QUACK BILKS MANY

American Swindler Operates Throughout All Europe.

REMEDIES FOR EVERY ILL

Continent Found to Be Rich for Green Goods by William Scott, Who Is Arrested in City of Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 29.—(Special.)—In the person of William Scott, an American, who was arrested this week in his sumptuously-furnished flat in the suburb of Schmargendorf, the Berlin police believe they have captured the guiding spirit of a colossal swindle which has spread its ramifications as far as the German colonies. About three years ago credulous people who wished to dip into the future further than the human eye could see were invited by advertisements in the press to communicate with "Professor Maxim," at an address given in London. In reply to their letters they received an intimation that for the sum of $1.25 they could become members of the "Maxim Alliance," and that this would further entitle them to practice necromancy with the "Maxim planchette," for which an additional sum of $2.50 was demanded.

The accompanying testimonials, appealing to that weakness which most rapidly deprives the confiding sex of its powers of judgment, set forth how "planchette" had answered in the affirmative the question of a lady member of the alliance who had wished to know whether she could still count on the affections of a gentleman friend, and how she had a few days later received from him an offer of marriage, which had since been fulfilled. Another rather ingeniously-imagined achievement of the apparatus consisted in advising a builder what figure he should tender for a large contract at Munich.

But "Professor Maxim's" "planchette" was only one branch of the business. "Doctor Keith Harvey" had a specific for deafness, "Doctor Rice" an infallible cure for rupture, "Mr. Smith" a charm against rheumatism, while "Mr. Dana" could afford complete relief from shortness of breath and "Professor Lind" cover the baldest crown with a luxuriant growth of hair. Then there were preparations for fatness, thinness, and, in fact, all the shortcomings which are the favorite hunting-ground of the quack.

At first Scott seems to have used his various London addresses merely for the purpose of collecting orders, which were returned to Berlin to be executed. Latterly, however, he appears to have traded openly here. He disseminated a scurrilous paper, printed in German, English and Russian, in which the magic properties of his preparations were lauded, and so enormous did his business become that from his central office packets to the nominal value of between $1500 and $2000 were despatched daily. Subsequent to his arrest searches were undertaken in five different places, and a quantity of quack remedies impounded which filled a large room in the criminal courts. Tens of thousands of people are understood to have fallen into his traps and it is said that his booty ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

DISCUSS CHILD TRAINING

Prominent Speakers Address Parents' and Teachers' Meeting.

H. W. Stone, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., addressed the parents' and teachers' meeting held Friday night in the Mount Tabor Methodist Church under the auspices of the Mount Tabor Home Training Circle. Mr. Stone pointed out the opportunities for attainment of boys between 15 and 18, and declared that under proper guidance they will carry out schemes that would overwhelm strong men, adding as a reason that selfishness was a small factor in the boy's life as it is not in a man's. He then thinks less of self, Mr. Stone said, and his ambitions lead him out above and beyond what would seem to others insurmountable barriers.

Mrs. Frank C. Kelsey supplemented her reading of several poems by a forcible talk upon developing certain phases of genius in the child, emphasizing the need of cultivating the best and highest instincts, fostering the poetry in the child's soul, and recognizing the natural tendency to things divine.

Dr. Osmon Royal, who spoke on "Nervousness," gave some startling figures as to the amount of sleep children should have at various ages. According to his views the hours for work or study that are demanded of a large majority of children are far longer than their mental or physical strength can bear. The nerve-racking strain attending school examinations is also a serious menace to the child, he said. "Nervousness as a weakness," declared Dr. Royal, "in the mother unfits her to govern the child, who naturally receives and records the same affliction."

Mrs. R. H. Tate in her remarks outlined the work of the Home Training Association. She said that the welfare of the child was being considered and studied in all parts of the country, resulting in better hours and a better understanding between home and the school through parents realizing the great opportunities they might open up in educational life of their children.

Miss Mina Graves gave an organ solo, and Mrs. E. W. Wheeler a vocal solo. Mrs. R. H. Tate presided.

ROOSEVELT AND BRYAN

Arguments to Show That Bryan Ought to Declare for Roosevelt as the Democratic Candidate.

This singular but highly interesting argument for Roosevelt as Democratic candidate for the Presidency is presented by the New York World, a Democratic paper which approves neither Bryan nor Roosevelt, but wishes to chastise the former over the shoulders of the latter:

Mr. Bryan frankly confesses that he is shaping his campaign to "secure the support of Roosevelt Republicans."

He absolves Mr. Roosevelt from blame for the recent panic. He prints Mr. Roosevelt's recent message in the Commoner under the militant headline "The President's Call to Arms." His speech at Columbus on February 18 defends Mr. Roosevelt, and says: "My criticism would be that he did not commence soon enough to storm the fort."

Mr. Bryan's followers are no less delighted than he with Mr. Roosevelt's policies and rhetoric. Ex-Governor Vardaman of Mississippi says of the message: "In many respects it is Democratic doctrine—taken hot off the hearts and out of the patriotic, pregnant, pulsating brains of the real Democratic leaders of America." In an outburst of hill-billy enthusiasm Senator Jeff Davis calls it "the best Democratic doctrine that ever came from a Republican President." In a letter to the World, Representative Lamar, of Florida, describes Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Bryan as man whom the people believe "sincere in desiring a reform in business and commercial life."

If the Democratic party is to be an annex to the Roosevelt Administration, if the Democratic platform is to be an affirmation of the Roosevelt policies, if the Roosevelt messages are to be acclaimed by Mr. Bryan and his friends as genuine Democratic doctrine, and if Mr. Bryan is to control the Democratic National Convention, then why is not Theodore Roosevelt the logical Democratic candidate for President?

He possesses tremendous advantages over Mr. Bryan. He can be elected. He has proved that he can poll 23,000 more votes in Mr. Bryan's own state than Mr. Bryan ever polled. Mr. Roosevelt can carry Nebraska, which Mr. Bryan cannot do. Mr. Roosevelt has shown that he can carry every Populistic state for which Bryanism sacrificed the Democratic party. He can carry Maryland—something Mr. Bryan cannot do. He can carry Kentucky. He can carry Missouri. He can carry Republican states in which Mr. Bryan would not stand the ghost of a chance of success.

If the principles of the Democratic party are to be bartered for Roosevelt Republican votes, then nominate a man who can unquestionably get those Republican votes. If the historic policies of the Democratic party are to be subordinated to Mr. Roosevelt's popularity, take the man who can deliver the popularity. Why in such circumstances should a Democratic Convention nominate an imitation like William Jennings Bryan when it can nominate the real thing in Theodore Roosevelt? Why take a broken reed when it can lean on the Big Stick?

If Mr. Bryan is sincere in his admiration for Mr. Roosevelt's policies, if he believes that those policies ought to be continued by the Government, he should go to Denver and demand Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. He has the power, and he surely does not hold a third defeat for himself above the principles which he professes to consider vital to the welfare of the Republic.

Should the Democratic party support Mr. Roosevelt? If Mr. Bryan is right, by all means. Why not?

DEATH OF MRS. DELIA LAUGHLIN SMITH

Mrs. Delia Laughlin Smith.

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred H. Barton, Mrs. Delia Laughlin Smith, aged 70 years, a pioneer of 1847, died last week. She was one of a large family who with her father crossed the plains with an ox team from Missouri to Oregon, arriving in 1847, being six months en route. Her childhood was spent with her father on a farm north of North Yamhill, the place being known as "Laughlin's Gap." She was married to William C. Smith in 1852. They founded a home of their own on the south side of North Yamhill, and lived there until Mr. Smith's death in 1872, the remaining part of her life being spent in the homes of her children. She was the mother of eight children, six of whom are living. They are: Mrs. James Roberts and Mrs. Fred Barton, of Portland; Mrs. John Roberts, of Banks, Or.; Samuel Smith and Mrs. Robert Miller, of Nordhoff, Cal., and W. Grant Smith, of Los Angeles. She also leaves ten grandchildren. Also, one sister, Mrs. Nancy Capps, of Portland, and three brothers, William Laughlin and Lee Laughlin, of North Yamhill, and Samuel Laughlin, of Mitchell, Or. Funeral services were held at North Yamhill from the Methodist Church. Mrs. Smith met every duty and performed it cheerfully and well. She leaves a host of friends, who will remember her for her kind deeds.

DIES DAY AFTER WEDDING

Bride Proves to Be in Advanced Stage of Phthisis.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—A pathetic story of a 19-year-old bride who died within 24 hours of her marriage comes from Grimsby. The girl's name was Amelia Olive Peachman and her husband is Walter Robert Peachman.

The ceremony took place at the parish church, and on the following morning the young girl died in a paroxysm of coughing. At the request of the coroner, a doctor made a post-mortem examination and found death wholly due to phthisis, the consumption being in a most advanced stage. The girl, said the doctor, was utterly unfit to marry.

The girl's mother had no hostility toward the courtship, but was unaware of the wedding when it took place. A verdict of death from natural causes was returned at the inquest on the girl's body.

The Current Craze.

Ione Proclaimer.

Every so often the people at large have a craze and the one at present in Oregon is Statement No. 1. The reactions following these crazes have always left devastation in their trail. It is sad that men can be so deceived in their immediate neighbors that they cannot send from among them a man to the legislature, one who will be honest to their best interests, and if the people at large throughout the state cannot select judiciously from among those men they intimately know, how can they expect to judge as to the honor, intelligence and moral worth of a man for United States Senator, when one chance in many they will never see the man they are voting for. This paper is craving no benefits politically nor currying no favors, but we take a great interest in the upbuilding of Oregon and deem the risk of experiment too great, consequently we are in favor of the repeal of Statement No. 1.

This Is Just the Fact.

Pendleton Tribune.

While discussing Statement No. 1 an exchange points to the great Lincoln-Douglas debate in 1858 as an instance where "the great Emancipator abided by the popular vote and graciously gave way to Douglas." But the truth is that in that famous contest Lincoln himself carried the State of Illinois by a majority of more than 4000 over Douglas but the Legislature was Democratic by eight votes on joint ballot and Douglas was elected in spite of the adverse vote given him by the people. Lincoln himself never for a moment thought of claiming the Senatorship on account of having the popular vote, though, in reality, the people preferred him to Douglas. This is the historical fact.

Select Brownsville Man.

ALBANY, Or., Feb. 29.—(Special.)—Peter Bither, of Brownsville, will be named as County Commissioner of Linn County to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Commissioner H. R. Powell. Bither has been a resident of Linn County for many years. He is a strong Democrat and has been active in his party, but has never held official positions. Mr. Bither is well known in Albany and is a prominent member of the local lodge of Elks. He is a native of Maine 69 years old.

Big Guns Shipped to Manila.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Twelve six-inch guns intended for the fortifications at Manila were shipped from New York on the British steamer Inveresk for Manila yesterday. The guns are a portion of the armament planned a year ago which is being shipped to the Philippines as fast as it is ready.

Gadzooks!

Astoria Leader.

Now that the state is to limit woman's work to ten hours a day many a hard-working housewife will have a vacation. When a woman gets up at 5 o'clock G. M., and finishes the last dishwashing at 7:30 G. N., a ten-hour day will seem to her like a check from father. It will be hard, however, on the working man who will have to smoke up his own supper.

An Irreverent Newspaper.

Irrigon Irrigator.

The referendum is simply a club which can be used by a few scalawags to defeat, or at least tie up, important state measures, as witness the abuses in the hanging up of the appropriation for the State University at Eugene. This school is one of the foremost in the West, the most important in Oregon, and has an enrollment of over 400 pupils, and the amount appropriated by the Legislature was all too small. The bill was passed unanimously by the 90 members of the House and Senate, and yet a few busybodies have held the appropriation up for two years, at a cost to the state of probably $10,000 or $15,000. We do not believe such a club should be placed in the hands of a few shysters.

Cortelyou Reports on Panic.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Secretary Cortelyou, in answer to a House resolution of January 10 last, has sent to the House detailed data which completes the answers to the four Congressional resolutions calling upon him "for information regarding Treasury operations in connection with the panic of last Fall." The other resolutions were from the Senate. Secretary Cortelyou says much of the work of compiling the data has had to be done outside the usual office hours. The exhibits forming part of the answers embody a mass of detailed information never before compiled. The latest answer embraces data similar to that given in answer to the Senate resolutions bearing on public money balances in National bank depositories, nature of securities for such deposits and capital stock and outstanding National bank notes of each National bank, and additional circulation taken out in the period covered.

McMinnville Merchant Retires.

M'MINNVILLE, Or., Feb. 29.—(Special.)—With the close of February passes the oldest mercantile firm in the county with the retirement of its senior partner, R. Jacobson, who has just completed an honorable and a very successful business career of 30 years in this county, ten years at Sheridan, where his first acquaintance with the people of Yamhill County began, and for the past 20 years in McMinnville, where he erected a $16,000 store building in 1888. Mr. Jacobson's faith in the section in which the active years of his life have been spent is yet supreme, for he still retains his walnut and hop farm, one mile west of town, as well as his interest in the hardware and implement business here. The junior partner, D. M. Nayberger, succeeds to the mercantile business.

THE PENALTY OF OVERWORK

Work has been man's lot since the creation, but a day of toil should not have its penalty of pain. Why is it, then, you ask, that backache so often follows? It is because the modern tendency is to overwork, to tear down faster than nature can rebuild. An unnatural strain is thrown upon the vital organs, and more especially upon the kidneys, which have the work of filtering the blood free of waste and poison.

The heavy tax of overwork — the strain upon the back that is so common to many trades and occupations, is too great. The kidneys begin to fail in their work, and there is a double danger to health. The poisonous matter collects in the system, and the kidneys themselves begin to break down.

Pain in the back is only a warning of trouble in the kidneys. An inflammation has set in, and a disordered condition of the urine soon becomes apparent.

Too much or too little urine, with a constant desire to void the secretions; any noticeable deviation from the normal color; the appearance of a sandy sediment, proves a disordered condition of the kidneys that needs quick attention.

If your work seems hard for you, if you have a lame, weak or aching back, if you seem tired and listless, and seem to be running down without apparent cause, begin at once with Doan's Kidney Pills, the great kidney remedy that has cured so many of your neighbors. It has given thousands of working men and women strong, sound backs for their daily work.

PORTLAND PROOF.

H. J. Young, 290½ Morrison St., Portland, Oregon, says: "I have had no occasion to use any remedy for my kidneys since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me some years ago. I was then bothered with an annoying backache which had been present for some time and was always more severe when I contracted a cold. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Laue-Davis Drug Co., gave me speedy relief and there has not been the slightest trace of the annoyance since. I am convinced that this is sufficient proof of the curative qualities of Doan's Kidney Pills."
