

OFFER REFUGE TO BANISHED WOMEN

Denizens of Underworld to Be Properly Provided For.

CITIZENS TO THE RESCUE

Practical and Benevolent Persons Will Act as "Angels," Supplying Homes to Such as Desire and Aiding Some to Leave Town.

Backed benevolently to the bewildered denizens of the underworld, an "angel" has appeared to light their darkened way. Mysterious indeed was its appearance, but its coming has solved the problem as to what shall become of the unfortunates.

The "angel" appeared in the shape of a number of thoroughly practical and benevolent persons, who are willing to add the women in a sensible and practical manner. Homes will be provided for them in respectable quarters up-town, tickets, transportation and expenses will be provided them in case they desire to leave the city, and no coercive efforts will be made at reformation.

The question "Where?" that has already been raised to the police command to "move on" that will be given early Tuesday morning has been answered in advance by the coming of this "angel."

Will Find a Haven.

"Come to me," this "angel" is saying to the women who are to be evicted Tuesday. "Come up town and there you will be provided for. No questions will be asked, no past reviewed, no embarrassment caused, and no efforts will be made to force reformation. You may reform if you desire, and you will be given a chance to begin life over again, to start anew."

"But you need not do so unless you voluntarily express a desire to do so. If you care to go home, to go to any other city or place, no matter how far, we will give you transportation and expenses. In case you desire to remain in Portland you shall not be molested by intruders or obnoxious officials. You may remain here in one of the best hotels in the city, where everything will be provided. You may remain there as long as you desire, and you will receive aid and assistance not only to start another life, but to follow your own inclinations and go wherever you desire."

This, in substance, is the invitation that is extended to the unfortunates who are to be banished Tuesday. It is extended by several thoroughly practical persons, who are to remain in the background for obvious reasons. They guarantee that no woman shall be compelled to languish in jail, nor to suffer actual want, if she will let her case be known, or will apply in person or by telephone to the proper place.

The address of the proper place is being quickly circulated through the North End, and all the women who will accept. Included in this practical demonstration of willingness to aid the unfortunates are several of the most prominent citizens of Portland. Ample funds have been provided, and provision has been made to "surround these women with everything that they may need."

Many Already Leaving.

Already a large number of the unfortunates have departed the city. A dozen or more left yesterday morning for Salem, where they will continue their vacation. Others have moved up-town, readily finding quarters in apartment houses. These women and the keepers of the lodging-houses labor under the delusion that they will be able to ply their trade without the knowledge of the police. Chief Gritzmacher, however, has known of the disreputable character of these alleged hotels for weeks and they will be treated in the same manner as the North End places.

Other women, believing that they could successfully invade the residence districts, have moved into some of the most exclusive sections. In these cases they are accompanied by male consorts, and renting fine or dwelling, hope to elude the officers under the guise of a newly-arrived married couple.

Places Are Being Closed.

Closed were many of the haunts of revelry last night and darkened were the many-colored lights. Many of the women profess to be unable financially to help themselves, claiming that they have not sufficient money to leave the city. A few openly avow that they will remain where they are and go to jail, for they are unable to go elsewhere.

It is to these and all the other unfortunates that the invitation to come up-town has been made by certain practical philanthropists. By accepting they will avoid annoyance by the police, have all their wants provided and given another start, or receive expense and transportation to any place they desire to go.

TAKES BIG APPLE TO EAST

New York Capitalist Captivated by Hillsboro Fruit Display.

HILLSBORO, Or., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—A party of Oregon Electric officials, accompanied by Eastern capitalists interested in the company's Salem and Hillsboro lines, made a special trip here yesterday afternoon, on a tour of inspection.

One of the New York stockholders was an enthusiastic visitor at the fair, and asked for and received the largest apple ever grown in the county. He says he will have it sent to New York, and placed in the City Hall Museum, as indicative of what Hillsboro can do in apple growth.

Salem Arrests Postponed.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—Salem business men who are maintaining signs over the sidewalks in violation of city ordinances were not arrested today, as threatened, but all violators were given warning and the City Attorney was instructed to prepare complaints against all those who do not comply with the law.

ROW IN DEMOCRATIC CAMP

Confusion Twice Confounded Over Tactics of Non-Partisan Hosts.

Turmoil among local Democrats threatens to continue the coming week as a result of a non-partisan committee's attempted usurpation of the Democratic party machinery. The Kentucky Klick will receive, tomorrow, a report from a special committee which has been investigating the matter. The Klick committee is headed by T. J. Thornton, a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat, who was inspector of portofolios at Cincinnati under President Cleveland, and was succeeded by a Republican, now famed as Judge Landis. The Klick committee is expected to make a scathing report, calling for recognition of the regular committee of the Democratic state organization and deprecating the efforts of the non-partisan committee headed by C. S. Jackson, J. N. Teal and Jefferson Myers, to gain control of the party machinery.

SHINGLE PRICES TO TUMBLE

Canadian Mills Unable to Agree on Limitation of Output.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 3.—Shingles are expected to take a slump in the Canadian market as a consequence of dissension among the manufacturers, which yesterday came to a climax at a largely attended meeting of owners of mills in Vancouver and vicinity. The agreements as to price and limitation

BIG RALLY TUESDAY

Great Interest Aroused Over Beveridge's Coming.

LARGE AUDIENCE EXPECTED

Secretary McArthur, of State Central Committee, Sends Letters to Party Leaders, Inviting Them to Be Present.

Senator A. J. Beveridge will deliver the principal speech of the Republican campaign in this state next Tuesday night. It is expected by the campaign management that the Army, which has been secured for the rally, will be packed to overflowing. Word has been received that many large delegations from up-state points will attend the meeting and efforts are being made to get out a big attendance locally.

Letters are being written to prominent Republicans all over the state calling their attention to the approaching rally and inviting them to attend, with a large delegation from their home cities. It is expected these letters will arouse interest in the Roseburg and Ashland and probably at Medford, Grants Pass, and other Southern Oregon points, which are trying to arrange to have the Senator stop for a short time and deliver an address.

Senator Beveridge is an interesting talker and Secretary McArthur of the state central committee believes there will be a very large crowd out to hear him. He has received word that 100 coming from Salem to attend the rally.

TO OBSERVE YOM KIPPUR

Local Synagogues Will Honor Solemn Jewish Fast Day.

The Jewish feast day Yom Kippur commences tonight at sunset. It is considered the most important of all the holidays and is called the Sabbath of Sabbaths. Its observance is very old, being described in the Pentateuch as a day of "afflicting the soul." The observance consists of abstinence from food and drink from sunset to sunset and the reading of the ancient ritual of the day. In the orthodox synagogues the ritual is observed, while in the Reform Temple most of it has been translated into English.

The services at Temple Beth Israel commenced at 7:30 tonight. Henry Bettman will play the "Kol Nidre" melody. Rabbi Jonah B. Wise will preach, his subject being "The Law of the Lord is perfect." On Monday morning the services commence at 9:30. Rabbi Wise will preach in the morning on "Hewers of Wood and Drawers of Water."

PERSONAL MENTION.

James E. Jewell, chief of the fire department at Great Falls, Mont., is visiting friends in Portland during the past week for the first time since 1888. That year he went to Tacoma, Wash., and ten years later he went to Alaska, remaining there until recently. Mr. Stewart's father was a member of the second executive committee of the provisional government of Oregon, and was elected to that position in May, 1842. The Stewart family removed from Oregon City to Portland about 1849, and the father, son and son-in-law, C. S. Gourley, carried on the watch making and jewelry business for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McClung have returned from a very pleasant two weeks' sojourn in Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., and other Sound points.

Mrs. J. G. Cleland left for Des Moines, Ia., last night on a visit to her brother, Dr. C. D. Rawson. She was accompanied by her daughter, Madge.

Mrs. C. M. Cartwright came up from the beach at Gearhart last Tuesday with Miss Susie Cosgrove, and returned yesterday morning to remain a month.

Portland friends will regret to learn of the sudden and critical illness of Mrs. Mary E. Scheerer, wife of W. R. Scheerer, both well-known residents of Butteville, Or.

J. M. Worthington, of Springfield, O., has been spending several weeks in Portland visiting E. Berry, an old friend and formerly of Springfield, but who came to Oregon within the past year to remain permanently.

Imperial Consul Oswald Lohan and wife have returned to Portland after an absence of one year. During this time Mr. Lohan served as Consul in Cincinnati and Seattle. He will take up his office in this city.

Dr. D. O. Webster has been critically ill of blood poisoning at his home in University Park. For several days an amputation of the right arm was feared, but he is now greatly improved and will soon be able to resume his practice.

Fire Chief David Campbell has just returned from Victoria, B. C., where he attended the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs. He read a paper on "Nickelodons" and the more cheaply constructed theaters, as to what regulations should obtain to insure proper protection for the public.

Walter B. Lawrence, of Grangeville, Idaho, and G. T. Burnett, of Albany, Or., a pioneer of 1847, have been spending a few days in this city visiting mutual friends. Mr. Burnett is a nephew of the late Hon. Peter H. Burnett, of California, who was an Oregon pioneer "Golden State" in 1850. This is the first time that Mr. Lawrence has been in Portland since 1888.

Edward R. Cannon, after being confined to his home for a few days from a fracture of his wrist, is rapidly convalescing, and will be able to attend to his business in a few days. Mr. Cannon sustained his injuries by falling about 20 feet from a tall ladder at his home, 661 Johnson street, while making some improvements to his garage. Mr. Cannon did not receive any internal injuries, as was at first reported.

of output, according to allotment to each mill, are reported to have gone by the board, and now it is a case of every producer getting out for himself and selling as much and at whatever price he can obtain.

Up till now the list price for shingles for the Canadian trade has been $2 per thousand. The rock upon which the shingle manufacturers' organization split was the alleged failure of some mills to keep up prices. Now the combination on prices and output no longer exists, the production of shingles is expected to be so great for some time that the market will be glutted.

MEET IN ROSEBURG OCT. 15

Date Set by Commercial Club for Oregon-Idaho Congress.

ROSEBURG, Or., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—At a special meeting last evening the date of holding the Oregon-Idaho Development Congress in this city was definitely decided upon as October 15 to 19, inclusive. The long-deferred good roads meeting that was scheduled to have been held in this city on several previous occasions will probably also be held on one of these days.

New Central Labor Council.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Federated Trades Council Friday the new Central Labor Council of Portland and vicinity was formally launched. The constitution and by-laws have not yet been adopted in full, but it is expected to complete this detail within a few days. J. L. Ludwig was chosen temporary president and W. H. Fitzgerald was selected as temporary secretary.

meeting and bring many outsiders to Portland.

In addition to the principal address of the meeting by Senator Beveridge, there will be special campaign music and speeches by a number of local speakers. Senator Beveridge will be met at the train upon his arrival by a reception committee consisting of Judge C. U. Gantenbein, C. W. Hodson, Senator Bourne and Senator Pulton. He will reach the city by special train from Tacoma.

The special train will go south over the Southern Pacific after the Armory meeting, and the distinguished Senator will make addresses from the rear end of his car. Stops will be made for talks by the Hoosier orator at

ANNOYS GOULD FAMILY

Insane Man Sent to Asylum After Boistering Clan.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 2.—After he had been prevented from sending a telegram to George Gould in which he announced his intention of going to New York and claiming the hand of Miss Helen Gould in marriage, Edmund N. Post, a farmer of Webster, near Rochester, was arrested here yesterday and committed to the State Insane Hospital.

Post, according to his own story, had been annoying the Gould family for years.

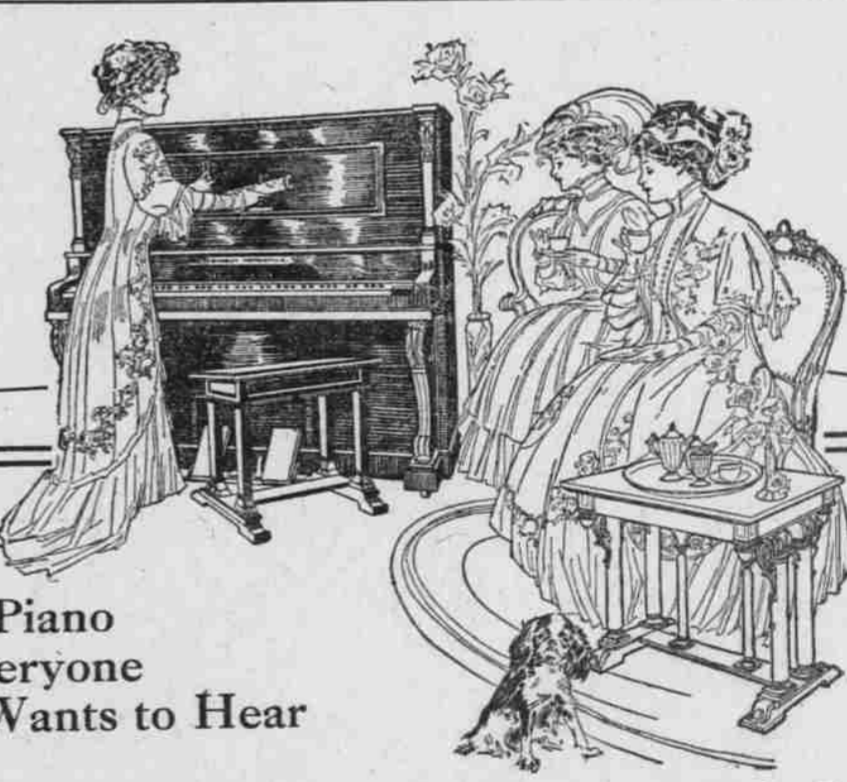

Liberty for Turkish Women.

Vienna Neue Eris Presse. In the magnificence of Abdul Aziz's reign the high-class Moslem woman, with a palace on the Bosphorus and a konak at Stamboul, who could not go forth in a carriage or boat except under the eyes of slaves, had but one wish, and that was to become like her sister in the Occident in more magnificence of costume. The women had in those days more jewels than freedom, more love than respect. Then arose a wild desire for knowledge. Even women advanced in years stud-led and mastered foreign languages, and they read the fiction of Germany, France and America, and this literary chaos intensified their sorrow as to their position. The odalisques became wives and mothers who worked for the weal of their hearts and country. Their enthusiasm for fiery and objects of fashion changed to patriotism, and when the time arrived for spreading the liberal idea the woman became the powerful ally of her master.

Splendid Old-World Roads.

Baltimore American. "The country roads of central Europe are so magnificent that they make our highways seem barbarous," said A. J. McCallum, of Philadelphia, at the Entaw House. "I traversed many sections of Germany not long since in an automobile, and never did have such a glorious outing, all due to the smooth and thoroughly built roads. The people over there enjoy them quite as much as the American tourists, and cheerfully pay the taxes necessary to keep their highways in prime condition. Indeed, I believe there is more of civic pride in Europe than with us. As an instance, you will never see a scrap of waste paper lying in a street or in one of the parks of their cities. Their streets are kept in much cleaner condition than ours, and no obstructions of any kind are allowed. The horrible billboard nuisance is nowhere tolerated."
