PORTLAND YOUTH A WORLD BEATER

A. C. Gilbert Sets New Mark for Pole Vault at Philadelphia.

EIGHT RECORDS SMASHED

Best Free-Style Discus-Throw Is Beaten and Six Olympian Game Marks Excelled — Fine Work in Try-outs.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—Judging by the form shown by the candidates for the American team at the try-outs on Franklin Field this afternoon, the world's athletes who will meet in London next month, will have to perform wonderful deeds if they expect to be crowned with the laurel wreath at the great Olympian games. Practically the pick of the Eastern athletes were entered in the 20 events on the programme today, and before the last event had come to an end two world's records were smashed, six records made at the Olympian games at Athens, Paris and St. Louis were broken and one other Olympian record was equalled. Beside this all but one of the other records were approached within inches or seconds.

Gilbert Sets New Mark.

The world's records to go were the pole-vault and the free-style discus-throw. A. C. Gilbert, of Yale, set the new world's figures for the pole-vault at 12 feet 7¾ inches. The former world's figures were 12 feet 6½ inches, and the Olympian record 11 feet 6 inches. W. R. Dray, of Yale, who held the world's record, and F. S. Nelson, of Yale, tied for second place at 12 feet 2½ inches. A. K. Dearborn, of the New York Athletic Club, with a throw of 139 feet 9 inches, and M. J. Sheridan, of the Irish-American Athletic Club, of New York, with a heave of 139 feet 6½ inches, broke the world's record of free-style discus of 136 feet 1-3 inch. Sheridan also broke the Olympian record of 115 feet 4 inches for the discus-throw, Greek style.

Clips Off Two Seconds.

M. W. Sheppard, of I. A. A. C., clipped two seconds off the Olympic record of 1:56 for the 800-meters race; Charles J. Bacon, I. A. A. C., established new figures for the 40-meters three-foot hurdle event; J. P. Halstead, Cornell, the Intercollegiate mile champion, cut the 1500-meters record from 4:05 2-5 to 4:01 1-5, and J. A. Rector, of the University of Virginia, who is reported to have sprinted the 100-yard dash in 9 2-5 this year, equalled the 100-meters (109 yards) record of 10 4-5 seconds in winning the first trial heat in that event. The greatest interest was taken in the 100-meters race because of the many fast men entered.

Kelly Did Not Run.

D. J. Kelly, of Spokane, Wash., who holds the record of 9 3-5 for the 100-yard dash, did not run because of a lame leg. Rector, M. J. Cartmell, of the University of Pennsylvania, the Intercollegiate 100 and 200 yard champion, and Lawson Robertson of the I. A. A. C., qualified without trouble. The failure of F. M. Ramsdell, of the University of Texas, who is said to have done the 100 yards in 9 4-5, was a surprise. It was anybody's race in the final heat almost to the tape, but Robertson by a great effort managed to finish in front, with Rector second and Cartmell third.

Choose Team Tuesday.

The American Olympic team will be selected Tuesday night at a meeting in New York of the team selection committee of the Olympic committee. It is expected that about 40 men will take up the team.

THIS IS NEEDLESS.

Nobody Can "Straighten Out" a Supreme Folly.

PORTLAND, Or., June 6.—(To the Editor.)—In regard to the Statement No. 1 question, now being discussed seriously for the first time, can you tell me what a Republican representative in the Legislature who has taken the Statement No. 1 pledge is going to do about his oath that he will be called on to take before he assumes his seat? There is no question as to the meaning of Statement No. 1. Certain parties, desirous of legislative honors, agreed to vote for the Senatorial candidate receiving the greatest vote. But did they know at that time that they have to qualify before becoming a member of the Legislature by taking an oath to support the Constitution of the United States? Or, if they knew that, how do they interpret that oath? Under the United States Constitution, the Legislature elects the United States Senator in accordance with the views of the individuals composing the Legislature. Now, a Republican who is elected as a Republican can hardly say his choice for Senator is a Democrat, but he must so claim, in view of his oath. The United States Constitution was discussed for months when it was framed, and for a man elected to our Legislature to plead ignorance of the fact that the United States Constitution intends the individuals of the Legislature to abide by their own honest judgment in choosing a United States Senator, is an indication that the recall ought to be used.

When a man takes an oath at the Legislature to use his own honest judgment as to the political and personal fitness of a Senatorial candidate, and when he has declared he is a Republican and has voted and worked against Governor Chamberlain on political grounds, how can he conscientiously vote for him? That is what the oath means—to use his own honest judgment. History shows this for one thing, but in addition, the very fact that the Statement No. 1 method is used (instead of having the vote direct by the people), shows that the individuals who prepared the Statement No. 1 plan were aware of the restrictions of the United States Constitution. The Statement No. 1 scheme was advocated by the reformer to remove fraud. What does the reformer call an intentional and aforethought contempt for an oath to his country? What difference is there between breaking this oath for votes and breaking it for money? In short, does a legislator owe allegiance to his country and is he bound by its laws and the oath he takes, or does he owe no allegiance to his country, being free to construe his oath anyway he sees fit? The oath of office, to a Republican Representative or Senator, is directly contradictory to Statement No. 1. Which one is he going to break?

Can you, Mr. Editor, straighten this out? If this position is correct, and the papers seem to say it is, will the United States Senate seat a Senator elected by a manifest abuse of the oath of office by the legislators who elected him? If this position is not correct, if the oath to support the Constitution of the United States means that the people elect the Senator, then Statement No. 1 is all right.

J. C. HENDERSON.

461 Tillamook street.

The Senate will seat the man, for it will make no inquiry into the foolery of the methods that preceded his election.

RUSH GOLD OUT OF ALASKA

Haste Due to Desire to Save Interest Lost in Transit.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 6.—(Special.)—Three million, one hundred thousand dollars in gold dust is now on the way to Seattle from Alaska, and at least $1,000,000 for one Seattle bank is awaiting the arrival of steamships at Nome. Back of this is a great accumulation of the precious metal that will come to the outside as soon as the season is under way. Time is an important consideration in the handling of the metal. The interest on $3,100,000 is $500 a day, at 6 per cent, and while the gold is in transit the interest is lost. The loss for the twenty days it takes to bring the gold to the outside amounts to about $20,000.

Of the gold on the way, Dexter, Horton & Co. will receive by far the largest amount, $2,000,000 being consigned to that bank.

DIVORCE ACTION SURPRISE

Wife of Former Prominent Aberdeen Man Seeks Separation.

ABERDEEN, Wash., June 6.—(Special.)—Proceedings for divorce begun by Mrs. Margaret Morgan against Thomas Morgan have created great surprise here. Mr. Morgan, until two years ago, was connected with the Ninemire & Morgan packing interests, which controlled all the meat business from here half way to Puget Sound. When the firm dissolved partnership, Mr. Morgan received over $100,000 cash, besides interest in business and valuable lands. After the division of the property, Mr. Morgan went to Seattle, leaving his wife and children in a fine home here. He is alleged to have acquired the drinking habit, and to have squandered his estate. To preserve her rights and to secure support, the suit has been brought. The Morgans have been married more than 25 years and are still under the 50's. They have been very prominent socially, Mr. Morgan being a member of all the leading clubs and has served in public positions of trust.

His companions immediately ran home, but were so badly frightened they did not report the accident and nothing was known of it until several hours later.

MUST ASK FOR MEDALS

Soldiers Serving in Philippines Entitled to Bronze Medallions.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 18.—Inquiries have been made of Senators and Representatives by soldiers who served in the Philippines, as to the cause of delay in delivering the bronze medals which were authorized by the act of June 29, 1906. Investigation at the War Department discloses the fact that these medals are ready for distribution, but are sent out only upon the application of the soldier. They are distributed by the Quartermaster-General, United States Army, and applications addressed to him here will be promptly honored.

The act authorizing the issuance of these medals provided for striking off such medals of bronze, bearing suitable device, "to each of the several officers and enlisted men and families of such as may be dead, who, having volunteered and enlisted under the calls of the President for the war with Spain, served beyond the term of their enlistment to help suppress the Philippine insurrection, and who subsequently received an honorable discharge from the United States Army, or who died prior to such discharge."

Those regiments from Oregon, Washington and other Western states which served in the Philippines after the close of the Spanish war, are entitled to these medals, and application from individual soldiers, with a statement of service coming within the scope of the law, will bring forth medals from the Quartermaster-General's office.

"PUGS" EVADE THE SHERIFFS

CULLEN-SCALER BOUT HELD ON PUGET SOUND BOAT.

Twenty Rounds Declared a Draw, After Desperate Efforts to Avoid Officers of Three Counties.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 6.—(Special.)—After dodging the Sheriffs of King, Snohomish and Island Counties, Dick Cullen, of Australia, and "Kid" Scaler, of Spokane, went 20 rounds to a draw on the lower deck of the excursion steamer Yosemite early this evening. The Yosemite ran circles in Puget Sound at the intersection of the three Counties.

The fight had been announced to be held in Snohomish County, 15 miles from Seattle, but the Sheriff was on hand and served notice that it could not take place there. It was then proposed to hold it in Island County, in the middle of the Sound, but the authorities were there equally obdurate, and there was no chance in King County, where the lid has long been on. So a 15-foot ring was erected on deck.

Although it was pulled off under difficulties, the spectators saw a rattling good fight. Cullen, when the decision was announced, attempted to resume hostilities. While the edge was Scaler's on in-fighting, Cullen outpointed the Spokane boy on boxing and finished exchanges. Neither man was at any time in danger of a knock-out, and both finished strong. Not a knockdown was scored during the entire engagement.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 6.—(Special.)—After having eluded the officers for over two months, Charles Herr, who is wanted in this city to answer a statutory charge, preferred by a Walla Walla girl, was arrested in Carlock, Ill., this morning and is being held until the arrival of Deputy Sheriff Painter, who will leave for Carlock tomorrow evening. Herr made a get-away March 26, two days before the warrant was issued.

MULTNOMAH WINS BIG TRACK MEET

Huston Wins the Short Sprint From Smithson, Who Beats in the High Hurdles.

GEARHARDT TAKES THE 220

No Records Are Lowered, but Good Time Is Made in All Events. Oregon Second and Olympic Club Third.

for the finals in the 100, but evidently decided to leave the race in Smithson's hands and save himself for the longer sprints. Huston's victory gives him a clean sweep of every event of the kind in the Northwest for the present season, and leaves no question as to his title as the champion entry in the 100-yard dash for 1908.

The victory of Gerhardt in the 220-yard run came as a surprise to many of the wise ones, who figured either Martin or Malcolmson as the most probable winner and the time to be at most 22 seconds. The night previous to the race Gerhardt announced that he would win, if the event was run in two-fifths of a second slower, and his prophecy was realized. Gerhardt's victory in the 220 was a most popular one, judging from the applause he received when the announcement was made. In this event the Californian had a slight advantage in securing an outside lane at the start. The inside course, drawn by Malcolmson, the Montana whirlwind, running under the colors of the Seattle Athletic Club, was sandy at the start and furnished poor footing for the Seattle mans' get-away.

Gains on the Winner.

Despite this handicap, Malcolmson gained steadily on the San Franciscan, and had the route been 10 yards longer, would probably have overhauled the winner. The tow-headed lad ran a splendid race and many of his admirers were greatly disappointed when he failed to capture the event, and sympathized with him when they learned of the bad start he secured.

The performance of Forrest Smithson in the 120-yard hurdles was the most remarkable event of the meet, and came nearer to equalling a record than any other event. The course of this event was practically straightaway, and had it not been for the slight turn at the finish, after the runner had leaped the last hurdle, he would undoubtedly have equalled the world's record of 15 1-5 seconds. Smithson's time in this event was 15 2-5, a most remarkable showing, considering the fact that Smithson had strained a tendon earlier in the meet. The attending trainers and physicians bound the Multnomah star's leg to hold the muscles in place, and he continued in the meet.

Seattle Takes Low Hurdles.

The next sprinting event of importance was the 220-yard hurdles. This event went to Seattle, for Malcolmson, after running second to Browdie of Multnomah in the second trial heat, came to the front in the strongest manner and captured the final in 26 1-5 seconds on the somewhat slow track. The Seattle man took things easy in his trial heat and when the final event was called, was in splendid trim. He forged to the front at the start and kept the lead nicely, leaping his hurdles accurately, and went through the entire course without tipping a barrier. Little Eberle Kuykendall, the University of Oregon competitor, proved as game a stayer as was Malcolmson, and when the latter breasted the tape, the Eugene lad was close behind. Andy Glarner, another California veteran, proved the victor in the half mile event, but was spiked in the heel while attempting to cut in ahead of one of his competitors. On that account he failed to start in the mile run. In the half mile event Glarner, who will be remembered as the victor in the middle distance events held here during the Lewis and Clark Exposition, had comparatively easy going, for Davolt, who finished second, made no effort to close the gap opened by the Californian. Davolt seemingly was content to take second place, which he was as sure of as was Glarner of his position. Glarner won this event in the slow time of 2:04, and then retired until the quarter mile event was called.

Mile Goes to Davolt.

In the meantime, the mile run was called and four started. As a general rule, the long-distance runs are not often closely contested, but the finish between Davolt, of Multnomah, and Smith, of the Seattle Athletic Club, was so close that many of the spectators were inclined to take issue with the judges when Davolt was announced as the winner. Davolt won without any question, although the strong spurt by the Seattle youngster made it appear as though he had passed the Multnomah man at the finish line. This little fellow from Puget Sound is a good runner, and his performance against the older and more experienced runners is worthy of praise. Gammie, of Multnomah, took third place without opposition, for the other starters dropped out before the last lap.

Glarner tried for the honors in the quarter-mile, and in spite of his sore heel, set the pace for a goodly part of the distance. His foot pained him considerably, however, and Greenhaw, of Multnomah, who had kept directly behind the Californian up to the stretch, spurted beautifully and gained the lead, which Glarner was unable to overcome. Gish, of Seattle, hooked third place by a strong spurt at the finish.

One Club in the Relay.

The relay race for the seniors was a disappointment, as the two Multnomah Club teams were the only contestants. Malcolmson, Gish and Clark, of Seattle, were the only men on hand from that club and, as four were required, their team could not enter. The Olympic Club and Oregon each lacked two runners. The event was won by the Multnomah quartette composed of Martin, Davolt, Humphries and Greenhaw.

Previous to the senior relay the big crowd was aroused to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the races between the grammar school lads and the high school and academic teams. The little fellows entered into the spirit of the thing with much enthusiasm. The team representing the Hawthorne School took first place and carried off the cup offered by Multnomah. The Hawthorne School team is composed of strongly-built lads who promise to become stars on the cinder path if they keep in the sport. Professor Robert Krohn, physical director of the public schools, was most enthusiastic over this portion of the field meet. The boys ran the four-fifths of a mile in the excellent time of 3 minutes 9 2-5 seconds.

The high school relay was a pretty race for the first two laps, but after that the Tacoma High School boys forged ahead, and when their colored relay took up the last lap, he spurted around the track so fast that the others were left far behind when he crossed the tape. The Columbia University relay entries then fought it out with their old-time rivals from Portland Academy, and the latter team won second place by an exceedingly narrow margin.

Multnomah Captures Weights.

Multnomah captured a majority of the points in the weight events, and also showed fairly well in the jumps. Carl Wolff and S. B. Hall took the 16-pound shot and hammer events. Bantz, of Seattle, took the honors in the discus, when he heaved the weight 121 feet, 9 inches. Wolff won the shot-put with a toss of 41 feet, 11 inches. Hall's throw of the hammer was 140 feet, 6 inches.

Eberle Kuykendall, of the University of Oregon, took first place in the broad jump, with a leap of 21 feet, 11½ inches. Chapman, Lounsberry and Smithson took all the places in the order named in the high jump. Chapman's jump was 5 feet, 9 inches.

F. Lanagan, of the Olympic Club, captured the pole vault with a mark of 10 feet, 6 inches. Kuykendall was second and Lounsberry third. Lanagan attempted to break the Northwest record of 11 feet, 7 2-5 inches, but failed in three trials, with the bar set at 11 feet, 8 inches.

Meet Is Well Conducted.

The Multnomah Club committee in charge of the field meet is deserving of praise for the able manner in which they conducted the events. No delays were experienced, and despite the condition of the field, which is not yet completed, the events went like clockwork.

Archie Hahn, coach at Pacific University, and formerly a sprinter of note, officiated as starter, and succeeded in getting the runners off in every event in the neatest manner imaginable. Only one instance of penalizing occurred, and that was when Martin was set back two yards in the 220-yard dash for starting too soon.

Frank J. Lonergan, with the runners, and Frank E. Watkins, with the weight and field men, deserve credit for the able manner in which they gathered the competitors together at the various starting points.

President Goldsmith, of the Seattle Athletic Club, stated that he was extremely well pleased with the meet, and said that he had nothing to offer but the highest praise for the able manner in which the Multnomah Club handled the meet. Both the Seattle Athletic Club and the Olympic Club, of San Francisco, with their small number of entries, did excellently well, and too much praise cannot be extended the four men entered by the University of Oregon.

The summary of the track meet is as follows:

100-yard dash—Won by Huston, U. of O.; Smithson, M. A. A. C., second; Gerhardt, Olympic, third. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

880-yard run—Won by Glarner, Olympic; Davolt, M. A. A. C., second; Gammie, M. A. A. C., third. Time, 2:04.

120-yard hurdles—Won by Smithson, M. A. A. C.; Kuykendall, U of O., second; Hillyer, Vancouver, B. C., Y. M. C. A., third. Time, 0:15 2-5.
