

TAFT WILL OPPOSE FORAKER'S RETURN

War to Knife Must Result From Ohio Senator's Attack on Candidate.

PROMISE IS NOT KEPT

Enemy of Roosevelt and His Protee Gives Ticket Only Lukewarm Support—May Result in Democratic Senator.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 10.—The day Taft was nominated by the Chicago convention, Senator Foraker of Ohio, Taft's most bitter enemy, gave out an interview in which he said:

"Secretary Taft becomes my candidate for the Presidency, and I shall do all I can to help him."

Two weeks later Senator Foraker made a speech in Cincinnati in which he supported the Republican nominee with faint praise, and severely denounced the principles for which Mr. Taft stands; he declared that Taft believed in maintaining the so-called Roosevelt policies, and expressed the opinion that the country had had too much of these policies.

When Senator Foraker promised to be good and support Taft it was well understood that he was soliciting Taft's support in his own campaign for re-election, or at least seeking to induce the nominee to abandon his old idea of opposing him for re-election to the Senate. Some of Foraker's friends saw the Secretary and endeavored to learn what his future course would be, but the Secretary, while expressing pleasure at the expression of Foraker's support, declined to commit himself.

Taft Gave No Answer.
According to friends of the Republican nominee, Mr. Taft would not make any promises to Foraker, because he wanted to see what the Senator proposed to do, what kind of support he proposed to give the ticket. Now that Foraker has come out with praise so faint as to be damning, these same friends of Taft do not hesitate to say that when the fight opens up in Ohio, Mr. Foraker will have to meet the opposition of the incoming Administration, assuming the Republicans shall carry the election next November.

Senator Foraker himself evidently expects the opposition, and determined opposition, of the Taft forces, for in the Cincinnati speech, Senator Foraker, discussing certain railroad legislation, which he hoped to see passed, used this language:

"I shall hope to be successful at the next session, before I am eliminated." This meant one of two things; either he spoke seriously, and believed the Taft opposition would defeat him for re-election, or he spoke ironically and defied the opposition of the Taft forces. But in either event it signified his expectation that he would have a fight to make before the next Ohio Legislature, with the Taft crowd arrayed against him.

May Aid Some Democrat.
There is a feeling in Washington that Foraker, if he finds it impossible to secure a re-election at the hands of the Ohio Legislature, will quietly throw his influence to some Democratic candidate, in the hope of preventing the election of a Senator in harmony with the Taft Administration. If Foraker cannot be elected, certainly no Republican of the Foraker faction can hope to take his place, and any Republican chosen by the Legislature must necessarily belong to the Taft faction.

Foraker has been so intensely bitter towards Taft as to give color to the belief that he would aid in the election of a Democrat, rather than see a Taft man given his seat. If this assumption proves correct, Foraker's attitude becomes well known to the state, the Taft men declare it will be comparatively easy to bring about his defeat.

SENATOR SCOTT "IN BAD"

"QUEERS" HIMSELF WITH TAFT AND HIS FRIENDS.

Gives Out Interview Intimating Republicans Will Suffer Defeat This Year.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 10.—Senator Nathan Bay Scott, of West Virginia, has "queered" himself with the Taft Administration, it becomes rapidly Scott is a National committeeman from his state, and during the past three National campaigns has been on the executive committee, having directed the management of the Presidential contest. When Hanna was boss, Scott was something of a figure at headquarters, but four years ago, committeeman Scott was a two-spot, running errands for Chairman Cortelyou, but having absolutely nothing to say about the conduct of the campaign. The truth of the matter is that Scott is a wild and reckless talker—addicted to boasting—and Cortelyou did not propose to have anybody around headquarters making the Roosevelt campaign ridiculous.

So he informed Mr. Scott that he could hang around, but he must keep quiet. Scott stayed around headquarters, but he was the most insignificant figure there, and the most humiliated before the campaign was over, and was well sick of his job.

This year Scott was again chosen National committeeman from his state and placed on the executive committee, as usual, but he sooner had his selection been announced than Scott came out with an interview, utterly devoid of tact and sense, in which he said: "I have been connected with the committee for 12 years and through three successful campaigns. I do not want to have my record broken." Therefore, he said, he would retire.

Now Scott undertook to convey the impression that the Republican ticket was going to be defeated; therefore, he did not want to be in a position where any part of the blame could be placed upon his shoulders. That was a direct misrepresentation, which fooled nobody but Scott. He did not get out for the reason he stated; he got out because he was prominent in the conduct of these successful campaigns. That eliminated him at the outset, for he has never been a Taft man; he was the worst sort of reactionary.

Scott got out of the way, because he knew that he would be snubbed again if

WOODLAWN MINISTER'S WIFE LAID AT REST.

The Late Mrs. Harriet A. Douglass.

The funeral of Mrs. Harriet A. Douglass, wife of Rev. William J. Douglass, who died at her home, 1347 East Tenth street, north, in Woodlawn, Friday morning, was conducted yesterday afternoon from the Woodlawn Methodist Church, and the interment was in Rose City Cemetery. Rev. W. B. Hollingshead was in charge of the services, being assisted by several local ministers, and the pallbearers were ministers. Mrs. Douglass was born in Dowagiac, Mich., November 9, 1861, and was married to Rev. William J. Douglass, August 20, 1884, and for 24 years was the wife of a minister, meeting all the exacting responsibilities faithfully. Rev. and Mrs. Douglass came to Oregon two years ago. After spending one year at Independence they removed to Woodlawn, where Rev. Douglass had been assigned by the Oregon conference. They were transferred to the Oregon conference in the hope the change would benefit Mrs. Douglass, but her disease had progressed too far to be stayed. Rev. Douglass had been commended on her high character and lovable qualities. Her husband and two sons, Arthur Fred and John Fay Douglass, survive her.

he came around headquarters, just as he was snubbed by Cortelyou four years ago. The Taft people are not "sure" that Scott eliminated himself; they are glad of it, for he spared them an unpleasant task; but they are "sure" because he intimated, in withdrawing, that the Republican ticket was going down to defeat. In that declaration, Scott placed himself in the same category with Senator Bourne, of Oregon, who has persistently declared that Bryan will certainly be elected, now that Taft is the Republican nominee.

Mr. Taft has a good memory, and he also has a convenient notebook. In event of a Republican victory next Fall, when the reactionaries who have been throwing bricks at the Taft ticket, come around asking for appointments, they will find that their records have not been overlooked.

HUMIDITY MUCH GREATER

Portland Feels Heat, Although Mercury Reaches Only 84.

Several drops of rain fell yesterday afternoon, but not in quantities sufficient to wet the ground or even damage the straw hats. There was just a trace of rain. The temperature was no greater than on the preceding day, but the humidity was much greater. Showers and thunder storms have occurred at scattered places in the Pacific Northwest. In Portland the increased humidity caused people to suffer more from the heat than at times when the thermometer was many degrees higher.

The indications are for continued fair weather in Portland and cooler where showers have occurred. Winds will shift to the westward. The temperature will continue considerably above normal.

The hourly temperatures at Portland yesterday were:

5 A. M.	67	12 M.	82
6 A. M.	68	1 P. M.	83
7 A. M.	68	2 P. M.	83
8 A. M.	69	3 P. M.	83
9 A. M.	70	4 P. M.	82
10 A. M.	71	5 P. M.	82

TEACHER'S DEATH DUE TO OVERWORK.

The Late Henry T. Baughman.

INDEPENDENCE, Or., July 11.—(Special.)—Henry Truman Baughman, who died here July 7, was born at Pleasant Hill, Lane County, Oregon, October 3, 1831. At the age of 13 he united with the Christian Church at Monmouth, Or., under the preaching of Albyn Esson. He was a graduate of the Oregon State Normal at Monmouth and a teacher of ability. For the past two years he had taught in the Rogue River Valley. He had been selected to teach in the Independence schools. He had recently received his life diploma. His death was due to overwork. He leaves a mother, Mrs. Jerome Dorasie, and one brother, besides scores of friends to mourn his death.

GAMBRINUS

That there's no beer brewed the equal of GAMBRINUS for table use was long ago settled by the residents of Portland, who took the trouble to investigate.

Our wagons call everywhere in the residence districts, and where you see the GAMBRINUS wagon make regular calls, you may be sure that the doctor DOESN'T call often—unless HE had to call FIRST and advised GAMBRINUS as a tonic.

Your system NEEDS GAMBRINUS this warm weather—it's of great food value, and it helps you to enjoy and assimilate the SOLID foods you take.

All physicians recommend pure beer as an aid to digestion, as a tonic. There's sturdy strength in the barley that the malt is made from; there's nerve vigor and tonic properties in the hops that furnish its effervescence, and the slight percentage of alcohol in its composition gives just the mild stimulant needed for this season. Have GAMBRINUS in the house constantly for yourself, for your family; drink it in quantities that insure good digestion and sound sleep, and you're prepared for the most torrid days.

TO TAP RICH VALLEY

Electric Railroad Will Bring Trade to Grants Pass.

G. E. COLLINS IS PROMOTER

Asks Franchise for Use of County Road to Kerby or Some Point in the Illinois Valley.

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 11.—(Special.)

This city has become the objective point for railroad building. G. E. Collins and associates, with ample capital, are here for that purpose. Mr. Collins came before the Commercial Club yesterday and stated to that body that his company desired to build an electric road from here to the Illinois Valley, a distance of about 30 miles. The Commercial Club was impressed with what he had to say and appointed five members of that body as a special committee to wait upon the County Court, which is now in session, with a view to securing right of way along the county road from here to the Illinois Valley.

No trouble is expected from this source, everything being a matter of form, for the County Court feels that the outcome would be a development of the south end of the county.

Another proposition looked upon favorably is that Mr. Collins' company wishes to take part in building the bridge across Rogue River at this point. This item alone will be quite a saving to the county in dividing the expenses, besides affording greater accommodation to the traveling public. It is conceded that these parties are in touch with sufficient capital to build the road within a short time. The promoters ask for no favors other than those which come up in the regular course of business. The matter of buying stock by local capital and the usual bonus for inducements are features that have been entirely eliminated. The company has a corps of surveyors ready to take the field.

A railroad from here to Kerby or some practical point in the Illinois Valley has long been a tempting investment. There are several factories in that vicinity turning out cheese and dairy products, and there will be no trouble to get a condensed milk factory as soon as the transportation problem has been solved. Freight from the Taklima smelter alone would produce considerable revenue. Furthermore, there is ore from other mines, cattle to be shipped out, products of the creamery and millions of feet of lumber.

Alderman Charges Bribery.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 11.—A dramatic denunciation by a member of the Board of Aldermen in full meeting last night was followed by the arrest of Lee Figg, a prominent and wealthy contractor, on the charge of bribery. Alderman G. A. Hess, chairman of a committee having in charge the paving contracts of the city, was called on to make a report on certain work, and he astonished the board by telling them that Figg had offered him $500 to make a favorable report on certain contracts.

Close Down Lid at Ostend.

OSTEND, July 11.—Hotel proprietors and storekeepers here are greatly excited over a report that the proprietor of the famous gambling-rooms which bring thousands of visitors to Ostend, has decided to transfer his establishment to Schiedamschen, a fashionable resort in the Netherlands, because of the vigorous application of the anti-gambling law. Recently the police have raided several of the gambling-houses in Ostend, arrested several occupants of the rooms and seized stakes valued at thousands of dollars.

Two Killed at Crossing.

NEW YORK, July 11.—An automobile carrying W. R. Hutchings, of Brooklyn, his wife and daughter and chauffeur, was run down by a Long Island Express train last night at Center Marches. L. I. Mrs. Hutchings was dead when found and her husband died later of his injuries. Lillian Hutchings, the daughter, was seriously injured. The chauffeur was not hurt.

Guns Boom for Bryan.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The Democratic clubs of the District of Columbia celebrated the nomination of William J. Bryan on the Washington monument grounds last night by firing a salute of 46 guns, one for each state.

LA FOLLETTE AFTER FAME

CONDUCTS FILIBUSTER TO KEEP IN PUBLIC EYE.

Speculation as to What Future of Wisconsin Man Can Be in the United States Senate.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 10.

It is the general opinion in Washington that Senator La Follette engaged in his filibuster on the currency bill, not so much in the hope of defeating that measure, as to gain notoriety and advertising which would be of assistance to him as a lecturer on the Chautauqua circuit. La Follette is said to have confessed to a fellow Senator, in the midst of his filibuster, that he could not prevent the passage of the bill. Moreover, upon leaving Washington, La Follette announced that he would take a brief rest, and then go on the lecture platform to discuss the currency question and the events of the closing hours of the recent session of Congress.

From this it is clearly evident that La Follette did not filibuster with any hope of defeating the currency bill. His reputation, from the press agent's standpoint is of course the greater because he broke all Senate records in speaking continuously for nearly 19 hours. Taking his colleague's estimate of him, La Follette is not a good Republican, but he is a good advertiser—for himself.

It is difficult to figure out just what is going to become of La Follette in the Senate. He was elected as a Republican, claims still to be a Republican, yet almost always votes with the Democrats, and admits publicly that it is his purpose to "continue to stir up trouble" in the Republican ranks. According to his own definition, La Follette may be a Republican, but there are few men in the Senate who so rate him.

In this connection, an interesting "speech" was printed in a belated issue of the Congressional Record, supposed to have been delivered by Representative Hitchcock of Nebraska, the most enthusiastic Bryan man in Congress. The speech was never delivered, but was written for campaign purposes, and will be circulated during the campaign. In this speech, Mr. Hitchcock undertakes to read Senator La Follette out of the Republican party and into the ranks of the Democracy.

"The followers of La Follette can find no place within the Republican camp this year," says Hitchcock. "Their leader has been ostracized and repudiated by the Republican organization. He has fought most desperately and brilliantly the currency bill, which was the leading Republican party measure, and they will in this campaign naturally join the army of Bryan men recruited from the Republican ranks."

"The Burroughs Idea"

THE name of Burroughs, who began life as a bank clerk, is known wherever adding machines are known—in Europe, the Americas, South Africa, Australia—in your village, town, city, no matter where you are—as that of the greatest adding-machine inventor the world has ever seen. The originality of his design—the completeness of his victory—the success of his machine has been proven by the fact that for fifteen years

S.S.S. HEALS SORES AND ULCERS

Sores and Ulcers are indications of impure blood. They show that the circulation has become infected with germs and poisons, which are being constantly discharged into the open place to irritate the delicate nerves, tissues and surrounding flesh and keep the sore in a state of inflammation and disease. Whether these impurities in the blood are the result of some debilitating sickness, an old taint from a former disease, or whether it is hereditary bad blood, there is but one way to cure sores and ulcers, and that is to purify the blood. Washes, salves, lotions, etc., are often beneficial because of their cleansing, antiseptic effects, but nothing applied to the surface can reach the blood, where the real cause is, and therefore cannot cure. S. S. S. is the remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It gets down to the very bottom of the trouble and removes every trace of impurity or poison, and makes a lasting cure. S. S. S. changes the quality of the circulation, so that instead of feeding the diseased parts with impurities, it nourishes and heals—the irritated, inflamed flesh and causes the ulcer to fill in with healthy tissue by supplying it with pure, rich blood.
