

PAID FIGURES FOR OKLAHOMA PLAN

How Haskell Boosts Bank Guarantee by Deposit of State Funds.

NATIONAL BANKS GAINING

Though Deposits Not Guaranteed, They Show Large Increase—Guarantee Fund Deposited in Banks Without Interest.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—There are some features of the Oklahoma bank deposit guarantee law that William J. Bryan does not refer to in his campaign boost of the "Oklahoma idea." For instance, a statement was recently prepared by Governor C. N. Haskell and given to the public through Roy Oakes, secretary of the State Banking Board, quoting figures that show that deposits in the Oklahoma guaranteed banks have increased $4,599,221 since the law went into effect on February 4 last.

Mr. Bryan comments lovingly upon this fact, as proving that the people like the deposit guarantee plan. What Mr. Bryan does not dwell upon, however, is the fact that increase in the deposits in the guaranteed banks is due to the deposit in those banks of a special fund belonging to the state, controlled by state officials and amounting to $2,500,000. The money belongs to the state, school fund and not to private individuals, as the campaign orators seem to want the people to believe.

Increase All Comes From State.
Under the statehood act Congress set aside $5,000,000 of the proceeds of the land sales for the benefit of the Oklahoma school fund. When the new state began business, $1,000,000 of this amount was withdrawn, and the balance of $4,000,000 left in the United States Treasury. After the deposit guarantee law went into effect, however, the Governor withdrew the $2,500,000 and deposited it in the state banks. That accounts for practically all of the increase in the deposits boasted of by Mr. Bryan.

The same statement shows that during the same period the states withdrew from the National or unsecured banks a total of $449,918. These figures are intended by the Democratic spellbinders to show that the depositors' guarantee law has resulted in a great increase of deposits in state banks protected by the guarantee fund and a correspondingly large loss to the unsecured banks.

Unsecured Banks Have Increase.
A close examination of the figures, however, shows that during the period from February 14 to May 14 the National banks actually gained $1,000,000 from sources outside the state funds $49,112.

Another feature of the guarantee plan, as it is working in Oklahoma, has not been dwelt upon by Mr. Bryan. It is the fact that the fund which is being held to guarantee losses by bank failures is deposited in some bank or banks of the state, and the banks who are getting the use of the money are not required to pay interest upon it to the state. This furnishes a snug sum upon which someone may speculate without any outlay of interest, if he should so desire.

HARRY THAW TO BE CITED

Failure to Meet His Creditors May Cause Trouble.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 12.—A petition for a certificate citing Harry K. Thaw for contempt for his failure to attend the second meeting of his creditors at the court today was before Referee in Bankruptcy Blair today by Mr. Boyd, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., representing a Poughkeepsie hotelkeeper. Mr. Blair later issued the certificate.

It is now believed that Mr. Boyd will file the certificate in the United States court and ask for a rule to force Thaw to come to Pittsburgh and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. This will probably be done next week.

Roger O'Mara, trustee for Thaw, returned from Poughkeepsie today. He said Thaw was well, but was not particularly anxious to come to Pittsburgh at this time unless his creditors wanted him to come.

THAW'S JAIL IS CHANGED

Sheriff Chanler Gets Rid of Unwelcome Prisoner.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Harry K. Thaw will be transferred on Monday from the Dutchess County jail to the Poughkeepsie jail at a special term in this city.

The White Plains jail was selected because Thaw's habeas corpus proceedings, under which he hopes to obtain a jury trial as to his sanity, are to be heard by Justice Mills at White Plains, on September 21. Thaw would have been transferred to White Plains on that date, and the effect of Justice Mills' new order is simply to send him there a week earlier than intended.

The application was made by Edward Perkins, the attorney for Sheriff Chanler, who has never liked being custodian of Thaw, and who took advantage of the report of Secretary McLaughlin of the State Prison Commission on conditions in the Poughkeepsie jail to ask the court to transfer Thaw.

Charles Morschauer, attorney for Thaw, made no opposition.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—The United States gunboat Vixen was run into by the tugboat Ogden in the Delaware River today and damaged. As a precaution the war vessel was beached on a mud flat. Henry Berger, a gunner's mate, was injured and was removed to a hospital.

The cause of the collision is not definitely known, but it is said that the Captain of the tug had temporarily left the wheelhouse in charge of a deckhand.

PORTLAND GIRL ENDS LIFE

GRACE FEIGHAN DRINKS ACID AFTER BUTTE PARTY.

"Third and Last Man," She Writes in Note Left on Table in Room.

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Grace Feighan, an attractive young woman of 19, formerly of Portland, Or., after a merry party in her rooms last night, swallowed a large quantity of carbolic acid. Her body was found in bed this morning. Under the acid bottle on a nearby table was this note:

"You are the third and last man I'll ever have anything to do with, so here goes."

"GRACE."
From information in the hands of the officers, it appears that the young woman became enamored of a postal clerk in the employ of the Great Northern Railway, and he had led her to believe that he loved her. She had come to Butte from Elkhart, Mont., to meet him and apparently found that the man had another sweetheart in this city. The man's name the officers refuse to divulge.

On the floor of the room was the official found a note which had been shoved under the door. It read as follows:

"I have called about ten times and could not wake you up."
"G. S."

It is supposed to be the man for whose love the girl had killed herself, and it is the theory of the authorities that, fearing the girl would carry out her threat to commit suicide, he had called in the morning in an attempt to dissuade her, but his mission was too late, she apparently having taken the acid soon after her party had broken up.

ALL CRIMINALLY LIABLE

MISSOULA, Mont., Sept. 12.—The sealed verdict brought in last night by the coroner's jury sitting at Plains, on the Northern Pacific wreck of Saturday morning, September 5, resulting in the death of nine persons, was opened this morning by Coroner Seward. The verdict holds G. A. Mitchell, the operator, and H. J. Keeley, dispatcher, to be criminally responsible for the death of nine men, and finds Chief Dispatcher E. M. Ringer criminally culpable. The railroad is also held liable.

SUNDAY PLAY NECESSARY

District Attorney Makes Plea for American League Men.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 12.—Attorney Siskhan, in pleading today for a postponement of the hearing of the Detroit American League team for playing a game of Sunday baseball, was opened this morning by Coroner Seward. It was "a two weeks ago, declared that it was "a matter of public necessity" that the team be permitted to go out to Bennett Park for morning practice. Justice Stern, who had listened to the argument, thereupon postponed the hearing for a week.

FRIEND OF CARNEGIE SHOT

Grandson of Iron-Master's Partner Mysteriously Wounded.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 12.—Andrew Klonman III, aged 21 years, a grandson of Andrew Klonman, a partner of Andrew Carnegie in the pioneer iron and steel business, was found shot through the head and shoulder on the Grant Boulevard near Center Avenue early today. The young man was hurried to a hospital in a critical condition, and members of his family were summoned to his bedside. Relatives of young Klonman, who is employed at the Carnegie Steel Company, claim that he was the victim of a highwayman, and declare a sum of money, his watch and several papers are missing from his pockets.

The police are puzzled over the mysterious shooting, and are not ready to accept the theory that Klonman was held up, robbed and shot.

The place where Klonman was shot borders on a fashionable residence section of the city, and the affair has become enmeshed of a postal clerk in the employ of the Great Northern Railway, and he had led her to believe that he loved her. She had come to Butte from Elkhart, Mont., to meet him and apparently found that the man had another sweetheart in this city. The man's name the officers refuse to divulge.

On the floor of the room was the official found a note which had been shoved under the door. It read as follows:

"I have called about ten times and could not wake you up."
"G. S."

It is supposed to be the man for whose love the girl had killed herself, and it is the theory of the authorities that, fearing the girl would carry out her threat to commit suicide, he had called in the morning in an attempt to dissuade her, but his mission was too late, she apparently having taken the acid soon after her party had broken up.

These Will Be Grand Piano Days at Eilers

"What is a Grand Piano?" we asked one of Portland's prominent musicians yesterday.

"What is a Grand Piano?" this man of music and temperament replied. "In the heart of the woods a storm is raging; trees, centuries old, are the keys; the mighty performer is the wind. Hear the sighs and sobs, the shouts and whispers, the excitement and accentuation, the melancholy, the intensity and the power, the vibration of agitated branches, of the sweeping of unseen hands. Is it not a glorious, swelling anthem? Fluttering leaves and little twigs, like grace notes, ripple down. Suddenly all is rest; peace and contentment and quiet; the storm is over. The magnificent melody ceases."

"What this means in Nature—that is the grand piano to the musician. A grand piano—ah, it is the culmination, the cornucopia of the world's most glorious music. It is the instrument for genius. It thrills and responds and throbs. It glories at the master's touch."

Should not a Grand Piano, then, develop, not genius, perhaps, but musical ability? Could a student hear a Paderewski, then return to his or her Upright Piano, no matter how good, and feel content? Could a mistress of the home "give up her music" had she once made captive the power of it in a Grand Piano? The Grand Piano is the sovereign of pianos. The Square Piano for the youngster, maybe, who is taking the first initiatory steps. The Upright, always for the home of limited size. But the Grand for the music-room, the home of art and luxury, the home of the artist-musicians, who live to woo the muse of melody, as only the Grand Piano will permit.
