

LEGISLATORS NOT WORTH $3 A DAY

Chamberlain Says Some Are Even Too Cheap to Select United States Senator.

GOVERNOR IS CONFIDENT

Tells Woodburn Voters He Will Be Elected Over Cake by Larger Majority Than He Received the Last Time for Governor.

WOODBURN, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—Governor Chamberlain, addressing a large gathering in this city this afternoon and predicted his election for United States Senator by the people by a larger vote than he received for Governor two years ago. He denounced the old convention methods, strongly advocated the direct primary and Statement No. 1 and said that some members of the Legislature were not worth $3 a day and were cheap skates that should not be allowed to make a choice for Senator for the people.

The Governor thought the interests of Oregon could be best protected if there were one Democratic Senator to work with the Democratic State that at present Congressional delegations have consumed too much time in quarreling over who shall hold office and have done little for Oregon. The speaker promised that, when Senator, he would support all measures in the interest of the people, regardless of party or who sits in the Presidential chair.

Touching on the many pardons charged against him, the Governor stated that a large number were of those who had served their sentence and the pardons had been issued in order to restore to them the rights of citizenship. Others were on account of contracting fatal illness. In the case of Hembree, he said he acted on what Judge McBride said to the effect that the evidence was not sufficient to convict. Also that Judge Burnett had sentenced the man to one to 15 years, and in cases of indeterminate sentence he generally pardoned the men after the minimum had been served.

Governor Chamberlain acknowledged that he is a Democrat, but placed principle above party.

QUIET CAMPAIGN IN LAKE

Chief County Issue Centers on Contest for Sheriff.

EUGENE, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—The election one week from Monday promises to be one of the quietest yet held in Lane County. Of the state and district offices the only contest of any interest is between H. M. Cake and George B. Chamberlain for United States Senator. Chamberlain carried Lane County over Witty, but two years ago, but since the county is very strongly Republican and there are no factions here opposing Cake, it is expected that he will carry the county this year by a large majority. According to the registration records, the Republicans outnumber the Democrats more than two to one.

As to the other candidates for state and district offices, the Republicans will have an overwhelming majority.

In the county offices, the principal contest is that for Sheriff. The Democrats, who have been able to elect their man for this county office for a number of years, are centering their fight for Harry L. Bawn. The Republicans are making a strenuous effort to wrest this plum from the minority party, and Drew Griffin, their candidate, is making a quiet, but intensive campaign.

The two measures in which the people will take the most active interest are the referendum on the State University and the local option bill. The University bill will give an overwhelming majority for the university appropriation bill. While the local option issue will be actively waged by both the wets and dries, the fact that the county is already dry and there is no saloon property that will be involved in the results, will have a tendency to keep the campaign quieter than it was two years ago.

BRUTAL MIDNIGHT HOLD-UP

Reho Man Assaulted and Robbed on Streets of Pendleton.

PENDLETON, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—The most brutal hold-up perpetrated in this city in several years took place in the heart of the city last night, about midnight. In the very shadow of the Alta House Hotel, R. W. Jewett, of Reno, was assaulted by two men and, after being struck down by a blow on the head, was relieved of all his money, consisting of something over $20, and a gold watch. The police have been unable to capture the robbers. Jewett is able to be on the streets today.

DEAD OF THE NORTHWEST

C. E. Redfield, of Heppner.

HEPPNER, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—Charles Edward Redfield, one of the leading lawyers of Eastern Oregon, and a prominent Democrat in state politics, died at 10:30 o'clock this morning in his residence in this city from blood poisoning, caused by a scratch on the foot and also a scratch on the left arm. Mr. Redfield's family and property were lost in the Heppner flood, but he was remarried two years ago to Miss Eleanor Cameron, of Pendleton.

For several years prior to coming to Heppner, Mr. Redfield practiced law in Pendleton. He had been a resident of Heppner for 11 years, and one of Morrow County's most prominent citizens. He held large interests in the Heppner coal mines, which caused him the loss of a neat fortune. The funeral will be held from the Episcopal Church Tuesday, May 26, providing that Bishop Paddock can arrive here by that time.

Mr. Redfield was born in New York and was admitted to the bar, trying his first case before Judge Alton B. Parker. He was elected delegate from Oregon to the convention in 1904, that nominated Judge Parker for President on the Democratic ticket.

E. S. Fowler, of Lewiston.

LEWISTON, Idaho, May 23.—(Special.)—Judge E. S. Fowler, a prominent member of the Lewiston bar, died here May 21, after an operation for appendicitis. He had been ill only about four days. Judge Fowler was here about two years ago from San Francisco.

James J. Gibson, of Canby.

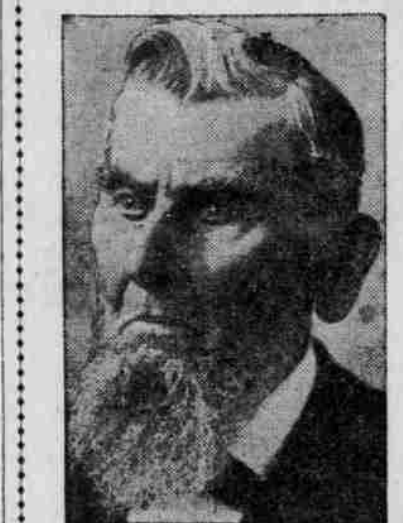

CANBY, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—James J. Gibson died here last night of pneumonia. Mr. Gibson was farmer, living a few miles south of Canby, and had lived here a number of years. He was greatly respected by his neighbors and leaves a wife and large family.

three of whom are now living. A. D. Butler, of Napa, Cal., and Maggie and Allie, with whom he makes his home in Monmouth. His wife died in 1888.

Although grown somewhat feeble in the last few years, "Uncle Ira," as he is familiarly known, has retained remarkably clear mental faculties, and still enjoys good health.

Both the motorman and the section Company were exonerated. It was shown that the seamen were riding on the front fender of the car and it was admitted that this was against a rigid rule.

The remains of the two seamen were taken aboard the hospital ship Relief this afternoon and will be sent to the Navy-Yard at Bremerton for interment.

SALEM EDUCATOR RETIRES

G. A. PEEBLES QUIT CLASS-ROOM DUTIES.

Engaged in Public School Work for Over 30 Years—Popular With His Pupils—Health Is Failing.

SALEM, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—Professor G. A. Peebles, who has been for most continuously engaged in public school work in Oregon for 30 years, has resigned the position of principal of the North School in this city and will retire from active work on account of the condition of his health. He had been elected for next year, but will sever his connection with the schools at the end of the present year.

Professor Peebles has occupied many positions of responsibility and trust. He began teaching in a high school near Turner, in 1871, taught in the schools of Silverton in '72, in Woodburn in '76, and entered the Salem schools in '79, teaching here continuously until 1887, during three years of which time he was City Superintendent. He served two terms as County Superintendent, from 1884 to 1888. From 1888 to 1898 he was principal of the McMinnville schools. In 1898 he returned the Salem schools, and from 1898 to 1899 he became a member of the faculty of Western State Normal, which position he held for six years, then returning to a principalship in the Salem schools. His work has always been highly satisfactory to the public-school officials and has been keenly appreciated by the hundreds of boys and girls, many of them now young men and women, who came under his instruction. Upon accepting his resignation, the Salem School Board adopted a resolution expressing its regret that the condition of his health made it necessary for him to retire from active work.

Lakeview People Speculate on What Harriman Will Do With $100,000,000.

LAYING RAILS FROM SOUTH

Line From Reno Now Within 60 Miles of Lakeview—Hill Said to Have Secured Rights of Way Through the State.

LAKEVIEW, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—Does the $100,000,000 bond issue recently authorized by the Harriman system of railroads mean the early initiation of construction work on a line to interior Oregon? is a question that is being asked here. Five of Salem's scores were made in the first inning, and the fireworks were started with two men on bases when Herman lined a two-bagger to center and brought them in. Hull came near losing the game in the ninth when he walked two men, hit the third one was brought home, with one man out, but he rallied and won out. The same teams play tomorrow. Score:

that permanent surveys have been made, and it only remains for active construction work to start the builder of the North Bank Road into Harriman territory.

Vast Areas Await Development.

With all of these projects in sight, people of Lake County are hopeful that a railroad will connect them with the markets of the world in the near future. There are two or three big irrigation schemes on foot here that will reclaim thousands of acres of valuable agricultural land. Also, the finest belt of yellow pine timber on the Coast is in reach of the road that builds through Lake County. But all of these resources will await a road before development begins.

SALEM DEFEATS VANCOUVER

Capital City Nine Wins in Game of Errors and Bad Luck.

SALEM, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—In a game that was full of errors and streaks of hard luck upon both sides, the Salem team of the Tri-City League wrenched the first victory from the Vancouver Pioneers here this afternoon by a score of 6 to 4. Hull and Heyer composed the battery for the Senators and Pender and King for the visitors. Umpire, Chayne. There was a small crowd in attendance, but the weather and condition of the field were ideal. Pender pitched a good game, but was given poor support, and Hull's arm was in bad condition and he was wild. Several times the Pioneers had two and three men on bases with good chances to win, but the Cherry-pickers always managed to pull out of a bad hole.

Five of Salem's scores were made in the first inning, and the fireworks were started with two men on bases when Herman lined a two-bagger to center and brought them in. Hull came near losing the game in the ninth when he walked two men, hit the third one was brought home, with one man out, but he rallied and won out. The same teams play tomorrow. Score:

SINKS FROM SIGHT

Portland Lad Gives Up Life to Rescue Girl at Salem.

JESSE SCHAFER DROWNS

After He Brings Woman to Surface, Schafer Goes Down Just as Help Arrives—Falls Into River Second Time the Same Day.

SALEM, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—In attempting to cross a log boom from a boat to the shore, after a launching trip on the Willamette River, Jesse Schafer, of Portland, and Miss Olive Drummond, of this city, fell in and the former became exhausted in his efforts to save the latter from drowning and sank from view just as a rescue party in a rowboat arrived and dragged Miss Drummond from the brink of a watery grave.

The incident happened at 11:30 in the morning and Schafer's body was dragged from 20 feet of water at 3 this afternoon. The remains will be held here until word can be received from Schafer's parents in Portland, who have not been located as yet.

Resents Previous Rescue.

The strangest part of the affair is that Schafer was rescued from drowning in the same spot, and under the same conditions earlier in the morning by Jake Smith, foreman of the logging crew of the J. K. Spaulding Logging Company, and is said to have complained later that he was "able to take care of himself."

Afterward he took Miss Drummond, 22 years old, out for a boating and after putting the launch away, attempted to cross the log boom to the shore. Two men, Sam Miller and Henry Folks, both of this city, were about 200 feet away in a boat when they saw Schafer and Miss Drummond fall into the water and they hastened to the rescue, but arrived just as Schafer sank and Miss Drummond was sinking for the last time. She was pulled into the boat and resuscitated after several minutes' hard work. She is suffering a severe nervous shock as a result.
