AIRSHIP FLIES PERFECTLY

TRAVELS FIVE MILES AND MAKES COMPLETE CIRCLE.

Aeronaut Exultantly Says He "Sights the Money"—Airsip Answers Rudder Promptly.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—"We sighted the money," the words were shouted by Captain Baldwin at Fort Myer last night as he piloted his military balloon to the ground after making a successful flight of nearly five miles, preliminary to today's test.

When the dirigible passed over the starting point, it was about 500 feet in the air. Bringing his ship against the wind, Captain Baldwin made a landing much the same as pilots of water craft bring their vessels to the side of a dock. With a broad smile, Captain Baldwin said:

"Tomorrow we will go after the money. The horizontal rudders moved perfectly, and the ship showed that rudder to be in perfect condition."

The dirigible balloon was in the air 15 minutes. At 7 o'clock it was again taken up, circling around and around the starting point.

Investigation made Friday by the police into a case of theft reported by G. W. Gess, a builder and contractor, living at 31 Fremont street, has cast suspicion on five small boys living on the East Side not far from the scene of the robbery. They will probably be called before the Juvenile Court today to receive a hearing.

According to Mr. Gess, the theft occurred on Thursday afternoon while he was sitting in his tent when four boys came and stole some old coins and gold money. She went into the house to get the water and when she returned, found that the tent had been ransacked and the contents scattered.

Patrolman Adams made an investigation and found that the boys who had asked for the water were Lawrence Nelson, aged 12 years, of 507 East Seventh street; Willie Swartz, aged 12 years, of 806 East Eighth street; and Tony Lehr, aged 12 years, of 805 East Ninth street.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The agitation against Orientals, which was at its height along the Pacific Coast a few months ago, has spread to the Indians in Northern British Columbia, word having been received here that the redmen employed at Skedegate absolutely refuse to eat food cooked by Chinese or Japanese, and are making stipulations with their employers that they will not be asked to work with Orientals at any time.

LOSES HAND BY CRACKER Young Medford Woman Meets With Frightful Accident.

MEDFORD, Or., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—A deplorable accident happened last night, whereby Mrs. Emma Hughes' right hand was blown off by the explosion of a giant firecracker. Mrs. Hughes took the firecracker out in the yard in front of the house and in the presence of her son and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coop, lighted a match and touched it to the fuse.

For a second or two she held the firecracker in her contorted hand and was warned by Mrs. Coop not to do so. "Oh," she replied, "I know how to set them off."

No sooner were the words spoken than it exploded with a deafening sound. Hastily wrapping her torn and bleeding hand in her apron, the poor woman, crazed with pain, ran around the yard and it was five minutes or more before Mr. Coop could reach her and get her into the house.

Mrs. Hughes is a widow and has two young children and herself to support. She is 27 years old.

FUNERAL THIEF IS CAUGHT

MRS. BELLA TALMAGE FINDS MOURNERS "DEAD EASY."

Makes Confession to Philadelphia Police Judge—Many Victims Make Complaint.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—"The easiest people in the world to rob are those who have gathered as mourners at a funeral," said Mrs. Bella Talmage after hearing yesterday in the Central Station, before Magistrate Beaton, as the "cleverest funeral thief in the country." Her list of victims, the police say, is a long one and extends over a period of a year.

The method used by Mrs. Talmage was shown in testimony at the hearing, which was largely attended by men and women who believe that she could explain the loss of many articles of jewelry and money, the loss of which was discovered shortly after a funeral at their homes.

FOREST FIRES IN MONTANA Much Timber Destroyed and Mining Camps Threatened.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 8.—A message yesterday from Supervisor Eliza Koch, at Taft, Mont., says that the forest fires in that vicinity are assuming a very serious aspect. Already a large quantity of timber north of Salt Lake has been destroyed and it is feared the fires may penetrate to Clark's fork of the Columbia. There are a large number of mining plants in the section on fire.

Word was received yesterday that another forest fire had broken out on Blue Point Creek, a tributary of the Bitter Root River.

GLANDS

A Gland is an organ which abstracts or takes up, from the blood, special material for the supply and removal of the secreted and wanted elements of the body. We have different forms and kinds of Glands. Each has its own individual work to do. In health all work in unity. They have been tested for many years in the crucible of practical experience by all classes, in all places and for all ill for which they are made. Mr. C. H. Van Vleck and his co-official assistants have through their unflinching energy and scientific investigations formulated a specific, certain and reliable system and method, of which the Van Vleck Extract Company will print some of the grateful letters received by them of the marvelous work the Glandular Extracts are doing for suffering humanity. Read every one of them, write them yourself to verify statement herewith: Cascade Locks, Or., April 22, 1907. Dear Sir: After suffering for more than a year with Tuberculosis of the Glands, my neck having a running sore all the time—being sore, there, of which the mother died and after all other remedies failed, I began taking your Glandular Extracts. After taking a five months' treatment I feel about two months ago, and I still feel better and have more energy than I have had for years. I thank you for what you have done for me. Very respectfully, JAMES W. LEMARR. Mr. Lemarr has been in our office several times lately, and states he is perfectly well, and has no symptoms of the dreaded disease mentioned above.
