Later an attempt to secure the pres-ence of the other candidates was in-stituted by Olympia men not connected with arranging the programme for the day. It was planned to take all of them to the grounds in an open car-riage with a prearrangement that the uninvited candidates would be called for by numerous men in the audience. This plan failed because the candidates payled to enter into the scheme. refused to enter into the scheme.

Olympia is supposed to be a Mead stronghold and the men in charge of stronghold and the men in charge of the celebration are business men who feel under obligations to him for his veto of the capitol removal bill in 1935. An attempt to divide the honors of the occasion with other candidates, if car-ried out, undoubtedly would have re-sulted in lively times at the gathering.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 1 .- (Special)-An examination this morning of the plant of the Albany Iron Works, a large por-tion of which was wrecked by fire last hight, shows that the valuable ma-chinery in the machine shop of the plant has suffered very little damage and this reduce the first estimates of the loss. The Plans so far formulated have not taken nto account the possibility of the nom ination of Atkinson or Cosgrove. Cos-grove, although frequently an aspirant for office, hus never yet held a state position, and is not open to attack on his record. Atkinson has been State Auditor and is now Attorney-General, and while be hus had extended legal He was a Baptist and a member of the and routine connections with all the state departments, he has had no executive control outside of the two offices held. The making of the Democratic nomi-nation for Governor a matter of contest has furnished one source of relief for the Republicans by eliminating the prob-ability of any great number of Democrats participating in the Republican primaries. The Democrats would have preferred a one-man ticket and the Tauna conference, had it been a conven tion, would have nominated Splawn for Governor. Pattison was in the way, however, he having participated in the line at the Secretary of State's office and filed his declaration the first day. The only way to get Splawn on the ticket was to have him make a contest for the place. Pattison not being disposed to withdraw. Byrne has been an avowed candidate for several months. In the Republican contest for the Gubernatorial nomination the past week has witnessed the opening up of the Mead batteries on Cosgrove. Cosgrove is now recognized as being in the danger zone so far as Mead and McBride are con-cerned in the corralling of the bulk of the first choice votes. The Pomeroy veteran has heretofore been looked upon as a stronger second choice than first choice candidate. It has been figured that he would get a good percentage of the second choice ballots of electors who voted first choice for

The acknowledgment of Cosgrove as a first-choice vote-getter does not clear up the situation much, or make predictions as to the outcome of the primary election more definite. If Cosgrove is getting first choice votes away from Mead and McBride, it con-sequently is true that in so doing he must

FIGHT ON OCCUPATION TAX

Seaside Residents Up in Arms Against Action of Council,

SEASIDE, Or., Aug. 1 .-- (Special.)-What promises to be a bitter fight is promised between the City Council and the various business and occupa-tion factors of Seaside. The^g trouble sprang from ordinance No. 141, which provides for a tax on every business in the city. It is claimed by those opposed to it that the ordinance is un-fair in that it does not discriminate between occupations that involve large sums of money and those of smaller amounts. To prove this statement the sawmill, with a cutting capacity of 60,000 feet a day, is taxed $25, and a clothing store doing a small business is to pay a $15 tax.

Those opposed to the ordinance to the number of 30 have signed an agreement to fight it through all the courts. The contest will be precipi-tated by the first arrest for a viola-tion of ordinance No. 141. West Seaside, stirred by the exam ple of her sister town, promptly met in Council and passed a similar ordinance. The fight against the West Seaside ordinance promises to be a serious one, and a test will be made as to whether persons who are esidents can hold office legally in that little ttle city. Taken all in all, the two Seasides promise some excitement in the near future. It is said that Senator Fulton has been retained by those opposed to the ordinance, while Mr. Splitle, as-sisted by able counsel, will represent the city.
