

GAINES OF ALL DEGREES TO BARK

Portland Kennel Club to Hold Annual Bench Show, Beginning Wednesday.

PRIZE-WINNERS ARE LISTED

George S. Thomas to Act as Judge, and Will Begin Awards on Opening Night—Many Well-Known Dogs Will Be Displayed.

BY W. J. PETRAIN. Big dogs, little dogs, cute dogs, pretty dogs, ugly dogs, and dogs of every description, color, contour or breed, which happen to possess dotting masters or fair feminine admirers will hold forth at the Crowe-Grubman garage at Fifteenth and Washington streets for four nights, commencing Wednesday, April 22.

The occasion marks the opening of the annual bench show of the Portland Kennel Club, and to judge by the number and class of entries it will eclipse all previous affairs of the kind. The kennel enthusiasts have been looking forward to this date for many months, and the many washings, training sittings, and choice morsels selected for the delectable taste of the sporty canine possessing ribbon qualities almost causes the humble dog to believe he can be classed with the athletes in training for the coming fray.

Those Who Will Enter. "Tike" Davis, "Billy" Pechelmer, Frank Watkins, Fred Wagner, Jack Callison, J. Wesley Ladd, Frank Penwick, E. House, Dr. R. C. Yonney, Thomas L. Griffith, Thomas Kerr, Harry Litt, Ben Gadsby, J. L. Toland, Dr. D. H. Rand, E. A. Parsons, Walter Gadsby and many other notable names among the dog fanciers of the Northwest will be on hand with from one to eight or ten entries each. A large number of the successful dogs at other kennel shows will be seen at Portland, for the owners of these prize-winners send their entries around the circuit, exhibiting them in Oregon, Washington, California, British Columbia, and in some instances, at the big Eastern shows.

J. Wesley Ladd has a fine string of cooners with which he hopes to repeat some of his triumphs of former shows. His well-matched pair, Red King and Red Queen, are among the finest specimens of this breed extant, and the exhibitor anticipates carrying off the majority of the prizes in this class.

Hull and Fox Terriers. Frank E. Watkins, with his celebrated white bull terriers, will display a number of prize-winners which have garnered the ribbons in all parts of the United States and Canada. In addition to the dogs which have been exhibited before, Mr. Watkins will be on hand with several puppies of a litter recently dropped, and expects to capture new laurels with these entries.

W. H. Pechelmer and his classy exhibit of wire-haired fox terriers, has repeatedly attracted the attention of both judges and spectators at the various shows held here recently. This breed is one of the most popular among the fair admirers of the canine species, probably on account of their being small and well formed, and are easily trained to obey the commands of a person of either sex. George M. Crane believes that he has a prize-winner in his little beauty, "Seisara," which has been entered in the fox terrier class.

Charles J. Schnabel has entered two dachshunds, that famous species which is so remarkably shy in her development. Incidentally the animated sausage are always an attractive feature of a kennel show, probably on account of their rarity, and also the fact that they are among the highest-priced specimens of dogs. Mr. Schnabel is the owner of two of the finest dogs of this breed in the West, and while it is possible that there may be other entries in this class, his are likely to prove the ribbon winners.

Alredale terriers will be exhibited in large numbers and this popular species of canine will have many admirers during the show days. Among those who will exhibit their pet Alredales are: James Cleason, F. B. Stewart, Miss Myrtle Lewis, R. H. Stevens, Dr. R. C. Yonney, J. J. Dalrymple of Salem, and W. B. Bailey of Seattle.

Final Game for Cup.

LONDON, April 25.—The final game in the contest for the English Association cup, the Blue Ribband of the football world and the goal for which all the best teams in the country have been struggling throughout the past winter, was played at the Crystal Palace this evening and resulted in a victory for the Wolverhampton Wanderers over the Newcastle United, the scores standing 2 to 1.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 25.—The noted Waldo stud, owned by Carl Janguluth, of Louisville, was disposed of at public auction here today, 27 head bringing a total of $7000.

Chit-Chat of the Sporting World.

BY WILL G. MACRAE. THE way members of the Seattle delegation bet their money on Croft, who met Johnson last night in the heavy-weight class, made everybody believe that he was in. They wagered $1000 at even money, but there was plenty of M. A. A. C. money on tap. A lot of cranks who saw the Friday night tournament left the building under the impression that they had been stung. Their feeling of disappointment wasn't half as keen as that of the Multnomah Club management.

"What a great baseball town Zapata, Texas, would be if it was large enough to play baseball in. They have just enjoyed the first rainfall in over a year. A New Yorker the other day refused a drink and then dropped dead. It's a clutch that he was neither a member of the fighting fraternity or a ballplayer. Here is a true friend of the sporting gentry. He is a Chicago probation officer who has discovered that the cigarette habit cures a desire to drink whiskey. Yet it is a guess which is the worse of the enjoyments.

A Kansas judge fined a ex-prize fighter, who had beat his wife, $500. It's a 1 to 2 shot that the wife, after the fine was levied went out and hustled the necessary. That game that Portland took from Oakland may have been dull and uninteresting to the San Francisco baseball scribbler, but it was joyfully received around the smoke joint at home. It must be interesting, however, to the Bay City fans to note the way that Los Angeles is taking the Seals down the line. A lot of bugs smiled with delight when they saw that Manager McCredie played Ryan in the right field. They would make a noise like a tornado if he decided to manage the team from the bench, and at the same time forget that there isn't a header ballplayer on the Coast than this same McCredie. The Los Angeles Times became real

RACES ARE CALLED OFF

United Irish League Opposes Hunters and Carries Point.

The East Galway point-to-point races, which were to have been held at Redmount, Ballinasloe, last week, were abandoned in consequence of the action of the United Irish League, which had passed a resolution stating that should certain members of the hunt be permitted to participate in the proceedings, hunting in the district would be stopped in future. A meeting of the committee was held on the course in the morning, when it was reluctantly decided to abandon the races.

STATUTE IS SWEEPING ONE

Sportsmen Strongly Organized and Prepared to Urge Passage of Measure to Conserve Wild Fowls and Fish.

When the next Legislature meets and the Oregon Fish and Game Association asks for the enactment of laws that will protect the fish and game of the state, it will impress upon the lawmakers that the association counts for something. In past years when a few of the sportsmen who were members of the association went to Salem and pleaded for game protection, the first thing the lawmakers asked was, "How many members have you?" When the lawmakers were informed that less than a hundred belonged to the association, they at once became careless and inattentive, for they realized that behind the association there was no political force. It will be different in the future, for now the membership roll of the association is made up of sportsmen from all parts of the state and by the time the sessions begin at Salem fully 500 men will be wearing the insignia of the association. During the past year the association has been extremely active. Sportsmen throughout the state have joined, realizing that if they are to enjoy sport with rod and gun, uniform laws, looking toward the protection of fish and game, must be enacted. At a meeting of the association held on Thursday night a draft of game protection laws was submitted and approved. No radical changes were asked for and the proposed legislation that the legislators will be asked to place on the law books of the state has been drawn so as not to conflict with the shooting and fishing seasons of the various counties. The laws that the association hopes to see enacted follow:

- Trout. It shall be unlawful for any person to take, catch, kill or have in possession any trout, except during the months of November, December, January, February and March of any year, and it shall be unlawful for any person to take, catch, kill or have in possession at any time any trout, char, or salmon less than six inches in length; and it shall be unlawful for any person to take, catch, or kill, at any time in the waters of this state, any trout by any means whatsoever, except with hook and line; and any person fishing with hook and line who, upon hitting the same, shall find any trout, char, or salmon of less than six inches in length caught or entangled thereon, shall immediately, with care and the least possible injury to the fish, disentangle and let loose the same, and transmit the fish to the water without violence.
- Salmon Trout. It shall be unlawful to take, catch, or kill any salmon trout by any means whatever, except with hook and line, or to fish for salmon trout in any other than the waters during the months of November, December, January, February and March of each year.
- Deer. It shall be unlawful within the State of Oregon at any time to take, catch or kill any bass by any means whatever except with hook and line.
- Deer. It shall be unlawful at any time between the first day of November of each year and the 15th day of July of the following year to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, destroy, or have in possession any buck deer. It shall be unlawful at any time between the first day of November of each year and the first day of September of the following year to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, destroy, or have in possession any female deer. It shall be unlawful at any time within the State of Oregon to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, or destroy one hour after sunset and one-half hour before sunrise of any day of any year, to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, or destroy any deer; and it shall be unlawful at any time to hunt or pursue any deer with dog or dogs with intent to kill or injure any deer; and it shall be unlawful for any person to take, capture, kill, or destroy, in any open season, more than five deer. It shall be unlawful within the State of Oregon at any time to sell or offer for sale, barter, or exchange, any deer whatsoever.
- Ducks, Geese, Swan. It shall be unlawful at any time between the first day of March and the first day of September of any year to take, kill, injure, destroy or have in possession, sell or offer for sale, barter, or exchange, any wild goose, wild swan, mallard duck, wood duck, widgeon, teal, spoonbill, gray, black, spruce-tail or canvasback, or any duck. And it shall be unlawful at any time for any person to hunt, destroy or have in possession any greater number than 20 of the hereinbefore enumerated ducks in one week. It shall be unlawful at any time to shoot at or take, or kill, or attempt to take, kill, injure or destroy by any means, any wild goose, on any island or swamp, or along the coast, the Columbia River, and within the state east of the Cascade Mountains on which wild geese habitually rest or roost, provided, however, that in the County of Coos, the season during which it shall be lawful to take or kill the fowl mentioned in this section, shall be from the first day of August in each year to the first day of February in the following year, and it shall be unlawful in said County of Coos to take, kill, injure, destroy, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale, barter or exchange, any of the said fowl between the first day of February and the first day of August in each year, and that in the County of Lake the season during which it shall be lawful to take or kill the fowl mentioned in this section shall be from the 15th day of August in each year to the first day of April in the following year, and it shall be unlawful in said County of Lake to take, kill, injure, destroy, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale, barter or exchange, any of the said fowl between the first day of April and the 15th day of August in each year, and all the provisions of this section shall apply to the said counties of Coos and Lake except as to the time of the open season.
