"THE CLIMBERS" AT BAKER

Clyde Fitch's Society Play to Open This Afternoon for the Week.

There will be the most superb array of elegant gowns worn by the ladies of the Baker Stock Company in "The Climbers," this week, that has ever been seen on the stage of this popular playhouse. "The Climbers" will open this afternon and it is, perhaps, the best of all the 50 successful plays from the pen of America's noted playwright. Clyde Fitch. It is likewise one of the most expensive to stage, both from the standpoint of the manager and the actor, for besides the costly clothes necessary to properly dress the differ-ent parts, the royalty, scenery and stage settings are far above the average required for the usual run of plays.

"The Climbers" is strictly a play of society—high society—the life which Pitch probably has few equals and no superiors in picturing. It is the story of a young married couple, Blanche and Dick Sterling. By a series of reckless speculating Dick has ruined them both. In confiding her troubles to her husband's best friend circum-stances arise that cast suspicion upon Bianche, which reach a suimination when Dick discovers them together at when like discovers them together at a country place, where they have met during a snow storm, and falsely accuses his wife, swearing that he will never meet her again. The play, with all its heavy somberness, has a vein of hright and cheerful comedy, and has always been an immense success with theater goers. Miss Izetta Jewel, who became so popular playing a short en-gagement with the company recently, returns to take her place as leading woman and will be gladly welcomed by patrons of the Baker Stock Company, the majority of whom marked preference for her

MR. WILTON LACKAYE.

Distinguished American Actor Will

Begin Engagement at Heilig. Mr. Wilton Lackage, returning to Portland after an absence of more than two years, will be seen next Thurs-day night, in the Heilig Theater, in his new role of Jason of the North in Hall Caine's play, called "The Bondman," a dramatization of the Manx writer's well-known novel of that title, which has been "standard" in the esteem of fiction-lovers here and in Great Brit-ain for the last 20 years. It is curious to find Caine, after winning laurels as a playwright with such recent works as "The Christian" and "The Eternal City," reverting to his earliest book, first published in 1888, for a theme for a play; but the results to date would seem to be his vindication in the mat-ter. His dramatization of "The Bond-man" ran all last season in London, dividing the time between Drury Lane Theater, where it was produced on September 26, 1906, and the Adelphi Theater, whither it was removed at Christmas, and where the long run ended on May 31 last.

That Mr. Lackage has a strong romantic role in that of Jason readers, of the novel do not need to be told. He is said to have met with a great deal of success in the play, in which he has been touring since last Septem-these were brought into the country under bond and must be returned not later than August 12 next, this will be Mr. Lackaye's last, as it has been his first, season in "The Bondman."

Here is one actor whose past achievements on our stage always insure a warm welcome on his return. He is, without question, the foremost player of strongly-defined genre roles we now possess, and he has left an impress on the stage of his day by virtue of his acting in such powerful and widely-contrasted roles as Svengali in "Trilby," Curtis Jadwin in "The Pit." widely-contrasted roles as Svengali in "Trilby," Curtis Jadwin in "The Pit," Jefferson Stockton in "Aristocracy," Reb Shemuel in "Children of the Gretto," Petroneus in the original New York City and Boston cast of "Quo Vadis," Jean Valjean in "Les Migerables," and Brinker in "A Modern Magdalen."

WEEK'S BILL AT THE LYRIC.

"Under the Magnolias" to Be Presented by Allen Stock Company.

Life in the Southland, a romance with Life in the Southiand, a romance with scenes connected with a typical race track, furnish the background for "Under the Magnolias," the play that is to be presented at the Lyric this week, beginning tomorrow night. The play is constructed along new lines

The play is constructed along new lines and has its first production in Portland at this theater. In the plot the campaign for the election of a Southern Colonel to the State Senate gives opportunity for bringing out typical characters of the land of Dixle, and the romance, a graceful love story where the colonel's political opponent is a suitor for the hand of his daughter, but is unsuccessful. Charles Ayres and Miss Marie Thompson will do a large part in making fun, while Miss Ella Houghton has the doubled parts of witch and "jockey." From every indication this production will make one of the most decided hits of the season. This afternoon and tonight the last two performances of "From the last two performances of night the last two performances of "From Sire to Son" will be given.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT STAR

Armstrong Company Will Present "The Bathing Girls" Today.

Musical comedy at the Star Theater at popular prices is a success. This much has been proven conclusively during the week just past. The Armstrong Musical Comedy Company will, commencing to-day, present "The Bathing Girls" for the benefit of the fun-loving people of Port-

One matter has been disposed of beyond question during the week, the public took more than kindly to the new class of entertainment at the Star. Those who attended, and they numbered many thousand all told, were of one voice in praising the show. It is a distinct innovation to see this kind of show at such reasonable prices.

"The Bathing Giris" will be as clever and amusing as was "A Scotch High Ball," the opening attraction. Each week and enables every one to see these merry

Each week at the Star during the engagement of this organization there will be something new, a new musical comedy, up to date, with specialties, songs and fun generally. These will be supplemented with vaude-ville turns, the whole being designed for a ratting good fun show for an hour and a half.

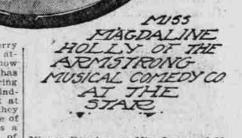

The Armstrong company has convinced the amusement seekers that they have real comedians in the Armstrong brothers and a pretty, gingery and well-dressed chorus of energetic and youthful girls. With this foundation, the entertainment runs with a snap and never loses interest. "The Bathing Girls" will have as one of the big features the Musical Bennetts, blackface melody art-ists. Musical beliboys and fresh, local gags, captivating girls and plenty of life will make "The Bathing Girls" a show which cannot but make good. The Star habit is a good habit to acquire and the Star will soon be recognized as the only home of popular priced musical comedy in Portland. This is the only company of the kind on the Coast.

PANTAGES NEW BILLING.

Star Acts Secured for Second Week at Marquam Grand

Pantages' attractions at the Marquam rand Theater drew capacity houses il week. The facilities of the big and attractive theater, combined with what was, without doubt, the best vaudeville bill ever seen in Portland, drew the theater-going public out in crowds. And all voted the bill which is just now coming to an end well worth turning out for. Willie Zimmerman, the eminent impersonator of famous composers and orchestra leaders, was the feature of the year, his work better really extend to the cheen ing really artistic and not the cheap ing really artistic and not the cheap caricature of venerable men such as some of his alleged competitors give. Otherwise the bill is an all-star affair, made up of acts of unequaled merit. Pantages does not intend to lapse. Even in the face of the tremendous expense of practically rebuilding the Fourth-street house and maintaining the Marquam Grand the expenditures for suitable acts will be even higher than ever before. Excellence is the than ever before. Excellence is the alm of Manager Johnson, and since the Pantages circuit has the money to spend and believes it good policy to provide the best, even on a small mar-gin of profit, the best is assured. The new bill, which opens Monday, will be quite as deserving of public consideration as the bill just ending, and in some respects more so. A topline act has been provided calculat-

New Vaudeville Bill Is Made Up of High-Class Novelties.

Following up the great vaudeville entertainment of the past week, Sullivan and said: Considine will give another programme of circus surpassing merit at the Grand the ensuing week, commencing tomorrow after-noon. On this new bill are assembled vaudeville artists of unquestioned reputation. It is also one of the most expensive programmes in local vaudeville history. There is nothing parsimonious about this bill and the patrons of vaudeville will find it to their liking.

ville. The Marco twins have played every first-class theater of codacquence in is one reason for many of the laughs. In the wide field of vaudeville there is not a duplicate of this act.

For the special added attraction there will be Porter J. White and company. They will produce a little dramatic sketch entitled "The Visitor." It is now the correct and fashionable caper to have one dramatic tabloid on every vaudeville programme and "The Visitor" will not be found wanting, especially since it is being played by such an artist as the original Porter J. White. Clara Thropp, a recruit from the operatic world, is a singing comedienne who will have a place on the new programme. Miss Thropp was formerly identified with a number of high-class operatic companies. The Ascott-Eddy trio have an acrobatic comedy act, which is said to nothing less than great. The Alpha trio is another act with a reputation for making good. The trio are novelty hopproliers. There are other hopprollers, but wait until you see the Alphas.

Fred Bauer will have a new song and F. F. Montress a late Parisian moving picture. Today is the last opportunity to ee Henri French in his impersonation of famous music masters, and the rest of the all-star bill.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

George Broadhurst has to date taken in $100,000 in royalties on his play of "The Man of the Hour," in which four companies have been acting since last August He has, meanwhile, produced six other plays, not one of which has been unsuccessful.

Miss Grace George, whose sprightly talent was shown here earlier in the suson in "Divorcons," is about to give some Chicago performances of "Sylvia of the Letters, the comedy written for her by Jerome K. Jerome, the English will and novelist. She will hold her new play by Clyde Fitch until September, when it will be acted in New York City.

Both Louis Mann, who has made a name for himself in German Dialect nonsense, and Douglas Fairbanks, whom many critics regard as the best light comedian now on the Emglish-speaking stare, will be added next season to William A. Brady's list of stare, which now includes Wilton Lakaye Miss Grace George, Robert Mantell and Miss Phoebe Davies.

Grace George, Robert Mantell and Miss Phoebe Davies.

"'Way Down East," at the Aldwych Theater, has enabled another well-known American actress to achieve personal success in London. A cable received recently quotes the London Times ha saying:

"Phoebe Davies gives to an old Stage type new life and infinite charm. Her pensive facial expression synapathetic threise of voice, quiet dignity, agreeable presence and significance of gesture combine to treate a deep and agreeable impression. Miss Davies is one of the most satisfying actresses that America has sent us."

Miss Elste Ferguson, a stranger to playgoers in Fortland, will be the Greeke of 'The Bondman," when, next Thursday night, in the Hellig Theater, Witton Lackare first gives the new Hall Caine play for Drury Lane Theater he stipulated that Greeke should be acted there by Mrs. Patrick Camphell who was, accordingly, engaged for the role, When Caine sold the rights to 'The Bondman' for the United States and Canada to William A. Brady, Mr. Lackaye's manager, he sought to make a provision that Mrs. Camphell be engaged. As she had arranged to come here this season as a star on fer own account, this was out of the question, even granting that either she or Mr. Lackaye would have consented to any such arrangement. Miss Ferguson was acting at the lime in "The Earl of Pawtucket," in London; and the Manx novells, after looking at her performance, sgreed with Mr. Brady that she would be the ideal Greeke. From all accounts, she has made a promounced success in the role, and has left a pleasant memory of fresh talent and scirilish aspect wherever Mr. Lackaye has appeared in 'The Bondman.'
