PROSPECTS FOR POTATOES

California Yield Will Be Lighter Than Last Year, According to Louis Jagger—Hops Picked by Machinery.

The prospects are for a lighter potato crop than last year in California, according to Louis Jagger, who recently returned from a trip through that state.

Reasonably good crops are hoped for in the onion growing sections of Michigan, Indiana, Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois, where this vegetable is a commercial proposition, looking toward the Autumn and Winter markets.

The large acreage in Ohio, New York and the Connecticut valley shows generally satisfactory developments.

OLD WHEAT PRICES HOLD STEADY

Advance in December at the Board of Trade.

WHEAT

The market for both old and new wheat was quiet yesterday. Spot prices were nominal with the undertone steady as there is a moderate demand from millers and for very little offering.

is one of the best in years, although there is never a failure here. The price is good, running all the way from $2.50 to $10 per ton, delivered. Baled hay will hit close to the $15 mark. One of the favorite crops here is oats and potatoes. The yield is extremely heavy, running from four to four and one-half tons to the acre.

Advances in Provisions. A general advance in the provision list will take effect Monday morning. Hams and bacon will go up 1/2c, lard will advance 1/4c and clear backs will be 1c higher.

HOPE PICKED BY MACHINE. Horse Seeds Up a Sample Which is Absolutely Clean.

E. Clements here has put his famous hop picking machine to work in California. The machine has been in operation for several days and has picked a sample of the machine-picked hops and they were remarkable.

Not only were the hops whole and unbroken, but the sample was absolutely clean. There was not a trace in it anywhere of stem or leaf.

The hops were grown on one of his California farms in a forcing-house in order to test the machine before the outside crop is ready to be picked.

STEEL SHARES IN DEMAND

Proposed Advance in Freight Rates Benefits the Railway List, Especially Pennsylvania, Despite Clements' Opinion.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Another substantial uplift port of stocks to the highest point of the week and in some prominent cases to the highest of the year. The closing tone was very buoyant and animated.

United States Steel was a conspicuous instance and large absorptions of the stock had a sympathetic effect on the whole list. This sympathy was especially marked in the case of Pennsylvania, owing to the large proportion of iron and steel products in the traffic of that road. It was affected also by the statement given out for publication by the president of the company in which he favored the general policy of advances in freight rates, thus altering a previous impression of the opposition of that company to that policy.

The question of freight rate advances still occupies a foremost place of interest for the financial world. The belief in progress toward that end was confirmed by the day's news of a determination to increase rates by the Southeastern Freight Association and the Southern Mississippi Valley Association. The intended increase in freight rates is a stimulating influence in the demand for securities.

The effect did not get modified by the day by the expressed opinion of Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clements that a general increase in freight rates such as has been reported as in contemplation would constitute a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The strength of United States Steel was fostered by the optimistic views of its president as reported in published interviews. Mercantile agencies reported a moderate but steady increase in business activity, which has been out to 17 per cent in the clearings. Another decrease in the number of idle freight cars for the two weeks ending July 8, strengthened the conviction of improving business conditions.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, $2,100,000. United States bonds have been unchanged on call during the week. CLOSING STOCK QUOTATIONS.
