

WORKING TO BEING FORGED TOGETHER

Peacemakers Strive to Unite Two Rival Republican Factions.

MAY COMBINE ON TICKET

Enemies of Statement No. 1 Fear Results of Continued Strife in Party—Opposition is Casting About for Candidates.

Prospect of two rival anti-Statement No. 1 Republican tickets in Multnomah County is encouraging the statement forces and efforts are making in the two rival camps to cease quarrelling so that the Hodson-Beach-Balley-Sichel group and the Idleman-Davis-Drake-Colwell element may dwell in peace.

The two rivals made some progress toward peace last Friday and Saturday, when the Hodson contingent, after U'Ren's withdrawal from the race for Senator, came over to the Idleman camp, to the extent of adopting its platform, pledging members of the Legislature to support the Republican voters' choice for Senator.

The Hodson-Beach contingent has put up a complete ticket, but the Idleman-Davis group has selected only two candidates—Dr. Emmet Drake and E. B. Colwell, both for the State Senate. These two men it would like to have placed on the hoped-for compromise Senate ticket; also several others on the compromise House ticket.

Matter Up to Hodson Men.

"If the Hodson folks would only make some such offer as that," said a leader of the opposing ranks yesterday, "it would be easy to get us together. Since the Hodson-Beach men came over to our platform, we have no further fight to make with them. If they want to unite with us on one ticket they ought to pull down some of their candidates, so that there shall be room for others than their own candidates."

Not all the Idleman-Davis camp, however, would be satisfied with a compromise ticket. D. J. Quimby, Max G. Cohen and James Ketchum are clamoring for an opposition ticket and for war to the hilt with the Hodson-Beach faction.

The message of U'Ren is the keynote of an announcement made to Republicans of Multnomah County yesterday by candidates of the Hodson-Beach ticket.

REAL LORD IN PORTLAND

GLERAWRY, ON LONG TRIP, VISITS CITY.

Son of Irish Peer Travelling Incoog Will Round Cape Horn on Crown of Germany.

Traveling incoog and shunning formal entertainment of every description while in the city, Lord Glerawry, eldest son of the Earl of Arundel, the well-known Irish peer, is making a tour of the Western Hemisphere.

Lord Glerawry spent yesterday in Portland. He spoke of his trip very briefly and paid a number of compliments to Portland. He crossed the Atlantic on the Mauritania and came across the continent on the Canadian Pacific.

The most interesting part of Lord Glerawry's trip is yet to come, for he will board the British bark Crown of Germany at Astoria today for the voyage back to Falmouth, England, and intends to get away from the beaten paths of travel for a while. The bark will sail around Cape Horn and the voyage will consume about five months.

During his stay in Portland Lord Glerawry spent considerable time as the guest of Captain Konealy, of the Jordan Hill. The ship lies at Linnton, and trips between his hotel and the lumber town to the north occupied most of his time yesterday. He left the city for Astoria last night.

Lord Glerawry is an sophisticated and boyish-looking young man of 23 years. He seems quite well satisfied with the life he is living, and well he may, for if he survives his father he will have a seat in the House of Lords and thousands of broad acres and a stately castle on the ancestral estates in the County Down.

Portland reminds me very much of England," said Lord Glerawry, who speaks with a drawing lisp. "The climate here is so much like our own. I would say that it has been rather wet here for the past two days. I have been soaked to the skin much of the time. I had a good trip and expect a pleasant journey back. The voyage will be long, but I do not think I shall mind that."

He declined to discuss politics, but admitted that he entertained strong convictions. "Ireland is very prosperous at present, and the home rule agitation is a dead issue," was his opinion, delivered with great corditude.

WHO WANTS SHEET MUSIC?

Classical, popular, vocal and instrumental music, of every kind, is available at the establishment must go to one-half and less. See Graves and Co.'s announcement on page 4. Dramatic Section.

COLE ENTERS RACE

Asks Republican Nomination for District Attorney.

STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Points With Pride to Official Acts While Assistant Federal Prosecutor—Depends on His Friends in Fight.

WORK OF CHARITIES BOARD

SECRETARY TELLS WHAT WAS DONE IN FEBRUARY.

Nearly 10,000 Meals and Over 4000 Beds Furnished—Problem of the Unemployed.

PORTLAND, March 14.—(To the Editor.)—Will you kindly give the Associated Charities space for the following statement of the work for February:

Total number applications.....2881 Total number applicants.....678 Total number meals furnished.....9042 Number lodgings furnished.....4917

Expenditures During Month. Amount paid out in relief.....$126.30 Car tickets for Columbia Park.....$125.95

The problem of the unemployed is still with us, though not in the same proportion, as far as the single men are concerned. The number of applications from families is, however, increasing, indicating that the list of savings has been exhausted, and the head of the family being out of work, our office must help to tide over until work can be found. The following case is a typical one:

A man, wife and three children were sent to us by the police—no money, no rent, no food and no wood. The necessities were immediately provided, and also jobs found for the man. With the money thus earned he paid his back rent. The Associated Charities paid two weeks' rent in advance, and sent the man out to a neighboring town to a job. Until he was able to send for his family, we cared for them, providing food, wood, clothing, medical attendance, and finally transportation to send them to the father. There have been many such cases since the panic, and we have held steadily to the principle that the truest charity is that which "helps a man to help himself."

Application of this principle has at times been difficult, as there are those who have tried to use the hard times as a reason for being supported.

The work done by the work gang of the Associated Charities will be visible in the green lawns and the blooming roses of the park blocks next Summer. The men have spaded up the whole length of the park blocks and planted all the roses; they have worked for several weeks past in Columbia Park, the City Park, as well as in Holiday Park. But the better work has been done for the men themselves—giving them an opportunity to earn their rent, and lodgings, and to get out of jail; it has kept many of them from being pauperized through being clothed and fed by those with whom charity is a sentiment rather than a religion. The work test for the able-bodied man gives him a chance to retain his self-respect, and also has the effect of weeding out those who have no self-respect to retain, and need another kind of treatment. This plan of caring for our unemployed has cost the Associated Charities about $5000, an amount equal to the annual budget in ordinary times.

W. R. WALPOLE, Secretary.

REAL LORD IN PORTLAND

GLERAWRY, ON LONG TRIP, VISITS CITY.

Son of Irish Peer Travelling Incoog Will Round Cape Horn on Crown of Germany.

Traveling incoog and shunning formal entertainment of every description while in the city, Lord Glerawry, eldest son of the Earl of Arundel, the well-known Irish peer, is making a tour of the Western Hemisphere.

Lord Glerawry spent yesterday in Portland. He spoke of his trip very briefly and paid a number of compliments to Portland. He crossed the Atlantic on the Mauritania and came across the continent on the Canadian Pacific.

The most interesting part of Lord Glerawry's trip is yet to come, for he will board the British bark Crown of Germany at Astoria today for the voyage back to Falmouth, England, and intends to get away from the beaten paths of travel for a while. The bark will sail around Cape Horn and the voyage will consume about five months.

During his stay in Portland Lord Glerawry spent considerable time as the guest of Captain Konealy, of the Jordan Hill. The ship lies at Linnton, and trips between his hotel and the lumber town to the north occupied most of his time yesterday. He left the city for Astoria last night.

Lord Glerawry is an sophisticated and boyish-looking young man of 23 years. He seems quite well satisfied with the life he is living, and well he may, for if he survives his father he will have a seat in the House of Lords and thousands of broad acres and a stately castle on the ancestral estates in the County Down.

Portland reminds me very much of England," said Lord Glerawry, who speaks with a drawing lisp. "The climate here is so much like our own. I would say that it has been rather wet here for the past two days. I have been soaked to the skin much of the time. I had a good trip and expect a pleasant journey back. The voyage will be long, but I do not think I shall mind that."

He declined to discuss politics, but admitted that he entertained strong convictions. "Ireland is very prosperous at present, and the home rule agitation is a dead issue," was his opinion, delivered with great corditude.

WHO WANTS SHEET MUSIC?

Classical, popular, vocal and instrumental music, of every kind, is available at the establishment must go to one-half and less. See Graves and Co.'s announcement on page 4. Dramatic Section.

SCOTCH CONCERT IS GIVEN

St. Andrew's Society Entertains Its Friends at Woodcraft Hall.

Two hundred Scotch attended the conversation of St. Andrew's Society of Oregon, in Women of Woodcraft Hall, last night, and after a typical Scotch programme, lasting until 10 o'clock, danced or watched the dancers

COLE ENTERS RACE

Asks Republican Nomination for District Attorney.

STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Points With Pride to Official Acts While Assistant Federal Prosecutor—Depends on His Friends in Fight.

WORK OF CHARITIES BOARD

SECRETARY TELLS WHAT WAS DONE IN FEBRUARY.

Nearly 10,000 Meals and Over 4000 Beds Furnished—Problem of the Unemployed.

PORTLAND, March 14.—(To the Editor.)—Will you kindly give the Associated Charities space for the following statement of the work for February:

Total number applications.....2881 Total number applicants.....678 Total number meals furnished.....9042 Number lodgings furnished.....4917

Expenditures During Month. Amount paid out in relief.....$126.30 Car tickets for Columbia Park.....$125.95

The problem of the unemployed is still with us, though not in the same proportion, as far as the single men are concerned. The number of applications from families is, however, increasing, indicating that the list of savings has been exhausted, and the head of the family being out of work, our office must help to tide over until work can be found. The following case is a typical one:

A man, wife and three children were sent to us by the police—no money, no rent, no food and no wood. The necessities were immediately provided, and also jobs found for the man. With the money thus earned he paid his back rent. The Associated Charities paid two weeks' rent in advance, and sent the man out to a neighboring town to a job. Until he was able to send for his family, we cared for them, providing food, wood, clothing, medical attendance, and finally transportation to send them to the father. There have been many such cases since the panic, and we have held steadily to the principle that the truest charity is that which "helps a man to help himself."

Application of this principle has at times been difficult, as there are those who have tried to use the hard times as a reason for being supported.

The work done by the work gang of the Associated Charities will be visible in the green lawns and the blooming roses of the park blocks next Summer. The men have spaded up the whole length of the park blocks and planted all the roses; they have worked for several weeks past in Columbia Park, the City Park, as well as in Holiday Park. But the better work has been done for the men themselves—giving them an opportunity to earn their rent, and lodgings, and to get out of jail; it has kept many of them from being pauperized through being clothed and fed by those with whom charity is a sentiment rather than a religion. The work test for the able-bodied man gives him a chance to retain his self-respect, and also has the effect of weeding out those who have no self-respect to retain, and need another kind of treatment. This plan of caring for our unemployed has cost the Associated Charities about $5000, an amount equal to the annual budget in ordinary times.

W. R. WALPOLE, Secretary.

REAL LORD IN PORTLAND

GLERAWRY, ON LONG TRIP, VISITS CITY.

Son of Irish Peer Travelling Incoog Will Round Cape Horn on Crown of Germany.

Traveling incoog and shunning formal entertainment of every description while in the city, Lord Glerawry, eldest son of the Earl of Arundel, the well-known Irish peer, is making a tour of the Western Hemisphere.

Lord Glerawry spent yesterday in Portland. He spoke of his trip very briefly and paid a number of compliments to Portland. He crossed the Atlantic on the Mauritania and came across the continent on the Canadian Pacific.

The most interesting part of Lord Glerawry's trip is yet to come, for he will board the British bark Crown of Germany at Astoria today for the voyage back to Falmouth, England, and intends to get away from the beaten paths of travel for a while. The bark will sail around Cape Horn and the voyage will consume about five months.

During his stay in Portland Lord Glerawry spent considerable time as the guest of Captain Konealy, of the Jordan Hill. The ship lies at Linnton, and trips between his hotel and the lumber town to the north occupied most of his time yesterday. He left the city for Astoria last night.

Lord Glerawry is an sophisticated and boyish-looking young man of 23 years. He seems quite well satisfied with the life he is living, and well he may, for if he survives his father he will have a seat in the House of Lords and thousands of broad acres and a stately castle on the ancestral estates in the County Down.

Portland reminds me very much of England," said Lord Glerawry, who speaks with a drawing lisp. "The climate here is so much like our own. I would say that it has been rather wet here for the past two days. I have been soaked to the skin much of the time. I had a good trip and expect a pleasant journey back. The voyage will be long, but I do not think I shall mind that."

He declined to discuss politics, but admitted that he entertained strong convictions. "Ireland is very prosperous at present, and the home rule agitation is a dead issue," was his opinion, delivered with great corditude.

WHO WANTS SHEET MUSIC?

Classical, popular, vocal and instrumental music, of every kind, is available at the establishment must go to one-half and less. See Graves and Co.'s announcement on page 4. Dramatic Section.

SCOTCH CONCERT IS GIVEN

St. Andrew's Society Entertains Its Friends at Woodcraft Hall.

Two hundred Scotch attended the conversation of St. Andrew's Society of Oregon, in Women of Woodcraft Hall, last night, and after a typical Scotch programme, lasting until 10 o'clock, danced or watched the dancers

COLE ENTERS RACE

Asks Republican Nomination for District Attorney.

STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Points With Pride to Official Acts While Assistant Federal Prosecutor—Depends on His Friends in Fight.

WORK OF CHARITIES BOARD

SECRETARY TELLS WHAT WAS DONE IN FEBRUARY.

Nearly 10,000 Meals and Over 4000 Beds Furnished—Problem of the Unemployed.

PORTLAND, March 14.—(To the Editor.)—Will you kindly give the Associated Charities space for the following statement of the work for February:

Total number applications.....2881 Total number applicants.....678 Total number meals furnished.....9042 Number lodgings furnished.....4917

Expenditures During Month. Amount paid out in relief.....$126.30 Car tickets for Columbia Park.....$125.95

The problem of the unemployed is still with us, though not in the same proportion, as far as the single men are concerned. The number of applications from families is, however, increasing, indicating that the list of savings has been exhausted, and the head of the family being out of work, our office must help to tide over until work can be found. The following case is a typical one:

A man, wife and three children were sent to us by the police—no money, no rent, no food and no wood. The necessities were immediately provided, and also jobs found for the man. With the money thus earned he paid his back rent. The Associated Charities paid two weeks' rent in advance, and sent the man out to a neighboring town to a job. Until he was able to send for his family, we cared for them, providing food, wood, clothing, medical attendance, and finally transportation to send them to the father. There have been many such cases since the panic, and we have held steadily to the principle that the truest charity is that which "helps a man to help himself."

Application of this principle has at times been difficult, as there are those who have tried to use the hard times as a reason for being supported.

The work done by the work gang of the Associated Charities will be visible in the green lawns and the blooming roses of the park blocks next Summer. The men have spaded up the whole length of the park blocks and planted all the roses; they have worked for several weeks past in Columbia Park, the City Park, as well as in Holiday Park. But the better work has been done for the men themselves—giving them an opportunity to earn their rent, and lodgings, and to get out of jail; it has kept many of them from being pauperized through being clothed and fed by those with whom charity is a sentiment rather than a religion. The work test for the able-bodied man gives him a chance to retain his self-respect, and also has the effect of weeding out those who have no self-respect to retain, and need another kind of treatment. This plan of caring for our unemployed has cost the Associated Charities about $5000, an amount equal to the annual budget in ordinary times.

W. R. WALPOLE, Secretary.

REAL LORD IN PORTLAND

GLERAWRY, ON LONG TRIP, VISITS CITY.

Son of Irish Peer Travelling Incoog Will Round Cape Horn on Crown of Germany.

Traveling incoog and shunning formal entertainment of every description while in the city, Lord Glerawry, eldest son of the Earl of Arundel, the well-known Irish peer, is making a tour of the Western Hemisphere.

Lord Glerawry spent yesterday in Portland. He spoke of his trip very briefly and paid a number of compliments to Portland. He crossed the Atlantic on the Mauritania and came across the continent on the Canadian Pacific.

The most interesting part of Lord Glerawry's trip is yet to come, for he will board the British bark Crown of Germany at Astoria today for the voyage back to Falmouth, England, and intends to get away from the beaten paths of travel for a while. The bark will sail around Cape Horn and the voyage will consume about five months.

During his stay in Portland Lord Glerawry spent considerable time as the guest of Captain Konealy, of the Jordan Hill. The ship lies at Linnton, and trips between his hotel and the lumber town to the north occupied most of his time yesterday. He left the city for Astoria last night.

Lord Glerawry is an sophisticated and boyish-looking young man of 23 years. He seems quite well satisfied with the life he is living, and well he may, for if he survives his father he will have a seat in the House of Lords and thousands of broad acres and a stately castle on the ancestral estates in the County Down.

Portland reminds me very much of England," said Lord Glerawry, who speaks with a drawing lisp. "The climate here is so much like our own. I would say that it has been rather wet here for the past two days. I have been soaked to the skin much of the time. I had a good trip and expect a pleasant journey back. The voyage will be long, but I do not think I shall mind that."

He declined to discuss politics, but admitted that he entertained strong convictions. "Ireland is very prosperous at present, and the home rule agitation is a dead issue," was his opinion, delivered with great corditude.

WHO WANTS SHEET MUSIC?

Classical, popular, vocal and instrumental music, of every kind, is available at the establishment must go to one-half and less. See Graves and Co.'s announcement on page 4. Dramatic Section.

SCOTCH CONCERT IS GIVEN

St. Andrew's Society Entertains Its Friends at Woodcraft Hall.

Two hundred Scotch attended the conversation of St. Andrew's Society of Oregon, in Women of Woodcraft Hall, last night, and after a typical Scotch programme, lasting until 10 o'clock, danced or watched the dancers

COLE ENTERS RACE

Asks Republican Nomination for District Attorney.

STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Points With Pride to Official Acts While Assistant Federal Prosecutor—Depends on His Friends in Fight.

WORK OF CHARITIES BOARD

SECRETARY TELLS WHAT WAS DONE IN FEBRUARY.

Nearly 10,000 Meals and Over 4000 Beds Furnished—Problem of the Unemployed.

PORTLAND, March 14.—(To the Editor.)—Will you kindly give the Associated Charities space for the following statement of the work for February:

Total number applications.....2881 Total number applicants.....678 Total number meals furnished.....9042 Number lodgings furnished.....4917

Expenditures During Month. Amount paid out in relief.....$126.30 Car tickets for Columbia Park.....$125.95

The problem of the unemployed is still with us, though not in the same proportion, as far as the single men are concerned. The number of applications from families is, however, increasing, indicating that the list of savings has been exhausted, and the head of the family being out of work, our office must help to tide over until work can be found. The following case is a typical one:

A man, wife and three children were sent to us by the police—no money, no rent, no food and no wood. The necessities were immediately provided, and also jobs found for the man. With the money thus earned he paid his back rent. The Associated Charities paid two weeks' rent in advance, and sent the man out to a neighboring town to a job. Until he was able to send for his family, we cared for them, providing food, wood, clothing, medical attendance, and finally transportation to send them to the father. There have been many such cases since the panic, and we have held steadily to the principle that the truest charity is that which "helps a man to help himself."

Application of this principle has at times been difficult, as there are those who have tried to use the hard times as a reason for being supported.

The work done by the work gang of the Associated Charities will be visible in the green lawns and the blooming roses of the park blocks next Summer. The men have spaded up the whole length of the park blocks and planted all the roses; they have worked for several weeks past in Columbia Park, the City Park, as well as in Holiday Park. But the better work has been done for the men themselves—giving them an opportunity to earn their rent, and lodgings, and to get out of jail; it has kept many of them from being pauperized through being clothed and fed by those with whom charity is a sentiment rather than a religion. The work test for the able-bodied man gives him a chance to retain his self-respect, and also has the effect of weeding out those who have no self-respect to retain, and need another kind of treatment. This plan of caring for our unemployed has cost the Associated Charities about $5000, an amount equal to the annual budget in ordinary times.

W. R. WALPOLE, Secretary.

REAL LORD IN PORTLAND

GLERAWRY, ON LONG TRIP, VISITS CITY.

Son of Irish Peer Travelling Incoog Will Round Cape Horn on Crown of Germany.

Traveling incoog and shunning formal entertainment of every description while in the city, Lord Glerawry, eldest son of the Earl of Arundel, the well-known Irish peer, is making a tour of the Western Hemisphere.

Lord Glerawry spent yesterday in Portland. He spoke of his trip very briefly and paid a number of compliments to Portland. He crossed the Atlantic on the Mauritania and came across the continent on the Canadian Pacific.

The most interesting part of Lord Glerawry's trip is yet to come, for he will board the British bark Crown of Germany at Astoria today for the voyage back to Falmouth, England, and intends to get away from the beaten paths of travel for a while. The bark will sail around Cape Horn and the voyage will consume about five months.

During his stay in Portland Lord Glerawry spent considerable time as the guest of Captain Konealy, of the Jordan Hill. The ship lies at Linnton, and trips between his hotel and the lumber town to the north occupied most of his time yesterday. He left the city for Astoria last night.

Lord Glerawry is an sophisticated and boyish-looking young man of 23 years. He seems quite well satisfied with the life he is living, and well he may, for if he survives his father he will have a seat in the House of Lords and thousands of broad acres and a stately castle on the ancestral estates in the County Down.

Portland reminds me very much of England," said Lord Glerawry, who speaks with a drawing lisp. "The climate here is so much like our own. I would say that it has been rather wet here for the past two days. I have been soaked to the skin much of the time. I had a good trip and expect a pleasant journey back. The voyage will be long, but I do not think I shall mind that."

He declined to discuss politics, but admitted that he entertained strong convictions. "Ireland is very prosperous at present, and the home rule agitation is a dead issue," was his opinion, delivered with great corditude.

WHO WANTS SHEET MUSIC?

Classical, popular, vocal and instrumental music, of every kind, is available at the establishment must go to one-half and less. See Graves and Co.'s announcement on page 4. Dramatic Section.

SCOTCH CONCERT IS GIVEN

St. Andrew's Society Entertains Its Friends at Woodcraft Hall.

Two hundred Scotch attended the conversation of St. Andrew's Society of Oregon, in Women of Woodcraft Hall, last night, and after a typical Scotch programme, lasting until 10 o'clock, danced or watched the dancers

COLE ENTERS RACE

Asks Republican Nomination for District Attorney.

STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Points With Pride to Official Acts While Assistant Federal Prosecutor—Depends on His Friends in Fight.

WORK OF CHARITIES BOARD

SECRETARY TELLS WHAT WAS DONE IN FEBRUARY.

Nearly 10,000 Meals and Over 4000 Beds Furnished—Problem of the Unemployed.

PORTLAND, March 14.—(To the Editor.)—Will you kindly give the Associated Charities space for the following statement of the work for February:

Total number applications.....2881 Total number applicants.....678 Total number meals furnished.....9042 Number lodgings furnished.....4917

Expenditures During Month. Amount paid out in relief.....$126.30 Car tickets for Columbia Park.....$125.95

The problem of the unemployed is still with us, though not in the same proportion, as far as the single men are concerned. The number of applications from families is, however, increasing, indicating that the list of savings has been exhausted, and the head of the family being out of work, our office must help to tide over until work can be found. The following case is a typical one:

A man, wife and three children were sent to us by the police—no money, no rent, no food and no wood. The necessities were immediately provided, and also jobs found for the man. With the money thus earned he paid his back rent. The Associated Charities paid two weeks' rent in advance, and sent the man out to a neighboring town to a job. Until he was able to send for his family, we cared for them, providing food, wood, clothing, medical attendance, and finally transportation to send them to the father. There have been many such cases since the panic, and we have held steadily to the principle that the truest charity is that which "helps a man to help himself."

Application of this principle has at times been difficult, as there are those who have tried to use the hard times as a reason for being supported.

The work done by the work gang of the Associated Charities will be visible in the green lawns and the blooming roses of the park blocks next Summer. The men have spaded up the whole length of the park blocks and planted all the roses; they have worked for several weeks past in Columbia Park, the City Park, as well as in Holiday Park. But the better work has been done for the men themselves—giving them an opportunity to earn their rent, and lodgings, and to get out of jail; it has kept many of them from being pauperized through being clothed and fed by those with whom charity is a sentiment rather than a religion. The work test for the able-bodied man gives him a chance to retain his self-respect, and also has the effect of weeding out those who have no self-respect to retain, and need another kind of treatment. This plan of caring for our unemployed has cost the Associated Charities about $5000, an amount equal to the annual budget in ordinary times.

W. R. WALPOLE, Secretary.

REAL LORD IN PORTLAND

GLERAWRY, ON LONG TRIP, VISITS CITY.

Son of Irish Peer Travelling Incoog Will Round Cape Horn on Crown of Germany.

Traveling incoog and shunning formal entertainment of every description while in the city, Lord Glerawry, eldest son of the Earl of Arundel, the well-known Irish peer, is making a tour of the Western Hemisphere.

Lord Glerawry spent yesterday in Portland. He spoke of his trip very briefly and paid a number of compliments to Portland. He crossed the Atlantic on the Mauritania and came across the continent on the Canadian Pacific.

The most interesting part of Lord Glerawry's trip is yet to come, for he will board the British bark Crown of Germany at Astoria today for the voyage back to Falmouth, England, and intends to get away from the beaten paths of travel for a while. The bark will sail around Cape Horn and the voyage will consume about five months.

During his stay in Portland Lord Glerawry spent considerable time as the