

Students of Blanchet Institute Will Produce the Operetta, "The Forest Bell" at the Heilig Theater

THE students of Blanchet Institute, conducted by the Christian Brothers, 5th and Mill streets, are to come before the footlights again this year in Anthony J. Schindler's operetta "The Forest Bell." It will be produced at the Heilig, June 19. Theater-going people remember well the splendid performance of the students last year in the play, "The Boys of '76," which they presented at the Heilig. The students are anxious to swell the building fund of their new college, which is now in course of construction. The boys are earnestly at work disposing of tickets and are taking much interest in the affair. Brother Andrew, the president of the college, has promised them to devote the entire proceeds of the entertainment towards building up the athletic department of the college. Plans are now being drawn for concrete hand-ball alleys on the college grounds, and arrangements will be made in the building for basketball and indoor baseball. It is also the intention of the college authorities to have military tactics taught by an Army officer. A large playground, attached to the college will afford ample room for this necessary drill to produce manly bearing. Some of the leading lights in the program June 19 are John T. Driscoll, as Prince Percival; Aloysius Hyland, as Alexis; Robert B. Driscoll, soloist; and George B. Kelly, as Police Commissioner. Jerome P. Hurley and Frank McGinty will render the quartet scene of Brutus and Cassius, and Edward F. Kowalek will give an extract, "The American Sailor." Over 100 voices will be heard in the choruses.

love for his fellow being was a marked characteristic, his heart was full of sympathy and kindness, and in his quiet way he carried on a charitable work that was scarcely known to his most intimate friends. He was the comforter to those in trouble, the good adviser of young men, the victor of the sick, and needy. His clerical ability he gave freely to those who were in need of it. For 31 years he stood in the same place, with dignity, honesty and ability, and died at his post and competent to the end. There will be many from all parts of the West who will miss his kindly smile and welcome greeting. Mr. Boynton was a consistent Christian, being a charter member of the Hassalo-Street Congregational Church. He was also a Royal Arch Mason. He had one peculiar characteristic, an abhorrence of anything that was even on the border of dishonesty or crime of any kind. Yet he was the first one to make sympathy and help to him. The many, many expressions of goodness that have been made since Mr. Boynton's death would suggest an epitaph that might well be placed on his tombstone, "He was a fine man."

ship not one jarring note was heard. I shall miss him always. C. B. WOODWORTH. Receive First Communion. Sunday, June 7, first communion services were held at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Albina. At 9 A. M. a long list of boys and girls received their first communion. In the afternoon they were enrolled in the Scapular of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, and the services closed with a benediction of the blessed sacrament. Father Butler, S. J., of Corvallis, preached the children's retreat. The children came from the

Y. M. C. A. AT LONG BEACH Summer Institute and Training School Begins Session.

Much interest is being shown in the Summer Institute and training school, conducted by the Y. M. C. A. of Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Montana, which opened yesterday at Long Beach, Washington. The meetings are held for the purpose of affording volunteer workers a thorough training in the fundamental principles and methods of association work and inspiration for more effective service. The institute will be in session for three weeks and during that period free branches in the program will be held. The first meeting, which began last night, is known as the students' conference. Among the subjects to be considered are Bible study, association history, religious work and physical culture. Beginning Monday, June 22, the institute and training school will be in session. The meetings will be devoted to Bible study and matters pertaining to the administration work of the association. The concluding conference for employed workers of the association will occur on Saturday, June 27, and will be given over to a discussion of problems affecting the association. Among those who went to Long Beach Friday night and will attend the opening conference were the following: A. J. Polson, Congregational home missionary; J. L. Kennedy, San Francisco; M. A. Kees, educational director, Portland; W. H. Phelps, assistant pastor First Presbyterian Church, Portland; J. C. Clark, religious work director, Portland; and about 40 students from various colleges. In this state accompanied the party. Another delegation from Montana and Idaho left for Long Beach yesterday. A. C. Griley, physical director of the local association, and J. B. Rhodes, executive secretary of the institute, also left to attend the meeting.

LIFE OF JOHN E. BOYNTON Tribute to Memory of Long-Time Portland Resident.

C. B. Woodworth, a personal friend of the late John Edwin Boynton, who died last Thursday in this city, has written the following sketch of Mr. Boynton's life and tribute to his character. John Edwin Boynton was born in Pepperell, Mass., December 28, 1836. His boyhood was spent on his father's farm. When 21 years old, he went to Boston, Mass. He was married to Miss Abbie G. Bates in Maiden, Mass., in 1861, where he engaged in the grocery business, leaving there for Salem, Ore., in 1869, where he followed his former business until 1877. At that time he moved to Portland, taking a position with Ladd & Tilton, bankers, as a note taker, which position he held until his death. Mr. Boynton had a strong constitution, although of a rather frail appearance. He had but one severe sickness until about two months ago, when he was taken down with Bright's disease. From this he rallied, but an attack of pleurisy set in and, in his weakened condition, he was unable to resist it. His suffering was intense for the last three days, but the end was peaceful, his death occurring Thursday June 11, 1908, at 2 A. M., at his residence, 9 East Ninth street North. He had three sons, Edwin, Clarence and George. Edwin died before leaving the East. Clarence was killed by falling in a well 26 years ago in this city. He is survived by his wife and youngest son, George, two grandchildren, a brother and a sister, the last two now living in Pepperell, Mass. Such is the brief history of Mr. Boynton, but there is more than mere events to be recorded. He was worthy to be classed as one of "God's Good Men." His

The Piano Market PUBLISHED BY Eilers Piano House 333 Washington St.

Giving strictly Reliable Piano News from time to time to those interested in getting the best value for every dollar invested.

Eighty-five Years of Artistic Satisfaction Back of Every Chickering & Sons Piano Sold Today.

You may ask any owner of a "Chickering & Sons" and they will say: "It always gives satisfaction," to artist, musician, and in the home, alike. There are several in daily use in the Northwest, made long before the war—good pianos today—and will be with proper care for many years to come.

History-making—these Chickering—just like the Chickering and we are selling today, will be good and true in 1960 or '70. Your third and fourth generations will refer with pride to your good judgment in selecting one—a Chickering—now, to begin the family history way back in 1908. Some new models—Chickering—refined elegance, in ease design—just arrived. May we expect you to call? Better start right—with a Chickering. Eilers Piano House, 333 Washington street, sole agents for the Northwest.

MUSIC HUNGRY

Men and women who have long since given up hope of playing and whose enthusiasm has waned have come immediately into a heritage of all the music there is. Our immense Pianola library and "for sale" music embraces over 25,000 rolls—the key to the storehouse of music and the Pianola Piano—the king of all artists—the only true, perfect musician available. The Robert Foreman School of Modern Methods in Music and Drawing, Fine Arts building, Chicago, say:

"For training and for the specific purpose of familiarizing the pupils with the great masters of music the Pianola will be employed." The Pianola and Pianola Piano can be obtained in the Northwest only from Eilers Piano House, sole agents of the Acolian Co. Prices on Pianola $215 and $290, Pianola Pianos $375 and up.
