Arrangements for the Chautauqua which opens Tucsday, July 7, at Gladstone Park, are rapidly nearing completion. Headquarters for the various schools, clubs and associations have been established. Those in charge have been ad-vised that the various lecturers will ar-rive promptly and that the entire programme will be given practically as an-nounced. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the coming session will be the appearance of John Sharp Williams, Dem-ocratic léader in the House of Representa-tives, United States Senator-elect from Mississippi, and one of the leading public

WILL HAVE CAMPS AT BOTH GLADSTONE AND ASHLAND.

Care to Be Taken of Young Women Visitors at Assemblies for

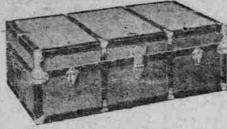

An announcement of this kind, coming direct to a man who has always considered himself as possessing ordinary good health, is, to say the least, very disconcerting. Yesterday a physician said to me: "Why, Mr. J. these things happen every day." We simply pass them along to somebody else, with a hope that the party they are going to can help them, or advise them to go to a different climate, dispose of them as easily as possible, and consider that it is the best thing for us to do. I think myself that that is all they can do, but I find myself unable to sit down quietly and face death without making every effort in my power to live as long as I possibly can. The question is: long as I possibly can. The question is: "How can that be done?"
Possibly some one who reads this will be in the same position. Friend, what are you doing? Simply going to sit still and wait? A public or personal reply with be of interest to a number. Of the medical fraternity I desire to ask some questions: How must we diet?

of mine is of such an unusual character—at least with me—that I want to relate it in print.

March I last I was a resident of East ern Oregon, engaged in the real estate business and doing a fairly successful one. About that time and for a short time prior, I noticed a failure in my health. I had difficulty in breathing compled considerably, consulted a physician friend of mine and he informed me that I had heart failure. To make this story short, within the last four months I have treated with twelve different physicians who reside in Baker City, Radium Springs. Portland, On, Montesano, Wash, and Aberdeen, Wash. GAMBRINUS is a builder of body and health, not a creator of nor an aid to a pernicious appetite for alcohol.

There is only 3 per cent alcohol in beer (good beer like GAMBRINUS); the percentage of food values being ten times as great as the percentage of alcohol. GAMBRINUS, used regularly and in moderate quantities, produces sturdy health, good digestion and sound sleep. GAMBRINUS is frequently prescribed by physicians as a body-builder. Where a mild tonic and an aid to digestion are required, GAMBRINUS is specified more frequently than any other
