ADMITS HE GAVE OUT INFORMATION

Bridges Says He and Booth Were to Get $25 for Each Selection.

END NOT YET IN SIGHT

Trial Proceeding So Slowly Attorneys Will Not Predict Finish.

BURNS COMING BUT NOT HENRY.

W. J. Burns, Government Secret Service Agent, yesterday telegraphed from San Francisco, that he would come to Portland and testify for the prosecution in the Booth bribery case. Judge Becker refused yesterday to indicate when Mr. Burns will take the stand. The Government agent is expected to testify as to conversations held with the defendant Booth about the time the indictment was reported in 1905. It is not probable that Francis J. Henry will be a witness in the Booth case.

On redirect examination yesterday J. T. Bridges, ex-Register of the Roseburg Land Office, admitted that he and the defendant, Booth, in 1903 agreed to furnish Frederick A. Krebs the information of the cancellation of all indemnity school land selections reported to the Roseburg office.

Mr. Bridges testified that for these tips he and Booth were to receive $25 for each selection of which Krebs was notified. The re-examination of the witness by Dan J. Malarkey, of counsel for the defense, had not been concluded when court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Malarkey completed his first cross-examination of the ex-Register yesterday shortly after the morning session opened, after getting the witness to admit that, if requested, he did not refuse to notify interested parties that their land selections had been held for cancellation, if told that the state failed to serve the same notice.

Agreed to Give Krebs Information.

Resuming his examination of Mr. Bridges, Judge Becker gained the admission that Bridges and Booth entered into an arrangement with Krebs to furnish him advance information for a consideration of $25 for each selection. Mr. Bridges explained that the agreement contemplated Krebs should be notified whenever the notice of final cancellation had been received from Washington and before the same had been entered on the records of the Roseburg office. Mr. Bridges further testified that invariably whenever notice of these cancellations reached the Roseburg Land Office a number of land-grabbers were lined up at the office ready to plaster scrip on the cancellations in the rejected applications.

Over the objection of counsel for the defense, Judge Becker secured the introduction of numerous papers and other documents relating to the application for indemnity school land selections, antedating the time of the alleged agreement between the officials of the Roseburg Land Office and Krebs.

Krebs Has Large Transactions.

The purpose of offering this evidence was to show that Krebs had large transactions at the Roseburg office and was desirous of taking advantage, not only of his own rejected applications, but those of others as well. The same evidence established the fact that without the advance information Krebs is alleged to have received subsequently and relating to other transactions, he lost out in many of the rejected applications, the land included being grabbed by other persons holding scrip.

Malarkey Loses Point.

Mr. Malarkey repeatedly demanded that Judge Becker give him this information, but aside from the fact that the connection would be established before the case was concluded, the Government prosecutor refused to show his hand. Malarkey appealed to the court and insisted that the desired information be disclosed, but Judge Wolverson held that the evidence was entirely inadmissible and that the Government could develop the relation of the case to the case on trial at its leisure.

Not Yet Through With Witness.

"I do not want to tie myself up with a shoestring to a post and say I have entirely concluded my examination of the witness, when I may desire to ask him further questions," replied Judge Becker to Mr. Malarkey's renewed question if the Government had finished with Mr. Bridges. "It has been quite an undertaking to get all of the documents together and we are not sure that we may not want to offer more and for that reason may want a little more time."

"You have had about three years in which to get your evidence together," replied Malarkey.

"I have not had three years and hardly more than three days," sharply retorted Judge Becker.

"Well, that is not my fault," Malarkey came back.

Mr. Bridges has been on the witness stand since 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the probability is that

Mr. Malarkey will not conclude his cross-examination before noon tomorrow. Mr. Bridges is the first witness in the case and his examination has been extremely slow. At the present rate of progress in the case, counsel for neither side will venture a guess as to when the trial will be ended. The indications are that more documentary evidence will be offered in the Booth case than was presented in the Hall trial last February. The alphabet already has been about exhausted in designating the many exhibits that have been submitted and the case has scarcely started.

Herds Trespass on Reservation.

Horace G. Wilson, superintendent of the Klamath Indian Reservation, has filed with United States Attorney McCourt a written complaint to the effect that various cattlemen are trespassing on the reservation with their herds. The Government requires the payment of a fee of $1 a head for all cattle owned by private parties who trespass on the reservation lands. Superintendent Wilson reports that the principal offender is Charles Drew who has served notice that he will fight the case in the courts before he will pay the assessment. Drew has a herd of about 50 horses and cattle. It is probable Assistant United States Attorney Evans will file a suit in the Federal Court next week to recover from Drew the tax he should pay to the Government for the grazing privileges he has appropriated to himself.

RUSHING WORK ON BRIDGE

VIADUCT OVER WILLAMETTE TO BE READY AUGUST 10.

Bridge Proper to Be Finished Month Earlier—North Bank Trains Into Portland August 15.

Four spans of the Willamette River bridge for the North Bank Road have been completed and workmen are fast finishing the draw span, over half of which is already up. There is a continuous racket of pneumatic riveters as the beams and girders are bound together with white-hot bolts. The big fabric of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle bridge, when completed, will have cost over $1,000,000.

Judging from the progress now being made, the bridge will be completed, so far as the erection of the steel goes, about July 10. On the date it is hoped to have the framework of the big structure up, with every beam and girder in place. After this is accomplished, however, much work remains to be done, for a double track must be laid across the bridge, the steel framework painted and other finishing touches applied. It is thought this work will be completed by August 10.

Officials of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle expect to open the new line about August 15. It is expected that on that date, the first train will be run into Portland from the North Bank country. It has not yet been decided whether there will be a big celebration in the city when the first train reaches here over the new line, but it is likely there will be a suitable demonstration.

The Willamette River bridge is the last link in the new road from Pasco to Portland to be completed. With the finishing of the Columbia River bridge, the work is brought up to the banks of the Willamette, and when the structure is finished, the new line will be open all along the route.

MANY OLD SOLDIERS THERE

State Encampment G. A. R. at Newport Showed 205 in Attendance.

S. F. Blythe, retiring department commander Oregon G. A. R., passed through Portland yesterday en route to his home at Hood River, after spending the week at the state encampment at Newport.

Newport attracted the largest attendance of old soldiers ever gathered at a state encampment in Oregon. Says Mr. Blythe, "There were 255 votes in the convention. Last year we thought we had reached the highwater mark with an attendance of 180. With the women of the Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R. there were over 600 in attendance at the state encampment. The encampment was a complete success in every respect. Old soldiers are taking greater interest than formerly in these annual gatherings, and we expect another large crowd when the encampment meets at Corvallis next year."

A pleasing feature of the closing session was the presentation of Rev. Henry A. Barden, of Portland, who was re-elected grand chaplain, of a handsome badge, a contribution from the members in recognition of his faithful services to the department. Comrade B. F. Pike, of Sherman County, presented the badge with appropriate remarks.

DELEGATES ARE CHOSEN

At the last meeting of the state committee of the Independence party, held Thursday night at Alinsky Hall, six names were added to the committee, as follows: C. D. Herr, P. D. Hall, Frank Plinn, Portland; J. J. S. Edwards, W. E. Kirk, Monument, and William Wise, Elkhorn. Delegates to the National convention of the party, to be held in Chicago July 28, were chosen as follows: M. D. White, W. R. Lake, N. E. Gibson, W. H. Fitzgerald, N. O'Hare, T. J. Byrne, George E. Shaver and P. McDonald. Respective committees were appointed to undertake further work on the party, consisting of organization, resolutions and platform, and finance.

Trainmen Meet in Portland.

Sessions of the executive committees of the Railway Conductors of America and Trainmen's Association have been held at intervals since the beginning of this month at the Perkins Hotel. Two representatives from Canada arrived yesterday night in the deliberations—S. N. Berry, vice-president for Canada of the conductors' branch, and James Murdoch, from Cleveland, O. of local members. William Buckley, of The Dalles, trainman, and E. M. Frost, of Pendleton, conductor, were present at last night's conference. These two said, after adjournment, that matters of routine took up all the time devoted to the sessions.

Visit Alaskan Mines.

Miss Viola Greene, 550 Vancouver avenue, left the city Tuesday evening with Mrs. Barnes and four children for a two months' vacation in Alaska. She will spend the greater part of her time touring the mines around Nome, returning via Kotzebue, where she will visit friends and relatives. Miss Greene will return to Portland about September 1.
