A spinster of Portland is in line for a wedding with a plan made in 1887, according to a newspaper article.

The engagement of Mrs. H. A. Thompson, 97 years old, to Mr. M. E. Thompson, 97, both of Portland, was announced by their respective families on November 15, the Portland Oregonian reported.

The couple, who have been together for over 30 years, are reported to be happy and healthy. They will be married in a ceremony to be held on November 24 at the First Presbyterian Church in Portland.

The wedding will be attended by family and friends from all over the United States.

The couple met in Portland in 1887 while the man was a student at the University of Oregon and the woman was a spinster. They have been together ever since.

They have two children, a son and a daughter, who are both successful in business.

The couple plans to live in Portland for the rest of their lives.
