WEARY CROWDS FROM CITIES ENJOY HALCYON DAYS AT COOL SEA BEACHES

WAITING FOR A BREAKER

SWIMMING IN THE SURF

OFF FOR A PICNIC

LAUNCHING A LIFE BOAT AT NORTH BEACH

SOMEBODY'S DARLING

GEARHART, Or., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Gearhart at this season of the year offers attractions to be found nowhere else. The weather continues perfect and the days are halcyon. The woods back of Gearhart proper are full of beautiful trails, arched over with giant tree limbs and soft mosses hanging in great festoons. Entire families spend their Summers here in their own cottages, in rented ones or in true outing style, in tents, which are readily obtained.

Health is fairly contagious. The pure sea air, dust-free and full of bracing vigor of salt, the unrivaled surf bathing and the balmy fragrance of the pine and hemlock woods, all contribute to produce one of the most healthful spots imaginable. Since Portland continues so heated and Gearhart, with its welcome coolness, is so easily reached after a short trip by way of our beautiful Columbia, it is indeed no wonder that there is no diminishing in the crowds of visitors who arrive daily. The season continues to be at the height of its activity and there is no abatement in social affairs or arrival of guests, both at the cottages or at Kruse's Beach Hotel.

Gearhart Personals.

Mrs. Adix and son, Mrs. Harkins and Miss Jessie Harkins were recently guests at Kruse's Beach Hotel.

T. T. Strain was an over-Sunday arrival at the Strain cottage.

RUSH KEEPS UP AT SEASIDE

Crowds Going to Beaches Are as Large as Any Time During Year.

SEASIDE, Or., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—This famous watering place is enjoying a rush of mid-Summer visitors that is well merited. The Saturday specials are crowded and the trains resemble nothing so much as huge serpentine monsters bearing masses of laughing, care-free humanity off for an outing at incomparable Seaside. The leading hotels, the Moore, Sargents Seaside House and Locksley Hall, are so admirably situated overlooking the ocean and surrounded on one side by natural groves and innumerable picturesque and quiet retreats.

Ideal spots for campers abound, and fishing, hunting and all sorts of outing parties find restful recreation and rest in a visit at Seaside. Just now the crowds coming to the beach are as large as at any time of the season—and with the heat waves still hovering over Portland, the season here will no doubt be extended well into September.

Seaside Social Events.

Mrs. I. N. Fleischner gave a luncheon party last Saturday in honor of the birthday of her young daughter, Minnie. The rooms of the Fleischner handsome beach residence were decorated artistically with sweet peas, nasturtiums and ferns, and with the candle-lighted table and the huge birthday cake bearing the few candles indicative of the youth of the charming little hostess, the scene was most attractive. The invited guests were Miss Flora Fleischner, Miss Hazel Blumauer, Miss Fancher Davis and Louis Goldsmith.

Among the formal affairs was the tea Ed Patten gave last week at his attractive camp. Japanese lanterns strung through the trees lent an interesting note of decoration, and scattered about over the lawn were rugs, chairs and divans. Miss Marie Van Ness, Miss Lucile Dunn and Miss Hazel Therkelsen poured. They were especially attractive in handsome lingerie gowns. Those enjoying Mr. Patten's hospitality were Misses Ruby Scott, Carmen Allison, Lillian Elwell, Margaret Dubois, Adena Lusbach, Lottie Jacobson, Harriett Jacobson, Kathryn Dunbar, Hazel Small, Anne Pennick, Myrtle Hummel, Irene Flynn, Edna Patterson, Vera Patterson, Winifred Lewis, Lucille Dunn, Marie Van Ness, Hazel Therkelsen, Misses Kopp and Stine, Mrs. Dunbar and Messrs. Tom Dobson, Ford Torpley, Will Curran, Lee Wandell and Edwin Patton. Mrs. J. F. Logan was the patroness for the afternoon.

Mrs. W. O. Van Schuyver gave a small luncheon on Friday a week ago, for her departing guest, Mrs. H. J. Biddle, of Portland.

On Tuesday of last week Mrs. Louis H. Tarpley entertained a small bridge party.

One of the nicest social affairs of the season was the fancy dress party given a week ago Friday night by Mrs. Joseph MacDonald. The floors were waxed for dancing and the roomy porches converted into a refreshment booth. Gay colored Chinese lanterns served to light the rooms and the decorations were artistic. The first prize was given to Miss Dorothy Huber for her clever portrayal of the character "Old Maid." Many unique and picturesque as well as mirth-provoking costumes were worn, and the characters were sustained throughout the evening. The invited guests and their portrayals were Florence Kendall as Buster Brown, Margaret Montague as American Beauty, Ford Tarpley in the guise of A Merry Widow, Elsa Gill as a demure Dutch maid, Clara MacDonald as a Colonial maid, Randolph Carroll as a cowboy, Mrs. John Gill as Christmas, Viola Barenstecker as a Japanese maiden, Reed Rumelin was Happy Hooligan, Sara McCully a Holland girl, Harold Gill General Tokio, Dorothy Huber as the old maid, Ada Kendall was Bo Peep, Neal Kendall as the sheep, Mrs. T. T. Strain in the guise of a Neapolitan fruit girl, Mrs. H. Sargent as Lady Sneezer, Mrs. T. P. Kendall as a Gipsy fortune teller, Joseph McDonald was Lady Graceful, Mary Blossom as an Indian girl, Herbert Barenstecker was Sir Bestsuit, and Mrs. Oskar Huber represented Work. Other guests were Miss Martha Hoyt, Mrs. George Hoyt and Mrs. Ben Levy.

On Thursday Mrs. Charles J. Schnabel gave a small bridge party at the handsome beach residence of her father, C. E. Smith. Those participating were Mrs. W. O. Van Schuyver, Mrs. T. J. Moylan, Miss Maud Howell, Miss Helen Van Schuyver and Stanley Smith.

A programme of literary and musical numbers was given on last Friday night a week ago for the benefit of St. Mark's Church. Father Waters arranged the entertainment and the attendance was most gratifying. The vocal numbers by Miss Winifred Lewis, Mrs. Bertillion, Mrs. L. Jones and Harry Moore were pleasing. Tom Dobson's excellent voice was heard to advantage in two selections.

Dan Quimby gave a bridge party at Locksley Hall on Tuesday for his guest, Carroll Wilson. In addition to the cards a musical and literary programme was rendered. Miss Hazel Holland won the first prize of the evening.

Mrs. R. P. Graham was hostess at a card party last week, when she entertained several members of the Portia Club. After the cards, lunch was served. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Graham's hospitality were Mesdames Austin, Cake, Cellars, Hill, Hall, Boise, Driver, Duniway, Logan, Ladd, Stapleton, Simpson and Tilzer.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. A. Tilzer of the Leone Cottage, entertained a small party with cards.

Arthur Alexander's musicale was well patronized by music-loving guests at the beach, and the evening was in every way a most successful and delightful one. Mr. Alexander was in fine voice and responded to several encores. Following is the programme: (a) "Caro mio ben," Giordano; (b) "Una Furtiva Lagrima," Donizetti; (c) "Mattinata," Tosti; (d) "Serenata," Leoncavallo. II. (a) "Allerseelen," Richard Strauss; (b) "Der Fruehling Naht," Rachmanninoff; (c) "Ich Grolle Nicht," Schumann. III. (a) "Sais-tu?" De Fontenailles; (b) "Embarquez vous," Godard; (c) "L'huere Expulse," Hahn; (d) "A toi," Bemberg. IV. (a) "Where'er You Walk," Handel; (b) "Tristram and Iseult," Foerster; (c) "Songs of Araby," Clay; (d) "Mother o' Mine," Tours; (e) "The Years at the Spring," Beach.
