Supreme Court Upholds Washington's New Assessment Law.

MONEYS TAXED, HOWEVER

Lincoln County Decision Overruled at Olympia-Public Service Corporations Are Affected by Court's Ruling.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 1 .- (Special.) The State Supreme Court today sustained the constitutionality of the act of the last Legislature exempting credits from taxation, but held invalid that portion of the act which proposed to exempt moneys. The case comes from Lincoln County, where a taxpayer brought suit to force taxation of mon-eys and credits and won a decision by the lower court that the law was unonstitutional.

A peculiarity of the appeal was that both attorneys for the property-owners and the prosecuting attorney for the county pleaded the law was invalid. Tax Commissioner J. H. Easterday, father of the law, appeared in the Supreme Court as a friend of the court, and presented his case, both orally and by brief. James B. Howe, attorney for the Seatthe Electric Company, also filed a brief in the case attacking the law.

The latter attorney appeared for the purpose of demanding a reduction of assessments of street railway taxes. unless credits were taxed, on the ground that the constitution required all property to be taxed allke. The Supreme Court has sustained Easterday's contention as to credits, which is about 90 per cent, money being about 10 per cent. The decision means further that the railways and public-service corporations cannot demand a reduction in assessments, as such corporations had hoped. It was the admitted purpose of such corporations to show before the State Board of Equalization, by bank State Board of Equalization, by bank statementa, records of bond issues, mortgages, etc., that probably not 5 per cent of moneys and credits were assessed on the tax rolls, and to demand under the law that public-service corporations be taxed like all other property, and that the assessments should be reduced approximately 25 per cent.

Although Easterday was father of the law, the two other Tax Commissioners law, the two other Tax Commissioner, this Spring issued directions to the As-sesors of all the counties to ignore the law and assess moneys and credits. These directions were given after the regular assessment had been practically com-pleted, and to do the work meant large pleted, and to do the work meant targe expenditures. About half of the counties made the supplemental assessment, which of course is now worthless. It is peculiar that Kittitas County, the home of Tax that Kittitas County, the home of Tax Commissioner Frost, Ignored Frost's order and made no supplemental assessment. Pierce County, where Easterday's advice and did make the assessment, as did also Spokane County, where Rockwell lives. The decision was written by Chief Justice Hadley and concurred in by Crow, Mount, Rudkin and Dunbar. Fullerton filed a long dissenting opinion. Root is itt and was unable to skin a decision.

SOUL-MATE ONE WOMAN; TWO DIVORCES

Mary Sams Released From Marital Complications by Court Decree.

HILLSBORO. Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—
Judge McBride has granted decrees of separation to Mary Sams from two defendants. She was granted a divorce from Gardner Sams, to whom she was wedded in Dayton, Wash., in 1881, and who subsequently deserted her in Walla. Walla. Believing that she was not legally married to Sams, in 1895 she married Elmer Nolan at Pendleton. The court declared this marriage illegal and awarded to her the custody of a minor child, the result of the union.

This is the first time in Circuit Court the result of the union.

INCREASE IN VALUATIONS

Pacific County Reports Property Assessed at Nearly $12,000,000.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Aug. 1 .- (Speal.)-The assessed valuation of Pacific County real estate for the current year is $11,143,839, and the personal year is $11,142,339, and the personal property valuation will bring the grand total to something over $12,000,000.

The latest previous valuation was about $1,000,020. This enormous increase in valuation is due almost entirely to a more equitable valuation of mill and timber properties. The present rate of taxation for state and county purposes is 21.34 mills but, from ent rate of taxation for state and county purposes is 21.24 mills but, from careful estimates, Deputy Assessor F. The skin is not simply an outer covering of the body, but through its thousands of pores and glands it performs the great and necessary work of regulating our temperatures, and also assists in disposing of the refuse and waste matters of the system by the constant evaporation that goes on through these little tubes. To perform these duties the tissues and fibres which connect and surround the pores and glands must be continually nourished by pure blood. When from any cause the circulation becomes infected with impurities and humors, it loses its strengthening powers and begins to disease and irritate the delicate tissues, and produces Eczema, Acne, Tetter, or some other itching, disfiguring skin trouble. S. S.
