Flebig-McClure.

Tuesday evening, June 8, Miss Jewell McClure, daughter of Mrs. Margaret E. McClure, of Portland Heights, was married to Dr. William Frederick Flebig, of this city. The marriage took place at 9 o'clock in the Unitarian Church, Rev. W. J. Elliot officiating. Effective decorations of white roses and field daisies combined with sweet brier foliage filled the chancel and festooned the organ loft. Ralph Hoyt, the organist, was accompanied by Miss Corolla Barker, who played the solo. The bride was given away by her brother, Fred McClure. She was gowned in cream silk voile made over taffeta and cut in semi-empire mode, with bodice and neck trimmings of duchess lace. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. The maid of honor, Miss Jean McClure, sister of the bride, wore a charming and unique imported gown of white chiffon, embroidered in a cherry blossom pattern and fastened with cords of pale green velvet. She carried pink carnations. Mrs. William Channing Lovejoy, of Seattle, sister of Dr. Flebig, also attended the wedding. The bride was gowned in a pink frock and carried carnations in the same shade. Bert Dennison was best man and Messrs. Henry Berger, C. J. Schnabel, Aye and Hallinan were bridesmaids.

Following the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Flebig held a reception for the families and the bridal party at the Chapman-street residence of the bride and returned home upon their return from their wedding journey. Three sisters of the bride, her mother and five brothers, including Frank McClure, of Astoria, were present. Dr. and Mrs. Flebig have gone to the Sound cities and to Victoria for a short trip.

Allenburg-Neustadter.

Miss Theresa Neustadter, under a bow of bride roses, was married Tuesday evening at 7:30, at the family residence here, to Dr. Allenburg Allen, of Mrs. Phillip Feldman, 65 Ella street, to E. L. Allenburg, of San Francisco. The house was beautifully and artistically decorated with white roses, white tulle and roses. Miss Neustadter, a stunning brunette, looked radiant in a dainty princess gown of mousseline trimmed in rare white lace. The groom, a handsome young man, was gowned in blue and white striped silk and carried a large bouquet of bride roses. Mrs. Feldman wore a handsome black crepe de chine over silk trimmed in duchess lace. Little Miss Elsie Feldman, looking like a wee fairy in dainty white, acted as ring-bearer. Mrs. J. J. Gowenart, at bride's maid, wore a gown in pale pink. Mrs. Freda H. Rehnman looked chic in an empire gown of pink liberty silk. Mrs. E. Neustadter looked stunning in a gown of white mousseline. Mrs. L. Buman wore a gown of pink striped silk in cream and brown, with lace trimmings. Miss Mabel Tautenheimer wore a blue silk gown with a white and black and white striped silk and velvet, trimmed with duchess lace, and Miss Florence Tautenheimer green silk. Dr. Jonah B. Wood and Miss Neustadter the usual congratulations supper was served to the guests, who numbered 28 in all. Mr. and Mrs. Allenburg left on the late train for Victoria, B. C. and after a short honeymoon will make their home here.
