The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, in speaking of the sixth concert of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra, has the following: "The playing of Miss Elizabeth Sawyer, who is a sister of Mrs. Fletcher Elm, 'Miss Elizabeth Patterson Sawyer in the second number, the G minor piano concerto of Saint-Saens, proved a revelation. She has a well developed technique and plays with fine feeling and brilliant dash. The opening movement sang under her fingers and the delicate decorative work of the composer, which shines prominently in the scherzo, was given a novel musicality reading. The concerto was nerve-ringing in its intensity. Miss Sawyer was given an ovation by the largest audience of the symphony season."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Walthew, of Seattle, are receiving congratulations over the birth of a son on April 9. Mrs. Walthew was formerly Miss Evelyn Street, of this city, a sister of Mrs. Charles Warren.
