man presented their leader with a bouquet of carnations, containing a flower for each year of his life. After playing games for a short time, they were called to order by one of their number, acting as master of ceremonies, and as names were called each responded in some happy way with vocal numbers, recitations, and stories, the last speaker presenting the host with a handsome loving cup as a token of appreciation from the members of the chorus for the efficient and faithful training received during the past season. Winder responded with a few touching remarks, showing how deeply he appreciated their regard, and also revealing the fact that the surprise was complete. Mrs. Winder, assisted by the ladies present, served refreshments, after which Mrs. Behrens gave some very entertaining readings. Following are the names of the members of the chorus: George H. Street, E. F. Allahaw, L. P. Brode, F. S. Peirce, Scott Bozorth, E. N. Fairchild, R. N. Maris, J. R. Sittes, J. M. Albert, A. Hughes, E. S. Hughes, L. R. McGinnis, R. H. Bradley, S. C. Rasmussen, J. W. Shaver, M. W. Hawkins, H. L. Dring, C. M. Tiffany, Ernest Stansbery, N. M. Lewton, J. E. Gassner, E. W. Sear, Robert Thies, J. D. Dyer, H. G. Wilson, D. P. Evans, J. G. Kilpack, M. E. Behrens and E. L. Perkins. The chorus has sung every Sunday evening at Grace Church. Singers have appeared on a number of special occasions in this and other churches, have sung for hospitable and social events, and will be specially remembered for having rendered several numbers at the charity ball at the Masonic Temple. They will sing at the Woodmen's annual memorial Sunday afternoon at the Woodmen Hall, and again at the regular Sunday evening service, after which they will disband for the summer.

As a precursor of the Rose Festival, the lovely home of Mrs. J. C. Hanz, 374 Caruthers street, was thrown open on Thursday afternoon for the first of a series of entertainments to about 65 guests. Mrs. L. B. Smith and Mrs. Hanz as hostesses assisted by Mrs. Appleby, Miss Riegan, Miss Johnson and Miss Miss Guendolyn Bonorth. The decorations were exquisite in pink and green. The spacious veranda was screened, and was used, as well as the parlors, in playing "five hundred." On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Hanz and Mrs. Smith again entertained, the dining-room on this occasion being darkened and the soft glow of the many pink-shaded candles lent to the beauty of the decorations. Here the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. P. A. Dooty and Mrs. C. E. Kiggins. Mrs. L. Barre served at the tea table. On this occasion a literary guessing contest was enjoyed.

The amusing comedy "Sunbonnets" presented by the Daughters of St. David's Thursday evening was a decided success. A large and appreciative audience inspired the young women in the cast to their best work and they rendered their parts in almost professional style, reflecting great credit on the admirable skill of Mrs. Mina Crolius Gleason, under whose special direction the play was given. The evening's entertainments were concluded with dancing, in all making a very pleasant evening. The following took part as members of the cast: Misses Frances Richmond, Bessie Hughes, Dorris Clark, Elsie Lewis, Lucy Powell Luella Mayhew, Amy McDonnell, Claire Oakes, Edna McBrien, Marguerite Egbert and Lorraine Miller.
