ASSESS RAILROADS AT $119,525,433

Washington Tax Commissioners Announce Assessment on Four Roads.

SIXTY PER CENT VALUATION

Findings Regarding Tacoma Eastern Not Yet Completed—Street Railway Companies Are Assessed at $25,000,000.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—All railroad property in the state is assessed at $119,525,433, telegraph companies at $422,834, and street railway companies at about $25,000,000, by the State Board of Tax Commissioners, according to figures given out this evening by Commissioner J. E. Frost. These do not include the Tacoma Eastern Railroad, which figures have not yet been completed.

These assessments are made by the Commission for the first time this year and are all based upon a 60 per cent valuation. Notices were sent out to the corporations tonight notifying them of the assessments in advance of the meeting of the State Board of Equalization, which by law should be Monday, but on account of the holiday will not assemble until Wednesday of next week.

The assessment of railroad property is about $75,700,000 increase over the valuations of last year and the figures are based largely upon 60 per cent of what the Railroad Commission found was the present value of the roads.

The Northern Pacific assessment is $66,600,000, Great Northern $55,400,000, O. R. & N. $9,900,000, Spokane, Portland & Seattle $3,000,000.

The Tacoma Eastern valuation hearing by the Railroad Commission was held last week and the findings have not been completed.

The detailed figures include an assessment of $376,613 for the Western Union and $45,771 for the Postal Telegraph Company.

QUESTIONS FOR TEACHERS

STATE SUPERINTENDENT ISSUES CIRCULAR OF INFORMATION.

Applicants for Certificates Must Make Careful Study of Specified Works to Qualify.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Superintendent J. H. Ackerman is sending out a circular giving the sources of examination questions for the year 1909. Special attention is called to those in literature.

One year ago the plan was adopted of basing fifty per cent of the questions in this subject upon certain English classics, three for each examination to be chosen from the required list in the state high school course of study.

The purpose of this requirement is to cause teachers to master at least three classics before attempting to teach. Such questions are asked that it is impossible for an applicant to be successful unless he has made a careful study of the specified works. Manuscripts from the recent state examinations show that the desired results are being obtained.

Teachers are making a study of the writings of the authors about whom they are to teach, and are dropping the old-time method of memorizing long lists of names, and dates of births and deaths.

Following are the source of questions:

Arithmetic—One-fifth from State Course of Study, four-fifths from Smith.

Civil Government—Strong & Schafer.

English Literature—February, 1909: (a) One-half from texts, Newcomer's English Literature and Newcomer's American Literature; (b) One-half from the following classics: Lowell, "The Vision of Sir Launfal" (Riv. lit. ser.); Webster, "The First Bunker Hill Oration" (Riv. lit. ser.); Scott, "Marmion" (Pocket Classics). August, 1909: (a) One-half from texts, Newcomer's English Literature and Newcomer's American Literature; (b) One-half from the following classics: Shakespeare, "Julius Caesar" (Riv. lit. ser); Ruskin, "Sesame and Lilies" (Riv. lit. ser); Carlyle, essays on Burns and Burns' poems (Pocket Classics).

Geography—One-fifth from State Course, four-fifths from Redway & Hinman.

Grammar—One-fifth from State Course of Study, four-fifths from Buehler.

History, U. S.—One-fifth from State Course of Study, four-fifths from Buehler.

Orthography—Reed's Word Lessons.

Physical Geography—Tarr's New Physical Geography.

Physiology—Krohn, Hutchinson.

Reading—State Course of Study, White's Art of Teaching, Oral Reading.

School Law—School laws of Oregon.

Theory and Practice—White's Art of Teaching.

Writing—Outlook Writing System, tests in writing.

Algebra—Wells' Algebra for Secondary Schools.

Bookkeeping—Office Methods and Practical Bookkeeping, Part I.

Composition—Herrick & Damon.

Physics—Millikan & Gale's A First Course in Physics.

Psychology—Buell.

Botany—Bergen, Elements of Botany.

Geometry—Wentworth, Plane and Solid Geometry, questions on Plane Geometry.

History, General—Myers' General History.

An examination is required upon the first 12 subjects for a first grade county certificate valid for three years; upon the first 18 subjects for a state certificate valid for five years; and upon the 21 subjects for a state diploma valid for life.

STEALS FOR SWEETHEART

BOY TURNS BURGLAR IN ORDER TO BUY LUXURIES FOR GIRL.

Prisoner Confesses to a Number of Robberies and Is Sent to Reformatory.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—A desire to treat his sweetheart to the best in the land and the conviction he could not do this on the salary made as bootblack, led to the downfall of Bert Davis, colored, 20 years old, who was arrested on Thursday for burglary, and admitted being responsible for a long series of petty robberies in this city this Summer.

He was brought before Judge Neterer, of the Superior Court, today, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to from eight months to 14 years in the reformatory. The boy started his career as a prizefighter, but when he quit his regular employment as porter, found he was running short of funds and could not give his sweetheart buggy rides, dinners, etc., to which he had accustomed her.

He then fell in with a professional thief who coached him and from that time on has mystified the local police by many robberies, until caught recently and "sweated."

CARRIES ALASKA SALMON

Steamer North King Arrives at Astoria From Nushagak River.

ASTORIA, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—The steamer North King, tender for the Portland-Alaska Packers' Association's cannery at Nushagak River, Alaska, arrived in this afternoon. F. A. Dealey, manager of the association's cannery, was on board. He reports a most successful season and 57,000 cases of salmon, of which 45,000 cases are Alaska reds, were put up.

The North King sailed from Nushagak on August 24, after towing out the ship Berlin, which is bringing down the cannery crew and pack.

On the day that the Berlin sailed, the Moore, the last of the Alaska Packers' Association's vessels, also left port and all the balance of the salmon fleet had departed prior to that time.

In the Bering Sea the North King encountered strong head winds, but on reaching the Pacific a westerly breeze was picked up. It is expected the Berlin was delayed by the adverse winds before reaching the pass, so she will probably not arrive here for several days yet.

CHAFIN TALKS AT ALBANY

Prohibition Candidate for President Continues Campaign.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Eugene Chafin, Prohibition candidate for President of the United States, spoke in "dry" Albany tonight. He arrived on the Cottage Grove local and was met at the depot by a large delegation of local Prohibitionists and the Albany Elks' band which escorted him through the leading streets to the opera-house, where he addressed a large audience. W. P. Elmore, of Brownsville, president of the Linn County Prohibition Club, presided.

Chafin Leaves for South.

In order to continue his tour of this state in the interest of his candidacy, Eugene W. Chafin, Presidential nominee of the Prohibition party, left the city early yesterday morning for Woodburn. He will also visit Salem, Eugene and many other cities in the state before leaving for Washington.

SIGHTS COMET OFF COAST

Surfman at Yaquina Bay Makes Astronomical Discovery.

NEWPORT, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—A comet or other celestial body of great brightness appeared off Yaquina Bay yesterday afternoon between noon and 1 o'clock. It was first reported by John Doty, surfman of the life-saving crew, who, with Thomas Cahill, was at the old Life-Saving Station three miles south of the river. The comet, if such it was, was bright enough to be easily distinguished, though the sun was shining.

The direction of its movement was almost due west. When first seen it was high in the heavens. It gradually sank and finally disappeared behind a bank of clouds.

KILLED BY CONTACT

Live Wire Quickly Ends Life of Baker City Man.

SECOND MISHAP OF DAY

Curiosity About Wire Which Shocked Deaf Mute Costs Glenn Saunders' Life—Bride of Two Months Widowed.

BAKER CITY, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—This evening at 7 o'clock Charles Shannon, a deaf and dumb boy, came in contact with an electric light pole on the corner of First and Center streets and was knocked to the ground. After some little effort he was resuscitated and taken to his home. Within twenty minutes afterward Bert Spalding met Glen W. Saunders and his father on the opposite side of the street and were engaged in discussing the accident, when the suggestion was made that they go over and look at the pole.

This they did, when Mr. Saunders touched the wire with the end of his fingers and uttered a groan and was dead. His fingers adhered to the wire until his father and Mr. Spalding pulled him away. Physicians were called and used every means known to science to restore life without avail. A jury was empaneled immediately, and after hearing the testimony, returned the following verdict:

"That said Glen W. Saunders came to his death by an electric shock caused by coming in contact with a live wire or cable used to raise and lower the street light on First and Center streets."

The whole city was thrown into a state of excitement as a result of the two accidents coming so closely together. The electric light company could give no reason for the charge of electricity in the wire leading to the reel on the pole.

Mr. Saunders was a young married man in the employ of the Baer Mercantile Company, and was highly respected. He leaves a widow, to whom he was married but two and a half months ago.

DRIVEN OUT BY COUGARS

GOVERNMENT SIGNAL MAN ABANDONS POST.

Flashes Heliograph Message for Aid. Engineer on Survey Sends Firearms for Defense.

NEWPORT, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—G. S. Hill, assistant engineer of the United States Geodetic Survey, was almost defeated in his plans for making a survey of Lincoln County this week, by cougars. The story told by one of his subordinates, who made a hurried trip to Newport for firearms, is redolent of blood and hairbreadth escapes. Carl Tillotson, stationed on Table Mountain, just south of Yaquina Bay, is the central personage in the trouble that threatened to balk a whole Government project.

In order to make the survey complete Engineer Hill had to resort to the heliograph. He stationed men on Bald Mountain, on Table Mountain and on a mountain just back of Beaver Creek, who were to receive and send signals by reflectors. The man on Table Mountain, which is a rugged butte rising to a height of over 1700 feet, was young Tillotson. Tillotson's orders were explicit. He was to watch for signals, transmit them diligently and at the same time reply to all questions addressed to him. Chief Hill was satisfied that all was well on Table Mountain before he left for the northern end of the county.

Almost immediately Bald Mountain failed to "find" Table Mountain, though the heliograph was worked overtime. Chief Hill perspired and wondered. A day later Table Mountain woke up and began sending unmistakable signals of distress. A man was dispatched to see what the matter was. The messenger found Tillotson in a cabin at the foot of the mountain. He swore cougars had attacked him the night before and that he would not return. However, with a companion, he went back to his lonely post and it was soon reported to Hill that Table Mountain was again working.

But the next day the heliograph failed to rouse Tillotson. After waiting two days, Hill sent a registered letter by the mail carrier to find out what the matter was. He soon learned that his men had again been frightened away by cougars, which, it appears, resort to a huge rock near the new station to sharpen their claws and made the night generally hideous.

The Table Mountain station is an absolute necessity for the completion of the survey and Chief Hill has ordered that it be held at all cost. A rush order for firearms was sent to Newport and Toledo and Tillotson and a companion are now fortified and holding the mountain against cougars.
