

NORTH BANK DEPT FROM PASSENGER DEPOT

Trouble With Terminal Company Necessitates Another Station for New Road.

NOT OPEN BEFORE NOV. 1

Equipment Ordered From Pullman Company Not Ready—Draw in Willamette Bridge Swing for First Time.

That the North Bank road will not be allowed to use the Union Depot for its passenger trains when the new Hill road is first opened into Portland now seems probable. Unfortunate terminal troubles between the Hill and Harriman interests, that have been in progress for the past two years, are still unsettled and are responsible for the present tangle. For a time at least after the opening of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle into this city it is likely the new line will use one of the buildings in its freight yards as a passenger depot. This Hill terminal lies directly west of the Union Depot.

Neither Side Can Agree.

The difficulty about the use of the Union Depot for passenger trains is one of the biggest obstacles to the successful opening of the new North Bank road. Application was made last Spring by the management of the new road to the Northern Pacific Terminal Company for permission to use the Union Depot. Since that time the matter has been under advisement but no decision has been reached. Negotiations have been in progress between the Hill and Harriman interests and each side has made a proposition, but no decision has been reached, although it is expected by both roads that an arrangement will eventually be made whereby the new road will use the local passenger terminal in common with all other roads centering here.

Willamette Bridge Swing.

Yesterday marked an important step in the completion of the North Bank road, for the draw span of the new Willamette River Bridge was swung for the first time by the machinery installed to turn it. This is the longest and heaviest draw span in the world and the machinery required to turn it to allow steamers to pass up and down the river had to be unusually big and of special manufacture. The installation of this machinery has caused a long delay in the completion of the new bridge.

But little now remains to be done to complete the North Bank road except to lay track from the main line of the Northern Pacific on the west bank of the river to the bridge in the shape of a "Y" and finish the track at the east approach to the bridge. This can be accomplished in a week, so that the road will be open in a few days if all other things were favorable.

Road to Be Opened November 1.

But it is thought likely that the new road will not be opened until November 1, although no definite announcement has been made. The delay is due to the present settlement of the terminal trouble and also for the arrival of the new trains now being built for the road by the Pullman company. The new trains will be sent here for use on the North Bank road between Portland and Spokane, and they are expected to arrive in Portland late this month. They are said to be of the latest and best design and appointments in passenger equipment.

Trouble Between Terminals.

The local terminal war is an interesting chapter in recent railroad history and is still fresh in the public mind. The local terminal company, while being a corporation in which the Harriman interests hold the majority of the stock, is known as the Northern Pacific Terminal Company, a misnomer. Some years ago the majority of stockholders became involved in a dispute with the Hill interests over the acquisition of additional terminals lying alongside the present terminal grounds. The purchase of these terminals for some time was delayed. When the terminal company attempted to close the deal, it was found that the Hill interests had acquired the property. Bad faith on the part of C. M. Levey, a Hill director of the terminal company, was charged and the feeling became bitter between the rival railroad interests, and numerous suits were filed in the courts. The matter is still in the courts, but an amicable adjustment is hoped for so that the litigation may be dropped.

Exports From Ireland

Industrial Revival in Emerald Isle to Develop Trade.

DUBLIN, Oct. 10.—(Special).—The annual Irish industrial conference, which was held in Galway, was in every sense one of the most remarkable that has yet taken place. In addition to representatives from all parts of Ireland there were delegates present from Australia, New Zealand, Canada, the United States, France, Germany, etc. The proceedings were opened by Sir James O'Donoghue, chairman of the urban council, and the first resolution, which was proposed by Lord Dunsraven, emphasized the importance of an organized effort to develop the export trade of Ireland.

Burglar Nice Young Man

Entertains Aged Occupant of House While Companions Rob.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(Special).—While the mistress of the house had gone out with her children three polite burglars entered her villa at Tril. Not wanting to put anyone out, they had waited until the house was empty. But on exploring the place they unexpectedly found an old lady in bed, the mother of the mistress of the house, aged over 82. She was naturally alarmed, but the polite burglars reassured her. One, a young man, the politest of the three, said:

tends color to the belief that the Moffatt interests are taking active steps to push their lines to the ports on the coast of this state.

Hour Set for Delivery of Freight.

The management of the Northern Pacific Terminal Company had a session yesterday with the Oregon Railroad Commission in regard to delivery of freight from the local terminal yards. Heretofore, deliveries to the industry tracks in North Portland have been made at irregular hours of the day and night, and resulted in inconvenience alike to consignees and residents of the warehouse district. The terminal company agreed to make deliveries each day hereafter at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Members of the Commission also had a hearing scheduled yesterday in Eastern Oregon, where stock-shipping towns are anxious for the O. R. & N. to establish stockyards.

Rates to Spokane Apple Show.

Special rates have been ordered by the Hill lines for the International Apple Show, that will open at Spokane, Wash., on December 7, and will continue until December 12. Not only have local rates been made from Oregon and Washington points, but a reduced rate from St. Paul will be offered on one first-class fare plus $2. Dates of sale will be December 1, 2 and 3, with a final return limit of 29 days. Other rates will be made from points further East. Head lines Southern Oregon and Willamette Valley applegrowers will make exhibits at the coming fair, and there is accordingly a good deal of interest in the event in this state.

Oregon City Cars on West Side.

Oregon City cars returned to the former West Side station yesterday morning after having been routed from the east end of the Morrison bridge for the past week. The cars were started from the East Side because of the order of the County Commissioners, which prevented trains of more than one car crossing the Madison-street bridge.

GOES INSANE ON STAGE

PARIS ACTRESS VICTIM OF LOSS OF HER MONEY.

Leaves Theater Without Changing Clothes, Tries to Borrow Money and Writes Strange Letters.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(Special).—Another tragedy behind the scenes has been the sudden madness of a music-hall singer, Mme. Gense. She had been engaged at the Olympia, which reopened the other evening under a new management, and with fresh prospects of success. She was doing well there, but had elsewhere lost a good deal of money. The other evening at Olympia her manner was strange and she behaved in so extraordinary a way on the stage that she was asked to leave the theater. Without changing her stage dress, and without putting a hat on, she jumped into a motor-car and drove to the Chatelet Theater, where she sought out the manager and cried to him: "You must lend me $10. As you see, I have not even clothes to my back." Then, before he even had time to answer, she was off again in her motor to another theater, the Nouveaux. Not being received there, she went to a third, refused all food, and wrote strange letters by the dozen to everyone she knew. She has now been placed in a private asylum.

REPUBLICAN ORATOR COMING

Judge Will H. Thompson, of Seattle, Will Speak Tuesday Night.

Republicans expect a large attendance at the rally to be held in Sellin-Hirsch Hall Tuesday night. Judge Will H. Thompson, of Seattle, will be the principal speaker. Judge Thompson was a Confederate soldier and for years has been one of the most able and prominent members of the Washington bar. He successfully defended his son, Chester, when on trial for the murder of Judge Emory, and his appeal to the jury on that occasion—the appeal of a father for his boy—is

CIVIL WAR VETERAN AND INDIAN FIGHTER PASSES AWAY.

The Late Thomas J. Brown.

Thomas J. Brown died at his home at Peninsula Station October 1. He was among the first settlers in Gilliam County, where he was engaged in the sheep industry. He was a veteran of Company F, Thirty-fourth Indiana Volunteers, and the Nineteenth Kansas Cavalry, also of the Indian War, where he served as scout with Buffalo Bill. He is survived by his widow and five children: Mrs. Herman Kaples, of Warrenton, Or.; Mrs. E. B. Rogers, of 1248 Denver avenue, city; Mrs. Sigel Grutz, of 872 Gladstone avenue; Mrs. C. G. Adams, of 477 Manhattan street, city; and C. G. Brown, of Bend, Or. The funeral services were conducted by the G. A. R. at Finley's chapel, Friday, October 2. The interment was at River-view cemetery.

ARE DUE TOMORROW

Hisgen and Hearst Coming to Win Oregon Voters.

AT ARMORY TUESDAY NIGHT

Independence Party Nominee and Chairman Accompanied by Clement Pollock, Noted Massachusetts Orator.

Thomas L. Hisgen, Independence party nominee for President, and party, will reach Portland from San Francisco at 7:15 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Hisgen is accompanied by William Randolph Hearst, chairman of the National committee of the Independence party.

and who is suspected of carrying a large-sized portmanteau filled with Standard Oil correspondence. Another member of the party is Clement L. Pollock, of Massachusetts, an Independence party worker and a speaker of considerable ability. The three gentlemen will address a public meeting which will be held in the Armory Tuesday night under the auspices of the Independence party organization of this state.

Upon reaching the city, the party will be met at the depot by a reception committee consisting of M. J. Malley, chairman of the State Executive Committee; Paulinus McDonald, who has charge of the party's headquarters in the Brecken building, and other workers in the new political party. The distinguished visitors will be escorted to a downtown hotel, where an informal reception will be held during the day. Supposition that Mr. Hearst will submit further correspondence regarding the relations of prominent public officials with the Standard Oil Company promises to attract a large audience to the Armory for the Monday night meeting. From the fact that the founder of the new party read two additional letters at his San Francisco meeting, Judge McDonald at local headquarters yesterday said it was possible the Portland audience might be treated to letter reading in further exposition of Rockefeller's monopoly and its methods.

DARING THIEVES CAUGHT

Englishman and American Charged With Snatching Bank Satchels.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(Special).—The police recently arrested on a charge of robbery two men, an Englishman and an American, who gave their names as James Cullingham, aged 30, a manufacturer, of Buckingham, and Scraphim Bellisdorn, a merchant, of San Francisco. The two had been living in style for about a week at a hotel in the Madeleine quarter.

According to the police story, the detective department was informed that two men who corresponded to Cullingham and Bellisdorn had arrived from Palermo, where they had committed a number of thefts. Other charges were notified from some of the principal cities of Europe.

Their methods are said to consist of following a bank-walking clerk from the bank. When a suitable opportunity offered itself, one of the two would push the clerk or do something to draw away his attention for a few seconds, while the other snatched the satchel full of bank notes, substituting a similar one filled with waste paper. The two men, who had been watched by detectives since their arrival, were, it is said, caught outside a Paris bank in the act of stealing a satchel containing bonds for $10,000.

After 25 years of operation of the Postal Savings Bank of India the depositors number 1,180,720 and the deposits amount to $48,223,282.
