ENSIGN FRED M. PERKINS AND MISS MARGARET SUTHERLAND

ASIDE from the general interest manifested by the prominent matrons for skit, musical attractions are holding sway and the young married couples' fortnightly dancing parties are not being interrupted by the Lenten season, as they regard the evenings as merely an informal opportunity to learn the new dances.

The Bauer-Kreiser concert served to bring out a brilliant audience Tuesday night, and after the concert many of the parties gathered at the formal opening of the new Nortonia grillroom.

Mrs. G. H. Planders and Miss Planders are guests at the Fairmont in San Francisco.

Mrs. Walter Reed's oldest son, Harold, has been distinguishing himself in athletics at Stanford. He holds the record there for the 220-yard dash, has tied the Stanford record for the 100-yard dash and was the last runner in the half-mile relay race when the Stanford team broke the world's record.

Mrs. W. S. Ladd celebrated her first birthday Wednesday of this week and the North Pacific Board of Missions of the First Presbyterian Church sent her a corresponding number of roses, which, together with the handsome floral offerings of her other friends and relatives, made her home a veritable bower. She has been president of the Board of Missions for 20 years. Serving as secretaries under her have been several prominent women, including Mrs. H. C. Campbell, Mrs. W. F. MacRae, Mrs. C. R. Templeton, Mrs. J. W. Goss and Mrs. W. J. Honeyman. The board will celebrate its anniversary next month.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Strandborg are moving into their handsome new residence at Rose City Park. It is facing the boulevard and decidedly attractive.

Aprons of St. Patrick's day, Mrs. Walter Reed wore an exquisite gown of white net over silk and a graceful spray of green ferns, for the celebration at the Aramony Tuesday evening. Miss Kathleen Lawler also presented a very attractive appearance, attired in a dainty pale blue gown with rich lace trimmings. She wore deep pink carnations gracefully arranged in her culture. Both were soloists for the evening and elicited much applause. Each had to respond with encore, and were liberally showered with floral offerings.

Mrs. Adolph Wolfe and daughter, Miss Wolfe, accompanied Miss Flora Stern to San Francisco Thursday evening for a visit. Miss Stern had been passing the month here with her aunt, Mrs. Max Meisner, and was the honor guest at functions galore. She will be missed greatly.

Miss Lella Lane Shelby is at Seaside this week recuperating. She is a guest at the Hotel Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Friedenthal celebrated their crystal wedding last Sunday evening and about 40 guests called to congratulate them. Following supper, "50" was played upstairs. The home was decorated with greens, carnations and blossoms for the occasion. Mrs. Fred Horley, of Seaside, and Miss Alpha Korn, of Tacoma, both cousins of Mrs. Friedenthal, were house guests for the occasion.

Mrs. H. A. Cushing, recently of Seattle, is proving quite an acquisition to Irvington society, being an accomplished singer and of charming personality. She resides on Hassall street. Mrs. Cushing sang for the Woman's Club here not long ago and was most enthusiastically received. She has studied music just for the love of the art and possesses a very pleasing voice.

Miss Frances Meacham was honored by Miss Louisa Samson with a luncheon shower last Monday evening, 22 guests attending. The shower was given at the home of Miss Samson, at 87 Market street. The decorations were elaborate in green and yellow.

Mrs. John Manning was the hostess at the meeting of the Fortia Club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. E. A. Letter will entertain the club Tuesday, March 23.

Besides the honor guest, covers were laid for Rodney Gleason, Harry Corbett, John Carson, Horace Micklan, Jordan Zap, Brandt Wicksorah, Walter Honeyman, Maxion Dolph, John K. Killock, Morton Insley, Herbert Nichols, Bert Ball, Patterson Edinger and Charles Warrens.

Join Admiral Evans' fleet on the trip around the world caused the date to be changed. The bride resided with her mother at 78 Tillamook street, and was a prominent member of the Irvington Tennis Club, and three years ago won the championship of the club for ladies' singles. She was the daughter of Thomas A. Sutherland, for years a very prominent newspaper man of Portland. Her step-father was the late J. H. Smith of the contracting firm of Smith & Hale, and later president of the Pacific Coast Construction Company. Mrs. Perkins' grandfather, on her mother's side, was the Rev. W. C. Chattin, a prominent Methodist minister in the early days of Oregon, and the first secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Perkins is a son of W. T. Perkins, a prominent resident of Salem, and a nephew of Secretary of State Benson. Last November he passed his examinations for promotion from the grade of midshipman to that of ensign. After their marriage, the young couple left for Bremerton, where a series of social entertainments has been arranged by the officers' wives to welcome the young bride into the Navy. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins have been acquainted for a number of years, but their romance really began last Spring, when Miss Sutherland, accompanied by her mother, visited Admiral Burwell, commanding officer of the Oregon Navy Yard, who is a distant relative of the family. There she met Ensign Perkins and the engagement shortly followed.

Madame Norelli is now in New York, where her company will remain for the rest of the season.

Mrs. William A. Knight and daughter Marcella are home from a trip to California. They have taken apartments at the New Nortonia.

The Monday History Club met at the home of Mrs. Insley on Willamette Heights. The regular programme for the afternoon was supplemented by a St. Patrick's social. Roll-call was responded to with quotations and readings from Eugene Fields. A character sketch of Robert Louis Stevenson was read by Mrs. James Bell and a reading from Stevenson by Mrs. I. A. Steadman. Mrs. E. C. Goddard sang the childhood songs, "In Winter I Get Up by Night" and "Speckled Eggs." Mrs. Amadee Smith sang the "Irish Love Song" and "Irish Folk Song." At a peasant game conducted by Mrs. George Cooper the prizes were secured by Mrs. J. E. Bennett and Mrs. Bell. Refreshments were served in such style as to call attention to the day. Other than the members of the club who were present were Mr. Insley and the Misses Denny and Notting. Mr. Insley rendered a vocal selection which was appreciated by the audience.

Thursday evening, relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGrew, 60 Gilbert avenue, Lent, in honor of their 30th wedding anniversary. Rev. H. H. Croster, who performed the ceremony of 20 years ago, made a few fitting remarks, and Mr. and Mrs. McGrew then repeated their marriage vows. Among the guests present the following eight were at the former wedding: Rev. H. H. Croster, Mr. E. S. Jenne, Mr. P. P. Jenne, Mrs. F. P. Wood, Mrs. R. Giddings, Mrs. M. Norman, Mr. George P. Lent, Mr. O. W. Lent; other guests were: Mrs. H. H. Croster, Mrs. E. S. Jenne, Miss Beard, Mr. F. P. Wood, Mrs. George P. Lent, Mrs. O. W. Lent, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Prince, Mr. and Mrs. R. F.
