

BRIGHT MOONLIGHT AND BONFIRES BRING CROWDS ON BEACHES BY NIGHT

THE WHOLE FAMILY IS READY FOR A PLUNGE

SEASIDE, Or., Aug. 8.—(Special)—With the past fortnight as a fitting prelude to the real season this week opened bright and beautiful, and as events have proven, brimful of treats, intellectual, social and athletic. All of the hotels have large crowds of guests, and the series of dances and parties that has been given has made it unusually lively here. Daily concerts, Saturday and mid-week hops, artificial amusements on the Shell Road, and driving, riding and automobile parties are only a few of the diversions that have been indulged in this week.

Weather conditions during the past fortnight have been ideal for seaside attractions, and there is little question now, that the records will be broken for the season so far as attendance is concerned. There is no diminution in the over-Sunday and week-end crowds that are attracted to Seaside by its splendid features. Canoes seek the sheltering nooks of the picturesque Necanicum, throughout the day and on warm evenings. Fishing is good and even the novice has no difficulty in catching a long string. Game too is plentiful in the woods bordering Seaside, and hunting and fishing parties are arriving daily.

The sea is remarkably smooth, and extending from Locksley Hall to the Moore Hotel great crowds of people have enjoyed the surf.

One of the prettiest dancing parties of the season was that given on Tuesday evening at the Seaside House by L. W. Therkelsen for his young daughter, Miss Hazel. The big parlors were decorated for the occasion and many of Portland's younger set participated in the festivities. The guests were: Misses Lucille Dunne, Marie Van Ness, Dorothy Morrison, Florence Shields, Flora Fleischer, Vera and Edna Patterson, Marie Kittenbach, Marguerite Thomas, Hattie Palmer, Bonnie West, Hattie Jacobs and Catharine Therkelsen and Messrs. Harlowe Moore, Gerald Thomas, Abe Blackman, Edwin Patton, Charles Prehn, Winfield and Sid Eberle, Lieutenant Holt C. Kelly, Shields, Henry, Slader, Hyman, Whidden, Jacobs and Graham Glass, Jr.

An interesting bridge party was given recently by Mrs. Frank Dayton, of Portland, in her Seaside cottage. The party was in honor of Mrs. C. W. Knowles, who will leave this coming month for the Orient. The rooms were beautifully decorated with sweetpeas, ferns and carnations. The guests, besides the hostess and Mrs. Knowles, were Mrs. W. A. Gordon, Mrs. D. J. Moore, Mrs. L. W. Hillman, Mrs. J. F. Griswold, Misses Ethel Gordon, Celeste Moore, Frances and Florence Dayton.

Misses Deeda and Mada Goldsmith were hostesses at a picnic party given recently at Thompsons Falls, for their guest, Miss Hazel Altman. Those participating were Misses Kathryn Dunbar, Hazel Small, Ruby Scott, Florence Holland, Hazel Holland, Deeda and Mada Goldsmith, Hazel Altman, and Messrs. Winfield Eberle, Edwin Patton, Abe Blackman, Sidney Eberle, Herbert Cook, Dan Quimby, William Winters, Tom Dobson, George Fremont. The chaperones were Mrs. Silberstein and Mrs. Jackson. A delightful week-end party was given at Seaside by Miss Edna Wrenn, of The Dalles. Miss Wrenn's guests were Mrs. and Mrs. F. W. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wrenn, of Portland; C. M. Carlos and Miss Blanche Wrenn, of Seaside.

On Tuesday with Mrs. John F. Logan and Mrs. W. H. Patterson as chaperones, a smaller picnic was given on the banks of the Necanicum, above Seaside House. The guests indulged in playing old-fashioned games, and the trip was a most enjoyable one. Those participating were: the Misses Edna and Vera Patterson, Margaret Flah, Kathryn Whitmore, Marguerite Thomas, Ruby Scott, and Messrs. Gerald Thomas, Edwin Patton, Charles Prehn, Wynn Eberle, Herbert Cook, William Winters and Tom Dobson.

AGATE BEDS AT NEWPORT

From early Summer till late Fall nearly every one lives at the beaches or the woods, not necessarily because of the oppressive heat or because beautiful Portland is less attractive in her Summer garb, but the call of old ocean and Oregon's primeval forests is irresistible. Gearhart Park is becoming every year more popular, especially with those who prefer to combine mere camping and outdoor life with a feast of scenery unrivalled by any coast resort. One may leave the hot city or the inland towns with their parched and dusty roads and in a few hours revel in the coolness and quiet of Gearhart Park. Situated as Gearhart is, on a high bluff overlooking the sea and bordered with forests of hemlock and pine, it is an ideal spot. There is so much that is undisturbed here, so much that is new and untouched that the season after season an ever-increasing number of people fly to Gearhart to remain until late Fall weather and very often the cottages have guests during the entire year. Most handsome cottages, tenting and camping facilities, and Kruse's Beach Hotel and the Y. W. C. A. cottage tend to combine comfortable accommodations with every natural pleasure of a seaside vacation.

Gearhart Personal.

Mrs. John Gill has guests in her handsome home, Kishness. Mrs. G. T. Willet and Joseph Gill are with her. Mrs. T. P. Kendall is entertaining Miss Winfield Abbott, of Portland, in the Kendall cottage, Crow's Nest. Miss Georgina Burns, Miss Kathleen Burns and Miss Caroline Burns are now domiciled at their attractive beach residence at Gearhart Park, where they are entertaining Miss Margaret Walter, of Portland, and Miss Margaret Cobb, of Boise, Idaho. Mrs. Henry Morgan and her baby daughter, Frances, are at Kruse's Beach Hotel for the Summer. Mr. Morgan's usually an over-Sunday guest. A. H. ### BEACH PARTIES AT NEWPORT

Visitors Take Advantage of Beautiful Moonlight Nights.

NEWPORT, Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Beautiful moonlight has prevailed at Newport all week and bonfires and beach parties have been much in evidence. The moonings of the past week have been cool and calm but the afternoons have mostly been windy and blustery. Bonfires at Newport, however, enjoy it all. With fishing, agate-hunting and meeting the two incoming boats each day the visitors have much to do to keep their minds off their vacations at the balance of the year. Early in the week a beach party was given near Newport by Bush Davis and his sister, Miss Pauline. Present as guests were Mrs. Condon McCormack, of Portland; Miss Lucia Wilkins, of Eugene; Miss Belle Van Duren and Miss Kate Kelly, of Eugene; Messrs. John Willycombe, of Corvallis; John Kelly, of Eugene; and Edward Van Dyke, of Grants Pass. A very enjoyable event at Nya Creek, Thursday, was the dinner party in honor of Miss Lucille Turner, of Portland, a granddaughter of Clinton Kelly, a famous Oregon pioneer. The event was given by the family of Mrs. Penumbra Kelly and Mrs. M. E. Shaver, of Portland. Present
