The many friends of J. P. Robertson will be sorry to learn of his departure from Portland. Mr. Robertson leaves in early April for Toronto, Canada, to join "The Kliffers," a Scotch Canadian musical organization. Before leaving Mr. Robertson performs with a "farewell" concert at Arion Hall, March 27. The various artists appearing on the programme are well known to Portland music-lovers; Mrs. Rose C. Reed and Miss Kathleen Lawler, who will be heard in Scottish song; also Mr. Crowther, without whom no British concert would be complete. Miss Helen Barstow will sing, and the Welsh chorus will add one of their popular numbers. Among new arrivals, as yet unheard of in Portland, are Mrs. B. Bruce-Gibb, late of Aberdeen, Scotland, and Jack Coleman, a young Scotch comedian. Mr. Robertson will present a sextet of jive-jive dances and piper, whose equal cannot be found on the Pacific Coast. Last but not least, Mr. Murray has kindly consented to give one of his clever impersonations.

PORTLAND SINGER ATTRACTING ATTENTION. Madame Norelli, who is appearing in Italian grand opera, is attracting much favorable attention in St. Louis, where, at the Garrick Theater, the Portland singer is appearing as Glilda in "Tricofoto." The St. Louis Globe-Democrat has the following to say: "Madame Norelli's voice is a delight. It is possessed of the peculiar limpid quality so well adapted to the singing of such roles as the unfortunate heroine of the Verdi opera. Madame Norelli not only sings the part well, but she also acts with the lack of self-consciousness seldom found in an artist so well equipped vocally."
