WILL NAME BRYAN, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Bryan Strongest Denfocrat.

Mr. Roosevelt not only believes that Mr. Bryan is to be nominated at Denver but that he is the strengest candidate the Democrats can nominate for Presithe Democrats can nominate for President this year. Many published state-ments have ascribed to the President the belief that Governor Johnson would be more dangerous to the Republican cause than Mr. Bryan. But these state-ments were founded upon a misappre-hension. Mr. Rooseveit has said some pleasant words about Governor Johnson, and, in common with all observers of American politics, realizes the Minnesota governor's peculiar strength. But in the hast analysis Mr. Roosevelt thinks Mr. Brynn the stronger man. the one most likely to threaten Repub-

The President has discussed this and other phases of the political situation with his personal friends. One of these friends made the remark: "A fact which many people overlook is that presidential elections are not decided by professional men, merchants, the men you meet in hotels, clubs, parlor or sleeping cars. Elections are determined by the men who work with their hands, and from whom we rarely hear hands, and from whom we rarely hear much till the votes are counted in the boxes. With that class of men—with the common people—you, Mr. President, are the strongest man in America. Mr. Bryan is second. Both Judge Taft and Governor Johnson come after Mr.

Popular With Plain People.

Without any mock modesty the President permitted the reference to himself to stand for what it was worth, without comment; and he said there could be no doubt whatever of Mr. Bryan's be no doubt whatever of Mr. Bryan's very great popularity with the masses of the people. He made it plain that he is aware there is opposition to Bryan as well as to himself among the business and professional men of the country, but that he also appreciates the fact that elections are carried by "the plain people," as Mr. Bryan calls them, and that with this class of voters the Nebraskan enjoys remarkable popularity.

The suggestion has been made here that President Roosevelt may take part in the coming campaign by making a number of speeches for Taft. It may be said the President himself has considered the advisability of this, without as yet reachthis theory much credence. The loss is $200.

So Convinced Is Roosevelt of Bryan's Strength That He May Stump for Taft—How Johnson Would Lose.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Now that Taft's nomination at Chicago is assured and we know President Roosevelt's plant in the Amage is the absolute Inability of the East They do not understand the strength of Mr. Bryan as a popular candidate the actual politician in the White House as to the Democratic situation. When we say Mr. Roosevelt is an attue politician in the White House as to the Democratic situation. When we say Mr. Roosevelt is a student of public plant in the White House as to the Democratic situation. When we say Mr. Roosevelt is an attue politician in the White House as to the Democratic situation. When we say Mr. Roosevelt is an attue politician, we say that which mo, one will question, not even his enemies. His cleverness, his leadership, his master-rulness over the Republican party, he has amply demonstrated. Mr. Roosevelt is a student of public opinion as well as a leader of it. Therefore his impressions as to the other men in the opposition ranks and their relative strength of proposition ranks and their relative strength of his preputation is that if Mr. Bryan were voluntarily to addicate, then Governor Johnson would probably be the strongert man the President to democratic situation make record of the impressions of the proposition ranks and their relative strength of his proposition made here by men of high reputation is that if Mr. Bryan were voluntarily to addicate, then Governor Johnson would probably be the strong the more care.

Bryan Strongest Democrat.

Bryan's Followers Would Sulk.

Another suggestion made here by men of high reputation is that if Mr. Bryan were voluntarily to abdicate, then Governor Johnson would probably be the strongert man the Democrats could nominate. But as Colonel Watterson has well put it, there is little hope for any Democrat to ride into the White House over Mr. Bryan's dead body. Bryan has a following so loyal, so much obsessed by love of him and devotion to him, that if he were to be defeated at Denver many of them would sulk in their tents. Judge Parker had a taste of that four years ago. Today there are whispers that Judge Parker is a candidate for the nomination again this year. The whispers are always accompanied by smiles.

Receiver of Livestock Association Charges Conspiracy in Report.

SPOKANE, May 16.-The receiver's re-SPOKANE. May 16.—The receiver's report of the Pacific Livestock Insurance Association, filed in the Superior Court today by Lloyd E. Gandy, expresses the belief that the insolvency of the company was caused by the excessive salaries and commissions paid the officers, and charges conspiracy to rob the company. The report shows that during the existence of the company, about two years, some of the officers received from $15,000 to $22,000 or more each. He believes that the conditions warrant both a civil and a criminal action against them.

House Blown Up With Bomb.

CHICAGO, May 16.—A bomb placed under the front porch of a house at 2062 North Albany avenue exploded last night. It demolished the porch and broke all the windows in the front and broke all the windows in the front part of the building. No one was injured in the house, which is occupied by Albert Olson and Albert Kuntz, the former living in the basement. The explosion tore out the front door. Olson's family includes his wife and three children; Kuntz's consists of his wife and two children.

Olson, who owns the little property, is a woodworker, and the suggestion was made by the police that perhaps the difficulties between woodworkers and carpenters—rival unions—might be at the bottom of the trouble. However, Olson was not inclined to give this theory much credence. The loss is $200.
