

TAKE GUNS TO COURT

Chinese Outbreak Averted by Sheriff Stevens.

OFFICER LOSES HIS WATCH

While Busy Searching Chinaman for Weapons, Gold Timepiece Disappears—Slow Progress in Trial of Lem Woon for Murder.

A murderous riot and the renewal of hostilities between the rival tonga that are concerned in the trial of Lem Woon for the murder of Lee Dai Hoy, was prevented in Judge Bronaugh's courtroom yesterday only by the timely intervention of Sheriff Stevens. Having an intimation that serious trouble was brewing, Sheriff Stevens searched a number of suspicious celestials with the result that two were found to be armed with large, fully-loaded revolvers. They were hastily hurried to the County Jail but were released later in the day by depositing $50 cash bail to answer to the charge of carrying concealed weapons. They gave the names of Lum Koi and Loui Mung. They are said to be two highlanders from San Francisco who came to Portland immediately following the assassination of Lee Dai Hoy. One of them, it is alleged, is a relative of the defendant Lem.

Prisoner Is Scared.

During a recess of the court yesterday morning, Lem, the accused murderer, became extremely nervous and when questioned by Deputy Sheriff Beatty, said that he suspected some of the witnesses for the prosecution were armed. At this moment Sheriff Stevens, who has been spending most of his time in the courtroom since the drawing of the jury began, for he has anticipated trouble, entered the courtroom and Deputy Sheriff Beatty related what the frightened prisoner had said and Sheriff Stevens proceeded immediately to search a number of Chinese witnesses who were sitting on the south side of the room.

They were all witnesses for the prosecution and since the trial began have been occupying seats on that side of the room. Practically every Chinese was searched but the weapons with which they were supposed to be provided were not to be found.

Dan J. Malarky, who has been employed an special counsel by the friends of the dead merchant to assist Deputy District Attorney Stevenson in prosecuting the case, then escorted Sheriff Stevens to the north side of the courtroom, where the witnesses for the defendant were seated and suggested that the officer search them. The first man tackled was found to be armed with a late model 38-caliber revolver, while a gun of the same caliber was taken from the next Chinese. Sheriff Stevens was making the search unassisted and before he had finished searching the two armed men the other friends of the man on trial had managed to get mixed up in the crowd and left the room.

Sheriff Loses His Watch.

While descending the stairs in the courthouse building Sheriff Stevens lost his valuable gold watch and chain. The timepiece in some way slipped out of his pocket and bounded from the stairs to the hallway below, which was densely crowded with spectators who had just left the courtroom. But the officer's attention was so much occupied with his charges that he was unable to make search for the watch, which disappeared entirely. He has not been able to find any trace of the timepiece.

Little progress was made yesterday towards selecting a jury to try Lem Woon on the charge of murdering Lee Dai Hoy. When court adjourned for the day until tomorrow morning only six jurors had been accepted out of fourteen that had been examined. The six that have qualified are: J. H. Barton, W. E. Brooks, Alonzo Perkins, J. W. Sifton, W. W. George and H. C. Haack. The following were excused: Mark W. Gill, W. B. Buell, Charles G. Bunte, E. G. Goding, Henry M. Wagner, Gus P. Clerin and O. C. R. Ellis.

ADMITS PASSING BAD CHECK

J. F. Brown Changes Plea and Will Serve 18 Months.

Changing his plea of not guilty to that of guilty, J. F. Brown, alias Madison, who had been indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Ganton to serve 18 months in the state penitentiary. Brown, with the assistance of Anna L. Fugmeyer, had operated extensively throughout the States of Oregon and Washington and had succeeded in cashing many checks of small denomination before they were apprehended. The woman declined to change her plea to guilty and probably will be tried on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It is alleged that the woman passed most of the spurious checks. The specific crime for which Brown was sentenced was that of cashing a worthless check for $15.

Rexford Simpson, residing at North

Hill, near Portsmouth, was yesterday sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary, having been convicted of a statutory offense. Sentence was pronounced by Judge O'Day, after the defendant had been severely ex-corated by the court. Simpson was tried before Judge O'Day, the complaining witness for the state being Simpson's own daughter.

JURY FINDS IT CANNOT AGREE

Retrial of Kunz Case Is Not Yet Decided Upon.

After having deliberated on a verdict all night, the jury in the suit of Martha M. Kunz, administratrix of the estate of David H. Kunz, deceased, against the O. R. & N. Company, yesterday reported a disagreement. Judge Bronaugh's department of the State Circuit Court and was discharged. Mrs. Kunz was suing for $5000 damages for her husband's death, the destruction of the team and wagon he was driving, together with a wagon load of pumpkins for the Portland market. The wagon was struck by one of the defendant company's trains. The suit was filed in May, 1905, and in the original trial the railroad company was granted a non-suit. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court and a new trial was ordered. It has not been decided when the case will be retried.

Flees From Imaginary Foes.

Rushing into the County Courtroom yesterday, Nicholas Meyer, a Swede, aged 41 years, sought protection from imaginary enemies that he declared had been pursuing him for the last two years in an attempt to poison him by placing poison in his coffee. The man was very evidently demented and was turned over to the Sheriff's office. Later in the day Meyer was examined and adjudged insane. He represented that he had been roaming over the state for the last two years seeking to protect himself and his life. He said that he came to Portland from Yaquina Bay.

Requests to German Societies.

A request of $100 each is left to the Portland German Turn Verein and the General German Aid Society by the will of the late Carl Robert Andritschke, which was admitted to probate yesterday. Andritschke died last month, leaving an estate valued at $4500. Aside from the two bequests aggregating $200, the estate is bequeathed to the surviving children of the decedent's three brothers, Frederick, Ernest and Gustav Andritschke, whose addresses are unknown.

ORGANIZATION IS FORMED

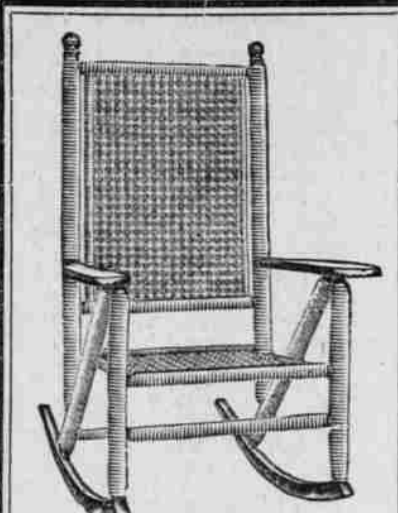

MASTERS AND LECTURERS IN COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

First Grange Club of This Kind to Be Established—Movement Expected to Spread.

The Multnomah County Masters and Lecturers' Association, of the Patrons of Husbandry, perfected its organization yesterday at a meeting held at the Grange. Nearly all the ten Granges in the county were represented either by the master or lecturer. Constitution and by-laws were adopted as submitted by J. J. Johnson, E. L. Thorpe and H. W. Snashall. As set forth in the declaration of purpose the association has been organized to promote a better class of work in the Granges, encourage educational methods and develop a more harmonious course in the lecturers' field. Membership of the association includes masters and lecturers in active service. Past masters and lecturers and deputies are entitled to honorary membership. The state lecturer is an ex-officio member. Any member of a Grange may attend meetings of the association and present questions for consideration and be heard. Meetings of the association will be held about 30 days before meetings of Pomona Grange. Special meetings may be called by the president and secretary on three days' notice. Dues are 25 cents annually. Officers are elected annually at the first meeting in each year. The first officers of the association are president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Carrie Townsend is the president and Mrs. J. M. Ashcroft secretary.

At the meeting there was a general discussion of plans. J. J. Johnson, state lecturer, outlined the advantages of such organization and expressed the hope that other counties in the state would organize similar associations. He said that it was intended to secure the co-operation of all the county and college libraries in the state in carrying on the educational work of the Patrons of Husbandry. Topics for consideration for the ensuing months of the year would be prepared in advance for use of lecturers of Granges, and the libraries of the state, he said, will be asked to furnish books bearing on these subjects, and through masters and lecturers organizations it was hoped to develop a higher standard of general educational work. Mrs. E. L. Thorpe suggested as a means to stimulate better work that literary contests be held. E. C. Huffman suggested that debates be held between Granges. A number of other

BAND CONCERT SEASON IN THE PARKS OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

Thirty-two Concerts, Paid for by City, to Be Played During Summer by De Caprio's Municipal Band.

THE Summer band concert season in the parks will commence today, with a programme to be given at the City Park by the Municipal Band, directed by A. De Caprio. A total of 32 concerts has been contracted for by the Park Board, to be paid for by the city. During June only Sunday concerts will be given, but commencing with July 5, there will be five concerts weekly. The Sunday programmes will be rendered at the City Park, and the night concerts, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, will be distributed among the other parks. There will be one concert weekly on the Plaza, and one at Holladay Park.

A. De Caprio, Leader of the Municipal Band.

Public Summer band concerts are a Portland institution that has grown in favor steadily since established in 1903 through the efforts of Charles L. Brown and the late J. D. Meyer. The music was paid for mainly by public subscription, but the city's participation has grown steadily until last year the concerts were paid for entirely with money appropriated by the Council, and the same will be true this season.

In 1903 and 1904 Charles L. Brown conducted the band. There were no park concerts in 1905 during the Lewis and Clark Fair. In 1906 Charles L. Brown, A. De Caprio and J. G. McElroy were the leaders. Last year Mr. De Caprio conducted the concerts and he was the successful bidder again this season. Interest and attendance has increased noticeably with every Summer.

WORKS FOR HAYES BILL

A. J. Laws Wants Higher Pensions for Indian War Veterans.

Among those who are working hard to secure an increase of pensions for Indian War Veterans is A. J. Laws, of Eufaula, Wash., who was in attendance at the annual encampment held in Portland last Wednesday. Mr. Laws is still in this city and is quietly endeavoring to strengthen this movement by urging its importance upon his friends and old comrades.

At a recent encampment a resolution was passed endorsing the Hayes bill, which is now pending before Congress and which is drawn to place Indian War veterans on the same footing as veterans of the Civil War in the matter of financial assistance given them by the Government. Mr. Laws urges the people of the Pacific Northwest to take an active interest in this legislation and to join in a campaign for the purpose of its enactment.

"Because the Indian War veterans have little political power is no reason why they should be discriminated against in the matter of Federal pensions," said Mr. Laws. "Many men who fought Indian wars in the pioneer days were disabled for life, but they have never received from the Government the recognition that they deserve. Commercial bodies and citizens generally should make an active effort in behalf of legislation that will protect in their declining years these old soldiers who fought to win the Pacific Northwest for the white man."

suggestions were made and taken under consideration. The next meeting will be held at Rockwood just before the September meeting of Pomona Grange.

IRREVERENCE FOR LAW

Writer Blames Lack of Repression and Court Technicalities.

PORTLAND, June 12.—(To the Editor.)—Referring to an editorial in last Monday's Oregonian on "Cheap Human Life," I wish to say that "law breaking"—the cause which The Oregonian finds—is due entirely to lack of repression.

Lack of repression is caused by technicalities of courts and loss of sense of duty or sentimentalities of jury. Drunkenness and insanity are continuous excuses. Good jurymen are disgusted with technicalities and length of trials, and do not feel protected enough to do their duty, mainly in cases of anarchists.

There is hardly ever an "objection" heard in an English court of law. The Judge does most of the questioning. How could an attorney object? Give a good repression and we will have no "law breaking." Unfortunately, nations, like individuals, get old very fast. Non-enforcement of laws and lack of repression of crimes, together with the breaking of family ties, are signs of a young civilization getting old fast and there is no remedy.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

In no other disease is a thorough cleansing of the blood more necessary than in Contagious Blood Poison. The least particle of this insidious virus will multiply in the circulation and so thoroughly contaminate the blood that no part of the body will be exempt from the ravages of this powerful disease. Usually the first symptom is a little sore or ulcer, insignificant in itself, but soon the blood becomes so contaminated that the mouth and throat ulcerate, spots appear on the body, and frequently sores and ulcers break out on the flesh to humiliate the sufferer. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison by purifying the circulation. It attacks the disease in the right way by going down into the circulation, neutralizing and forcing out every particle of the poison, and making this fluid pure, fresh and health-sustaining. The improvement commences as soon as the patient gets under the influence of S. S. S., and continues until every trace of the disease is removed from the blood, and the sufferer completely restored to health. Not one particle of the poison is left for future out-breaks after S. S. S. has purged and purified the blood. Look on the home treatment of this disease and any medical advice desired free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.
