

Alford, Mr. and Mrs. William Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Burrell, Dr. and Mrs. George Whitesides, Mrs. Whitesides, of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kerr, Miss Henrietta Felling, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Linchman, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Verhies, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharp, Dr. and Mrs. Hiram Foulkes, Mr. Walter Beebe, Dr. Coghlan, Frederick Mackay, Mrs. Lewis, Andrew Kerr, Kenneth Beebe, Tom Robertson and Bishop and Mrs. Charles Scadding.

Last evening, Miss Eleanor Cannon was hostess at a box party for the Horse Show. Miss Elsie Cramer, who has just returned from a prolonged stay abroad, being the honor guest. Mrs. R. D. Cannon, who accompanied Mrs. Cannon, which also included Miss Berle Litherland, Miss Alberta James, C. E. Courtney, D. H. Quimby and Harold Bruess.

Mrs. Theodore E. Wilcox gave an artistically appointed luncheon Friday at the Portland Grill in honor of Mrs. Henry Ladd, artist, who was followed by a box party at the Horse Show. Elaborate decorations and favors were suggestive of the Horse Show. Those present were Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. William Biddle, Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Miss Judith Minor, of Seattle, Miss Carrie Flanders, L. Allen Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Sharp, Mrs. Norman Lang, of Oregon City, Miss May Felling and Mrs. Holt C. Wilson.

Mr. W. B. Ayer tendered his box at the Horse Show the first night to Mrs. Joseph Myrick, the second to Mrs. E. S. Wood and the third to Miss Isom.

Mrs. Joseph K. Clarke, who has spent some months at Alexandria, left on Thursday for Boston, where she will spend the winter.

The opening night of the Horse Show and Mrs. Theodore E. Wilcox presided over their box party with a dinner, which included Mrs. Hannah Robertson, Mrs. Arthur Minott, Miss Claire Wilcox, W. D. Wheelwright, Frederick Mackay and John Barrett, of Washington, D. C.

With Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dolph in their box Friday were Dr. and Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Alford, Miss Hazel Dolph and W. D. Wheelwright.

With Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Crutcher on Friday night and Mrs. P. Thompson, Miss Genevieve Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Biddle, Mr. Richard Nixon, Senator Malkey and John Barrett.

Owing to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Fleischer and Miss Flora Fleischer are to leave shortly for Europe, several hospitalities were given them this past week. In compliment to Miss Fleischer, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Metzger gave a large party the opening night of the Horse Show, which was followed by a supper for which the decorations were most elaborate. Masses of American Beauties were in evidence, while white and spurs reached from the corners of the table to the chandeliers. Favors were silver bridges, straws and riding crops.

Those accepting Mr. and Mrs. Metzger's hospitality were Miss Florence Wolfe, Miss Florence Kohn, Miss Helen Rosenfeld, William Lipman, Henry and Dr. Jonah E. Wise. Yesterday a luncheon at the Portland Hotel grill was given by Miss Fleischer's girl friends Miss Clementine Hirsch, Miss Florence Kohn, Miss Florence Wolfe, Miss Frances and Miriam Jacobson. Miss Kohn entertained with a box party at the maline.

Miss Valentine Frichard, a director of the People's Institute, leaves on Wednesday for the East, where she will spend some months visiting the various settlements in the larger cities, and studying the methods and problems with which they are dealing. Miss Frichard will also visit the public playgrounds of New York and Chicago, to investigate the subject of their equipment and control, and in addition she purposes to study the art of handicraft and industries for women and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beck, whose marriage took place recently in California, will be at home this afternoon at the Portland Hotel, and again tomorrow.

Mrs. William D. Penton was the hostess at a very large and pretty reception which she gave Friday afternoon at her Willamette Heights residence to meet Mrs. Ralph Penton.

It is hoped that a repetition of the 1880 costume party will be given again this winter, for of all the dancing parties that have recently been given here, there has been nothing so successful. It is so charmingly novel. Great credit is due to Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, who conceived the idea. It was given as the annual benefit for the Women's Institute. The day evening at Murlark Hall, and in spite of the inclemency of the weather was largely attended and was in every respect a success. Scores of quality gowned women in the farfetched costume of the great war period, the display of old canoes and other quaint jewelry, made the ballroom a scene of rare and unique beauty. The matrons and girls participating were entirely metamorphosed in their hoop skirts, pointed bodices and beehive slippers.

The principal feature of the evening which occasioned numerous encores was the Mariposa Danza, which was performed by 16 prominent girls under the direction of Miss Lilla Belle. Miss Hall led the dance in person, and displayed most charmingly her remarkable talents as a dancer. Her grace and ease were universally commented upon by the professionals who hardly have done better. A number of absolutely new and decidedly artistic steps were introduced, many of them being original with Miss Hall. A striking feature of the evening was the Maypole dance, participated in by 16 couples, led by Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd and Mrs. K. K. Collock. Both the orchestra played later for dancing.

Mrs. Wilson quite resembled one of the charming old daguerotypes, in white and blue tartan hoop skirts, a bodice with drooping shoulders and lovely old canes. Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd was particularly handsome, and represented Mrs. Andrew Jackson in a costume of white, covered at intervals with pink roses. Her coiffure was arranged with becoming ringlets and pink buds, and her jewelry was charming, which were originally her mother's. Mrs. Collock made a pretty picture in enormous green tartan skirt, and both she and Mrs. Ladd carried the old-fashioned bouquet-holders with the stiff arrangement of the flowers and the equally stiff and perpendicular handles. Mrs. Walter F. Burrell and Miss May Montgomery faithfully carried out the gowns of the old regime, wearing long pendant earrings which belonged to their mother. Mrs. Montgomery, who was a conspicuous beauty, carried out the costumes, for their coiffures were arranged in the extremely trying mode affected by Cleo de Merode.

A musical and dramatic entertainment was given Thursday night in Sacred Heart Church Hall, on Boise and Milwaukee streets, a large audience attending under the auspices of the Sacred Heart Society. The musical and literary programme was rendered first, followed by a clever rendition of the fourth act of Bulwer's "Richelieu." After the orchestra, the following

PRINCIPALS IN PRETTY AUTUMN WEDDING

Mr. & Mrs. HERMAN T. BOHMAN

A very pretty Autumn wedding was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Finley at Jennings Lodge last Wednesday afternoon. Herman T. Bohman, of this city, and Miss Maud Bittleson, of Los Angeles, were married by Rev. Benjamin Young, of Taylor-street Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride, who is an accomplished singer, is an intimate friend of Mrs. Finley and has been visiting in Oregon for several months, while the groom is in business in Portland and has been associated with Mr. Finley in magazine and book work for many years. He is widely known on account of his remarkable success as a photographer of wild birds and animals. Only the intimate relatives were present at the ceremony, including the bride's mother, Mrs. S. Bittleson, of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Bohman will spend two or three weeks in Victoria, B. C., and will be at home after November 15 at their home on Occident street in this city.

The programme: Recitation, Miss Christine Anderson; vocal solo, James J. Flynn; humorous selection, Leo Shapirer; contralto solo, Miss Rosa Friedel; comicallies, W. A. Coughlan; soprano solo, Miss Catherine N. Covach; violin solo, Master Ward Allen; recitation, Miss Lottie Handfield. The fourth act of "Richelieu" was rendered under the general direction of Ed J. Quillman, who took the part of Cardinal Richelieu. Those taking the other characters were: John Urquhart, Fred Donnerberg, Leonard Bengold, A. H. Mail, Will Heitkemper, Miss Thilie Schomus. There were numerous courtesies and altar boys. The scenes were well represented and the performers carried their parts in a clever manner.

A most interesting musical was given Friday evening, October 16, at the Masonic Temple, for the benefit of the Patton Home. The following local artists assisted: Miss Kathleen Lawler, soprano; Miss Cornelia Barker, violinist; C. D. Raff, cellist; White Temple Quartet, Miss Lawler, Miss Ethel Shea, J. W. Reicher, Milton Runyan; Elliott B. Reicher, baritone; Faustine Theater, and Mr. Hutchinson, accompanist. Following is the programme:

- (a) "Come All Ye Lads and Lassies".... Lane Wilson
(b) "The Fiddler" from "Florida's Holiday"..... Quartet
(c) "The Charmed Cup"..... Roschel
(d) "Villanelle"..... Dell Aquas
(e) "L'Heure Expiree"..... Hahn
(f) "Widmung"..... David Poppe

Edith Circle No. 13, L. of G. A. R.

S. Solomon, Mrs. Philip Harris, Mrs. Judge Rathbun, Mrs. J. Blumenthal, Mrs. Henry Solomon, Mrs. W. Robinson, Mrs. A. J. Clark, the Misses T. Levy, of San Francisco; Miss Anna Bauer, of Chicago; Miss Rose Lindenbaum, Miss Carolyn Solomon, Miss Palma Blumenthal, Miss Carrie Harris and Miss Estie Bloch.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club met with Mrs. William F. Amos, 663 Hawthorne avenue. Roll call was responded to with historical incidents of the early Victorian period. Mrs. J. D. Hayes read an interesting report, written by Mrs. Kate S. Bingham, of Boston, formerly a prominent Portland club woman, of the biennial of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which was held in Boston in June. Mrs. William F. Amos gave a synopsis of the year's work, outlining briefly the general plan designed by the calendar. Mrs. G. M. Gines gave an instructive talk on England during the early Victorian period. Mrs. J. D. Hayes gave a paper on "The Novel in General." Mrs. Henry Berger, Jr., was admitted to membership. The club will meet with Mrs. A. A. Bailey, 128 Hawthorne avenue, October 20, at 2 P. M.

Miss Josephine C. Locke, who is giving a course of lectures on art at the Portland Art Museum, delivered the third of the series last Saturday morning at 10:30 A. M. to an appreciative audience. The interest in her work seems to be increasing each week. The subject of this lecture was "Origins of Christian Art: Death of the Individual." The following are yet to be given: October 24, "Birth of the Individual; the Primitives, the Trecento and Quattrocento Periods"; October 31, "The Schools of Florence, Sienna, Ferrara, Umbria, Padua, Vienna; the Masters"; November 7, "The Contribution of the Schools of the Alps; Decoration, Realism, Nationalism, Romanticism; Evolution of Landscape."

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wentz gave a party October 10, celebrating the birthday of their daughter, Irene. The Wentz residence at 484 East Ankeny street was prettily decorated for the occasion. Games and music were the features of the afternoon. Present were the Misses Jessie Royal, Beuna Lynds, Beulah Cauthorn, Wilhelmina Shepard; Mabel Smith, of Salem; Evelyn Spencer, Adrianna Spencer, Vivian Macklin, Mrs. E. B. Morden, Miss Wentz, Irene Geary, Messrs. Lester Keenan, Edward Hunsaker, Henry Hewitt, Freeman McWary, Parks Moroney, Odus Floory, Homer Maria Walter Shepard, Oscar Lapham and Victor McFarland, of Hood River.

Miss Audrey Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Collins, was the hostess of a pretty party given at her home, 714 East Ankeny street, on Saturday afternoon, the occasion being her 18th birthday. Three hours were spent in games, for which prizes were given, and music, both vocal and instrumental. The following were present: Misses Audrey Collins, Edyth Driver, Beatrice Cashner, Ruth Jordan, Francis Jordan, Marion Morgan, Alice Bullington, Ruth Hendryx, Helen Ball, Marjorie Blackburn, Jeanette Blackburn, Geneva Kirby, Gertrude Hargrave, Elizabeth Kirby, Masters Paul Sroat, Donald Sroat, Eugene Bassett, Francis Woodbury, George Skeens and Charlie Skeens, Skeens.

Rev. and Mrs. Fried. Reichle were pleasantly surprised at their home, 424 Beach street, in commemoration of their 40th wedding anniversary Tuesday evening, October 4. Every member of the family was present and after a short talk by the oldest son, Rev. F. L. Reichle, of Spokane, Wash., and a sumptuous meal spread by the hostess, the evening was spent in a most enjoyable way. Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. Fried. Reichle, Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Reichle, of Spokane, Wash., Mr. T. G. Reichle, Mrs. William Neubauer and family, Mrs. William Knispel and children, Mr. Paul Reichle and family, Mr. John Reichle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reichle, Mrs. Julius Reichle, Miss Jennie Reichle, the latter all from this city.

Mrs. L. E. Solomon gave a charming luncheon Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Rose Kamak, of Derby, Conn. Mrs. Solomon received in an imported gown of pearl gray, with Venetian leaves. The room was beautifully decorated with Autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums in cut-glass vases. The place cards were hand-painted Autumn leaves. The guests were: Mrs. Mina Gleason, Mrs. Bauer, Mrs. Edward Goldsmith, Miss Inetta Jewel, Mrs. James Gleason, Mrs. W. Bloch, Mrs. C. Arrington, Mrs.
