

EXODUS TO SEACOAST RESORTS GETS UNDER WAY

Trains and Boats Take Out Crowds of People on Pleasure Bent

THE TIDE PLAYS HAVOC WITH SAND HOUSES

AT HIGH TIDE ON NORTH BEACH

JUST now all roads lead to Seaside, and the indications are that this picturesque resort, with its rugged beauties and natural resources, should enjoy a most prosperous season. Its accessibility to business alone is a matter that the average Portlander is obliged to consider in planning his summer outing.

Improved transportation facilities and more accommodating train hours allow him to make the trip in a short time. The seeker after a country home, the summer vacationist, the eager sportsman, the man with only an occasional "day off," all appreciate the change in train schedule.

Of course, the regular cottages have been down at their places since the tardy season began, but not until after the Fourth will there be any real parties or efforts at entertaining. Nightly big bonfires dot the long stretch of sand, and there have been one or two clam bakes and several clamming parties, for the weather has been favorable for this pursuit, but there have, as yet, been very few things of a social nature.

Improvements are noted all along the beach. The board walk, walk now reaches to the Necanicum bridge, a great number of new cottages and extensions on older ones have been built, and the hotels have made improvements. The shell road holds out its attractions as of yore, numerous concessions have been rented and it very much resembles a near-carnival in appearance. The summer population continues to grow. The influx of cottagers this past week has been very great, and next week will see most of the summer visitors who come for the season established at the different hotels. All the places are well patronized and there is an air of bustle and activity that seems to be contagious.

The storm blinds are now down from nearly every cottage at the beach; the hotels are all open, and the bookings for next week are noticeably heavy.

Mrs. I. N. Fleischer is occupying her handsome Seaside cottage, and has with her Misses Ella and Mai Hirsch.

Johan Poulsen and family will be in the Malarkey cottage this season. Mrs. Poulsen and daughter, Miss Louise, and Mrs. G. M. Trombold, with Master Johan Poulsen-Trombold, came down Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bates, who returned to Portland Friday evening, were accompanied by Mrs. Paul C. Bates, who returned to Portland Friday evening.

Mr. R. M. Scott and family, from Colfax, Wash., are installed in one of the Butterfield cottages.

John Tait and family, of Portland, are settled in the Winslow cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Toner are occupying one of the Butterfield cottages. Mrs. Toner is an attractive young matron, a daughter of ex-Mayor Hunt, of Walla Walla, and Mr. Toner is a prominent young attorney at that place.

Miss Hilda Hexter came down on Tuesday to stay with Mrs. E. F. Holman, who has the Pickett cottage this summer. Mrs. Holman's mother, Mrs. S. Walter, who has been sojourning for a fortnight at Seaside, returned home this week.

H. A. Sargent and family are in Butterfield cottage No. 1, and No. 2 has been taken for the season by George W. Hoyt and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Durham and Mr. Gill Durham have arrived for the season and are occupying their cottage.

C. H. Freese and family, of Portland, are among the early arrivals in cottages at Seaside. They came down the first part of last week.

L. Therkelson has brought his locomobile down to the beach, and will spend much of the season here. He is registered at Seaside House.

F. H. Wilmet and family are settled in their cottage, having come down the early part of this week.

Mrs. George Otten and her daughter, Miss Mary, are in the Otten cottage. They have with them Miss Sharp from Portland.

F. W. Vallie and family are installed for the season in the Drake cottage.

Mrs. T. T. Strain and young daughter, Stephanie, were early arrivals, coming down several days ago to their cottage.

William Gadsby and family are getting settled in their artistic cottage at Seaside.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Samuels, of Portland, are occupying the F. W. Washer cottage this season. They have with them their young daughter, Miss Germaine, Mrs. Clarence Samuel and guests from San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Gorimer.

Mrs. I. Brun is in the Linger-Longer cottage for the summer.

The Gilbert cottage has been taken by H. G. Klapp and his mother.

John Hill and wife, and son are in their cottage at Necanicum.

Dr. A. Tiller and family have taken possession of their attractive cottage at Seaside for the season.

S. L. Lamb and family from Idaho are installed in a cottage near the beach.

Mrs. William O. Van Schuyver is in the Buchanan place.

Among the cottagers who have opened their summer homes may be noticed R. P. Erdinger and family, George H. Hill and family, William Hamilton and wife, Mrs. P. Jacobson, George A. Brown and family, Mr. Nissen from San Francisco, who has his mother visiting with him; Blaine Smith in their own cottage; Mrs. Riley and daughter, Mrs. Comerford, and Mrs. David M. Dunne.

W. A. Gordon is occupying his cottage and E. C. Johnson and I. Lowenart are both settled in their own residence for the season.

Ed Frohman, the popular Multnomah man, has been a recent visitor at the Moore, coming down from Portland to spend his vacation.

Dan Moore came down to the hotel on Friday to remain over the Fourth.

An auto party came down from Astoria last week and were guests at the Fulton cottage. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Pradl, G. C. Fulton, C. W. Fulton, Allen Fulton, Fred Fulton and Arthur Van Dusen.

William White, wife and daughter, of Chicago, departed from Hotel Moore, where they have been guests for several days. They are en route home via the South, after an extensive trip through the country.

Lockley Hall entertained its guests with a small social dance, and an abundant display of fireworks the Fourth of July.

The past week has been a most favorable one in every way for Long Beach patrons. The weather has been ideal, and a steady influx of cottagers and hotel residents has been noticeable. It is too early in the season to chronicle any social events, other than those attendant upon the observance of our National day of independence.

In the auspices of Albert Jacobson, master of ceremonies, the following program was carried out:

Morning, at 10 o'clock, at Sylvan hall—music by Sylvan band; entrance of Goddess of Liberty, Miss Beulah Hart; reading of Declaration of Independence; song, "America"; instrumental selections, Lorraine Hart; recitation, Hilda Christenson; song, "The Star-Spangled Banner"; instrumental selection, Miss Maude Bell; song, Mr. Dudley Postinger; oration, H. H. Thomas, of Seattle; music by the band.

1:30 P. M.—on the beach—Horse race, half-mile dash; pony race, half-mile dash; bicycle race, one mile half grounds—Race, 2:30 P. M.—at the hall grounds—Race, boys under 12 years; race, girls under 12 years; sack race, open to all; three-legged race, open to all; tug of war.

3:30 P. M.—Baseball game. In the evening—Home and fireworks on the beach; grand ball at Sylvan hall.

A number of handsome new cottages have been built since last season, and many improvements are noted. The train service is noticeably improved, and the trip from Portland to Long Beach can now be made with greater facility than in the past year.

Mrs. W. C. Noon and young daughters, Viola and Alma, are settled in their cottage for the season.

An especially attractive cottage that is at present finished is that of L. E. Swetland. The family are occupying it.

Mrs. E. W. Ring and family are installed in the home and are open to the public.

L. M. Starr, wife and brother, have taken the Barnes' house for the summer.

Mrs. E. W. Gillette and young son came down to their cottage for a few days last week, returning to Portland on Sunday.

Mr. McGary and family are occupying the L. Kust cottage at Long Beach.

Mrs. John Sperry and nephew are getting their place in readiness for the family's occupancy.

Mr. Cottage and family have spent the month of June in their cottage, and only recently returned to Portland.

Mr. G. Lawffer and Mr. G. Ford are at present living in the H. E. Joy cottage, and expect the Jags to join them in a fortnight.

James Manner and wife are in their cottage. They have had extensive alterations and repairs made, and their place is noticeably attractive.

Among the early arrivals in the cottage colony were Mr. and Mrs. George Beck, of Portland; Mrs. A. R. Cox, Mrs. Villard Kiel and Mrs. P. T. Smith.

L. W. Love is having a handsome new cottage built at Long Beach, to be occupied later by his family.

Mrs. Charles Strube and grandson, Charles, have opened their cottage for the season.

Dr. Gillette and family are among those who have come down to the cottage colony.

Mrs. L. Schultz, of Portland, has moved into her artistic new cottage at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dickson and family are installed in their Long Beach home.

Mrs. R. C. Bell and daughter have opened their cottage.

part of the week, returning to Portland after a day's visit. He has rented his cottage to Mr. and Mrs. Will Stringer for the season.

Donald Woodward and family are in their cottage at Tioga.

Mrs. Rosenthal is living in J. M. Arthur's cottage, which was occupied last year by Isom White.

Mrs. W. L. Woods arrived last week. Her cottage is a very handsome one, and the setting is artistic.

Mrs. R. J. Holmes and family are tenting near Warner's.

An annex has been built on the W. A. Buchanan house. It is now being occupied by the family.

Mrs. J. W. Warner has also been having extensive repairs made at her Long Beach home, near Tioga, and will reside there during the season.

Other Tioga cottagers who are already domiciled here for the season are Mrs. Bartell, Mrs. D. W. Crowley, Mrs. Herbert Bradley, Mrs. C. A. Bell and her attractive daughter, Miss Maude Bell.

Seaview. Hugh Glenn and young daughters, together with Mr. Glenn's married daughter, Mrs. Creighton, are down from The Dalles and have opened their Seaview cottage.

William Hill and family are occupying the Goodnough cottage this summer.

T. B. Wilcox and family came down to their cottage, "The Willows," situated below Seaview, early in the week, returning to Portland on Wednesday. They will go down next week for this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are in the Schwab cottage.

Recent arrivals are J. C. Jennings and family, who are installed for the season in the Scherney place.

Among the Portlanders who are entertaining early are William Sheehy and daughter, Miss May, who have as daughter Miss Carr Mastick, came down to their Seaview cottage on Tuesday of this week, and will remain for the season.

Mrs. K. V. Johnson has just had completed a new cottage, which she intends to occupy during the season.

I. Goldsmith and family are at Seaview for the summer.

Mrs. Lowensohn, of Portland, has opened the Lowensohn cottage. The rest of the family are expected early in July.

Centerville. Cottages in and about Centerville are filling up rapidly. Among those who have come down for the season and are now installed are: E. B. McFarland and family; J. D. Gookey; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dedmond; Mr. Charles Johnstone and family; Henry Fleckenstein and family, and William Yeager and wife.

Mr. Harry Welles, accompanied by his wife and mother, are occupying the Nauticus cottage.

Breakers Hotel. The Breakers has just witnessed the departure of its Y. W. C. A. patrons. During their stay many affairs, impromptu and formal, were given. Several formed a party and went to North Head, horse-back rides, clamming and tennis were indulged in, and the weather was most favorable during their stay. Among the interesting features of the convention was a musicale given by Fred Butler, a singer of international reputation.

The Breakers is rapidly being booked heavily for the season, and the resident guests are beginning to make their appearance.

Rev. and Mrs. Hiram D. Foulkes were recent guests at the Breakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Bates were recent visitors at Long Beach.

Arthur Honeyman has been a late arrival at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dekum have returned to Portland after several days' sojourn at the Breakers.

H. W. Arnold and Mrs. Arnold, from New York City, are registered at the Breakers.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Day are spending several days at the Breakers.

"Doc" Holmes came down this week and has registered at Driftwood for the season.

Mrs. E. E. Kingsley and two children are recent arrivals in Long Beach.

Mrs. Ed Dowling and son Harry were registered at Driftwood for the latter part of the week.

Mr. O'Donnell and son, accompanied by Mrs. Echart, came down Wednesday from Portland and will be guests at the Driftwood.

Blow Will Kill Gambler. RENO, Nev., July 4.—Edward Hall, the gambler who was struck from behind and knocked to the sidewalk by an unknown man who escaped last night, now lies in a local hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. The attending physicians state that there is no hope for his recovery. The erroneous report sent out in which a woman was named is without foundation. Hall had trouble with a party of men about a Fourth of July joke, and was struck from behind.

All German soldiers must learn to swim. Some of them are so expert that, with their clothing on their head and carrying guns and ammunition, they can swim several hundred yards.

The police made no effort to arrest Hall's assailant.

NEW LIFESAVING STATION ON TILLAMOOK BAY

VIEW SHOWING HOME OF THE CREW.

BAY CITY, Or., July 4.—(Special.)—A full crew is now ready for service at the new Tillamook Bay Lifesaving Station, which is located near the entrance to Tillamook Bay, six miles north of Bay City. The buildings were completed several months ago, but the apparatus was only recently installed and the crew signed up for service. The buildings and apparatus are modern in every detail, and the location is an ideal one for such an institution. A reservoir built high up on a mountain supplies the buildings and grounds with pure water and furnishes a strong pressure for irrigating purposes and fire protection. The crew is composed of Captain Robert Farley, Charles Eastland, Robert Tirk, Lionel Goin, Harry Sharp, Howard Todd, Jack Jennings and Charles Bowers. The men are regularly drilled in beach and surf work, and made a splendid showing while rescuing the crew of the three-master schooner Ida Schnauer, which was recently wrecked on Tillamook spit.
