Proposal to Make Vice-President Cabinet Member Causes Discussion.

OPINIONS DIFFER WIDELY

Division of Sentiment Not Along Party Lines - No Constitutional Authority Exists for Change in the Present System.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington. July 25 .- The announcement of William J. Bryan that he will if elected, give his Vice-President a seat at the Cabinet table has opened up an unusually brisk discussion of the question pro and con. The scheme has its champions and its opponents, and division of sentiment does not follow party lines. But even among those who favor the idea, it is admitted that there is no authority for admitting the Vice-President to Cabinet circles.

As a matter of fact, the duties of the Vice-President are defined by the Constitution, and that state paper falls to delegate to him the duty of sitting the President and Cabinet. Neither does the Constitution empower the President to confer this function or right upon the Vice-President. It was not the intent of the framers of the Constitution that the Vice-President should do more than Vice-Presidents have done in the past-preside over the Senate and wait for a vacancy to occur in the White House.

The time may come when Congress will take up and consider the question of enlarging the duties of the Vice-President, and the attitude of Mr. Bryan in calling attention to his personal view may pave the way to action. But until the Constitution is amended, it is not likely that any Vice-President will be officially recognized as a member of the President's Cabinet.

Lend Dignity to Office.

Those favoring the admission of the Vice-President to Cabinet councils maintain that this added duty would lend dignity to the office and make it more attractive to men of caliber who are now inclined to avoid the possibility of nomination as "running mate" for any Presidential nominee. But perhas the strongest argument so far advanced for the change is that the Vice-President, attending Cabinet meetings.

President, attending Cabinet meetings, would be in close touch with the affairs of the Government, otherwise known as the affairs of the Administration, and would be better equipped to succeed to the Presidency in case a yacancy should occur at the White House, than he would be if isolated as he is at present.

As a member of the Cabinet he would know the inside of all public questions, and would be intimately associated with all the policies of the Administration.

As presiding officer of the Senate the Vice-President knows little of the "inside" and is not necessarily in harmony with the Administration.

On the other hand, aside from the constitutional question involved, it is argued that a Vice-President is usually enough of a politician to understand the ins and outs of all the public questions of the day, and even though the railroad officials, who met in Chicago yesterday, to the effect that questions of the day, and even though not admitted to Cabinet conferences, is able to gather up about as many facts as he could by sitting around the Cabi-net board.

Can Consult Him Now.

In cases where his advice is desired, In cases where his advice is desired, it can readily be had under the prevailing system, and when the Vice-President is not in harmony with the Administration, as has happened not infrequently, it would be inadvisable to have him sitting at Cabinet meetings. The Administration might favor a certain policy; the opposing faction, of which the Vice-President happened to be a member, would hold different views. By being present at Cabinet views. By being present at Cabinet meetings, the Vice-President would learn the moves made by men really his opponents, and would be in a posi-tion to lay bare the plans of the Administration, and perhaps prevent the successful carrying out of an Admin-successful carrying out of an Administration plan.

Take the next Administration as an example. While for all practical purposes, Sherman is in harmony with Taft, yet the fact remains that Sherman has all along trained with the anti-Roosevelt or reactionary crowd in the House of Representatives. Taft has been a foremost Roosevelt man has been a foremost Roosevelt man. Naturally there are questions of public policy on which Taft and Sherman

The time may and probably will come when Taft, as President, may decome when lait, as President, may desire to formulate and carry out some question of Governmental policy. That policy will be shaped up by his Cabinet, and the shaping may require the utmost secrecy. If Sherman were to be admitted to the Cabinet he would be admitted to the Cabinet he would know exactly what was going on, and who doubts but others of his fac-tion would know also? Taking ad-vantage of their advance information, they might be able to block the Ad-ministration. Not that they would or would not do so, but they might.

they might be able to block the Administration. Not that they would or would not do so, but they might.

Reason for Opposition.

This, say the opponents of the Bryan idea, is a very important reason why a Vice-President should not go into the Cabinet. It is also argued that whenever fate calls a Vice-President to the Presidential chair, he is thrown upon his own resources to a great extent, and is quite as able, with such knowledge as he possesses, to go ahead with the job as he would be if he had served in the Cabinet. Roosevelt was not in McKinley's Cabinet, but he made a greater President than McKinley, Arthur was not in Garfield's Cabinet, but he was not handleapend by that face the was not in Garrield's Cabinet, but he was not handicaped by that fact when he became President, and even the staunchest Bryanites will argue that Johnson would have made a better President had he been in Lincoln's Cabinet.

However, the Bryan idea is worthy

CALLS JOHNSON TO FAIRVIEW

Bryan Wants Defeated Opponent to Take Stump.

ST. PAUL, July 25.—Governor John A. Johnson, of Minnesots, today received a letter from William J. Bryan, asking him to meet Mr. Bryan at Fairview, Lincoln, at the earliest date possible, to confer relative to the Presidential campaign. Mr. Bryan asked Governor Johnson when he could be available for speaking purposes.

The latter question is asked, Mr.
Bryan says, because of the numerous

Bryan says, because of the numerous requests that have been received for Governor Johnson for speaking dates in the various states. He says the demand in this respect is general and he hopes the Minnesota Governor will be able to give him his attention. Mr. Bryan refers to the visit made him at Lincoln by the Minnesota delegation to the Denver convention. He was told then that Governor Johnson would he the Denver convention. He was told then that Governor Johnson would be available when wanted, and he now hastens to request his presence at Fairview, that details concerning the campaign may be talked over.

Governor Johnson is on a lecture tour, but the contents of Mr. Bryan's letter were wired to him. It is ex-pected that on its receipt Governor Johnson will go to Fairview.

ODELL SAYS INDEPENDENT

VOTERS WOULD REVOLT.

Leaders Would Prefer Another, but Dare Not Alienate His Supporters From Ticket.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., July 25 .- Ex-Governor B. B. Odell, state committee-man from the Twentieth District, said today concerning the announcement of the candidacy of Governor Hughes for renomination:

"Governor Hughes' statement is no surprise to me. It is exactly what I have been predicting for the past six months. There is no question but months. There is no question but what the organization will accept Mr. Hughes, because to turn him down would cause the withdrawal of independent voters from the support of the Republican state ticket.

It is a fact, also, that in every lo-cality the so-called leaders, in my opinion, would prefer some one else; but up to this time there has been no crys-tallization of sentiment in favor of any particular candidate in opposition. "Much as we desire, we cannot close our eyes to the fact that there are dis-sensions in the party lines. Ambitious persous who are anxious to succeed Senator Platt will not look on the candidacy of Mr. Hughes with any favor. They would prefer some one who would openly espouse their cause. Hr. Hughes' holding aloof from all combinations or alignments with any of the factions in the party would make him more generally satisfactory to the voters than any other man whose name has been under consideration. Just how his nomination would affect the energetic support of those who look after the details of a campaign it is too early the reasonableness of proposed in-creases of freight rates should be passed on by the Interstate Commerce Commission before becoming effective should be acted upon, a new precedent will have been established. Chairman Knapp, of the Commission, today stated that he believed the law contemplated having the Commission pass upon rates after they become effective, but he did not wish to commit the Commission to that view.

COMPLAIN OF OVERCHARGES

Tacoma Meat Packers Say Railroads Ignored Shipping Directions.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU Washington, July 25.—The Interstate Com-merce Commission today received a complaint from the Carstens Packing Company, of Tacoma, Wash., against the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific Railroads alleging an overcharge of about $20 a car on shipments of cattle from Ontario, Or., and Nampa, Idaho, complainants say the cars were routed via Portland when they should have gone by way of Wallula, Wash.

Shippers' Letter Not Received.

OYSTER BAY, July 25. — When asked today whether President Roosevelt had taken any action on the letter reported to have been sent to him by the Receivers' and Shippers' Asse tion of Cincinnati, asking him if he intends to enforce a decree against several railroads forbidding an increase in rates, the President's secretary said that no such letter had been received by the President.
