occasion for a spirited debate between Dr. J. N. Smith for the resolutions and Alonzo Gesner in opposition. When the vote was taken there were but two negative responses.

A number of addresses were made by other Republican leaders who were present, all against Statement No. 1 when that subject was touched upon.

A resolution presented by Gesner was adopted, indorsing President Roosevelt's war upon dishonest wealth and commending his recent special message.

Charles A. Murphy, chairman of the Central Committee, presided. B. F. Meredith was secretary.

YAMHILL IS ALSO OPPOSED

Considering Calling Convention to Down Statement No. 1.

M'MINNVILLE, Or., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—A number of the leading Republicans of this city and vicinity are considering the advisability of calling a county convention to discuss and arrive at a definite understanding of matters relating to the welfare of the party. Statement No. 1 will occupy the first place.

A large portion of the Republicans of this county would have no hesitancy in sending their Legislative candidates to the state capital unpledged as to their choice for United States Senator. Another large contingent would be satisfied if assured that the Legislators were to vote for the Republican candidate for Senator who shall have received the popular vote of the party. Therefore, it is figured, that if the convention were called, the favoring of Statement No. 2 against Statement No. 1 would voice the sentiment of three-fourths of the Republicans of the county.

CHARGES THEFT OF ESTATE

Attorney Accuses Administrator of Presenting Forged Will.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—"This administrator deliberately attempted to steal this entire estate by means of a forged will which he himself presented to this court." With these words, Prosecuting Attorney Rowland this afternoon turned upon Joseph Stampfler, administrator of the estate of Philip Kelly. The dramatic denunciation came as a climax to the attempt of Stampfler to prove claims for $1988 against the estate of which he was the administrator, in Judge Snell's court.

All of the claims had been disallowed by the joint administrator of the estate. After hearing the testimony, Judge Snell allowed claims totaling $238, all others being rejected.

SCALP TORN OFF BY FALL

Electrician Shows Nerve and Walks Long Distance to Doctor.

OREGON CITY, Or., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—Otto F. Olson, superintendent of the Portland Gefieral Electric Company's power station, had a narrow escape from death yesterday, and by a fall of 14 feet on the concrete floor of the transformer building, sustained serious injuries. Olson struck on his head and his scalp was nearly torn off. He was alone in the room and was unconscious for a time, and when he came to his senses found that he was jammed between a transformer and the side of the building.

He managed to extricate himself and walked unassisted to the station of the Willamette Falls Railway, pushing back the scalp and holding it in place, and then walked across the suspension bridge to a physician's office, where 17 stitches were taken in the wound. He has probably sustained internal injuries and has severe pains in his chest.

GOOD RESULTS AT CONFERENCE

Ends in Hurry After a Day of Discussion of Amateurism.

ADOPTS STRICT RULINGS

No Student Who Has Ever Contested for Money or With Professional for Prize Is Eligible in Collegiate Athletics.

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla, Feb. 8.—(Special.)—Summer baseball was ruled out and the four-year rule made retroactive at the final sessions of the Northwest Intercollegiate Athletic Conference today. All the other rulings of the conference will take effect from commencement time of the present college year. The work of the conference was closed at 6 o'clock, the last papers being signed at the depot while the conductor held the train for Seattle.

The day's sessions were devoted to a definition of what constitutes amateurism, to the perfection of a plan of organization and a final wording and signing of the agreements made. Some of the rules adopted are as follows:

No student who has already taken part in intercollegiate sports for four years shall represent any institution. No student who has ever received money for athletics shall play for a college. No student shall play who is more than 21 days late in registering. All questions are to be settled by the faculty committee on athletics of the institution or the school from which the student comes.

No constitution was adopted, and the only officer elected was a permanent secretary, Loren Grinstead, the University of Washington representative. The articles of agreement signed provide for a meeting in two years, or on the call of three institutions. A conference track meet was recommended, but the delegates voted not to recommend a conference oratorical contest.

The subject of amateurism is strictly defined in the rule, no student shall compete in any athletic contest in this conference who is not an amateur.

An amateur is a person who has never competed for money under a false name or with a professional for a prize nor at any time taught, pursued or assisted at athletic exercises for money or other valuable consideration. Nothing in this definition shall be construed to prohibit competition between amateurs for medals or trophies of a similar nature. It is hereby expressly declared that this definition is not retroactive. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prohibit the acceptance by an amateur of his necessary travelling expenses incurred as contestant or official in going to and from any place for an amateur contest. The disposing of any medal or trophy for consideration shall be considered evidence of professionalism. No student shall be eligible to participate in intercollegiate athletics who has taken advantage of any reduction of fees, scholarships or other financial advantage except on basis of competitive examinations or other basis open to non-athletic students on the same terms.

All questions in regard to eligibility and amateur standing of athletics are to be referred to his own faculty committee on athletics whose decision shall be final. A change in articles of agreement may be declared by secretary upon filing of written approval by each institution in conference.

This agreement shall take effect in each institution immediately after commencement exercises, 1908.

MULTNOMAH CLUB'S FINANCES

Flattering Showing Made in Annual Report of Treasurer Jones.

The report of Arthur O. Jones, treasurer of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, which is being prepared for presentation to the club members at the annual meeting Tuesday night, shows the club to be in a most flattering financial condition. Not only is this a most gratifying situation to the local membership, but is also a testimonial to the management of the institution, for the figures compiled by the secretary and treasurer display a more profitable year than was enjoyed by any other athletic institution on the Pacific Coast.

The total receipts of the club during the year, ending January 31, 1908, were $51,334.27, and the disbursements, including the payment of a large sum on the mortgage and for improvements to the club are stated as $50,091.09. This leaves a balance on hand of $1243.18, a sum slightly less than that on hand on February 1, 1907.

Included in the disbursements is the sum of $7000 paid on the mortgage on the club property, the interest on same which amounts to $1846.65. The bringing of the St. Louis University football team required the expenditure of nearly $1000 additional to what would have been required to play a Northwest team, and the sending of Forrest Smithson to Jamestown and several Eastern cities necessitated the expenditure of nearly $500 more. This shows that the club cleared in the neighborhood of $12,000 over the actual expenditures for necessities, and indicates that it is in a most flourishing condition.

The football eleven earned the club $8662.35, and when the total expense for the team, $6923.21, is deducted, it is seen that the gridiron warriors gave the club as net earnings $1729.14.

Other sports and games show a goodly margin of profit over the disbursements, and the finances of the institution are in a most satisfactory shape.

The property holdings of the club, including the handsome clubhouse and grounds, are placed at $152,216.55. Against this there are liabilities amounting to $28,621, of which is the $28,000 balance of the original mortgage.

The report of the treasurer for the year ending January 31, 1908, is as follows:

DALY DEFEATS HARRY CLINE

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8.—John Daly, of Chicago, defeated Harry P. Cline, of Philadelphia, 50 to 42, tonight in the third and last block of the three-cushion billiard championship tournament, winning from Cline the diamond championship and a wager of $250.

BUNGLING'S CIRCUS GONE

Big Show Gives Last Performance at the Y. M. C. A.

Unprecedented enthusiasm was aroused at the Y. M. C. A. last night, when Bungling Brothers' famous circus disbanded. The immense circus auditorium was packed to the rafters, and it is computed that hundreds were turned away from the doors long before Bandmaster Chambers raised his baton. From the first grand parade to the last item on the program the audience made it clear that Bunglings were providing all they advertised. The shrieks of children's laughter and the warm applause of their elders made a scene one that will long linger in the memory of the youngest circus man of them all.

Toward the end, the audience seemed to feel that they were bidding a final farewell to the circus they seemed to have known so long and tears mingled with the laughter caused by the clown's merry antics, while a lump gathered in the throat of the most hardened at the thought that it was a long good-bye that was being said.

Last night the fancy of the audience was particularly attracted by the Grilla troupe presenting in action a Greek tragedy play, which, to the relief of the audience, ended happily. The educated mules, Cleaver and Jackson, did their hurdle jumping in great style the while the stage was occupied by the entire company in song and chorus.

Chickeeta and Rubbernecko, the elephant and giraffe, were, if possible, funnier than ever as their trainers put them through their paces. Clown Larry and his monkeys surpassed themselves, though special mention ought to be made of one known as "Brougher's Kid," the antics of this little simian being too funny for description.

Mesdames De Zizi and Lalola, the accomplished bareback performers, gave a finished performance on the pads, and every praise must be accorded Reed and Miss Schab in their exciting duel. Miss Highflyer and the lady Tryhard troupe in their daring performance left nothing to be desired.

Larimore and his troupe of clowns supplied the merriment for the show, the special contributors being a Rip Van Winkle on stilts, whilst Carrie Nation was as determined as ever to put down the liquor traffic, using an ax to good purpose.

The horse and jockey races and the chariot contests were as popular as ever, as the applause testified. The handsome ringmasters were as popular as they have always been with their lady friends in the balcony.
