Portland got back into second place yesterday by winning an exciting game from Oakland by a 5 to 4 score. It was a good game throughout and full of interest, Portland holding the lead from the first to the eighth, when Oakland tallied two runs on Slattery's double and tied the score. Kinsella pitched a good game and deserved to win. Two of the three runs scored against him were due indirectly to errors by his teammates, who at most stages gave him excellent support and carried out some lightning plays. Danzig, in the seventh, made a fine assist to Kinsella of Fischer's difficult grounder, and Cooney, despite two errors, made some rattling good plays.

Casey was the star batsman of the day, driving in two runs with his pretty two-base hit in the second and scoring another himself in the first, with a fine home run over Heitmuller's head. This was all Portland got until the ninth, and in the meantime the Californians grabbed one in the fifth and two in the eighth. Fischer drove in the one in the fifth, after Houston and Lewis had singled. Slattery doubled prettily in the eighth, driving in Anderson and Heitmuller. Oakland went out in one, two, three order in the ninth, much to the relief of the fans, and it was Portland's chance to win the game.

Raftery Beats Out Bunt.

Raftery started well by singling over second. This looked promising and set the crowd wild. Hassey came up and bunted safely along first base line and this rattled the Oakland players. Cooney tried the same play along the third base line with success and the bases were full with none out. Fischer blew up at this point and walked Madden, forcing in the winning run.

Today there will be a double-header, commencing at 2 o'clock, and a big crowd is expected to turn out to see Patrick pitch his first game. Patrick and Hardy will do the slab work in the first game and the fans hope that Portland will keep its batting eye and the ginger shown yesterday.

WILL HAVE STRONG TEAM

FIVE VETERAN PLAYERS IN VARSITY LINE-UP.

Captain Moullen Will Find Excellent Material in Freshman Class to Complete Eleven.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., Aug. 29.—(Special.) — Although five of Oregon's veteran football players will be missing when Captain Moullen calls his men together next month, the prospects for a successful season are by no means discouraging.

The veterans who are certain of returning are Moullen, captain and right guard; Scott, center; McIntyre, left guard; Pinkham, left tackle; Coleman, left end, and Clark, fullback. Kuykendall, Moores and Zacharias were graduated last June, Arnspiger will be ineligible because of the four-year rule, and Taylor, the clever freshman halfback of last season, has gone to Cornell University.

Despite the loss of these veterans, Oregon has good prospects for a strong team. Nearly all of last season's substitutes and second-team men will be on hand, conspicuous among them being Grout, Voigt, Hildeburn, Sweek, Dodson, Halley and Hays. Some of these men played on the varsity in the preliminary games of last season and others did good work on the second team.

From present indications there will be a record-breaking freshman class at the university this year, and a number of football men of high school fame have signified their intention of entering college.

Among these may be mentioned Means, of Pendleton; Kellogg, of Baker City; Henderson, of Hood River; Latourette, Hickson, Lewis and McKinley, of Portland; Harding, of Portland Academy; Mitchell, of Eugene, and Main, of Lick High School, San Francisco. Gilles, the big freshman guard and center of 1906, will re-enter college and try for a line position.

The splendid material in the entering class insures a good freshman team and there is every reason to believe that some of these youngsters will win places on the varsity.

Coach Robert W. Forbes will be in Eugene on September 20, and college will open two days thereafter. Football practice will commence with the opening of college, and it is expected that several varsity veterans will be on hand to assist Forbes.

Arrangements are being made whereby Foster H. Rockwell and J. E. Owsley, former Yale stars, will spend ten days in Eugene early in November, assisting Forbes with the varsity squad. Each of these men has acted in the capacity of head coach at New Haven and the fact that they will work with Forbes warrants the prediction that Oregon will have the best coached team in the Northwest.

AUDIENCE CENSURES PLAY

Parisians Hiss Burlesque of French President and "Marseilles."

PARIS, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Contrary to the general belief, there are things Parisians will not stand on the stage, and they drew the line recently at a scene in a "revue" in a Champs Elysees music hall. Political men are made fun of here without mercy, and libelled daily to a degree undreamed of in countries where a libel law exists otherwise than in name. But even the Parisian "laisser faire" in these days of no censorship revolts at gross ridicule of the President of the republic, his wife, his daughter and his son-in-law. The piece was announced as the spiciest on record, and the audience, consisting mainly of actors and actresses, was one bred to appreciate spice. The ginger of the opening scenes was not found too hot in the mouth, but when M. Fallieres, with Mme. and Mdlle. Fallieres and M. Lanes, to whom the latter was recently married, came on the stage, played the fool, and danced cakewalks, while the band burlesqued the "Marseillaise," the audience vehemently drew the line.

Dead silence was followed by groans and hisses, and at last the whole audience was standing and shouting down the unhappy actors and actresses, who were not responsible, with cries of "Vive Fallieres," "Vive la Republique." The audience refused to let the scene finish, and clamored for the "Marseillaise," a real one this time, not a burlesque, as the band played before. The conductor had the tact to strike up the stirring anthem, which was heard standing, and which was loudly applauded.

The whole scene has now been cut out of the performance. The censorship has been abolished, but audiences themselves exercise their own veto.

LONDON CLOCKS RUN WILD

Scientists Urge Adoption of Standard Time for Metropolis.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—The report of the committee of the British Science Guild on the synchronigation of clocks urges the adoption of a vigorous campaign with a view to securing some beginning of the system of synchronizing the public clocks of London. At present great confusion prevails in this matter. The nearest approach to a standard time public clock in London at present, says the report, is probably that in the clock tower at Westminster. From the report of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, read at the annual visitation, on June 8, 1903, it would appear that the maximum error of "Big Ben" during the preceding year did not exceed three seconds, except on two occasions.

It is suggested by the committee that, as a beginning, clocks like that at St. Martin's-le-Grand and the Royal Exchange should be automatically or electrically synchronized once or twice a day, so as to exhibit consistently the standard time.

The roof of the nave of Salisbury Cathedral in England, which is being repaired, is covered with sheet lead that contains a large percentage of silver, and to prevent fraud the workmen are obliged to melt it on the cathedral premises.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The New York team lost the second game of the series today to Chicago by the score of 2 to 3. Brown and Matthewson, two of the leading pitchers of the country, were opposing each other in the combat. Neither team made an error during the exciting contest. For three innings the world's champions could not touch Matthewson but in the fourth inning they got to him for six hits that netted three runs and won the game.

As a result of Chicago's victory over New York today and the even break between Pittsburg and Philadelphia, greater interest is added to the race for the National League pennant. Chicago and Pittsburg are tied for second place, with New York but a game and a half ahead.

The National League park was taxed to its utmost capacity by the thousands of cheering and enthusiastic fans. By noon, as many business firms during the Summer give half holiday, the hundreds of early morning had become thousands, and squads of policemen were required at the various windows to preserve order. Many persons brought their lunches with them and sat munching at their food long before the first uniformed figure appeared from the clubhouse. When the gates were opened at noon the crowd was so great that traffic in the streets about the park was about stopped. The grandstand was filled up and before 1 o'clock the crowd was pouring into the field.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the management decided to close the gates. Hundreds were left standing on the outside and they became so eager to see the game that after a short while the gates were reopened and the crowds continud to pour through the stand onto the field. Score:

MISS GOLDING WINS RACE

STILL CHAMPION WOMAN SWIMMER OF NATION.

Holder of Title Defeats Miss Clara Hurst in Exciting Race on Hudson River.

Strong and smiling, Miss Elaine Golding, of Bath Beach, champion woman swimmer of the United States, won the race across the Hudson from Irvington to Piermont last Saturday, says the New York Tribune, in the record time of 1 hour and 28 minutes. Miss Clara Hurst, of Staten Island, was second, only two minutes behind Miss Golding, while Miss Ethel Due, of Brooklyn, was third, but did not finish for more than half an hour after the winner. Miss Elsie Thiel, the only other starter, became exhausted before the first mile was completed and had to be lifted into her guide boat. Miss Thiel held the lead for the first few hundred yards, but when the swimmers settled down to the powerful swinging stroke of the long grind she gradually dropped behind and when she gave up, was far behind the leaders.

The start was made from the Irvington dock, where thousands of spectators had gathered. Farmers came in from the surrounding country, and the little village was wrought up to a high state of excitement. The race was scheduled to start at 3:30, but it was not until an hour later that the first launch came across the river bearing the contestants, followed by another towing the guide boats. The river was thronged with small pleasure craft of all descriptions, canoes and launches predominating in number.

Just at 4:30 the rowboats poked their noses against the end of the dock and the women stood poised, waiting for the gun. Miss Thiel got a good start, and with her trudgeon stroke opened up a big gap on Miss Golding, who was in second place. Miss Due and Miss Hurst were fighting along close together a few yards in the rear. The Staten Island girl was swimming strong with her fast stroke, and it began to look as if she were going to have a walkaway. Miss Golding was moving along smoothly with an overhand strike which apparently required little energy. Miss Hurst began to creep away from Miss Due, who seemed to have got into difficulties, and was alternating with an overhand and slow side stroke.

It was soon seen, however, that the first three swimmers had been caught in a strong cross current which was caused by the defection of the rising tide by the Irvington dock, and were being carried out into the middle of the stream at a rapid rate. Miss Due had started furthest upstream and did not get the benefit of this cross current, but was carried up the river. When about in the middle of the river Miss Thiel had dropped back to third place and was making no headway. She signalled that she was going to give up and was pulled into her boat.

Then it was a heart-breaking struggle between the champion, who has never yet met defeat, and Miss Hurst. With only 50 yards between them they fought on, stroke for stroke, but the Bath Beach girl always kept her lead. Right into the shore she successfully resisted every challenge made by the girl who did so well in the Brooklyn Bridge-Coney Island swim last Sunday, and when she climbed up on to the float on the Piermont side she was greeted with a deafening salute from the boats gathered there to welcome. Miss Hurst finished just two minutes later in 1 hour and 26 minutes, and she was met by a hearty handclasp from Miss Golding.

Miss Due was still more than a mile from shore and more than a mile up the river, where she had been carried by the tide, when the other two women finished, but she kept on, and finally got to the float more than half an hour later.

He was offered advance money for picking by Salem parties, but only on condition that he would contract at 7 cents.

PLAN ANOTHER BIG TRUST

Scotch and English Malleable Ironmakers to Combine.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Plans are being prepared to form another huge trade combination, in this case to consist of all the malleable iron-makers of the United Kingdom. There are already powerful sectional organizations in England and Scotland, but these have hitherto chiefly concerned themselves with regulating the working arrangements and the selling prices of their various provinces. Lately the competition between manufacturers entered on a serious stage, and pourparlers have resulted in all interested agreeing that a better state of National business relationship might be attained.

It is intended to follow closely the lines of the English and Scotch steel combination, under which each producing district observes what are described as the legitimate claims that makers have on the trade of their own immediate localities. Then it is proposed to deal with the export branch of the industry. In this department the competition which prevails is little short of ruinous. For some years past Belgium has succeeded in practically monopolizing the trade with India in unmarked bars, which used to be looked upon as belonging to British makers.

It is believed that by judicious co-operation, and what will really amount to a control over prices, this trade can be recovered.

GRAMOPHONE SAVES SOULS

Missionaries in Ceylon Find Canned Sermons Invaluable Aid.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—As an adjunct to the success of foreign missions the value of the gramophone has not yet been generally recognized. But Wesleyan missionaries in Ceylon have employed it to great purpose. They have found that, thanks to the influence of the "talking machine," they have been able to penetrate districts hitherto closed against them. So great, indeed, has been the influence of the gramophone that Hindu priests soon found it necessary to imitate the English missionaries, and procure "talking machines" for themselves.

The effect of this report from Ceylon will doubtless have its trading importance. All the missionary societies, it may be suspected, will have pressed upon their attention the most suitable makes for use in the mission field. The situation suggests, at all events, that the efforts of missionary undertakings may in future not depend so largely upon the actual number of men in the field.

Given native adherents who are faithful to the cause, and the addresses of missionaries can be reproduced broadcast throughout the country.

Committed to State Asylum.

HILLSBORO, Or., Aug. 29.—(Special.)—County Judge Goodin today adjudged John Losli, of Helvetia, insane, and ordered him committed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Salem. Losli was confined at Salem 31 years ago. Recently he threatened to kill Mrs. Schwarz, who called to collect money. He also threatened to kill a 10-year-old boy. Losli told his neighbors that he constantly conversed with ghosts and that he was the devil's "right-hand man."

As there have been a great number of good lists submitted, we have decided to increase the number of winners from 12 to 18. We are very sorry that we cannot give a Rocker to each one of the contestants, as their task was a greater one than we anticipated. Any one, however, who submitted a list of over 300 words will receive a smaller premium if called for at our store. The Rockers will be delivered to the winners during this week.
