TO EXTEND ITS SCOPE

LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY WORK TO BE BEGUN HERE.

Meetings Planned for March 30 and 31 Most Important Religious Gatherings of Year.

What promises to be one of the most significant events of the year in church circles will be the inauguration of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in Portland at a meeting to be held on Monday and Tuesday, March 30 and 31. The movement was started in New York City in 1906, and is interdenominational in scope. Its purpose is to project a campaign of education in missionary work among laymen; to devise a plan for the evangelization of the world in this generation; to form a centennial commission of laymen to visit the mission fields and report their findings to the home churches.

During the first year of its existence the organization secured the indorsement of all the foreign mission boards of the United States and Canada. It completed its centennial commission of 50 laymen and some of the members have already returned from their investigations abroad and are reporting their findings. One of its aims is to extend the missionary field in China.

J. Campbell White, of New York City, general secretary of the movement, is now making a tour of the Pacific Coast for the purpose of more fully explaining the progress and aims of the organization. There will be a banquet at the Hotel Portland on the night of March 30, which will be attended by 300 local churchmen and others. Reports of committees showing the present status of local resources for all missionary purposes in the different denominations will be presented, to be followed by an address by Secretary White.

Tuesday, March 31, will be devoted to interdenominational rallies of women and young people as the local committee may arrange, to be followed that night by a mass meeting of laymen in the White Temple to hear full reports of committees on advance work and the concluding address of Secretary White.

The local executive committee, which is composed of a representative from each of the churches of the city, and which will have charge of all arrangements, is made up of the following: Chairman, Dr. Henry Waldo Coe; secretary, E. N. Wheeler; G. F. Johnson, E. L. Thompson, Dr. E. M. Wells, J. A. McFerron, W. G. Smith, G. Evert Baker, James Laidlaw, J. C. Luckel.

INVESTMENT

Do you wish to make a few thousand dollars? Here is your opportunity. 153 acres all in a high state of cultivation, ½ mile of station on the Salem Electric Line, also joins a good town on the S. P. R. R. Splendid public road on three sides. It belongs to several heirs, some of whom live at a distance, who have consented to sell rather than make many small divisions of it. The price is $10,000. Buy this, sub-divide it into 50-acre tracts, each of which would face on a splendid public road, and you should realize $15,000 for it. If not sold by April 20, 1908, it will be divided among the many heirs.
