EASTERN OREGON EXCURSIONISTS LEAVE FOR OUTING ON NORTH BEACH

STEAMER T. J. POTTER.

The passenger steamer T. J. Potter left at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Megler, Wash., with 800 passengers on board, the record crowd for the season, bound for North Beach. The specially conducted excursion from Eastern Oregon utilized a large part of the accommodations and it was found necessary to place the steamer Harvest Queen in commission.

This Is the First Public Library to Install a Pianola Piano and a Free Library of Pianola Rolls

R. MELVIL DEWEY, at the time he was New | innovation, and this is the thought: York State Librarian, made a startling prophecy in one of his public addresses.

He predicted that the day was not far distant when all libraries which aim to be completely equipped would have large collections of Pianola rolls to be loaned as freely and unhesitatingly as

"Why should not the public borrow songs of Schubert as well as songs of Tennyson?" asked Dr. Dewey.

The Evanston, Ill., Public Library has put Dr. Dewey's idea into practical operation. A Weber Pianola Piano and a collection of 500 carefully selected music-rolls are now at the service of Evanston residents. Those who own Pianolas can take the rolls home, while others can play them in the library's music-room.

Northwest.

It is an impressive thought that lies back of this

The Pianola has taken Music out of the class of the so-called ACCOMPLISH-MENTS-has made it the universal possession of the MANY, rather than an exclusive art to be enjoyed by the privileged few.

It is a noteworthy fact that it is always the Pianola that is selected by those who buy with a full knowledge of the comparative merits of the different Piano-players. The Pianola is the first instrument of the kind to be purchased for a public library, just as it was the first instrument to be installed in a college. Today there are over 100 leading educational justitutions that are using the Aeolian Company's instruments in their musical Musically and Mechanically, the Pianola is universally recognized as standing at the head of its class, a fact amply proven by its great sale, exceeding that of all other piano-players combined.
