

HOME OF ORPHANS FORMALLY OPENED

Addresses by Governor Chamberlain and Archbishop Christie.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND

Steamer "Beaver" Is Chartered to Take Guests to Oswego—Speeches and Musical Exercises Mark Completion of Institution.

In the presence of Governor Chamberlain, Archbishop Christie and a large number of the Catholic clergy and citizens of Portland, the new Catholic orphanage near Oswego was formally opened yesterday. Addresses were delivered by Governor Chamberlain, Archbishop Christie and Dr. Andrew C. Smith, leaving that city June 25 for Quebec, where she sails for England on the Empress of Ireland. She intends being back in Portland early in September. Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson Meylan have taken the Webb cottage at Seaside for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Van Meter, of St. Paul, are at present occupying the Maylan residence on Willamette Heights. Mrs. Forrest Fisher returned this week from San Jose, Cal., where she has been visiting her father and mother for two months. Mrs. Fisher's mother, Mrs. Lewis Barnhisel, returned with her and will spend the summer in Portland. A party of Irvington neighbors, comprising Mrs. Donald McEac, Miss E. Anderson and Miss McDougall, left in the end of the week for a trip to Orville, Wash., and Victoria, B. C. They expect to be absent 30 days or two weeks. Mr. C. Adkins returned yesterday, after a two months' sojourn in Southern Nevada, where he spent the time looking over various mining properties. Mr. Adkins is interested in several claims of the lower sagebrush state. The most of his time was occupied around Goldfield.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stoppenbach, of 1155 Malloy avenue, Piedmont, accompanied by their two daughters, the Misses Margaret and Katherine, left on Wednesday evening for Boise, Idaho, where Mr. Stoppenbach is manager of the Idaho Paper company, and where they will make their home. Mrs. W. L. Block and her daughter, Miss Essie M. Block, of Oregon City, returned Thursday from Chicago. Miss Block graduated from the Chicago Musical College on June 15 with high honors. That institution offered her a position in the college, but Miss Block preferred to return home at least for the present. Miss Anna H. Bauer, of

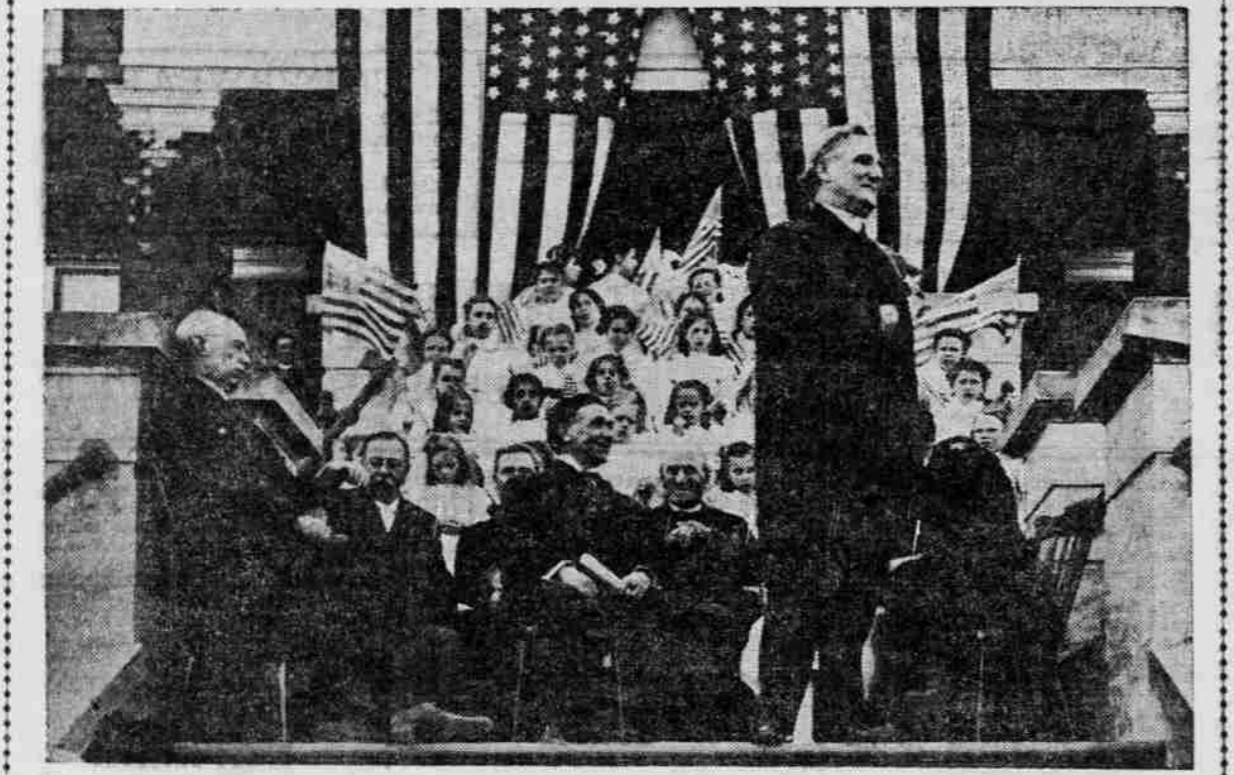

WILL OPEN TUESDAY

Good Programme for Willamette Valley Chautauqua.

FINE PLATFORM TALENT

John Sharp Williams Greatest Drawing Card—Will Speak on "America for Americans" on Portland Day, July 10.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 4.—(Special.)—Better and broader than ever before the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Assembly will open in Gladstone Park next Tuesday morning for its fifteenth annual session. Every detail of the 13 days' programme is complete. The attractions offered will be far superior to those of former years. The demand for camping privileges is greater than last year, and hundreds of people will enjoy their vacations in the shady groves of the beautiful park. The platform talent this year is exceptional. Probably the greatest drawing card is John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader in the House of Representatives. He will be at Gladstone for only one lecture, "America for Americans," on Portland day, Friday, July 10. Dr. Edwin Montgomery, the farmer painter, will be featured in the session, bringing with him paintings valued at $20,000 and delivering three lectures. Dr. Edwin Montgomery, the "Florida cracker," comes for two lectures, and Mrs. Leonora M. Lake, a noted Catholic white ribboner, will talk next Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon. The music, as last year, will be under the direction of R. A. Heritage, of Salem, and Professor W. Eugene Knox, of Puget Sound University, will again head the department of elocution.

ARCHBISHOP CHRISTIE SPEAKING AT DEDICATION OF ORPHANS' HOME AT OSWEGO.

chairman of the exercises. Musical selections were rendered by a chorus composed of the inmates of the institution. While the exercises were not held until late in the afternoon, a large number of people from Portland and vicinity, on the excursion which had been arranged in conjunction with the opening of the orphanage, and spent the day at the new institution. The steamer Beaver had been chartered for the day by Rev. Father McDevitt and the committee in charge of the exercises, and for each of the four trips up the river carried large crowds of picnickers. An elaborate luncheon was served at noon in the large dining hall of the orphanage. Many of the visitors spent the day in rambling among the hills in that vicinity. The new orphanage is a handsome brick structure, four stories in height, located on the head bank of the Willamette River, just above Oswego. The site is a beautiful one, commanding a stretch of the river for a distance of several miles. The view toward Mount Hood is also one of great picturesqueness, including a wide expanse of rich farm lands and numerous groves of pines. The greater portion of the tract which surrounds the institution has been under cultivation for years and the orchard during the present season will afford a large fruit yield. In his opening address Archbishop Christie referred to the circumstances under which the establishment of the institution was undertaken and paid a high tribute to those who have used their efforts in its behalf. He spoke of the debt of gratitude that the church owes to Governor Chamberlain for the support given by him to the measure appropriating funds for the new orphanage. While the building was not yet paid for, the archbishop said he was sure the people of Oregon would lead their generous assistance to see worthy a charity. He expressed the opinion that the day had come when a state of the commercial importance of Oregon should cease erecting "shanties" for the measure appropriating funds for the new orphanage. The archbishop was followed by Governor Chamberlain, who spoke of the good to be accomplished by such an institution in affording a home and education for homeless children. Little Miss Margaret Sullivan also spoke briefly, expressing the thanks of the orphanage inmates to Archbishop Christie, Governor Chamberlain, Dr. Andrew C. Smith and the ladies of the parish and others for the work done by them in behalf of the orphanage. Following is the complete programme of the exercises: Address, Chairman Dr. A. C. Smith; "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," the orphans; address by the orphans, Margaret Sullivan; "Hail, Columbia," the orphans; address, Archbishop Christie; "Oregon, Sweet Oregon," the orphans; address, Governor Chamberlain; "Song of Thanks," the orphans; "Star-Spangled Banner," Cathedral choir and audience.

Chicago, accompanied her to Oregon and is now a guest at the Block home. Rev. Arthur Delarimier will celebrate his first mass today at 11 o'clock at St. Mary's Cathedral. The sermon will be preached by the Most Rev. Archbishop Christie. Miss Lillian E. Tingle, of The Oregonian editorial staff, accompanied by her friend, Miss Grace de Graff, of the Ladd School, sailed from Quebec on Friday of last week June 29 on the Canadian Pacific Railway steamer the Empress of Ireland, for a holiday trip to England and the Continent. Miss Tingle and Miss de Graff expect to be back in Portland early in September. Word was received this week from Miss Grace de Graff, teacher in the Ladd School, from Wolf, Canada, on her journey over the Canadian Pacific Railway to Quebec, from which city she will sail on the Empress of Ireland for England, where her summer vacation will mostly be spent. Miss de Graff was well and enjoying a delightful trip. A pleasant musical took place last Wednesday night at Eilers' Hall, when Mrs. Marie S. Whigham presented Charles Sundby, baritone, and William Lal, tenor, in an interesting programme. Mr. Lal, who was born in Oregon, is of Chinese descent and has a beautifully clear and expressive tenor voice, which was heard to advantage in Lassen's "Thine Eyes so Blue and Tender." Mr. Sundby has a good baritone voice and clear and expressive tenor voice, which was heard to advantage in Lassen's "Thine Eyes so Blue and Tender." Mrs. Whigham's two vocal solos, a vocal quartet and chorus of women's voices were also much enjoyed.

W. A. Carter Opens Law Offices in Portland.

Hon. W. A. Carter, of Salem, has opened law offices in the Corbett building. He was admitted to the bar of Oregon in 1899, and until last September was a practicing attorney and merchant at Gold Hill. Desiring a larger field for his ambition, Mr. Carter sold his business in Gold Hill and moved with his family to Salem, intending to either locate there or Portland for the practice of his profession. He finally decided upon the Rose City for his future home, and will move his family here as soon as a house can be built, plans for which are now being prepared. He will be associated with ex-Senator E. B. Dufur, formerly of The Dalles, but now a practicing attorney of this city. Mr. Carter is an ex-member of the Oregon Legislature, and has a very extensive acquaintance throughout the state, having been prominent in political and fraternal circles. He is a young man of excellent character and ability, and a successful career is predicted for him.

Indian Band Attraction. The Chemawa Indian Band will again be on the grounds for the session and the baseball tournament will be an attractive feature at 5:30 o'clock every afternoon. Nearly every day will be partially devoted to some special subject or locality. Portland day comes July 10, and Oregon City day is scheduled for next Thursday, the W. C. T. U. having Wednesday. Next Saturday is public school day, and on Tuesday, July 14, the women's clubs will have a special programme, when Anna Lewis Clark, chairman of the civil service reform committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will talk on "Practical Patriotism." Thursday, July 16, is pioneer day, and patriotic day falls on Saturday, July 18, the last week day of the session.

PRIEST BREAKS HIS LEG Father Lawler Injured—Limb Set on Way to City.

Rev. Father Lawler, vicar of the Holy Rosary Church, at Clackamas and Union avenues, suffered a broken leg yesterday while returning from the picnic at the new orphanage near Oswego. Father Lawler was on his way to take the boat on the return trip to Portland, when, in attempting to vault a wire fence, his foot caught, throwing him violently to the ground and fracturing his left leg just below the knee. He was carried on board the boat and Dr. Andrew C. Smith, who participated in the exercises, was summoned and set the injured member. Upon the arrival of the boat at the Taylor-street dock, Father Lawler was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital. He will be obliged to remain there for several weeks. The amount of money in circulation per capita in the United States is a little over $3.

OPEN UPPER COLUMBIA

ENGINEER CHITTENDEN MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS. Looks Around Rapids Would Make River Navigable From Mouth to Kettle Falls.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 4.—(Special.)—The annual report of Major J. M. Chittenden, United States Engineer in charge of all public engineering and fortification work in the state, except that on the lower Columbia River, devotes several paragraphs to the Upper Columbia. It says: "The improvement of the Columbia River above the mouth of the Snake River and of its tributaries, the Okanogan and Pend Oreille Rivers is under the direction of the Seattle office. No large amount of work has been done on the Columbia within these limits. Some rock blasting is being carried on, under an appropriation of $42,000 in the last river and harbor bill. For the purpose of removing certain projecting ledges at Methow and Entiat Rapids, above Wenatchee. "During the past season a survey was made of the river between Bridgeport and Kettle Falls and a report submitted recommending an expenditure of $175,000 for removing rocks and boulders from the various rapids on this stretch of the river. This report has been favorably indorsed by the river and harbor board and is now before Congress for an appropriation. "Steps ought to be taken at once to
