WILL COMPLETE JOB

O. R. & N. to Finish Troutdale-Bonneville Project.

REBUILDING ENTIRE LINE

Expenditure of $400,000 Involved in Reduction of Grades and Elimination of Curves on Stretch 20 Miles in Length.

Work will be resumed at once on the change of the O. R. & N. main line between Troutdale and Bonneville. Orders to this effect were issued by General Manager O'Brien yesterday. He has had the resumption of this work under consideration for the past few days, and has decided to go ahead and complete the project. He expects the new line to be built within the next 90 days. The work yet to be done involves the expenditure of about $400,000.

Reconstruction of the main line of the O. R. & N. between the two points, a distance of about 20 miles, was commenced last year, and the contract was let to the Pacific Coast Construction Company. The task of rebuilding this piece of track was about half accomplished when the orders to stop work on all Harriman projects in this state were issued early this winter. One by one the different construction projects of the Harriman line have been taken up again, and it was expected that the rebuilding of the main line between these points would be the next work to be resumed.

The work means the reconstruction of the main line," said Mr. O'Brien. "The changes will be very radical, the object being to get away from the grades and curves of the original construction. In some places the change will cost the company as high as $100,000 a mile.

The contract held by the Pacific Coast Construction Company includes the laying of track on the new portion of the main line. The company will begin assembling gangs of workmen at once, to take up the work where it was dropped a few months ago, and will rush it through. The ground is hard and there is much rock where the new line is being built, making it practically impossible to keep the work up in rainy weather as well as in dry. There are a number of deep rock cuts to be made, and some heavy filling to be done.

This piece of track is now far from straight, and there are a number of hills the trains have to climb between Troutdale and Bonneville. With the completion of the work, the line will be one of the best stretches of track in the state.

ROOSEVELT, THE EXTRA-VAGANT

One Reader Inquires Why The Oregonian Supports the Administration.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 11.—(To the Editor.)—I always read The Oregonian when I can get it, and I have been at a loss to understand how you can support the administration of our present Emperor as you do, when he stands for all the inequities that you oppose. To be explicit—your editorials on "Our Extravagant Government," in your issue of the 10th, calls for retrenchment, but Mr. Roosevelt wants more warships and higher appropriations. You oppose the ship subsidy bill, but you must know that Mr. Roosevelt has endorsed it and even used pressure to push it through at previous sessions and I have no doubt is doing the same thing now.

You talk of increasing the army of useless Federal officials, but you know that Mr. Roosevelt has added more of this class, some illegally, by the way, than any other President.

You fiercely oppose the Aldrich bill, but your news columns have told your readers that Mr. Roosevelt has agreed to sign this bill.

Now, why not be just a little consistent? You oppose intelligently and ably many of the inequities and errors of the czar, and at the same time maintain that he can do no wrong. Why not admit that he is by nature and inclination a lawless man who acts on impulse and without due consideration and has even been extravagant in both private and public life?

TRIAL FOR SUITTE

Court Refuses to Quash Murder Charge.

PLEAD IN CASE TOMORROW

Judge Cleland Rules That Indictment Against Officer Who Shot Henry Shaffer Was Regularly Presented to the Court.

Nathan H. Suttler, the policeman who is held for second degree murder because of having exceeded his authority in killing Henry Shaffer, a longshoreman, who was resisting arrest on a minor charge, lost his first brush in his fight for liberation from the county jail yesterday forenoon. Through his attorneys, John P. Logan and Dan J. Malarky, Suttler filed a motion to quash the indictment against him. The motion was presented before Judge Cleland and promptly overruled.

Failure of the District Attorney to give the accused man a preliminary examination or to submit the charges to investigation by a grand jury was made the basis of the motion. It was urged that the constitution of the state and of the United States had been violated in presenting an information or indictment direct to the trial court. In passing unfavorably on the motion, Judge Cleland called attention to the fact that a similar question was raised in the trial of Guglielmo, an Italian murderer who was lately executed. The question was passed on by the Supreme Court at the time and defined as not constituting any breach of law.

The document as presented yesterday was regarded as a play for time, as it is known that Suttler is averse to trial before the June election, containing political questions would have a bearing in the trial of the case. Shaffer, the victim of Suttler's revolver, was a member of the Longshoremen's Union, which is interested in seeing a vigorous prosecution of the case, as are many influential Germans.

Suttler's fellow officers of the police department are standing by him in his trouble in a substantial way. They were instrumental in securing the legal services of Messrs. Logan and Malarky, possibly the most formidable available counsel for defense in a murder trial. The police department raised a fund of $500 to apply on the amount required to defray the expenses of the trial. Suttler added $200 to this amount out of his own pocket. In case of a conviction in the trial court, another $500 will be required to pay for appeal to the Supreme Court and this amount will doubtless have to be provided by the police force.

Judge Cleland set Monday at 2 P. M. as the time for Suttler's appearance to plead to the charge against him.

HANNA'S GRANDSON WEDS

Outwits Parental Objection by Run-away Marriage.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 14--Mark A. Hanna, son of Daniel Hanna and grandson of the late Marcus A. Hanna, and who is a freshman in the Sheffield Scientific School, at Yale University, was married to Miss Adelle Pratt, of Etna, N. Y., last evening, by Justice of the Peace Hull. Both gave their ages as 21. Mr. and Mrs. Hanna left for New York after being married, a note being sent to Mrs. Pratt, the bride's mother, who is visiting at the Sanford residence. It appears that when the young couple first came here they went to a lawyer's office where they were married, but having no license were sent to a Justice.

Friends here say that it was their understanding that Mrs. Pratt objected to Mr. Hanna.

Edward Grey, Secretary of Foreign Affairs, proposing virtually the appointment of a permanent Governor of Macedonia, has been received here and is being carefully considered. While the Foreign Office is not willing to state in advance what its response will be, it is said that Russia will announce her willingness to support the proposition of Great Britain.

Grave doubts are entertained, however, of the possibility of inducing the Porte to accept the proposal.

The picture shows the Monarch Range, built to burn wood, coal or gas. We can furnish three styles of gas attachments, with ranges, or to fit Monarch Ranges that are already in use. Malleable iron and steel are the materials used in constructing the Monarch Range. All joints, seams and openings are riveted air-tight and will never come loose.

COOK WITH GAS

There are at least six improvements on the Monarch that are not found on any other range made. No other range has any vital improvement that is not shown on the Monarch. The only reason why other ranges are sold is because people do not know about the Monarch or do not realize that the best is the cheapest.

LAYMEN IN MISSION WORK

Will Hold Rally in Portland Last of March.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement, an interdenominational work, is planning a rally in this city for March 30 and 31. The convention will be opened with a banquet at the Portland Hotel on the night of March 30, at which more than 250 committeemen will be present. There will be several visitors of prominence and the chief address will be given by J. Campbell White, secretary of the National committee.

The purpose of the campaign is for the general dissemination of knowledge concerning the work of foreign missions. It is especially desired to reach as large a number of laymen as possible and to interest them in the work. The Laymen's Missionary Movement has spread with amazing rapidity and has secured the endorsement of the foreign missionary boards of the United States and Canada. It has sent laymen abroad to investigate and has received interesting reports on their findings. Many public rallies have been held in important cities throughout the United States and Canada. The Presbyterian, Congregational, Methodist, Baptist and in fact nearly all of the evangelical churches have made large advance in their appreciation of the work of missions.

The Portland executive committee of this movement is made up as follows: Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, chairman; E. N. Wheeler, secretary; G. F. Johnson, E. W. Thompson, Dr. George M. Wells, W. G. Smith, G. Evert Baker, J. A. McFerron, J. C. Luckel.
