

Drill Corps of Oregon Commandery No. 1 Wins Banner at Annual Conclave

TEAM OF OREGON COMMANDERY NO. 1, KNIGHTS TEMPLARS, PHOTOGRAPHED AT GRANTS PASS

ANY have been the stately ceremonials and also enjoyable social visits of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templars of Oregon, but the most auspicious occasion of them all, the annual conclave, just completed at Grants Pass, Or., where officers of the Grand Commandery were elected and installed for the ensuing year, and where the drill corps of Oregon Commandery No. 1 won the prize banner for the best competitive drill.

Grants Pass had its latehasting out all the time, and its watchword was "Welcome." It is safe to say that much of the success of the visit was due to the general interest in and the fine work done by Oregon Commandery's drill team of 19 men.

Last Wednesday evening about 40 Knights Templars, many of whom were accompanied by their ladies, representing the Oregon Commandery of this city, Astoria and other portions of Eastern Oregon, boarded two special Pullman cars at the Terminal depot in this city for Grants Pass, and en route met commandery members at Salem, Albany and Eugene, landing in Grants Pass about 40 strong.

Grants Pass was prettily decorated in honor of the occasion, all citizens helping with a will. Knights Templars of Grants Pass and Ashland met the visiting brethren at the depot and escorted them to the asylum where the grand conclave was opened and business transacted. This afternoon all Knights Templars attending the conclave visited the baseball grounds for the chief event of the visit, the competitive drill. During recent years the victors representing the best-drilled team belong to Delamoy Commandery No. 6, of Salem, Or., but they did not enter this year. Oregon Commandery No. 1 won attention from the start, the well-executed evolutions winning the warmest applause from those present, and when the decision was announced that Oregon Commandery No. 1 had won the prize banner, general satisfaction was expressed. The picture of Oregon Commandery No. 1 drill team is the one representing the Sir Knights drawn up in line, in front of the cars, and the names of the Sir Knights, reading from left to right, are as follows:

Sir Roy Quackenbush, Sir V. A. Avery, Sir D. G. Tomasin, Sir J. W. Latimer, Sir William C. Bristol, Sir W. H. Monroe, Sir N. G. Willis, Sir O. S. Cutler, Sir H. L. Pitcock, Sir J. L. Bailey, Sir Clyde Evans, Sir Fred O. Jennings, Sir Charles B. Frazier, Sir Joseph McMichael, Sir H. J. Schulerman, Sir A. H. Lee, Sir M. Billings, Sir Carl V. Lively and Sir William Davis (captain).

County, Or., the formation in the same, excepting Sir William Davis (captain) stands at the extreme left of the line. These grand officers of the grand commandery, Knights Templars of Oregon, were elected to serve through the ensuing year: Right eminent grand commander, Sir Albert M. Knapp, of this city; very eminent deputy grand commander, Sir Thomas C. Taylor, of Pendleton; eminent grand generalissimo, Sir William A. VERY EMINENT SIR ALBERT M. KNAPP, ELECTED GRAND COMMANDER, GRAND GENERALISSIMO, OREGON COMMANDERY NO. 1, KNIGHTS TEMPLARS, OF OREGON

Tuttie, of Astoria, and eminent grand captain of the guard, Sir D. G. Tomasin. That evening, Thursday, a banquet was served in the asylum to the Sir Knights by the ladies of Grants Pass, and after the banquet, a most interesting public installation of the grand officers, previously elected, took place. Speeches were next in order, and George H. Durham, of Grants Pass, made an excellent toast-master. The speech made by Right Eminent Grand Commander Sir Albert M. Knapp, of this city, had a welcome keynote. "The Grand Commandery," he responded to by Past Right Eminent Grand Commander Sir Frank J. Miller, of Albany. "Temple Masonry," by Right Eminent Grand Commander Sir Albert M. Knapp, of this city. "The Ladies," responded to by Past Grand Commander D. B. Mason, of Albany, and "The Lethargy of Knights Templar," responded to by Sir William C. Bristol, of this city. Friday morning the outing was continued with an enjoyable auto drive along the Rogue River Valley, turning in at a park, where a delicious lunch was served, consisting of venison, fish, fruit and other dainties. It was with genuine regret that the visiting Sir Knights said good-bye to pleasant Grants Pass and took cars for home.

VETERAN WORKERS OF W. C. T. U. WILL CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Ada Wallace Unruh Names Some of Those Who Will Be Present at Demorest Medal Contest, October 6.

BY ADA WALLACE UNRUH. AS THE preparation of the anniversary of the W. C. T. U. comes near we are finding many of the women who were with us in the beginning. Mrs. Hoxter, now residing in Portland, was the first superintendent of the scientific temperance department and it was through her efforts largely that Oregon was one of the early states to adopt that law. Mrs. Hoxter has never slackened her efforts but she is today as much interested as ever in the temperance work. She assures us that she will be with us in our jubilee. Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway was for a time a member of the W. C. T. U., but her work proved too broad when the "All-around policy" was adopted and Mrs. Duniway became the principal exponent of one of the departments of our work, that of franchise, and has been largely instrumental in keeping an agitation in Oregon for the enfranchisement of women. But while Mrs. Duniway is no longer one of us she is often seen at the headquarters of the W. C. T. U. when there is a particularly hard knot to untie in the suffrage work. In memory of "Auld Lang Syne" she will undoubtedly be in our anniversary. Mrs. Lucia Addison was an early worker, coming from the historic city of Boston, and while not here at the first, has been identified with much of the work of the Oregon W. C. T. U. A little later came the writer of this article and Mrs. Helen Barford, both of whom will be in attendance during the entire session. Mrs. Smith French, of The Dalles, will also be with us. She is one of the pioneers and is now the president of one of our best unions. Mrs. Rebecca evening, which will be Friday, October 9. Jennings Demorest, a strong temperance man, said: "I am a man of slow speech, but the Lord has given me money and I can speak through others and these young people as well." It was this man, who by the expenditure of large sums of money, inaugurated these oratorical contests, with a series of medal prizes, culminating with a very beautiful gold medal with diamond setting. Before one can compete for this medal he must have won all of the medals in the series of contests below. This gives us promise that the merit of the readings which will be given in the programme here will be of unusual character. This method of educating public sentiment soon became a popular one among the W. C. T. U. workers and when Mr. Demorest died it was left to our organization to take up and carry on the work. Both Mr. and Madam Demorest were earnest members of the W. C. T. U. and they were glad to have their venture in the field of reform left in such hands. The closing night of our convention will be given to the diamond medal contest.

MR. TAFT AS PARDONER

Interesting Labor Decision When He Governed the Philippines.

LOST VALLEY, Or., Sept. 26.—(To the Editor.)—Some days ago, Secretary Straus referred in a speech to the act of Governor Taft in pardoning Isabelo de los Reyes, a Filipino agitator, under sentence for "conspiring to enhance the price of labor." I send a complete copy of the Governor's decision, clipped from the Manila Callnews of January 30, 1902. To fully appreciate Governor Taft's magnanimity, it should be considered that Reyes was an agitator of the worst type and that he worked upon ignorant, half-savage men. He was one of the founders of the hysterical movement called the "Filipino Independent Catholic Church." After securing his pardon, he went to Honkong, and was there, agitating from a safe distance, when last I heard of him. WALTER F. GERREN.

Manila Cable News. Governor Taft has pardoned Isabelo de los Reyes of the crime of conspiring to enhance the price of labor. The Governor finds that this is a crime under the existing law, but that the law is contrary to American ideas. He demonstrates his entire familiarity with the character of Reyes, but holds that he would not be justified in holding the prisoner merely because he is an enemy of the Government. The Governor's review of the case is as follows: "The Government of the Philippine Islands—Office of the Civil Governor, Manila, January 20, 1902.—Isabelo de los Reyes asks that he be pardoned on the ground that Judge Roxas in convicting him committed judicial error and did not grant him justice at the trial, in that he did not postpone the trial so as to permit Reyes to obtain further witnesses. "I am convinced that Judge Roxas gave Reyes a fair trial under the law, and that under the law he was properly convicted. The substance under which Reyes was convicted punishes a combination to enhance the price of labor wrongfully. As this is continued, it means a combination to enhance the price of labor where the price sought by the combination is in the opinion of the court excessive, or where the combination is of so many persons as to involve danger to the state. The statute is not in accordance with modern American views. The right of laborers to unite for the purpose of enhancing labor by withdrawing from the employment of those who make the demand for labor is generally conceded under American jurisprudence. "It is only when organizations of laborers use as a means of bettering their condition and enhancing the price of labor intimidation, threats and actual violence, either toward their employer or toward fellow-laborers that the association or combination becomes unlawful. The form of unlawful intimidation is sometimes by a 'boycott,' sometimes by picketing, and sometimes by direct violence. In the new criminal code, which I have prepared, but not adopted, the American rules of jurisprudence are recognized, and no combination merely to enhance labor can be wrongful because of the excessive price requested or the number engaged in the combination, if no unlawful or violent means are present. For this reason, and because I do not think the statute as construed to be in accordance with American principles, I shall pardon Isabelo de los Reyes and remit what remains of his sentence. Judge Roxas excluded some evidence against Reyes, which under the American laws of evidence I should have thought competent to show that Reyes had engaged in a conspiracy to intimidate workmen to join a strike and leave their employment, but this part of the case failed because of the exclusion of the evidence. Had this fact been established, I should not have granted any pardon. The convicted man is a born agitator, entirely irresponsible, found in writing and in speech, who has at times earnestly and vigorously in Spain and elsewhere, striven to subvert this Government. My own experience with him has sometimes led me to believe that he does not realize what he is doing. It would perhaps be better, so far as the man is concerned, to retain him in custody, if possible, but the policy of retaining a man for one reason on a charge for which he ought not to be imprisoned, because he might become dangerous to the state for other causes, is not one ordinarily to be followed. Moreover, his present custody does not seem to prevent his publication of his views on every issue that attracts his prolific mind. What has been heretofore said is not to be taken as an indication that should Isabelo de los Reyes hereafter take part in movements which are either seditious or disturbing to the public peace, he will not be prosecuted with vigor, or that he will not, when convicted under the proper law, be allowed to remain in jail and prevented from issuing manifestoes and proclamations from his place of confinement. I am assured by his friends who have urged his release that hereafter we shall not be troubled by his actions, but I venture to doubt their ability to control him any more than they can prevent a torpedo from making a noise when it strikes the ground. I prefer to base my commutation of sentence on the ground above stated, that the law under which he was convicted is not in spirit in accordance with American principles. (Signed) WM. H. TAFT, CIVIL GOVERNOR.

No old sore can heal until the cause which produces it has been removed. External applications of salves, washes, lotions, etc., may reduce the inflammation and assist in keeping the place clean, but cannot cure the trouble because they do not reach its source. Old sores exist because the blood is infected with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the place. The nerves, tissues and fibres of the flesh are kept in a state of irritation and disease by being daily fed with the germ-laden matter through the circulation, making it impossible for the sore to heal. S. S. S. cures chronic sores by its purifying action on the blood. It gets down into the circulation, and removes the poison-producing germs, impurities and morbid matters which are responsible for the failure of the place to heal. S. S. S. makes the blood pure, fresh and healthy; then as new, rich blood is carried to the spot the healing process begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, new tissue begins to form, the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh, and soon the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, the safest and best blood purifier for young or old. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.
