Wright, Meyer and Garfield Only Ones Likely to Remain.

WOULD LIKE TO KEEP ROOT

But Poor Health Will Prevent—Cortelyou Beyond Depth—Bonaparte a Misfit and Metcalf a Joke Among Sailors.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, June 20.—Few of the members of President Roosevelt's Cabinet will be retained by Mr. Taft when he moves into the White House, if he should be elected President.

One of Mr. Taft's most ardent supporters in Ohio is Secretary Garfield, of the Interior Department. Since he succeeded Mr. Hitchcock, Mr. Garfield has acquired a very comprehensive idea of the work Root May Ascend Bench. Were it not for poor health, Secretary Root would probably continue as Secretary of State. Mr. Taft would be greatly pleased if Mr. Root would remain and will tender him the office.

Drop Cortelyou Quickly. Mr. Taft has never been numbered among the ardent admirers of George B. Cortelyou. He appreciates his good qualities, but he does not share the opinion, very prevalent among public men, that Mr. Cortelyou has got beyond his depth and is not to be trusted.

Metcalf a Joke to the Navy. The other weak member of the Cabinet is Victor H. Metcalf, Secretary of the Navy. If ever a man got into an office where he did not belong, it is Metcalf.

Farmer Wilson Has Enough. Since the Department of Agriculture was formed, it never had a Secretary as practical and as efficient as James Wilson, of Iowa.

son will retire voluntarily at the close of the Roosevelt Administration. His successor will have great difficulty in equaling the success of "Tama Jim."

Straus Anxious to Quit. It is understood to be the desire of Secretary Straus to relinquish the duties of Secretary of Commerce and Labor at the close of the present administration.

Ever since he entered the Cabinet, Mr. Straus has given his best attention to the immigration service and has seen inaugurated many of the reforms he deemed so essential.

Meyer Has Two Hobbies. If Postmaster General Meyer consents to remain in the Cabinet, he is very likely to be promoted to the Treasury Department, to succeed Mr. Cortelyou.

Garfield Likely to Stay. One of Mr. Taft's most ardent supporters in Ohio is Secretary Garfield, of the Interior Department.
