

PORTLAND SOCIAL NEWS

CONTINUED FROM THIRD PAGE

Just, "So They Linger Thy Divine Passion," "Hail, Contralto Solo," "He Was Despaired," Handel; baritone solo, "The Palm," Faure; quartet, "The Hallowed Presence," Carter; soprano solo, "King Ever Glorious," Stainer. Also the organ numbers, "Prelude," "March," "The Public is cordially invited to attend.

This afternoon at the Young Women's Christian Association, Sixth and Oak, Dr. D. L. Rader will give a talk on the Philippines. This address has been given once before, but Dr. Rader has consented to repeat it by special request. It is a bright, interesting story of the life in the Philippines, full of anecdotes and promises a delightful hour to all who come. A "Drop-in Bible Class" and "Little Journey Hour" are held from 4 to 4:30 P. M. Then come the address and musical programme, which is as follows: Piano solo, Miss Edna Wennerberg; vocal solo with violin obligato, Miss Irene Hurd; violin solo, Arnold Smith.

The Women's Club departments of art and psychology will meet Tuesday, April 14, at 7 o'clock in the art room of the public library. In the art class several papers on most interesting subjects will be given, namely: "Rubens in Spain," by Mrs. Abendroth, and "Oriental Rug Designing," by Mrs. Cunningham. In the psychology class Mrs. Webster will talk on "Useless Sacrifice." The study of Yoga philosophy will be continued.

The Portman Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. S. M. Schuler, 391 Holladay avenue, Wednesday, April 15. Take care going over street bridge, getting off at Occident street.

All daughters and grand-daughters of Civil War veterans will be welcome at 419 Larabee street on Friday afternoon, April 17, at 2:30 P. M. Take Lower Albina car.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. U. M., formerly the "D. of E. Girls" will hold their annual Easter Monday party in the East Side Woodman Hall April 23.

WEDDINGS.

Stites-Stites.

One of the prettiest of the early Spring weddings was that of Charles M. Stites and Miss Ada Z. Stites, which was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents at Vernon, on Sunday, April 5. The rooms of the pretty bungalow were graciously decorated with evergreens and early Spring blossoms from the woods. A canopy of festooned cedar boughs interlaced with daffodils in one corner, formed the wedding bower. From this a horseshoe of golden primroses was suspended, and under it the couple exchanged their marriage vows. The bride was daintily gowned in white linen garnished with lace and French embroidery and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Viola Thayer, who was also gowned in white and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Robert Stites, Rev. Erasmus Smith, of the Arleta Baptist Church, performed the marriage service. After congratulations and refreshments, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Stites entered a carriage and were driven to the Jefferson-street depot, where they took the electric line for their new home. Our city and its storage vaults provide the most perfect form of storage yet devised. Phone and we will call for your furs. Special Summer rates for the remodeling of furs. H. Liebes & Co., Corbett building, 288 Morrison street. John P. Plagemann, manager.

SOCIETY PERSONALS.

E. E. Ramsey is at the Good Samaritan Hospital with a severe case of pleurisy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Ward, of Coburg, Or., are in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. David S. Stearns and son left Tuesday evening for an extended trip South and East. They will be absent about two months, returning via Washington, D. C.

Mrs. M. F. Woods has returned from Southern California, where she has been spending the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bridges have returned after a five years' trip through Eastern and Southern States.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Foley have moved to their new home, 92 East Flanders street, and will be at home after April 13.

Miss May Nordman, of San Francisco, is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. S. W. Ottenheimer, 742 Hoyt street.

Dr. C. R. Templeton spent two days at Hood River this week looking after improvements which he is having made at his ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Gevurtz and daughter, Fanny, will leave April 19 for an extended trip through Europe; at home Sunday, April 12, from 2 to 5.

Miss Maize Shirley, of Owosso, Mich., is the guest of Miss Mabel Jarvis, Miss Shirley will act as maid of honor at the Easter wedding of Miss Jarvis.

Miss Ethel McKeercher, after a winter spent in Southern California with her cousin, Mrs. Lulu M. Ward, of San Diego, and Mrs. Jackson Deets, of Upland, is now visiting Mrs. F. R. Cook at her new home in Burlingame, near San Francisco.

Miss Edna Benson, of Bay City, Mich., is visiting relatives and friends in the city. Miss Benson will assist at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Mabel Jarvis.

Miss Peirce, the well-known French teacher, will leave this month for a visit to friends and relatives in Paris, and while there intends perfecting herself in the Berlitz literary course, which is now considered the most correct system for the study of the French language.

Miss Irma Roper, of San Francisco, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Ralph Wilde, in this city. Miss Roper is a native daughter of Portland, but this is her first visit to her old home since her birth. Her father, R. R. Roper, now manager of the National Union Fire Insurance, at San Francisco, was for many years local agent in Portland.

Miss Ella M. Carlisle has returned from an extensive visit through the East and South. Chicago, New York, Boston and Washington, D. C., were among the larger cities in her itinerary. She visited many of the natural wonders of America, also of which Mammoth Cave, Ky., Virginia Natural Bridge and Niagara Falls were extremely interesting. Miss Carlisle was the guest of honor at a number of affairs in New Orleans and Los Angeles, having spent the past two months in the latter city.

At the Women's Union.

Miss L. Small, of Silver Lake, who resided here four years ago, while attending a business college, arrived in the end of the week, and is domiciled here.

Miss Mattie Wyman is spending today at her home at Lafayette.

Miss Bertha Kountz was here on Friday, visiting Miss Louise Krutson.

Mrs. Thomas C. Malone, of Grand avenue, was a guest at dinner on Sunday.

Mrs. C. A. Cole, of Gloonsville, N. Y., was the guest of Miss C. Gilman at dinner on Sunday.

Miss Cornwell was the guest of friends at Piedmont over Friday night.

Miss Laura Garnett was the guest of Miss Maude Kirby at lunch on Friday.

From the hawkbill turtle of the Caribbean sea comes the tortoise shell of commerce.

William F. Plano, of East Highlands, Cal., and Sada M. Hanavan, of Portland, Or., were married at 10 o'clock, Friday, March 29, at the Universalist parsonage, Riverside, Cal., by Rev. Herbert E. Benson.

Crawford-Euren.

Edmund S. Crawford and Elna E. Euren, both of Salem, were married on April 5 at 249 Park street by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, pastor of Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church.

Schultz-Lange.

William Schultz and Margaret Lange were united in marriage by the Rev. J. J. Staub, of the Sunnyside Congregational Church, at 209 College street, Wednesday, April 8.

Allen-Allen.

John Allen, of Portland, and Julia H. Allen, of San Francisco, were married by Clarence True Wilson, D. D., April 4, at the Nortonia Hotel.

Francis-Harlan.

Phillip A. Francis and Maria Josephine Harlan were married on Friday evening, April 2, by Clarence True Wilson, D. D., pastor of Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. and Mrs. Francis will visit relatives in Hood River for a week and then move to their homestead at Bend, Crook County, Or.

Whitacre-Koch.

A quiet home wedding took place at 205 College street, Wednesday, April 8, when J. A. Whitacre and Augusta Koch were united in marriage by the Rev. J. J. Staub, of the Sunnyside Congregational Church.

Wells-Grant.

Mr. Ernest Wells and Miss Gertrude Maxine Grant were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, 215 North Twenty-second street, on Wednesday evening, April 8, Dr. J. Whitcomb Broucher officiating.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The announcement is made of the marriage of Wade Hampton Pipes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Pipes, to Miss Marie Wynfred Mills, of London, daughter of the late Major Edward Mills, H. M. Regiment Fifty-seventh.

Mr. E. Periot leaves for Paris this month to follow the Berlitz literary course, and when she returns in the Fall will give her pupils the benefit of her Parisian studies.

The Art La Mode, 181 Sixth street, takes pleasure in announcing the efficiency of their fancy tailoring department under Hoffman and Gordon, A. 2224, Main 2278.

Mrs. Emma Bell announces the engagement of her daughter, Vesta Evelyn, to Cyril Ray Hollingsworth. The wedding is to take place in May.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jarvis announce the engagement of their daughter, Mable Letitia, to Dr. Treve Jones; the wedding to take place April 22.

Mrs. Belle Carlisle announces the engagement of her daughter, Ella, to M. Harry Lamond; the wedding to take place May 1.

MARIE U. ZEITFUCHS

386 Washington Street.

Afternoon and fancy gowns, manufactured costumes, tailored shirt waists to order or of your own material. Prices reasonable.

Easter at Gill's.

An elaborate showing of Easter goods appropriate for this popular occasion is now on display at our store. It is an unusually attractive display—complete and full of good things—embracing such articles as Bibles, prayer books, tissue bells, tissue eggs, booklets, post cards and an endless variety of novelties. In fact, just such "gift things" as will appeal to all—mother, father, sister, sweetheart—and at prices to fit any purse, from five cents to several dollars. You are cordially invited to come and see this elegant display. The J. K. Gill Company, "the house of Easter gifts," Third and Alder streets.

Store Your Furs.

More furs are damaged by moths than by regular wear. Our city and its storage vaults provide the most perfect form of storage yet devised. Phone and we will call for your furs. Special Summer rates for the remodeling of furs. H. Liebes & Co., Corbett building, 288 Morrison street. John P. Plagemann, manager.

WOODSTOCK COUPLE CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

MR. AND MRS. J. W. GALE.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In 1877 they moved to Palouse County, Washington, where they engaged in farming until 1888, and then they returned to Portland, where they have since resided. Both are enjoying a hale and hearty old age and expect to celebrate many more wedding anniversaries. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, Charles Singer, Mrs. Charles Singer and Miss Gladys (the grandchildren); Masier Robert Singer, great grandson; Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, W. Gedamke and daughter, H. W. Prettyman and daughter, Mrs. A. Woodson and William Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Woodstock, celebrated their golden wedding April 7 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. P. Tomlinson, 999 East Taylor street. They were the recipients of a number of gifts commemorating the event, and all present enjoyed the excellent luncheon. The occasion also served to celebrate Mrs. Gale's birthday, she and Mr. Gale having been married on her 19th birthday at Lone Rock, Iowa County, Wisconsin, April 7, 1858. They are pioneers, having crossed the plains with horse team in 1864, stopping in the Hole Valley the following year when they came on to Portland. In