MISS MARION JACKSON
DAUGHTER OF
COLONEL JAMES JACKSON
From Painting By LILY V. O'RYAN

A LETTER from Miss Margaret Montgomery, who is at present in Berlin, tells of the brilliant season she and her mother, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, are having at the German capital, where they have been particularly feted and favored. Their presentation on February 19 to Emperor William and the Empress was made at a court concert, at which were present 1000 people. The ensemble presented a beautiful sight, the ladies all gowned in decollete robes of rich black velvet, with gorgeous pearls and diamonds, no colored jewels being worn owing to the fact that the court is still in mourning for the late King of Portugal. Against this pearl and diamond-bespangled black the superb uniforms of the Scarlet Hussars, the White Cuirassiers, the brilliantly colored costumes of the various foreign officers and the elaborate garb of the diplomatic corps stood out in glowing contrast. At the concert there were two soloists from the Royal opera-house, two augmented choruses and the Court "Capella" orchestra. The Portland visitors, who had arrived with Ambassador and Mrs. Charlemagne Tower, were shortly after the intermission presented by Countess Brockdorff, the grande maitresse de la cour to the Empress, who was most gracious. The Emperor, too, had a comparatively long conversation with Mrs. Montgomery, speaking of America, the German emigration, Carl Schurz and Germany's exhibit at the St. Louis Fair. In addition to a round of dinners, balls and cotillions, they attended an elaborate reception given by the Crown Prince, a dinner at the residence of Frau von Moltke, wife of one of the Cabinet Ministers, at which they were the only Americans present. Miss Montgomery was also made the honor guest at an informal tea given by one of the secretaries of the Embassy and the Hon. Archibald Gordon, the Viceroy of Ireland, a son of Lord Aberdeen. At this latter affair were present the two charming daughters of the Italian Ambassador and Miss Lascelles, Queen Alexandra's first maid of honor, who is at present visiting at the German Court, where she is the cynosure of all eyes, and where she enjoys the greatest popularity. Miss Montgomery writes that Gabrilowitsch, whom she met some years ago abroad, and for whom her mother has entertained, is at present in Berlin, enjoying the most pronounced success.

A new engagement which has created a stir of interest has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry, of San Jose, it being that of their daughter, Miss Bessie, to Charles Edward Grelle, who ranks as one of the most prominent Portland bachelors. Miss Henry is at present a guest of Mrs. Grelle and the Misses Freda and Elsa Grelle, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Blyth, on King Heights, which the Grelles are occupying for the Winter. Miss Henry, who visited here last Spring as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Branch Riley, is one of the belles of San Jose. She is highly accomplished and has traveled extensively abroad. She is an attractive brunette type of beauty and a graduate of Stanford University, being a classmate of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Riley and Chester Murphy. Mr. Grelle is identified with the Willamette Iron & Steel Works, and is a prominent member of the University Club, Multnomah and Waverly Golf Clubs. Mr. Grelle is a graduate of the Stevens Institute of Technology, at Hoboken, N. J.

In spite of Lent, the arrival of Mrs. Edward Powers from Decatur, Ill., who was formerly Miss Belle McKee, has occasioned considerable entertaining of a more or less informal nature the last week. Mr. and Mrs. Powers, owing to the illness of Mr. McKee, made the trip West. Upon reaching Portland they were delighted to find Mrs. McKee's father vastly improved. On Friday afternoon Mrs. A. L. Maxwell asked about 50 of Mrs. Powers' girl friends to tea. Serving at a table laden with yellow daffodils, presided Mrs. C. E. S. Wood and Mrs. Harriet K. McArthur. Assisting in receiving were Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. E. C. Mears, Miss Leslie Knapp and Miss Hazel Croker. Miss Grace Warren gave a luncheon in Mrs. Powers' honor on Wednesday of eight covers at the Golf Club. On Thursday Miss Marion Jackson gave a small luncheon, her guests including Mr. and Mrs. Powers, Miss Katherine Sitton, Mrs. J. Ernest Laidlaw and Miss Inez Barrett. On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cook were dinner hosts for the visitors.

The painting of Miss Marion Jackson by Lily V. O'Ryan, which appears today, has attracted a great amount of favorable comment, being a speaking likeness and a charming piece of color. The portrait is life-sized, and painted in a gown of rich ruby red velvet with a jabot of lace and a huge picture hat. In her arms she carries an enormous muff of black lynx.
