

BOY MURDERER IS RELEASED ON BAIL

Bonds of $5000 Are Deposited as Security for Jackson C. Reid.

WILL HAVE JURY TRIAL

Case Will Go Over Until September, When It Will Be Heard by Second Juvenile Court Jury Ever Called.

Jackson C. Reid, the young boy who shot and killed George F. DeMars at Guilds Lake Wednesday evening, was released from the County Jail on $5000 bail at 10:15 o'clock last night.

The bond was given by H. V. Reid, Thomas N. Fitchard, D. Kuratli, G. S. Reid, R. A. Reid and R. R. Reid, after Attorney Easterley had put in more than three hours of the evening in an effort to find one of the Circuit Judges to approve the sureties offered.

Jury Trial Is Demanded.

Attorney C. M. Idelman, who will defend young Reid, demanded yesterday afternoon that a jury trial be granted at the hearing in the Juvenile Court. This has the effect of postponing the hearing of the case from the Juvenile Court to the regular September panel.

The questions in the case are whether the boy, because of the shooting of DeMars, is a delinquent child. The Juvenile Court act provides that a child must be adjudged delinquent before he can be sentenced to the Reform School or remanded for investigation by the grand jury and trial in the Circuit Court.

Friend Gives Boy's Side.

This will be the second jury trial ever had in the Juvenile Court. The first jury was summoned by Judge Frazier to determine whether W. A. Slingerland was a proper person to have the custody of his 16-year-old stepdaughter, Edna.

Part of young Reid's side of the case was outlined yesterday afternoon by a friend of the family, giving reasons why the boy resorted so readily to the revolver. According to this friend's story, Government Island has long been a rendezvous of hobos and other dangerous characters, who made free with everything they found on the island because of its name.

When Lafe Pence bought it, he stored in the building property of different kinds said to be worth as much as $12,000, and being to the deceptions of the hobos and others, employed a named Burns specially to guard the building. Burns found himself unable to cope with the lawless persons, some of whom went so far as to break into the building, and with railroad ties and help themselves to the articles of value they found within.

Schemp Hired as Guard.

Burns surrendered his position in disgust, and Pence then employed Schemp, the Reid boy's stepfather, to make his home on the island, and guard the government building with its contents. Schemp, it is said, met with better success, though he occasionally found it necessary to threaten certain intruders with a revolver in order to prevent the building from being robbed.

On the occasion of the visit of De Mars to the island, Schemp, according to the chicken-house, which is said to be at least 400 feet from Schemp's house, a distance about equal to two city blocks. The boy's sister had to go and return the 400 feet when she was armed with a revolver, which would take her four or five minutes, and during that time it appears that De Mars remained at the spot. It will probably be contended on behalf of the boy that as he was there alone, except for the other children, and the members of the fishing party were trespassers, he acted under the belief that he was protecting the property as his stepfather had done, and that his stepfather's action in threatening intruders with the revolver suggested the same plan to the lad.

ADLER GETS TESTIMONIAL

Chief of Police at Brunn, Austria, Testifies as to Character.

Determined to prove that he is not an anarchist, Adolf Adler, who is held at the County Jail on a charge of attempting to extort money from Sig Sichel, has secured from the Chief of Police at Brunn, Austria, an affidavit as to Adler's character when he lived at Brunn. The affidavit from Chief of Police Josef Sotka at Brunn, made July 11, follows:

We hereby state that you, during your stay in Brunn as treasurer of the Sick Benefit Association—during the time from September 1, 1897, until November 6, 1898—neither belonged to an anarchistic society nor any similar organization. Neither have you been prosecuted for any criminal action. This affidavit is made for the purpose of showing to the American authorities.

EQUAL SHARES FOR CHILDREN

Will of John F. Caples, Disposing of $26,950, Admitted to Probate.

The will of John F. Caples was admitted to probate in the County Court yesterday on the petition of Jennie Caples, a daughter, who was appointed executrix to act without bond. Judge Caples will be in his own handwriting, and was made in November, 1902, in the presence of F. W. Mulkey and G. W. Allen, who signed it as witnesses.

$26,950 is to be divided equally among the six children, according to the terms of the will. The children are Mrs. Carrie Saylor, Miss Jennie Caples, Mrs. Meta Mattheus, Mrs. Mollie Anthony, Mrs. Maggie Pagot and Robert A. Caples. The latter is given, in addition to his sixth interest, the gold watch and chain and all Masonic jewelry and clothing of his father. A bequest of $50 is made to Henry L. Caples, a brother of the deceased, and a like sum was given to Mrs. Elizabeth Longfellow, a sister, but she has died, and her bequest lapses.

Asks $5000 for Breach of Promise.

Five thousand dollars damages for breach of promise sought from Peter Johnson by Mrs. Elizabeth Beck in a suit filed in the Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Beck's attorneys, John H. Stevenson and John F. Logan. Mrs. Beck alleges that she became engaged to Johnson May 28 of this year, and that he now refuses to marry her.

Holbrook Estate Worth $63,974.

T. T. Struble, W. H. Pope and E. W. King, appraisers of the estate of Phil Holbrook, yesterday afternoon filed a report in the County Court showing that the estate has property valued at $63,974. The property consists of real estate in Multnomah County valued at $62,000, and cash to the amount of $1974.

CITY PARK BAND CONCERT

De Caprio Will Play "McKinley's Funeral March" This Afternoon.

The band concert season is drawing to a close and there will be only one more week of music in the parks. For the concert this afternoon Signor DeCaprio has prepared a programme calculated to suit all tastes. By request he will produce his own composition, "McKinley's Funeral March," written for the great Portland memorial service held on Multnomah field on the day of McKinley's funeral in September, 1901. The composition is in a minor key, and breathes the sadness of the occasion. The melody is well sustained throughout and the harmonic quality of the piece is notable.
