CAKE'S PLATFORM IS MADE PUBLIC

Candidate for United States Senator Issues Address to Oregon Voters.

FAVORS STATEMENT NO. 1

Declares Himself in Full Accord With Policies of President Roosevelt - Advocates Laws for the Protection of Labor.

H. M. Cake yesterday made public his platform and the declaration of principles on which he will ask for the Republican nomination at the primaries on April 17 for United States Senator to succeed Senator Fulson. Mr. Cake declares himself to be in accord with the policies of President Rosevelt, indorses the direct primary law and Statement No. 1, declares for tariff revision, opposes a further extension of Federal power over the various states, favors smlarging the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission for a more effective regulation of the railroad corporations, declares for postal savings banks, advocates a vigorous policy looking to the reclamation of Arid lands and urges the early completion of the Panama Canal.

Mr. Cake would also work for legislation in the interests of labor. He would have the employers liability act passed, would limit the use of the injunction power and would support stringent immigration laws for the exclusion of coolie labor.

Mr. Cake a platform is as follows: To the Republican Voters and People of the State of Oregon:

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination at the primaries on April 17, for the office of United States Senator, for the term beginning March 4, 1909. Realizing that it is a duty i owe to the people to make known my position on public questions, I respectfully submit the following platform, pledsing myself to abide by its terms in the event of my election:

Principles of Republican Party Upheld.

Principles of Republican Party Upheld.

Parties must be preserved, for only through their medium can constitutional government be carried on. Party fealty is necessary, and should be shown in upholding party principles, promoting good government, party in public office, and harmony in party efforts; unsettled allegiance, discord and factional differences should be candemued.

denned. Control of the National affairs of this country by the Republican party will in the fature, as in the past insure general prespectly and great economic and commercial development. I am in most hearty accord with the policies of President Roosevelt.

Development of Oregon.

Development of Oregon.

At no time in the history of this state has there been so urgent a need of the attention and rigorous effort of a loyal citizenship in the promotion of its interests. As a state, we are upon the threshold of a great growth, of an era of expansion along commercial and industrial lines without precedent in the annals of state building.

Much that is to be done in advancing the interests of our commonwealth must come from the Federal Government, among the most important of which are the reclamation of the arid lands within the state, the improvement of our waterways, the protection of our forests, and the groper regulation and control of transportation facilities. Our representatives in Congress, charged with the responsibility of these great interests, should be untiring in their efforts to secure adequate appropriations and proper legislation insuring the rapid and continuous growth of the state.

Primary Law.

Primary Law.

The Oregon primary law, should be maintained. The nomination of candidates for office by the people instead of through conventions tends to do away with the evils of machine politics and the controlling influence of special interests, to purify and enhance the efficiency of public service by making all officials responsible for the administration of their offices directly to the corruption) incident to the election of Sena-tors in Oregon have absorbed the time and attention of state Legislatures to the dis-grace of the state, the distriment of the peo-ple and the neglect of needed legislation.

I further indorse Statement No. 1 for the reason that I am in favor of the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and favor an amondment to the Constitution of the United States providing for same. In the absence of such an amond-ment Statement No. 1 accomplishes the same result by obligating the members of same result by obligating the members of the Legislature to elect the choice of the people as evidenced by the vote at the June startion.

Tariff Legislation.

This Nation is committed to the protective tariff, its abandonment would result in industrial disaster. The tariff laws, however, must be adjusted to meet changed commercial and economical conditions of the times. Great combinations of capital have siffed competition to such an extent that the existing turiff, in many instances, levies contributions on the people generally for the benefit of a few manufacturers and increases the profits of industrial monopolies, without answering any univous of profess. out answering any purpose of protection

In the revision of the tariff law ithe demand for which is imperative), we should seek reciprocal trade relations with other countries to a greater extent than under the present law, the tariff in such instances, wille providing a minimum rate for protection and revenue to be regulated by a commission or otherwise, to meet corresponding concessions from other countries.

Increase of Federal Power.

Increase of Federal Power,

I do not believe in limiting the authority and control of the states over their individual interests and affairs by further delegation of power to the Federal Government. The National Government now has ample power over all matters of common intorest to the states, including the sele and exclusive right to regulate interstate commerce and provide for the formation, regulation and control of transportation companies and congretations doing an interstate business, without infringing upon the prerogatives of the states to control intrastate commerce. It is not an extension of Federal authority that its required, but increased activity on the part of the Federal Government in the exercise of powers already delegated.

Railroad Regulation.

Railroad Regulation.

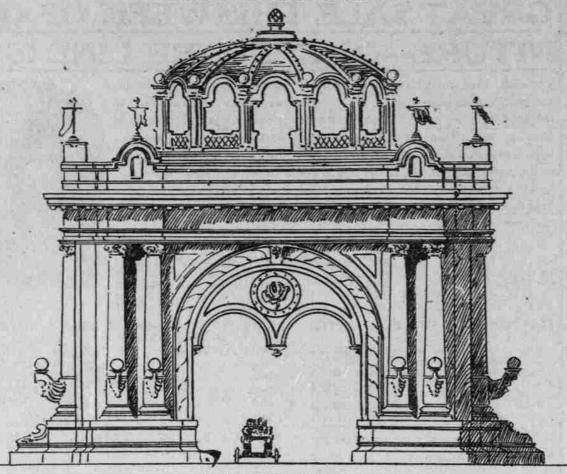

Railroads doby interacts business should be subject to regulation by the Federal Government to protect, the people against unreasonable raises and rebutes and the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission should be enlarged to accomplish this and, Grants of public land should be forefelled where the conditions of the same have not been compiled with. I am not unfriendly to comporations in the exercise of their just and reasonable rights, but I am opposed to allowing them to oppose the Banking Laws.

Vigorous Reclamation Policy.

The reclamation of arid lands is one of the most important needs of Oregon and condition upon which the full development of our state largely depends. I favor vigorous policy on the part of the Federal covernment in the procedulon of this work, and advocate a more urgent application of try of the

SIXTH STREET WILL BE ELABORATELY ILLUMINATED DURING THE ROSE FESTIVAL

THE COLONNADE TO BE ERECTED ON SIXTH, STREET,

An elaborate system of decoration and illumination of Sixth street during the Rose Festival next June has been adopted by the association. The plan provides for the beautifying of Sixth street, from Ankeny to Yamhill and will be the most pretentious undertaking of its kind ever taken up in Portland. This entire section of the thoroughfare will be brilliantly illuminated by innumerable electric lights attached to decorative pillars on each side of the street at frequent intervals.

The main feature of the treatment will be a handsome pavilion at Sixth and Washington streets. This pavilion, which is shown in the accompanying illustration, will have archways spanning both. Sixth and Washington streets and will be the center of the street festivities of the Rose celebration.

The pavilion will be made of staff and will, of course, be only a temporary structure. It is designed for the accommodation of a band, which will play during the parades and at other times during the festival. The entire outline of the pavilion will be studded with electric lights.

The entire treatment of Sixth street was designed by the firm of MacNaughton, Raymond & Lawrence, architects. At the request of the Rose Festival Association, a competition was held among the members of the Portland Architectural Club. From the drawings submitted in this contest the ones shown in the illus-

Corporations coming within the trust class should be dissilved and individuals wilfully guilty of a violation of the law vigorously punished for their oftenses.

I am in favor of the emactment and rigid enforcement of Foliari and state anti-trust laws, and indorse meet heartily the efforts and policies of President Robesselt along these lines.

Harbors and Inland Waterways.

The improvement of the harbors and deepening of the inland waterways of the State of Oregon is a necessary condition to its greatest development and commercial prosperity, and a matter of maramount importance to the people of this state.

The main transportation lines parallel the Willamette, Columbia and Snake rivers, and the improvement of these waterways will tend at once to relieve congestion in traffic and regulate the rates of transportation companies, thus increasing the price of our propanies, thus increasing the price of our proof the Willamette Valley demands that the tolls levied through private correction and the embargo upon traffic re-sulting therefrom, should be removed.

Aid of Veterans.

I believe the policy of the Government should be a liberal one in aiding those de-scribing veteranis who risked life. Ilmb au-rosperty for their country in times of wa-and National danger, and while I am oppose to the abuse of the pension system, I recog-nize the rights of the deserving veterans of the Civil and Spanish wars to liberal and and compensation from the Government for in-juries received in defence of their country.

I would prohibit the use of the process of injunction without a hearing except in extreme cases involving life or injury to person or property.

I am in perfect accord with the policy of requests the hours of labor of the American wage-sarner, and prohibiting the employment of children of tender age and immature years in classes of labor that retard the development of mind and body.

Stringent immigration laws should be en-cited preventing the admission into this coun-try of the undestrable classes of people of all nations, who either will not or cannot assimilate and make good citizens.

I am opposed to the admission of Chinese and Japanese coolle labor in competition with ur intelligent and independent workingmen lishment, and that the regulations governing their management should be changed so as to insure a more equitable distribution of grasing and other privileges connected with the same.

Combinations of capital organized for the purpose of menopoliting the public utilities and necessities to the exclusion of independent competition, are a menace to the liberties of the people of public policy, and, if allowed to continue their system of absorption, will in time control the industries of the country.

Scheme to Spread Deadly Bacilli Among Palouse Farm Pests.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE Pullman, Feb. 28,—(Special.)—Work has again started in the bacteriological department of the college for the extermination of the ground squirrel, the work being in charge of Dr. W. E. Raiston. The experiment is along the same line as that pursued about nine years ago, when the experiment station faculty sucwhen the experiment station faculty suc-ceeded in producing a virus strong enough to spread the disease throughout the squirrei infested districts of the Eastern Washington wheat-raising country. Three years ago complaints of depradations by this pest again began coming in and caused the department to renew its labors to the districts of producing more in the direction of producing more bacillus. Last year, in co-operation with the United States Government the experi-mentation was not entirely successful, being due in a great measure to the fact that the virulence of the bacillus was not sufficient to be transmitted from one rodent to another. This year a strong virulence to such a point that inoculation of captive squirrels will have the desired effect upon those in the field.

FINE OLD MANSION SOLD Captain Kerr Homestead Bought by Dr. Williamson.

The Captain Kerr homestend at Waverleigh was sold yesterday by Sharkey & Co. to Dr. W. T. Williamson for $25,000. This fine old place was built about 5 years ago. W. H. Benvie, now Deputy Building Inspector, being the contractor. The opinion was expressed by Mr. Benvie that the mansion would today cost $20,000 to build, and as there are about 40 lots in the tract going with the purchase, dealers regard the sale as quite a bargain at the price paid.

The house stands on an elevation of 165 feet and the view from its windows is said to be one of the most attractive in the vicinity of Portland. Down the Peninsula to the confluence of the Williamette and Columbia, the exposition grounds, up the river almost to Oregon

Portland Man Who Has Large Interests Near Dawson Makes Announcement in Behalf of That City.

A gigantic nugget of gold from the Yukon, with a background of electrical effects, portraying the Aurora Borealis, is the design for an elaborate float which the City of Dawson intends to enter in competition for the main prizes for the All-Northwestern street parade of the Portland Rose Pestival. The announcement that the Yukon had any thought of continuation. participating came as a pleasant sur-prise yesterday, when Gustave E. Mrs. F. Eggert, president of the Women's Club, desires a correction made in the report of the meeting of Friday afternoon, which was published in yesterday's Oregonian. Mrs. Eggert says that the vote on the question of the position of the School Board with reference to the school children's parade during sition of the School Board with reference to the school children's parade during festival week was M to 25 in favor of sustaining the Board, instead of the same vote in opposition to the Board.

It appears that the confusion as to the meaning of the vote came about through a misunderstanding as to the form in which the question was put. The Women's Cub, according to President Eggert, is heartily in sympathy with the Board of Education and against letting the school children take any part in the Rose Festival parades.

Final decision on the matter is with the Board of Education, which will probably act on the subject at its next regular meeting, which will be held Monday, March $3$, at $4:30$ P. M. It is thought to be virtually settled that the members of the Board will not allow the school children to parade. At the last session of the Board, a majority of the members appeared to be unfavorable to the parade, and a committee—Mrs. L. W. Sitton and City Superintendent Rigler—was named to investigate and report.

Superintendent Rigler and Mrs. Sitton are unfavorable to the parade of school children, and, it is thought, will recommend against it.
