BILLIARD HALLS TO CLOSE SUNDAY LID CLAMPED DOWN BY CAMERON.

TILLAMOOK TEACHER DIES IN PORTLAND.

The late Mrs. W. R. Rutherford, Mrs. R. Rutherford (nee Neva J. Whitney) died in Portland on Wednesday night. Mrs. Rutherford had been employed with her husband in the city schools of Tillamook for the past two years, and had been taking some special work in this city during the summer. She had taken her degree at the Oregon State Normal at Monmouth and was to have been employed for the coming year in the city schools of Eugene.

Mrs. Rutherford had been identified for some years with the work in the city and graded schools of the state and had a large circle of acquaintances. She was sick but a few hours, her death resulting from a complication of ill.

issued by District Attorney Cameron and Chief Grimsbacher has been instructed to carry out the order of the District Attorney.

Since the Sunday lid was put down on Portland, billiard halls have been permitted to run. And their business has increased so marvelously that many new places have started. Men and boys who could not find more profitable and pleasing entertainment have spent the greater part of the day playing billiards and pool and the Sunday lid has consequently been a great financial aid to these halls.

District Attorney Cameron, however, has decided to close them on Sunday and has instructed Chief Grimsbacher to give them one week's notice. The notice will be served today and all such places will be closed next Sunday.

In a letter addressed to the Chief yesterday, Mr. Cameron explains that he has received many complaints against billiard halls and similar places remaining open on Sunday and instructs the Chief to order them closed.

The section to which the District Attorney referred in his letter includes the Sunday-closing of "any store, shop, grocery, ball alley, billiard room, or tipping house," but excepts dry goods stores, doctor shops, undertaker shops, livery stables, butchers and bakers.

So this new Sunday closing order will include all the bowling alleys, the WRITES LETTERS AND DIES William Hughes Shoots Himself After Suffering From Blow.

Deliberately planning self-destruction and writing a number of letters, one to the Coroner of this city, William H. Hughes, a canvasser, shot himself through the head and died early yesterday morning in the Arcade House, 144 1/2 First street.

Hughes is said to have been suffering from melancholia. While employed at a logging camp several months ago he suffered a fracture of the skull as the result of an accidental blow, and he had since been temporarily deranged.

The body was found by Mrs. Stribley, manager of the hotel. She went to the room for the purpose of cleaning it, but receiving no response to her knocks, opened the door with a pass key. On the bed lay the dead man with a revolver in his hand.

Three letters, evidently written shortly before the shooting, were found in the room. One was addressed to the Coroner, another to Mrs. E. E. Hughes, 705 Union street, San Francisco, and the third to J. R. Cauthorn, 345 1/2 Morrison street. Mr. Cauthorn was his employer. In the letter to Mrs. E. E. Hughes it was stated that it would be useless to ascertain the names or location of the dead man's relatives and it also expressed his indifference as to what disposition was made of his body. Hughes was apparently 40 years of age. An inquest will not be held.

W. C. T. U. WILL VOICE VIEWS ON SOCIAL EVIL

State Convention Will Take City Officials to Task for Not Enforcing the Laws.

BY ADA WALLACE UNRUH. IT IS expected that there will be some strong resolutions passed at the coming state convention of the W. C. T. U., October 8 to 9, upon both the social evil and the teaching of positive purity, the reform and reformatory extremities of the question of personal purity which has found in the W. C. T. U. its most effective advocate.

This question is a live one and will be as long as the social evil flaunts itself in the faces of good women. The agitation of this matter in the lawmaking body of our city just at present has brought it to the immediate attention of some of the workers who are always alive to the questions of public import. That there could be any difference of opinion in regard to the advisability of strenuous closing of the bawdy-houses of our city would seem hardly possible to one who had not followed the various manifestations of the average mind in the handling of moral questions. The objections that are made and the doubts that are raised in the discussion of this question by good and usually loyal people would be absurd, if they were not so pathetic, when one realizes that it is this very lack of a unanimity which presents the greatest obstacle to the necessary support that city officials must have, no matter how brave they may be, if they are to make a successful outcome in the closing of the most dangerous evil and traffic in the city.

What we need now is a more strenuous moral conscience. If a thing is right, why then do it, without regard to consequences. This must apply not only to individuals, but to civic as well. It is true that in a matter of such import as the closing of the North End our officials would do well to build up every possible bulwark of defense to warrant the largest possible support when the attempt is made, as it will doubtless do if so be we
